Buckley Metes Out Justice Here

Sees 'Importance of Local Court

by BRUCE LADD
Associate Editor

The tall, muscular businessman stood restlessly under the bright fluorescent lighting in the Arlington Heights courtroom.

His attention was riveted on an 11-year-old boy who accused him of battery.

He heard the words "cross examination" and "rebuttal" and "probable cause."

HE WAITED his chance to speak. It never came. He was found not guilty.

That was one man's exposure to the Police Magistrate Court conducted by Judge Robert C. Buckley, 222 N. Derbyshire Lane.

A six-year resident of the village, Buckley was re-elected in April to the court bench. He ran on the Caucus Party slate and was unopposed.

Speculation is that the 39 year-old attorney's excellent reputation as a local judge will land him an opportunity to accept an appointment as a Circuit Court Magistrate once terms of the "Blue Ballot" judicial amendment are worked out by the Illinois General Assembly.

"I THINK most lawyers look forward to the day that they might become judges," Buckley said. "You might compare it to a newspaper reporter wanting to some day be executive editor."

He stressed the significance of local courts.

"The courts of justices of the peace and police magistrates are vitally important to the American people. This applies especially to traffic courts, where most people base their concepts of our whole court system."

In order to upgrade the stature and respect of his court, Buckley brought about many innovations after his first election in 1959.

THESE INCLUDED wearing of black judicial robes while court is in session, placement of the American flag in the courtroom, formal opening and closing ceremonies, no smoking or talking in the court, and separation of traffic and criminal cases.

Buckley also insists that the arresting police officer appear in court to face the accused.

He explained: "I want people to feel that they have had a fair trial even if the outcome is against them. They should be encouraged to obey the law voluntarily, to become better citizens.

"Any step a judge can take to engender respect for the law should be taken."

THE SON OF a plumber, Buckley was born in 1924 in Canton, Ill. The family moved to Chicago and Buckley lettered in football at St. Mel High School and in baseball at Morton Junior College.

He went on to get a degree in economics at DePaul University and bachelor of laws diploma from Georgetown University.

He and his wife, Patricia, have four children, Gabrielle, 6, Robert Jr., 4, Peter, 3, and Patrick, 1. They own a 3-year-old black poodle, Paulette.

Buckley's interests range from his practice of law to listening to light classical music and opera.

For the past seven years he has been a partner in the law firm of Spatuzza, Yedor and Buckley, Chicago. Though in general practice, he works predominately on

LOCAL WATER BAN LIFTED

But Problems Still Exist

A 36-hour restriction on the use of water in Arlington Heights was lifted Monday.

According to Village Manager L. A. Hanson, a Sunday and Monday curb on the sprinkling of lawns was necessitated by damage to a water main and the inoperative condition of a well.

Hanson told the Herald that workmen for Reliance Construction Co., contractor on the village's storm sewer project, accidentally broke into a 10-inch water main Friday on north Belmont Avenue, causing the loss of a million gallons of water from storage tanks.

This mishap was coupled with lack of weekend service from the village well located on Frederick Street, between Hickory Avenue and Dryden Place.

THE WELL was in operation Monday by 4:30 p.m. It had been out of commission while being lowered 750 feet to cope with dropping water tables.

The well, one of the six in the village, normally pumps 1,000 to 1,200 gallons of water per minute.

"These were extraordinary circumstances and we don't foresee them occurring again," Hanson said.

"If everything runs in our favor and we can avoid future mishaps, the water supply should be sufficient this summer."

AT MONDAY'S meeting of the village board of trustees, however, Hanson suggested the board consider passage of an ordinance limiting sprinkling and garden use of water to the even-and-odd number system.

This is an arrangement whereby residents with even numbered addresses (200 N. Dunton) are permitted to sprinkle on even number days (June 6) and those with odd numbered address (201 N. Dunton) sprinkle on odd number days (June 7).

The suggestion was flatly rejected by trustees.

Hanson supported the idea by noting it is "a real inconvenience" for the village fire department to have to set up a sound truck system to advise residents of temporary water restrictions.

The sound truck system was used Sunday after water pressure fell off dramatically and the cause was discovered.

TRUSTEES Norval Stephens and George Beacham questioned the need for adopting Hanson's suggestion, pointing out that water was cut short only two or three times last summer.

"When I took a shower tonight I noticed the water pressure was much better," Beacham said.

To that, Village President John G. Woods asked: "Would you rather shower on the even or odd numbered days, Bud?"

Trustee Carl Mees struck a serious vein. "I don't think we should encourage people to be careless with what water we have," he commented.

"SHORTAGE of water is a very serious problem and will get much more serious in five or 10 years. That's why we're working so hard on the DAMP Commission to get water from Chicago or Lake Michigan.

"If residents don't use water with discretion, we'll have to introduce restrictions that may last forever."

The village can store 3½ million gallons of water above ground.

Weekend trouble with water supply was also experienced in Palatine, where the lack of a booster pump limited pumping pressure.

The Village of Wheeling has water difficulties every year, as do several other area communities.

Officials Meet

Hint Crossing At Kennicott

An appreciation of the rapid growth of the Village of Arlington Heights was apparently instilled in county and state highway officials last week.

In a meeting May 29 to discuss the need for grade crossings at the Palatine Expressway, representatives of the village cited the necessity of providing access to areas soon to be developed north of the expressway.

They also pointed to the danger of an expressway without crossings "amputating" the area north of Palatine Road from municipal, school and park services.

"I THINK it was a very helpful meeting," Village Persident John G. Woods said Tuesday. "The highway people were not aware of the village's fast growth to the north."

According to Woods, State Highway Supt. Marshall Sulloway indicated he would recommend to the U.S. Bureau of Roads that a grade crossing be established at Kennicott Avenue.

The village is also seeking crossings at Schoenbeck and Buffalo Grove Roads. No agreement was reached in regard to these crossings, however, Woods reported.

VILLAGE Manager L. A. Hanson said there was some difficulty in "pinning down" county officials because William Mortimer, county highway superintendent, has resigned and his successor will not take office until July 1.

The Palatine Expressway is a joint project involving county, state and federal funds. It will run west from the Tri-State Tollway to relocated Route 53.

Map presentations showing Arlington Heights' case for the crossings are going to be updated and re-submitted to the highway authorities, Woods and Hanson explained.

Then the village will present a written explanation of its position.

THE VILLAGE board passed a resolution May 27 urging consideration of the crossings. Local park and school boards are expected to follow suit.

In the last 13 years, the population at Arlington Heights has jumped from 9,000 to more than 35,000, an increase of nearly 300 per cent.

ing last week's meeting with Woods and Hanson were narold Carlson, chairman of the plan commission, and George Beacham, a village trustee.

Recreation Park's Pool to Open Late

The swimming pool at Recreation Park will be one week late in opening, it was announced this week by Thomas Thornton, park district director.

The pool was originally scheduled to open on Wednesday, June 12, but will not open until Wednesday, June 19.

According to Thornton, the Board of Park Commissioners was advised Monday by James Brown, construction foreman for Exterior Contracting Co., Northbrook, that the park's $148,735 bathhouse will be ready for use June 19.

COMPLETION OF the bathhouse is preventing opening of the pool, Thornton explained.

The pool at Pioneer Park, 500 S. Fernandez Ave., will open as scheduled next Wednesday.

Thornton said swimming lessons slated for Recreation Park will begin as announced on June 17.

The new bathhouse facility will include showers, dressing rooms, concession area, lobby, office space and filtering equipment.

Officer Korn: Friend of Man And Fox, Dog...

Policeman Eugene Korn, the village's animal welfare officer, worked overtime during the Memorial Day holiday.

Here is a portion of his work schedule:

Search for two young foxes missing from 621 N. State Road, impound a stray cat found at 642 S. Chestnut Ave., exterminate rats under a sidewalk at 1002 Mayfair Road, remove a turtle from a home at 1157 N. Beverly Lane.

Also, catch a rabbit at 838 S. State Road, destroy an injured bird at 904 N. Kaspar Ave., and apprehend and impound two dogs.

Meeting Set Friday On High-Rise Units

Arlington Heights homeowners and a builder who proposes to erect high-rise apartment buildings here will meet tomorrow, Friday, at 8 p. m. in the council room of the municipal building, 33 S. State Road.

Residents in the 2northeast corner of the village are objecting to plans of Harold Friedman, president of North Suburban Chicago Construction Co., to build two eight-story dwellings north of Prospect High School.

VILLAGE trustees voted 4-0 Monday to take up residents' objections at a board meeting next Monday night.

Friedman's project, called the Regent Park planned development, was approved recently by the village board. It consists of 114 townhouse units, 34 single-family homes and 84 units in the high-rise buildings.

Elks' Project

Flag Day Parade Sunday

The Arlington Heights Elks' annual Flag Day parade and ceremonies will be held this Sunday, June 9.

The parade will assemble at South Junior High School at 2 p. m., "stepping off" at 2:30 p. m. The marchers will proceed through town to Arlington Market, where Capt. Martin A. Shellabarger, commander of the Great Lakes Training Center, will address the crowd.

The local Elks lodge has invited officials of Arlington Heights and surrounding villages to take part in the program.

NORBERT J. WEST, Flag Day committee chairman, said parade participants will include the Great Lakes Naval Training Center Band, the Electronics Technician School drill team of Great Lakes, 45th Artillery Brigade drum and bugle corps, Palatine Northwest Community Band, Arlington Heights fire and police department, Indian guide tribes, Boy Scout troops, and others.

Parade route is South Street to Dunton, north on Dunton to Miner, east on Miner to Dryden, south on Dryden to the Arlington Market.

Robert Warnecke, exalted ruler of the Arlington Heights lodge, appealed for display of the flag throughout the community so that "every street in Arlington Heights makes a star-spangled salute to freedom."

Hogs Limelight

Pig Escapes, Kargols Eat

If Ed Kargol's golf score soars well over 100 next year, it will undoubtedly be a matter of self-protection.

Ed, who lives at 618 E. Clarendon, Arlington Heights, may be a little tired of golf prizes just now, because his last one strayed from his backyard and caused considerable excitement for neighborhood residents.

The prize, a 50-pound pig named "Henry," was temporarily quartered in the Kargols' yard after Ed had proudly carried the "trophy" home from his company's annual golf outing May 27.

Discovering the strange new yard guest, school-bound friends of Jeane and Ellen Kargol paid an excited visit to the golf prize which, being an opportunist, bounded through the unfastened gate and went squealing down the sidewalk.

The girls pursued the frightened animal, and Ed deserted his breakfast to join in the chase.

Housewives and other children became spectators in the pig chase, which ended when "Henry" took refuge in Tom McShane's shrubbery at 706 E. Clarendon.

The animal was chauffeured home via the Kargol automobile, and Ed made arrangements for the prize's final "quartering."

Whether the supply of pork chops, ham hocks, and other sections of the prize will win "Henry" a full pardon is a matter of controversy in the Kargol household.

When Ed tees off next year, he may have forgotten how teed off he was last week. (See photo of "Henry" on inside page).

Apartments Fail to Get Board Okay

A proposal to build 72 apartment units north of the Arlington Market Shopping Center was sent back to the plan commission Monday by Arlington Heights trustees.

The project, to consist of two three-story buildings, fell short in utilization of land area, trustees agreed.

Builder Edward Albright said he intended to build a swimming pool in the southwest corner of the apartment site "if the demand arose" sometime in the future.

THEREFORE, he lumped his buildings into the site's other three quadrants, he said.

Trustees expressed concern that the pool would never be built and that the layout of a parking area presented a potential traffic hazard.

The Colonial-style apartments are to be constructed on Miner Street, between Hickory Avenue and Lincoln Lane. Rents will be from $155 to $185 per month.

Editor's Column

STUART R. PADDOCK

Our return home means that we will have the opportunity to write about happenings in our home communities. We hope our readers will be as interested in our local musings as they tell us they were about our journeys around Mexico. It will at least give our readers a change in reading menu.

It has been impressed upon us that the majority of our readers are conservative in thinking and we should follow that line of thought editorially and newswise. We hesitate to attempt to force "conservatism" down the throats of any editors who may not agree; we can only try to convert them to our way of thinking.

Arlington Heights National Bank expects to obtain two driveup windows by the revamping of Davis Street, something they have been talking about for a long time. The downtown merchants are in favor of the plans which will enable them to provide free two-hour parking for 400 shoppers.

Jewel Tea Co., which will soon be erecting a major food store near the center of the business district, is another proponent. The village thinks so much of the plan it has purchased the remainder of railroad property south of the tracks, which makes it all possible. We have not been furnished with all the details connected with the vacating of Davis Street, but the Chamber of Commerce and all business interests we have contacted are happy about it. As we understand it, the "camel's back" was broken by using the former park property for construction of the new sewer system through the business district without tearing up existing pavement.

If we had been on sentry duty while the plans were being made, we would have said something about the value of a downtown mall. During the Flentie administration in the Thirties, Arlington Heights paid $5,000 to an engineering firm for such plans that would have made Campbell Street a delight to shoppers.

We take our hats off to the American farmers who showed their independence by overwhelmingly defeating the crop support program that President Kennedy and Secretary of Agriculture Freeman had done their best to have the farmers accept. There is still hope for the U.S. Constitution, a balanced budget, and a return to government sanity if Congress shows similar independence from White House dictatorship.

We congratulate Harry Schoppe of Palatine over his 89th birthday Sunday. We just realize that we have missed the mention of the birthday of another old time friend—Albert F. Volz, who was 92 years old a few weeks ago. These oldsters make our 82 years class us as a youngster.

trial and in anti-trust matters.

He is also the Chicago area representative for the Judge Advocate General of the U.S. Air Force.

Two stereophonic sound systems pipe through the modest Buckley home.

Buckley assembled one set of components himself. "Student Prince" by Sigmon Romberg and "Turandot" sung by Maria Callas are two of his favorite recordings.

The short, affable judge is also a persistent bowling and golf enthusiast. He bowls an average of 177 in the St. James Catholic Church league and cards a consistent 90 on the golf course.

"IN ADDITION to seeing my children grow up to be good citizens, I'd like to play a better golf game," he quipped.

Another consuming Buckley interest is the plight of the Mexican migrant worker in the northwest suburban area. To improve his ability to help, he is studying Spanish at night at Arlington High School.
High School.

"I became familiar with the Mexicans' problems through my work in court," Buckley said. "Many were having difficulty in getting and keeping drivers licenses; others had problems adjusting to life here."

He joined the League of United Latin American Citizens (LULAC) to better understand migrant workers' difficulties in obtaining housing and jobs. He works closely with sponsors of the Chicago Driver Improvement School, where traffic safety and rules of the road are taught in four-week courses.

"OFTEN I will find a man in court who has a problem of understanding our systems here," Buckley commented. "i'll talk to him and refer him to the driver school or to some other person qualified to work on the problem.

"A little patience and understanding goes a long way in these cases."

Appearing before Buckley on a recent Wednesday court date were two men involved in auto accidents and charged with failure to yield the right of way, a stop light violator, four persons accused of speeding, a man driving with a suspended drivers license, and a man charged with incest.

"That's a pretty normal docket except for the last case," Buckley confided. "I hold a court session on Tuesday night to permit people who work during the day and want to plead guilty to come in and pay their fines.

"CASES OF a more serious nature and those where pleas of not guilty are entered come up on Wednesday."

Buckley is paid a salary by the village. His compensation is not determined by his levying fines for court costs.

Some policemen criticize him for being too lenient.

"The preponderance of evidence must show that a person is guilty beyond all reasonable doubt," Buckley pointed out. "If there is a doubt in my mind, I'll normally have to dismiss the case or find the defendant not guilty."

He admits to having little sympathy for drunken drivers, feeling this violation is extreme in that it unnecessarily jeopardizes the lives of other motorists.

HEARING traffic, civil and criminal cases gives a judge a pretty good variety of experience, Buckley believes. He feels the Police Magistrate Court is, therefore, a good training ground for higher responsibility.

He is assisted in court work by Mrs. Dorothy Engleson, 418 S. Patton Ave., clerk of the court.

The mild-mannered judge is often called upon by civic groups to make speeches and public appearances. For example, he gave the major address May 30 at Memorial Day services here.

He is a member of Lions International and six bar associations and lawyers' societies.

His immediate goals are to "do a good job in what I'm doing" and to improve that golf score.

Swim Pool Fees Same As Last Year

Arlington Heights Park District's summer program will be in full swing next week when the Pioneer Park and Recreation Park pools are scheduled to open.

Season swimming passes and daily admissions will cost the same as last year according to Superintendent of Recreation William Appleby.

Daily admission prices are: adults, 75 cents; children, 50 cents; and waders, 25 cents. Residents' season passes cost $15 for a family; $8 for an adult; $6 for a child; and $3 for a wader.

Appleby explained that a family "activities pass," which sells for $25, will entitle the family to a season swimming pass, swimming instruction sessions for two children, one adult swimming session, one synchronized swimming instruction session per child, one handicraft session per child, and one tumbling and trampoline session for all members of the family.

THE SUMMER aquatic activities schedule lists swimming instruction, water safety courses, scuba diving, competitive swimming and diving instruction, adult swim nights, and other swimming instruction and events.

Appleby points out that the water activities are only a small part of the large summer program.

Sports and playground activities include supervised playgrounds, softball, tumbling trampoline instruction, tennis instruction, golf instruction, baseball trips, and physical conditioning.

CULTURAL activities include handicrafts, jewelry making, art classes, dramatics, modern dance, baton twirling and marching, and concerts.

Other features of the program are a recreation center for high school students and an "Over 50 Club" for senior residents.

Appleby urges residents to register immediately for program offerings, since many classes fill quickly. Further information is available at the district's administrative office, 500 S. Fernandez, telephone CL 3-0620. (A

Estates Solution 'Imminent'

A decision on cutting off police and fire services to the unincorporated Scarsdale Estates Subdivision was delayed to June 17 Monday by the Arlington Heights Board of Trustees.

Trustee Norval Stephens requested the two-week delay, saying a "solution" to the possibility of the subdivision voluntarily annexing to the village was imminent. (A

'Piano Frolics' This Saturday

"Piano Frolics in Spring" is the title of a piano recital for the students of Mrs. John L. Oster, 937 N. Chestnut, Arlington Heights, to be held at her home this Saturday at 2 p.m.

Students participating are Peggy and Shirley Bonnell, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Dean W. Bonnell, 310 N. Pine, Arlington Heights; Becky Bailey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Bailey, 2802 Dove St., Rolling Meadows; and Lizbee and Gregg Oster, children of Lt. Col. and Mrs. John L. Oster.

Summer School Program Approved

The 1963 summer school program was approved May 29 at an adjourned meeting of the Arlington Heights District 25 School Board.

Summer school registration dates are June 6, 7, and 10 for both the remedial and enrichment program, to run from June 24 to July 19.

The remedial program will include hour-long courses in reading, first through eighth grades; arithmetic, third through eighth grades, and language, fifth through eighth grades.

Each class will have from two to four students. The tuition fee is $30.

REMEDIAL classes will be offered at Windsor and Park Schools. Children living north of the railroad will attend classes at Windsor; those living south of the railroad will attend Park.

The enrichment program covers courses in science, for fourth through eighth grades; instrumental music, for third through eighth grades; and conversational French, for sixth through eighth grades.

The size of enrichment classes will be from eight to 15 students. The tuition fee is $10 for instrumental music; $15 for science and French.

THE FRENCH course, a 1963 innovation in the summer program, will primarily cover conversational skills and is designed both for advanced students and those seeking extra practice.

Students taking the summer French class should not have been enrolled in regular French classes for more than two years.

French and Science classes will be offered at Miner Junior High School. Instrumental music classes will be given at Park School and at Miner.

Teachers' salary for all courses will be $5 per hour. (A

Install Officers June 6 at Wayside

Our Lady of the Wayside Catholic Woman's Club will hold its annual communion breakfast Thursday morning, June 6, following the 9:30 Mass, in the parish hall. Spiritual director, Rev. Harold T. O'Hara, will install officers for the coming year.

New officers elected at the May meeting are Mrs. Paul Hoppe Jr., president; Mrs. J. Patrick Kaine, second vice president; and Mrs. William Chamberlain, secretary. Out-going officers are Mrs. Vincent Furlong, president, Mrs. John Switalla, second vice president, and Mrs. Leonard Hanson, secretary.

Mrs. William Johnston, first vice president, and Mrs. Joseph Franz, treasurer, have another year of office.

Baby sitting service will be provided, and tickets for the breakfast may be purchased at the door. (A

Methodists Planning Classes

The First Methodist Church of Arlington Heights is planning a vacation church school to be held this summer under the direction of Mrs. Albin Lindblad, it was announced this week.

The school will run from June 18 to 21 and June 25 to 28 from 9:15 to 11:30 a.m. Children between five and 12 are eligible to register.

Theme of the school will be "Widening Relationships." A special project will be assistance to the American Leprosy Mission.

Parents may register their children at the church or by telephoning Mrs. Donald Underwood, CL 5-7008. Registration closes June 13. (A

School Site Is Rented To Farmer

Arlington Heights District 25 School Board approved the rental of 20 acres of land to farmer Herman Engelking, 201 S. Highland, at a May 29 meeting.

The acreage, lying adjacent to a proposed junior high school site at State and Hintz Roads, was rented to Engelking at $17 per acre for a year.

Board secretary Peter Bakas reported that prior to the board's approval, Engelking had already been farming two of the acres in question. (A

Argue School Board's Role in OK'ing Texts

A question regarding the role a school board should play in adopting student textbooks was brought forward last Wednesday by District 25 School Board members.

Before voting to adopt five new text books for the 1963-64 school term, board member Harold Sortor said he did not know enough about the textbooks in question to pass any judgment.

He felt that before voting, board members should have a chance to at least look over the texts. "We shouldn't accept these books on blind faith," he said.

SUPT. RALPH E. Clabaugh replied that if board members began looking more deeply into the books, they would be "getting in the way of those whose job it was to establish the curriculum.

"When you're voting on these books, you're not actually accepting anything; you're reasserting your confidence in the staff," he told the board.

Board president Joseph Faner asserted, "No board member is fit to determine if a book is good or bad. We haven't the training."

BOARD member Charles Bennett said that the best way to find out about textbooks was to approach individual teachers and find out their opinions of the texts they are using.

Faner suggested that the board table a motion to okay the books until Clabaugh could more fully explain the board's role in the selection of texts. The suggestion was rejected.

The following texts were adopted for the 1963-64 school year:

—"Seeing Through Mathematics." This text is the final installment of the Scott, Foresman basic mathematics program, now being used experimentally at the South and Miner Junior High Schools.

—"SCIENCE for the Space Age," an eighth grade text, introducing areas suggested for the eighth grade while chronologically following the seventh and eighth grade texts.

—"Reading for Meaning," a revised edition of the series now in use.

—"Basic Keys to Spelling," a study of new spelling programs as they relate to the junior high language-arts program.

—Thorndike - Barnhard Dictionary, a new edition of the dictionary now in use. (A Village Gets Only 1 Bid, Tries Again

"I can't understand why, when we're dealing with the largest industry in the United States, we get only one bid."

That was Village Trustee Norval Stephens' comment Monday when it was announced at the village board meeting that a single response was received to a public advertisement for bids on a "carry-all" vehicle.

"I'm concerned too," chimed in Trustee George Beacham. "I'd like to see this go out for bids again. There should be many others interested in this kind of a sale."

VILLAGE MANAGER L. A. Hanson said the advertisement for bids was published in Paddock Publications' 14 suburban newspapers and that he personally sent invitations to bid to five auto agencies.

The lone bid was from Lattof Chevrolet Sales, 800 E. Northwest Hwy., Arlington Heights. The bid was $4,831.

Village President John G. Woods pointed out that re-advertising for bids might serve to undermine Lattof's proposal. He was joined by Trustee Carl Mees, who cited advantages of purchasing locally.

Mees moved acceptance of the Lattof bid, but the motion died for lack of a second.

STEPHENS THEN made a motion to reject Lattof's bid and to advertise again. Beacham seconded the motion and it was approved 3-1, Mees casting the negative vote.

An advertisement asking for new bids on the police department vehicle appears on the Legal Page of this week's Herald.

Firms initially invited to bid by Hanson were Lattof; International Harvester Co., Chicago; Burrow Chevrolet, Barrington; Edwards Chevrolet, Elmhurst, and George Poole Ford, Arlington Heights. (A

Tree Firm Violates Law, Union Charges

A union representative charged Monday that a tree trimming firm hired by the Village of Arlington Heights is doing work in violation of state law.

Clarence Leonard of Chicago, business representative for Local 703, Landscaper's Union, appeared at Monday's village board meeting to offer a correction to the minutes of the board's May 20 meeting.

He said Nels Johnson Tree Experts, Inc., Evanston, is "most definitely" in violation of the law.

"This company does not have a licensed tree expert on the job at all times as required by state law," Leonard told the board of trustees.

IN RESPONSE to a comment by Village Manager L. A. Hanson that the law does not apply to village, county or state governing bodies, Leonard said:

"If the village maintained its own tree trimming crews the law would not apply. But if the village hires a private contractor, a licensed tree expert must be on the job.

"If Mr. Hanson will check with the village attorney, I'm sure he'll find I'm right."

Village Atty. Jack Siegel did not support Leonard's position.

At the May 20 board meeting, another Local 703 representative, John Corroda, spoke against the village hiring the non-union Johnson firm despite the fact Johnson's was the lowest of four bids submitted.

CORRODA reasoned other companies could do better work. He did not charge Johnson with any illegal operation, prompting Leonard to make the "correction" Monday.

Village President John G. Woods asked Leonard how the matter of Johnson's alleged illegal work came to his (Leonard's) attention.

"I've been checking on Johnson," Leonard answered. "That's my job. It's what I'm paid to do."

Hanson told the Herald Tuesday that a contract with Johnson will be finalized when the tree trimmer presents a performance bond this week. (A petition sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The 20-year-old coed, a junior at University of Illinois, will compete in the annual Miss Illinois pageant July 17-20 in Aurora.

JANICE HOPE JORDEN is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Jorden, formerly of 641 S. State Road, Arlington Heights. Six months ago they moved to rural Dundee.

The new Miss Elgin won the title from 18 girls with an original comedy monologue, "Class of 1932 Reunion." She plans a career in radio and television. (A

Canoes Needed By Scouts

Boy Scout Troop 135 of Arlington Heights is in need of two or three used canoes, the Herald learned this week.

The troop will use the canoes in instructing young Scouts in canoeing and water safety this summer.

Residents willing to loan a canoe or able to provide information as to the availability of canoes are urged to telephone any one of the following:

Scoutmaster Tom Clauter, CL 9-2397; Norm Lees, CL 9-0812, or H. Payne, 392-3199.

The troop sponsored a holly sale last Christmas in order to raise funds to buy canoes, but the effort fell short of its goal.

Guitar Concert Planned

Featured at tomorrow's (Friday) meeting of the Arlington Acres Civic Association will be a guitar concert starring the students and teachers of the El Ray Music Center of Arlington Heights.

Inspectors Look At 2,293 Bicycles

Some 2,293 bicycles were inspected in the recent Arlington Heights Bike Safety and Testing Program sponsored by the Council of Parent-Teacher Associations, the Cook County Traffic Safety Commission, and the police department.

Safety Chairman Mrs. John E. Gross, 121 S. Kennicott, reports that of the 1,714 bicycles inspected at the public elementary schools, 533 were judged "perfect," 113 were "mechanical rejects," over 1,000 lacked either a light, horn, or fenders; 628 owners purchased licenses; and 455 owners bought reflector tape.

Another 579 bicycles were inspected at the village's parochial schools.

THE PROGRAM stressed children's responsibilities as operators of vehicles. Bicycle owners were required to ride through a safety lane test set up with traffic signs and other simulated traffic conditions.

Those passing the test were given cards certifying their proficiency and making them members of the Bicycle Safety Club.

Representatives of the police department explained the department's new policy of issuing tickets to bicycle riders who violate safety rules. (A

IMPORTANT INTERFERENCE

by ED LANDWEHR

World leaders often make the viewpoint that they're surprised at the public's lack of concern over fall-out from nuclear testing. As television servicers we'd like to answer that there'll be plenty of concern when it begins to interfere with TV reception.

Just the heavy requirements for electrical current during mealtimes or by simultaneous operation of washers, ironers and other appliances bring plenty of complaints about poor TV reception.

LANDWEHR TV, 218 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights, gives prompt and accurate service for all electronic appliances besides television. Phone CLearbrook 5-0700 for complete service right in your living room.

Ridge Park–Sherwood

Ridge Park bridge players met Saturday at Rolling Green Country Club for dinner and awards. Outgoing officers, the Eddie Laws, Jim Lauers and Jack Camerons, awarded prizes to the highest scoring couples of the season. First prize went to the Bill Gradys, second to the Bob McMullens, and third to the Laws. Consolation prize was awarded to the Charles Ryckaerts.

After dinner bridge was played, with prizes going to the Clement O'Neils, the Clarence Loechls, the John Molitors and the Chad Lindners.

New officers elected were the Bill Gradys, chairmen; the Ralph Elsners, secretary, and the Jack Harvells, treasurer.

All Ridge Park bridge-loving couples are invited to join this monthly group and to call Bill Brady at 392-3664 for information.

BIRTHDAYS and graduations kept Ridge Parkers busy. At the M. Jerome Winters home, 1015 N. Princeton, Louise graduated from St. James Sunday. Jean describes this week as a "wild one," for Ronnie was 15 Sunday, Louise will be 14 Friday, the Winters celebrate their 17th anniversary Saturday and Greg will be 13 Monday. Home to join in the family festivities is oldest son, Jerry, who has just completed his first year of studies at Mt. Carmel Seminary, Niagara Falls, Ont.

Other St. James graduates included Christine Gleason, daughter of the Edward Gleasons, 911 N. Princeton, whose family entertained for friends and relatives after the ceremonies, and Donna Marie Braunsreuter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Braunsreuter, 731 N. Kennicott.

Birthday congratulations go to Libby Griffith, daughter of the Bill Griffiths, 625 N. Kaspar, who took Susan Inselberger and Gay Hill out to dinner to celebrate her 10th birthday.

Ridge Park loses neighbors with the departure of the Ed Oja family from 921 N. Patton to Algonquin, on the Fox River.

TOM MERGES, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Merges, graduated Sunday from St. James. His parents held an open house at 834 N. Harvard, welcoming, among others, Tom's grandmother, Mrs. Frieda Merges of Chicago, and godparents, Parnell Kelly, and Mrs. Dolores Barry, both of Morton Grove. Paul Clore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clore, 1315 W. Elm, also was among the St. James graduates. After the ceremonies, the Clores attended a graduation party at the Larry Fischers, 1021 N. Race. The Fischers' daughter, Mary, also graduated from St. James.

A neighborhood birthday party for 6-year-old Bryon Finger, son of the Donald Fingers, 715 N. Kaspar, found Johnny Griffith, Freddy Kroll, Randy Wille, Larry Kay and brothers, Bruce and Bobby, among the guests.

Greg Zachwieja, son of Mrs. Jeanette Zachwieja, 715 N. Fernandez St., graduated Sunday from St. James. Among other guests at open house were Greg's grandmother, Mrs. Mary Dietz, and godfather, George Kuffel of Chicago. Recently, Greg's sister, Joan, made her First Holy Communion at St. James.

COMMUTING between Salem Street and DeKalb for final exams has kept Ralph Law, son of the Ed Laws, busy. He arrived home Memorial Day from his freshman year at Northern Illinois University, and has made at least four trips to the campus since. He's looking forward to leaving later this month for a boys camp at Salem, Wis., where he'll direct the physical fitness program.

Memorial Weekend found the George Lurtz family relaxing at 909 N. Patton around their backyard pool. Nick, Mary, and Tom Barkulis and Sylvia and Red Craig were their guests for swimming and supper.

Jeannette Bulinski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bulinski, 725 N. Kaspar, was confirmed May 26 in St. Philip Episcopal Church, Palatine. Her grandmother, Mrs. Frank Bulinski, of Chicago, came out for the service, and the family had brunch afterwards at Aunt Jemimas. Kathy Bulinski attended a bon voyage party Saturday at Lake Zurich.

WEDNESDAY Valerie Juhl arrived home at 831 N. Salem from her junior year at Northern Illinois University, DeKalb. Stan and Tessie welcomed the Frank Ostermanns and Frank Jr., from Lexington, Ky., for the Memorial Weekend.

Congratulations go to Cynthia Intravartolo, daughter of the Joe Intravartolos, 815 N. Kennicott, who graduated Sunday from St. James. She'll celebrate this week with a family party.

Returning Friday after her freshman year at Northern Illinois will be Diana Rosenblatt, daughter of the Henry Rosenblatts, 1007 N. Salem. Diana will visit first in Rockford at the home of one of her college friends.

Double birthday celebrations were enjoyed by Stephen Schlickman, son of the Gene Schlickmans, 712 N. Fernandez. His first party came at Lake Delavan with his grandfather, L. J. Schlickman, of Rockford, whose own birthday was two days earlier. Later in the week Stevie treated neighborhood friends to sodas before they attended the Redbirds Little League game. Steve is on the Redbirds team, but is currently not playing because of a cut finger.

THE INDIANAPOLIS 500 proved a Memorial Day attraction for Mr. and Mrs. Hal Eckstein, 912 N. Salem. They drove to Shelbyville, Ind., to visit Hal's brother. "Grandma" babysat with Frank and little Hal while the couples attended the races.

May was a big month for the John Oertel family, 708 N. Salem. Johnny celebrated his 11th birthday with a movie party for Greg and Susan Inselberger, Patti and Todd Shumate, Timmy Mussachio, Gary and Michael Thompson and Christopher, Jonathan and Bobby Bone. Since his dad is in the movie business, he was able to get an excellent space picture for the boys. Jimmy Oertel was 3 May 25, and welcomed grandparents, the Theodore Oertels and Mrs. Stephanie Korbel, and godmother, Miss Lina Burzig, of Chicago, to his party.

Memorial Weekend the Oertels visited the Robert Grooms family in Cleveland, Ohio. They returned in time for Joanie's Baccalaurate services at Arlington High School.

SHARON McMullen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McMullen, was among the graduates Sunday of St. James. Her parents entertained for her at open house afterwards, and went out to dinner first with friends. The McMullen family enjoyed attending an outdoor breakfast held in Arlington after the Memorial Day parade, and welcoming their older daughter, Mrs. Betty Abrams of Columbus, Ohio, for a visit. She brought with her Miss Ellen Gilbert and Miss Mary Jones, also teachers in Columbus.

Mary Kay Mowatt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Mowatt, 1002 N. Patton, was hostess at a family gathering Saturday to celebrate her graduation from St. James.

Two graduation ceremonies in one day kept the Raymond Doyle family busy Sunday. First they attended those for Robert and Donald Higgason, both of Skokie, who are Mr. Doyle's nephews. They returned in time to watch Paul graduate from St. James. Paul's family party will be held next week.

A HIGH school graduate and a junior high graduate are double reasons for the John Harvell family, 1206 W. Elm, to be celebrating this week. Patrick graduated Friday from Notre Dame High School in Niles. He'll attend Mount St. Mary's College, Emmetsburg, Md., this fall. Kevin graduated Sunday from St. James.

Birthday congratulations go to the Steve Erd family this week. Marianne became a teenager Saturday, and spent the weekend with her grandparents, the William Irwins of Chicago, shopping and seeing Riverview. She took along her friend, Claudia Tapp, also of Kaspar Street. Bill Erd will be 14 this weekend, and plans also to visit his grandparents with one of his friends.

Home from his freshman pre-medical studies at Cornell University is Jim Hosek, son of the Wally Hoseks, Salem and Elm. The Hoseks left Wednesday for Ithaca, N. Y., visiting the John Bones there, and brought Jim home Friday. (A

you almost have to hunt for dust

When you move into an electrically heated home you can practically forget about dirt. Electric heat is as clean as the electric light you read by.

There's no flame or fuel to make dirt, soot, or grime. And electric heat is such gentle heat it doesn't even stir up dust. In fact, in an electrically heated home you often have to look for dust.

EVERYTHING STAYS CLEAN LONGER

Your curtains and draperies stay fresh and nice for so long you'll have a time remembering when you put them up. Upholstery stays lots nicer, too. Electric heat is so clean you spend far less time housekeeping. That leaves you more time for activities you enjoy.

Living in an electrically heated home has other advantages, too, such as room-by-room heat control and fresher feeling heat that uses up none of the moisture or oxygen in the air. Even your skin feels more comfortable.

ELECTRIC HEATING NOW COSTS LESS THAN EVER

The recent rate reduction—on Electric Heating—applies to the three basic systems illustrated below. So, if you're looking for a new home . . . plan to build one . . . or want to modernize the heating in the home you own, call your nearest Public Service Company office for complete facts on the Electric Heating system that's best for you.

3 BASIC TYPES OF FLAMELESS ELECTRIC HEATING TO SOLVE EVERY HEATING PROBLEM

Radiant Electric Heating—offers room-by-room control. Ideal in homes or apartments. Just set the dial and you control the heat. Heating units circulate and radiate gentle waves of warmth throughout each room.

Central Electric Heating—new kind of furnace for new or older homes. Works with your present duct system. Circulates gentle electrically heated air. Air conditioning may be added at any time.

Electric Heat Pump—gives you perfect year-round climate automatically. Amazing unit switches to heating or air conditioning by itself. Maintains ideal temperature and humidity with one setting.

VIRGINIA TERRACE

June's tune is a lively one, with graduations and party fun. . .

On the past two Saturdays successive farewell parties have been hosted to mark the departure of Jack and Betty Sorensen who, with children, Nancy and Richard, left 1406 N. Chicago for their new home in Summerhill on the last day of May.

The first adieu was held at the home of Betty Cech, 1402 N. Chicago, in the form of a potluck luncheon. The guests, who presented the guest of honor with a gift, included Joan Donath, Phyllis Fluhrer, Olive Balow, Pierrette Leckie, Alice Brown, Ann Kennedy, Deanna Olson, Helen Flesch, Shirle Husted and June Visk of Northbrook.

THE SECOND neighborhood get-together was hosted by Hal and Phyllis Fluhrer, 1433 N. Race, Saturday night. Attending in addition to Jack and Betty Sorensen, were the Walter Leckies, Edwin Donaths, Ed Cechs, Kenneth Flesches, Don Kennedys and the Bob Husteds.

Linda, daughter of Jack and Betty Kenney, 1301 N. Chicago, had her share of party fun recently, when a family party was held in honor of her seventh birthday on Memorial Day.

Guests included her great-grandmother, Mrs. F. E. New of Evanston, and her grandmother, Mrs. Marion Tagtmeier of Glenview. Saturday Linda was again feted with a party — this one attended by playmates Donna Murphy, Wendy Miller, Melanie Clarkson, Michael Herbert, Danny Yore and Scotty Burns of Northbrook, along with Linda's sister, Donna.

A family party was held May 22 to mark the second natal anniversary of Jimmy, son of Norma and Gene Peterson, 1239 N. Illinois.

THE TERRACE Sewing Circle held a surprise housewarming for a former resident, Libby Caldwell, at the latter's home last Wednesday afternoon. Surprising sewers, who presented Libby with a gift, included Kay Roden, Stephanie Brosius, Sue Caprara, Margaret Noon, Irene Pedersen and Lorraine Ninneman.

1345 N. Illinois was buzzin' with cousins Saturday afternoon when Eric, son of Carl and Betty Bloom, celebrated his sixth birthday. On hand, cousin -wise, were Phillip, Peter and Karen Hansen of Kenosha; Debbie, Scotty and Donna Dahlberg of Rolling Meadows and Pammy and Jody Jedd of Chicago. Also in attendance were both sets of grandparents, the Sven Dahlbergs of Arlington Heights and the Elmer Blooms of Roselle.

Lou and Elaine Kohler and children, Joan and Jim, journeyed to Columbia, Mo., for the recent graduation ceremonies at Stephens College where Elaine's sister, Miss Georgia Goewey, received her associate of arts degree.

MAY 27 was a big one at the home of Dick and Ruth Randle, 1448 N. Yale, as it marked the confirmation ceremonies of daughter Janice, in Our Saviour Lutheran Church. Following the rites the Randles hosted an outdoor picnic buffet attended by both sets of grandparents, the W. L. Randles and the F. L. Woods of Chicago, and her aunt and uncle, the Warren Woods of Meadowdale, great-aunt and uncle, the William Hamptons of Barrington, and her godparents, the Richard Maahs of Oak Park.

Another Terrace confirmand at Our Saviour Lutheran Church was Jane, daughter of Bob and Jo Hult, 1108 N. Chicago. After the ceremonies the Hults and their guests returned home for a buffet luncheon. Attending were Jane's godparents, Mr. and Mrs. David Larson, Grosse Pte. Shores, Mich., Grandmother, Mrs. A. J. Hult of Park Ridge, and her aunt, Mrs. Ernest Booth of Chicago. Later in the day both Jane and her brother, Jack performed in a piano recital at the Arlington High School's Little Theater to round out the day's activities.

Danny, son of James and Dorothy McGrath, 1248 N. Race, recently enjoyed a family dinner party held in honor of his third birthday.

THE 19TH of May was a special day for Mark Larson, 1202 N. Race. It started with special ceremonies at White Pine State Park, where he was inducted into the Boy Scouts, and followed later in the day with a family dinner party, hosted by parents Ted and Edith in honor of his 11th birthday. Dinner guests included his sisters, Thea, Loni and Cari, brother, Larry, his grandmother, Mrs. Stella Larson, and family friends from Broadview, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Brues. The following day a second party was held for Mark and attended by his aunt, Miss Sylvia Rockefeller and her fiance, Adam Zeller, both of Chicago.

Recently Don and Ann Kennedy, 1425 N. Chicago enjoyed a busy "go" which included a wedding reception following the nuptials of Miss Ethel Deworth and Rodney Jadberg, held at the Vasa Club in Chicago, along with a visit in Decatur at the home of Ann's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Baker, where they saw Ann's sister and family, the Charles Coners, who were visiting here from Phoenix. Before the Coners left for home, the Kennedys joined them for dinner at the Seven Continents Restaurant.

A SECOND birthday party was held recently for Chuckie, son of Dorothy and Chuck Catlin, 1609 W. Olive. On hand were his sisters, Virginia May and Susan, along with Dorothy's folks, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Wolfe of Chicago.

Saturday afternoon an outdoor barbecue was held at 1216 N. Chicago, in honor of Eric Pedersen's first birthday. Hosted by his parents, Paul and Irene, guests included his sisters Paula, Karen and Christine, grandmother, Mrs. Joseph Burke of Chicago, and great-aunts, Mrs. G. Kuehn of Chicago and Mrs. E. De Pung of San Diego, Calif., and aunt, uncle and cousins, the Jerry Burkes of Wheeling.

In addition to a family party on May 29, Scott, son of Ed and Marion Nielsen, was feted with a party on Memorial Day in honor of his 11th birthday. Guests included his aunt, uncle and cousins, the Carl Hellners from Chicago.

Sunday afternoon Ted and Marcy Micek, 1325 N. Chicago, hosted an open house in honor of Pam's graduation from St. James. Guests included her grandparents, the Joseph Miceks, her godmother and husband, the Edward Olszewdkis, aunt, Mrs. Josephine Swiderski and family, her godfather and family, the Ted Glowinskis, her aunt, Miss Rose Micek, and the Herbert Fesslers, Jack Garlands, Sam Coniglios, Guy Eisenhuths, Hank Melniks, Frank Pirchers, George Rogers and the Robert Callahans.

GAMES AND FUN were in order Friday, when John, son of Robert and Shirle Husted, 1610 W. Olive, celebrated his sixth birthday. Luncheon guests included Debby Garland, Kris Blackburn, Robby Wiederhold, Wendy Micek, Wayne Eisenhuth, Darlene Donath, Judy Lindholm and Danny Yore.

A double - birthday - header was celebrated at 1334 N. Illinois Sunday, when Helen and Virgil Marienau hosted a buffet dinner in honor of Leonard and Timmy, who celebrated their 14th and 5th birthdays, respectively. Guests included their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Nagorny of Arlington Heights, Leonard's godparents, Miss Josephine Reichert of Chicago and Joseph May of Miami, Fla.; Timmy's godparents, Mrs. Henry J. Nagorny of Arlington Heights and Henry E. Nagorny of Rolling Meadows, and aunts and uncles. On the preceding Monday, Timmy celebrated with a neighborhood party attended by Vicki Bade, Paul Sorensen, Jimmy Charleston and Jimmy Cocker.

ANOTHER FAREWELL party held in the Terrace recently was given in honor of Lt. and Mrs. Alan Meyerhoff, who moved from 1346 N. Illinois, upon Alan's separation from the service, into a new home in Palatine. The co-op neighborhood get-together was held at the home of Carroll and Jack Brahm, 1401 N. Chicago, and attended by Jack and Helen Martin, Edith and Joe Singer, Joe and Barbara Herrity and Dorothy and Richard Singer.

When two family birthdays fall five days apart at the end of May, one way to resolve the celebration situation is to hold a "double party" on Memorial Day, which is exactly what Jesse and Genevieve Galloway, 1111 N. Wilke, did for children, Catherine and Michael, who were 6 and 4, respectively.

Guests included Kris Blackburn, Chrissy Sadowski, Roxanne Petruccui, "Sassy" Freeman, Susan Parks, Jimmy Freeman and Fritz Bredenbeck, along with Bob Steele, who assisted with games and serving. On the preceding weekend the Galloways hosted family dinners for the children, with their aunt and uncle, the Don Hansen family of Melrose Park, and their grandparents, the Barney Posels of Berwyn, attending.

Trudi, daughter of Phil and Lee Pods, 1208 N. Race, celebrated her 10th birthday May 28 with a neighborhood party. Cake eaters and game players included Vicki and Kathy Schmidt, Dawn Dolejs, Loni Larson and Roxanne Kuhl and Trudi's sister, Susan.

Illinois House 'Smoother Than U.S. Congress'

SPRINGFIELD, (UPI) — Congressman Robert McLoskey, R-Ill., has decided the Illinois House works more smoothly than the U. S. Congress.

McLoskey, a former legislator, told House members Monday he wanted to visit them to see how the House operates "so smoothly."

He said he wanted to return to Washington with the secret "because we sure have some problems back there."

ROBERT CALLANAN, 1329 N. Chicago Ave., Arlington Heights, was named last week as winner in the practical examination for adults in the second annual Telescope Fair held recently at the Chicago Park District Adler Planetarium and Astronomical Museum. Presenting an award to Callanan was James Hancock, executive director of the Chicago Planetarium Society which provided the prizes for the fair. (A

Timely Books Listed On Boats and Boating

by BETTY AINSLIE

Boats, bathing and beaches seem to spell summer and fun for any boy or girl eagerly waiting for vacation to begin. But if your trip or camping adventure won't start for awhile, have the joy now of reading some brand new books about the sea and all the magic that the name spells.

Arlington Heights Memorial Library young people's department has a wealth of new books of sea and adventure for just good reading, to books that will make your vacation at the lake this year more interesting and safer.

Take the book "Sea So Big, Ship So Small" by Jeanne Bendick—a fine new volume full of clever illustrations that tells all about boating. When you handle a boat you either "sink or think" according to the author and it is important that you get the best boat for your money and know how to handle it once it is in the water.

The book also contains information on how to make knots, how to care for equipment—how the motor works and how to dock the boat.

It gives information about wind and currents and what to do if someone is hurt.

"SPORTS Illustrated Book of Better Boating" gives a complete picture for the more advanced sailor about the handling of all kinds of boats, from the family outboard, big motor boats to sailboats. Has some interesting rules about what to do if the weather should turn a bit nasty and how to retrieve a man overboard.

A new book intended for the beginner in boating is called "A Boy and His Boat" by Edward C. Janes. Here along with full information about all kinds of boats from canoes to sailboats you'll find a section all about water skiing and fishing, so you can be all set to try your luck at either one of these sports.

Before we leave the subject of boats here are a couple more books which are new to the library shelves. "Saling" by Bill Wallace is a guide to handling, equipping, maintaining and buying the small sailboat.

"Sports Illustrated Book of Small Boat Sailing" is a new manual for safer sailing. This last book is fully illustrated and diagrammed with a special section written by Bill Cox who is a champion at rigging and tuning small boats.

A DIFFERENT and fascinating book for the boy who likes to read about his boats rather than actually handle them, is called "Strange Craft" by Walter Buehr.

This book tells the history of unusual boats like the hydrofoil ferry boat which skims over the water on skis. There are also stories about the bathyscape, submarines, slave ships, collapsible craft and the blockade runners.

Another book for the fellow interested in the history of ships is called "From the Turtle to the Nautilus" by Edwin P. Hoyt. This is the story of the first sub which was called the Turtle and was a frail shell that held one man and stayed down for 30 minutes, to the modern atomic subs.

"Up From the Sea" by Nora Stirling is the story of about 400 years of salvaging ships. In this book you'll find facts about the salvaging of the Maine and the Mary Rose which was a ship in the fleet of Henry VIII to operations with the Squalus and the liner Normandie. A truly different book which you fellows and girls will find fascinating to the last page.

For a book which is loaded with illustrations and a joy to just look at, try the new one called "A History of Ships and Seafaring" by Courtlandt Canby. This is a thrilling account of the development of the boat from the oar to the sail, from steam to atomic power, and for the history and romance of every kind of a boat that took to the sea.

So for a happier summer of boating read one of these new books now. (A

Plat on Waterman Approved

Arlington Heights trustees gave their approval Monday to the preliminary plat of Martin Wolff's Resubdivision located on the west side of Waterman Avenue, between Miner and Euclid Streets.

The subdivision consists of 13 residential lots which face east onto Memory Gardens Cemetery.

The plan commission recommended approval of the subdivision plat, providing efforts are made to improve Waterman Avenue as a marginal access street.

But Village Manager L. A. Hanson objected to Waterman being marginal access. He recommended trustees consider it as a 28-foot street as shown in the master plan and capital improvement program.

Trustees sided with Hanson, 4-0. (A

Steal Tools At School

Hanz Jensen, a construction worker at the Dunton School site on the south side of the village, reported the loss of $400 worth of tools Monday to Arlington Heights police.

Jensen said the tools were stolen from the site sometime over the weekend. The school is being built on Dunton Avenue at Cypress Street. (A

Georgia Trucker Stalled

A Georgia truck driver was arrested Sunday by Patrolman Ronald Siebold for operating a tractor-trailer with no directional turn signals, no stop lights, no safety sticker and no Illinois license plates.

A check with Secretary of State's police revealed the truck could not be moved until its owner came up with $640 for license plates and other necessities. (A

School Funds Transferred

The Arlington Heights District 25 School Board May 29 approved a transfer of $65,000 from its special building fund to the educational fund.

The transfer resolution indicated that the educational fund did not have sufficient monies to pay coming expenses, and that the 1962 special building fund held an excess of $65,000 after expenses. (A

All-Time Wages

The average wage level in U. S. factories has reached an all-time record of $2.43 an hour, up 15% in the past four years.

Suburban News of the Week

WHEELING — A "manpower resources program" was proposed at the village board meeting Monday. Its purpose would be to assist in selecting persons for village administrative and advisory posts. Reason would be to help assure that qualified persons are serving the village. Details in Wheeling Herald.

PALATINE — Water problems hit the village causing closing of Palatine Township High School Monday at 1 p.m. The village board waived bids on a booster pump for the Lincoln Street well in order to alleviate difficulties caused by water shortage. Sprinkling lawns is banned. Details in Palatine Enterprise.

ELK GROVE VILLAGE — Trustees accepted the plan commission's recommendations to file an objection to a proposed gasoline station — convenience shopping center development at Devon Avenue and Arlington Heights Road in DuPage County, across the street from Elk Grove village limits.

Legislation permitting a school district to license trailer court units went through Illinois Senate committee with a "do-pass" recommendation following the testimony of Elk Grove District 59 officials. There are seven trailer courts in District 59.

Robert Haskins, attorney for two developers who had rezoning requests rejected recently by the county board, said he would appeal the rulings. Both proposed rezonings would have permitted building of more apartments in the unincorporated areas of Elk Grove township. For details, see Elk Grove Herald.

SCHAUMBURG — A hearing on a proposal of Schaumburg Village to establish a park district has been set for 10 a.m. June 24 in Cook County Court as a step toward putting the question to voters in the proposed district. It would cover approximately two-thirds of the land area of Schaumburg Township, but would exclude Elk Grove Village, Hoffman Estates, Hanover Park and Roselle, as well as four square miles of unincorporated area in the northwest corner of the township. Details in Hoffman Herald.

ROLLING MEADOWS — A new zoning district was created last week by Rolling Meadows city council, tailor-made for the proposed $15 million motel-apartment-commercial development at Illinois 53 and Algonquin Road. It provides for motels and apartment hotels. Other action involving the same tract was taken by the Rolling Meadows park district, which has completed annexation of the area. Details in Rolling Meadows Herald.

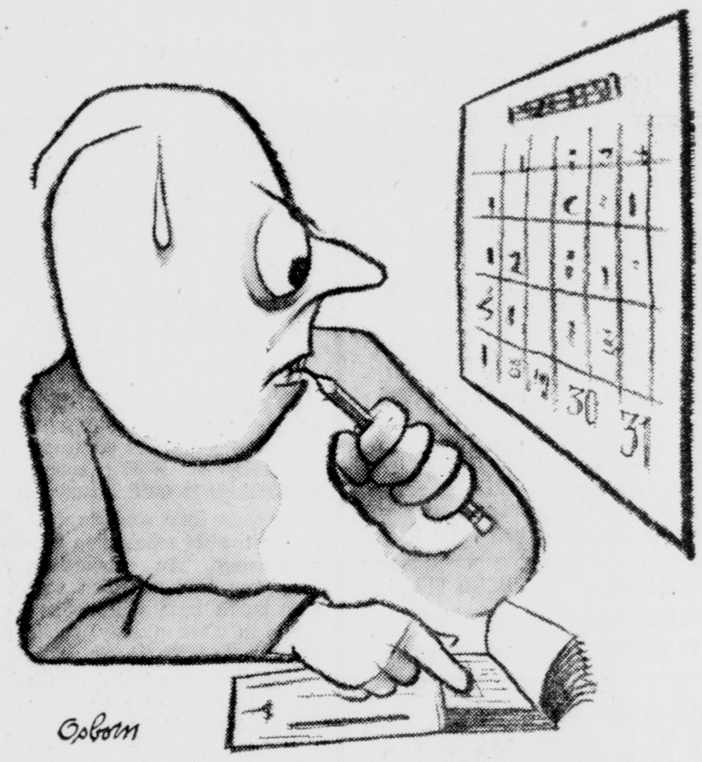
DO YOU HAVE TOO MUCH MONTH LEFT AT THE END OF YOUR MONEY?
(If so, maybe you're not as good at handling money as you could be?)



Nobody is born with the knack of handling money well.

It's a skill that's acquired. There is one place that can help shrink your month and stretch your money by showing you how to improve family budgeting and how to trim off waste. That place is the Arlington Heights National Bank, a Full Service commercial bank.

Why is Arlington Heights National Bank a Full Service Commercial Bank?

A Full Service commercial bank is a kind of "financial department store," able and willing to help you in all kinds of financial matters. It offers both checking and savings accounts. It makes home loans, business loans, auto loans, and loans for practically any purpose you can name. Often it provides safe deposit boxes, trust facilities, international banking, travelers' checks, and bank money orders.

Get to Know Your Banker at Arlington Heights National Bank Before You Need Him.

A Full Service banker is a full-time financial professional who can do a great deal for your financial present and financial future. And, no other institution can offer all the services a Full Service commercial bank can offer — according to law. It's a good idea to get acquainted with a Full Service banker as soon as possible.

Here's How To Get Started

First, pick out the Arlington Heights National Bank, a Full Service commercial bank that's handy to your home or work. You'll know for sure it's a Full Service commercial bank because it offers checking accounts. Introduce yourself to one of the bank's officers and make this bank your financial headquarters — savings account, checking account, all of your loans.

How Does This Keep You From Running Out of Month?

Two ways. One, listen and learn from your Full Service banker to help yourself become a money management expert. Two, when you need extra cash, borrow it from the bank instead of taking it out of your savings. This keeps your savings account intact and growing and gives you a chance to built a credit reputation.

That's all there is to it. Soon you'll find you can borrow sizable sums of money easily and inexpensively. If this sort of step-by-step plan for financial success makes sense to you, the place to begin is at the Arlington Heights National Bank, a Full Service commercial bank. It's never too early.

Top U.S. officials sketched by Art Henrikson include Attorney General Robert Kennedy; Undersecretary of State George W. Ball; Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman; Senator Barry M. Goldwater; Secretary of State Dean Rusk; Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall; Vice President Lyndon Johnson; Gen. Curtis LeMay of the Air Force; Gen. Maxwell Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs; Gen. Earl G. Wheeler of the Army; and Arthur Sylvester, Assistant Secretary of Defense for Public Affairs.

Comments attributed to Rusk and Ball were off-the-cuff "self descriptions" made to the cartoonists, who represented all major newspapers and magazines in the U.S.

Arthur Henrikson, editorial cartoonist for Paddock Publications' 14 suburban newspapers, recently attended the annual convention of the Association of American Editorial Cartoonists held in Washington, D. C.

The convention program included major addresses by Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., and Vice President Lyndon Johnson as well as briefings at the State and Defense Departments by top officials of those two government arms, the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and a session at the Russian Embassy.

The AAEC members were afforded an excellent opportunity to sketch government leaders in informal poses during the briefings. Reproduced here are some of Henrikson's convention drawings.

Henrikson, a graduate of Northwestern University, studied cartooning at the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts. Named in "Who's Who in the Midwest," he has earned several state and national citations for his work, including a recent George Washington Honor Medal from the Freedoms Foundation. He has exhibited cartoons on NBC-TV, at the Chicago Art Institute, and in major cities throughout the nation. Henrikson has been editorial cartoonist for Paddock Publications since 1957.

7 Area Students Win County Scholarships

Palatine and Prospect High schools were the only area schools with winners of special University of Illinois county scholarships in Cook County.

The seven local students were among the 114 scholarship winners named. The scholarships were won in competition with 1,430 pupils from Chicago and suburban Cook County public and private high schools.

Winners were selected on the basis of results of a four-hour examination held March 30 under the supervision of Cook County Superintendent of Schools.

THE PALATINE - SCHAUMburg High School winners are William Henry Harry, 316 W. Glade, Palatine; Robert James Iversen, 437 Creekwood, Palatine; Clayton Melville McDonald, 63 Warwick Lane; Weathersfield; and Pamela Karen Tietze, 1364 S. Brockway, Palatine.

The Prospect High scholarship winners come from three different communities. From Wheeling, the winner is Kenneth Louis Schroeder, 1114 S. Wolf Road. The Mount Prospect winner is Catherine Mae Tarrant, 900 Alder Lane. Completing the trio of winners is Susan Irene Williams, 2 S. Rammer, Arlington Heights.

Examination papers were graded at the University of Illinois. All students who were not awarded scholarships will receive a notice during the next two weeks from the university informing them of their grade and rank. (B9

Nude Cycle Riders Get Five Days

FAIRFIELD, IOWA, (UPI) — Two Parsons College sophomores who celebrated the end of final examinations by riding a motorcycle nude last weekend began five-day jail sentences.

Jon Lee Stocker, 20, Milwaukee, Wis., and Henry Kirk Forsythe, 22, of Omaha, Neb., were sentenced by Police Judge Arthur Hyke. They were arrested Friday night as they cruised around the city.

Police said one was wearing only a T-shirt and the other had on "even less." (B8

Pets Ideal For 'Live' Hobbyists

The new Town and Country Pet Shop, now open at 17 Bothwell St., Palatine, provides an answer to what to do for a hobby.

Their suggestion: a "live" hobby.

Willard E. Roth, formerly of the Gilded Cage in Chicago, and his wife, Florence, recently opened the pet shop and report that tropical fish, live bearers, fighting Siamese fish of beautiful colors, and attractive budgies are available for hobbyists and pet enthusiasts alike.

The shop also features parakeets that can be trained to say words and sentences, singing canaries, talking mynah birds, and other pets. (B8

Scrutinize Report on Insurance

Arlington Heights trustees voted 4-0 Monday to refer to the finance committee approval of a report on the village's insurance program.

Trustee George Beacham successfully recommended the following four steps be taken in conjunction with a study of the report:

1. The committee of insurance brokers be asked for its opinion on the report's recommendations.
2. THE VILLAGE manager report on changes suggested in the document.
3. The committee of brokers give its suggestions on implementing remaining changes in the report.
4. The broker committee recommend ways and means of establishing procedures to avoid future deficiencies.

"I think the critical thing here is to keep up with the changing times," said Trustee Norval Stephens. He seconded Beacham's motion. (A

June Arrives Busting Out All Over with Sociability

Remembering the anti-social behavior of May as she made her appearance shrouded in snow, everyone wondered how her sister, June, would act. June, bless her, came in like a lady and busting out all over with sociability. Graduates and brides-to-be are getting most of June's festive attention right now, but her future plans include almost everyone.

Among local Misses soon to be Mrs. is Janice Clausing, soon to be Mrs. Richard Nelson and one of the most-showered of Saturday's brides-elect. Miss Clausing, daughter of the Walter Clausings, 717 S. Evergreen, has been the guest of honor at five pre-nuptial parties since late March when the happy hubbub began.

The first party, March 29, was given by Miss Mary Anderson, a co-worker and bridesmaid-to-be. Guests in the Anderson home, 1105 N. Mayfair, were 25 other friends and fellow workers from the local savings and loan association, who showered the honor guest with miscellaneous gifts.

APRIL 19 is always a party day in the Clausing relationship, marking as it does the birth date of Miss Clausing's twin uncle and aunt, Theodore Clausing and Mrs. Lydia Haemker. There were 25 family members and friends in the Ted Clausing home, 443 S. Evergreen, but this year at Uncle Ted's house, Janice attended a surprise miscellaneous shower in her honor instead of the double-barrelled birthday party she expected. Mrs. Haemker and Mrs. William Stade, also of Arlington Heights, assisted the hostess.

The first of three Maytime showers for Miss Clausing took place in her own home. It had been planned by her Grandmother Meier of Mount Prospect, but Mrs. Meier wasn't well May 10 at party time and her daughter-in-law and granddaughters, Mrs. Willard Meier, Nadine and Susan of Kenosha, transplanted the surprise to the Clausing home.

There, 30 relatives waited in the basement for Janice's return from work and for the climax of "finagling" by upstairs relatives to get the bride to go downstairs. Her surprise when she did descend the stairs was worth the waiting for. The party, a kitchen and pantry shower, brought the bride-to-be the added bonus of 30 guaranteed-to-please-a-man recipes, each one the favorite of its donor.

MAY 19 Miss Clausing attended a plastic demonstration given in the Rockford home of her future parents-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hodges. Twenty-eight relatives and friends of the groom's family were there to order their most-wanted items, and at last reveal the surprise of the evening: everything they ordered was to be delivered to Miss Clausing, each item a shower gift for her.

The shower of showers was climaxed May 22 with a linen and needle-and-thread shower given by Mrs. Walter Rudolph and Mrs. K. T. Brusa in the Rurolph home, 421 S. Evergreen. The Clausings were formerly residents of the 400 block on Evergreen, and party guests were all ex-neighbors and long-time friends of the bride-elect and her family.

This party, too, was a surprise to the honor guest. Among her gifts was a centerpiece made of a dozen spools of thread and it brought her sewing-box supply of thread to a colorful, fulsome total of 48 spools.

Miss Clausing and Mr. Nelson will be married Saturday in St. Peter Lutheran Church of Arlington Heights.

ANOTHER SATURDAY bride-to-be is Miss Judith Rabe, daughter of the Fred Rabes, 216 N. Belmont, who will be married in the Arlington Heights Evangelical Free Church to Phillip Robb of Oak Park. Pre-nuptial parties include two showers given for Miss Rabe, a luncheon given by her for her attendants and the upcoming rehearsal dinner for 20 tomorrow night.

North Central College friends and former Arlington High School mates were among the 25 guests of Mrs. Kenneth Hartman and her daughter, Patty of Seegers Road, hostesses of the first bridal shower given for Miss Rabe. Planned as a surprise and totally successful, the March 31 party brought the honor guest a shower of miscellaneous gifts.

In mid-April a cousin of the bride-elect, Mrs. Raymond Blaschke, 106 Seegers Road, was hostess to 30 family members at a second miscellaneous shower, as successful a surprise as the first one.

A WEEK AGO Sunday, Miss Rabe entertained in her home with the traditional bridesmaids' luncheon at which she honored her seven attendants-elect.

Mr. and Mrs. Robb will make their home in Naperville while both complete their studies at North Central College.

Miss Joan Rohlfing, daughter of the Fred Rohlfings, 214 S. Dunton, was feted last Wednesday evening at a pre-nuptial party given by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Norman Rohlfing, who will serve as matron of honor at the June 15 nuptials. Assisting the hostess were two bridesmaids-elect, Miss Lois Hetzke of Arlington Heights and Miss Gloria Tecampe of Mundelein.

Twenty-five friends of Miss Rohlfing and her family kept the party plans a secret, and the honor guest arrived at her brother's home, 602 E. Clarendon, totally unprepared for the surprise or for the shower of miscellaneous gifts awaiting her.

Miss Rohlfing and Harlan Parke of Wood Dale will be married in St. Peter Lutheran Church of Arlington Heights.

A SURPRISE PARTY last Wednesday evening also began the social whirl for bride-elect, Miss Karen Schlect, daughter of Mrs. Ann Schlect, 1735 N. Fernandez. Climaxing the party circuit will be the rehearsal dinner June 21 in the home of her fiance, Richard Leckband, who is expected to arrive June 12 from Fairbanks, Alaska.

Wednesday night's surprise came when Miss Schlect went to the Mount Prospect home of a friend, Miss Kay Gordy, for an evening of bridge and found a foursome and then some. Cards were forgotten as 20 local friends greeted the bride-to-be with the always surprising "Surprise!" shout and showered her with miscellaneous gifts.

Miss Gordy, bridesmaid-elect was assisted with her hostess duties by Miss Lois Vetrano, another of the brides attendants.

Miss Schlect and Mr. Leckband will be married June 22 in the First Presbyterian Church of Arlington Heights.

ANOTHER JUNE 22 bride will be Miss Shirley Willert, daughter of Mrs. Henry Molenkamp, 845 S. Wilke, who will be married in St. John United Church of Christ to Russell Corey of Mount Sterling, Ky. She was feted May 19 at a miscellaneous shower given by her great-aunt, Mrs. Walter Berschet, and cousins, Mrs. Roger Streetz of Mount Prospect, and Mrs. Robert Herzog of Des Plaines. Fifty relatives and friends of the family were waiting to surprise her in the Berschet home, 1005 W. Golf.

Among June graduates contending with June brides for attention right now are the new diploma-carriers of St. James Catholic School who were graduated Sunday evening. The occasion brought Larry Dale's grandmother, Mrs. Peter Juba, here from Marshall, Minn. Mrs. Juba arrived Sunday to attend the ceremony and to visit for the week with Larry and the rest of the family at 1020 N. Walnut.

AN OUTDOOR party and dinner for 50 suburban relatives honored Donna Herff, daughter of the Frank Herffs, 735 N. Pine, Sunday afternoon and evening upon the occasion of her graduation from St. James School.

Kathy Joyce, daughter of the Edward Joyces, 924 N. Walnut, and another St. James grade school graduate, celebrated her D-for-diploma Day at a family party with 25 Chicago, local and Earlville relatives. Among guests in the Joyce home was Kathy's great-uncle, Martin Joyce of Chicago, whose 86 years won him the guest-of-honor rating.

Also special but not in the guest category, was Kathy's big sister, Maureen, home from Clark College in Dubuque, Iowa in time for the big celebration.

Arlington Heights, Scarsdale & Estates, Stonegate

Dorothy Meyer, CL 3-2298 Elsie Jedd, CL 3-5982

Clark Stefanik Jr. and his cousin, Joe Stefanik, were among St. James eighth graders graduating Sunday, and a family party Saturday night in Carl's home, 801 N. Mitchell, was shared by the boys. Also shared by the boys were the blessings of their mutual Grandma Stefanik and Carl's Grandmother Phillips.

Joe's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Franciskovich of Arlington Heights, were Sunday guests in his home, 720 N. Pine, before leaving with the family for the graduation exercises.

DENNIS SMITH'S graduation from St. James School brought his grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. R. W. Good, here from Clinton, Iowa to spend the day at 812 N. Belmont and attend the graduation. Saturday, Dennis prematurely but confidently celebrated the big event with a back-yard cookout for a half-dozen equally optimistic eighth grade buddies.

A family party for 17 in the Smith home Memorial Day brought Dennis more congratulations on the upcoming event. His Grandmother and Grandfather Smith of Chicago added their blessings at the small family gathering Sunday.

Twenty-eight Chicago and suburban relatives helped Mary Loechl celebrate her graduation from St. James School Sunday at a party in the Loechl home, 1213 N. Dunton. Here for the afternoon party and the evening graduation were Mary's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Loechl of Elkhorn, Wis.

At 1131 N. Dunton Sunday afternoon another graduation party was honoring Arthur Weidner son of the Richard Weidners, who that evening received his diploma from St. James School. Art's well-wishers were 25 suburban friends and relatives, some of whom had other graduates to honor the same day.

A dinner party with immediate family members celebrated the graduation Sunday of Tom Hanigan, son of the Henry Hanigans, 903 N. Dunton, another of St. James' diploma-winners.

MARTIN MONTI received congratulations Sunday of several Chicago area friends and relatives who dropped in at the Monti home, 1012 N. Highland, before the graduation exercises in St. James School which brought Marty his diploma. He'll get some more best wishes tomorrow when his grandparents, the Emmett Foleys, and aunt 'n' uncle, the Fred Fortsches, arrive from Bay City, Mich., for a 5-day visit.

Jerry Patterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Patterson, 1011 S. Dunton, was graduated Friday night from Notre Dame High School for Boys in Niles, and was honored at a party Sunday in his home. Bringing congratulations were 25 neighborhood friends and Chicago relatives who added best wishes for Jerry's immediate future, scheduled to be spent in Notre Dame University in South Bend.

AMONG COLLEGE graduates already with diploma in hand is Jerry Wrobel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wrobel, 616 W. George, whose sheep-skin bears a "cum laude." Jerry's grandparents, the senior Charles Wrobels and the William Vogels, all of Chicago, were with the rest of the family in Milwaukee Sunday to witness the graduation ceremony of Marquette University where Jerry attended the School of Medicine. A festive dinner-out occasion was part of the happy-hectic day and then it was "home sweet home" for the graduate and his family.

Sunday was graduation day, too, for Robin Posselt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Posselt, 302 W. Maple, and now a Carroll College alumna. Coincidentally, and most confusingly, Sunday was also baccalaureate day for Robin's sister, Alene, who will be graduated this week from Arlington High School.

Despite the complications, Alene and her parents were in Waukesha for Robin's big event, and Robin, Mom and Dad made it back here with Alene in time to attend her baccalaureate service. Tomorrow night a family party in the Posselt home will honor both graduates and celebrate the mobility of their parents.

THE V. C. WARFIELDS, 501 W. Euclid, returned Sunday from the Wisconsin Dells where they had nine fine days of golf, good weather and fun. With them were Mrs. Warfield's sister and brother-in-law, the H. H. Ruggs of White Bear Lake, Minn., who met them at the Dells and returned to Minnesota when the vacation ended.

Mr. and Mrs. Quentin Ford, 1215 E. Euclid, enjoyed a 4-day "trailer rally" with 150 other travel-trailer owners convening in Kankakee fairgrounds over the holiday weekend. There were cook-outs, barn-dancing and meetings of the mutual "ain't trailers grand?" admiration society.

Many veteran Arlington Heighters will remember Mrs. Harry Sebert, a former local resident now of Glen Ellyn, and they may be interested to know she leaves soon to make her home in Pasadena, Calif. Six local friends called at her home Monday morning and enjoyed a farewell "coffee and" with her.

ROBERT NEAL, infant son of the Thomas Obermayers, 1212 N. Mitchell, was christened May 26 in St. James Catholic church, and honored later at a family dinner in his home. Adding their blessings to the day were his grandparents, the Charles Stenersons of Chicago and Mrs. Eleanor Obermayer of McHenry; his godparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Willer Jr. of Mount Prospect and his aunt, Miss Marilyn Stenerson, also of Chicago. Robert Neal was born April 17 in Holy Family Hospital.

James Clarence, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman G. Miller, 1652 Buffalo Grove Road, was baptized Mother's Day in St. Paul United Church of Christ in Palatine. Guests at a family party later in the day included the baby's godparents, Miss Evelyn Lamping of Palatine and Clarence Miller Jr. who was here from Union, Ill., with his family for the occasion. Evening visitors were Grandfather and Grandmother Miller of Arlington Heights.

Mrs. Marvin Prellberg Jr. and the children, 738 N. Hickory, are enjoying a visit with relatives in Atlanta, Ga., and will attend the graduation of Mrs. Prellberg's sister, Miss Marilyn Cheney, from Alabama College in Montevallo.

THE GEORGE PEAKS returned home to 1104 W. Sigwalt Saturday evening after a week's vacation in New Orleans and a return route via Madison, Ind. to pick up their daughter, Lynda, a Hanover College coed. New Orleans was fascinating fun, the Peaks said, but they were looking forward to getting home to cool off. At this writing they were still looking forward to a cool day.

Mr. and Mrs. David Heller, 835 N. Dunton, came home a week ago Sunday from a 3-week tour of Europe that included a reunion in Paris with Mrs. Heller's sister, Mrs. Ruth Root. The sisters haven't been together for two years and their five days in Paris were as tightly scheduled as 24-hour days will allow. Mr. and Mrs. Heller divided remaining time among tours of Lisbon, Madrid, Venice and Copenhagen.

Mrs. Charlotte Sujack, 623 N. State, was hostess a week ago Sunday afternoon to 18 of her piano students, one former student, and their parents at a recital and social hour. The guest performer, her former student, was Kimberly Schmidt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Schmidt, 113 S. Evergreen. Kim has been a premature memer of the Talented Teens, turning 13 this year just a little too late to qualify for the European tour being planned by the talent group.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley J. Wilkins, 751 S. Belmont, entertained at a brunch May 27 in the Cumberland Lakes Hotel in Columbia, Ky., in honor of their son, Paul Langos, who graduated from Lindsey Wilson Junior College in Columbia.

Paul plans to enter Washington University in St. Louis in the fall. His elder brother, Alfred Langos Jr. will graduate from Washington University June 10 and there will be a brunch for 50 guests given in his honor, after which he will take off for Europe June 19, from O'Hare Airport for a 3-month tour.

Mr. and Mrs. August Burnier, 516 S. Fairview, were in New York City last week, where they gave a bon voyage dinner for friends from Evergreen Park, the John Gows and their daughter, who sailed Friday, on the S. S. France for Scotland, where they will spend a month visiting their former home and then take a 4-month tour of the Continent.

MRS. ALBERT Goldthwaite, 426 E. Park, went to Elkhart, Ind., to welcome a new granddaughter, Laura Marie, who was born Memorial Day to their daughter and son-in-law, the Ronald Martells. The baby is the first daughter and third child of the Martells.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew McMillan, 354 S. Belmont, returned Sunday from Denver, where they attended the American Institute of Banking Convention at the Denver Hilton Hotel.

Mrs. McMillan reported a pleasant week which included a planned program for convention guests, a visit to the Air Force Base in Colorado Springs, a chuck wagon supper and a visit to colorful Central City.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Mann, 304 W. Fairview, were in Milwaukee over the weekend to attend the graduation of their daughter Ginny, from Marquette University.

While in Milwaukee, they attended a cocktail party at the Coach House, given by Mr. and Mrs. A. Carella of San Francisco, whose daughter, Marie, was a classmate of Miss Mann's.

Mr. and Mrs. William M. Chambers, 520 S. Pine, were hosts at a rehearsal dinner Sunday at the Evergreens in Dundee for their son, Jim, and his fiancee, Miss Phyllis Landers, and members of the wedding party.

Among out-of-town family members arriving for the June 6 wedding are Mr. Chamber's parents and sister, the James D. Chambers and Mrs. Charles Dexter of Cincinnati, and Mrs. Chamber's sister and family, the Ross Carlsons and their three children, Ross Jr., Christina and Cynthia of Columbus, Ohio.

A CUSTOM that is becoming a tradition, is the annual barbecue, party and dance that all the residents of South 500 block of Dryden look forward to every Memorial Day. All the children are invited to share in the days activities, and this year several former Dryden Street neighbors returned for the party. Among them were the Robert Starks, who were here from their home in Fairfax County, Va., and were the houseguests of the Charles McGehees.

Others included the Robert Bohls of Racine, who were houseguests of the Robert Grabitzes. the Robert Thybony family, who were here from Glenview and the J. M. Otzens of Stonegate.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Hibner, 110 S. Belmont, spent the weekend in Brookfield visiting their daughter and family, the William Harlanders.

The Hibners' younger daughter, Judith, spent a faster paced weekend. She and Miss Eunice Lundstrom of Chicago, left by jet plane for a weekend of sightseeing, theatres and shopping in New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Skinner, 721 S. Beverly, spent the Memorial holiday in Michigan, dividing their stay between Jackson, where Mr. Skinner's sister, Mrs. Nina Price lives, and in Tecumseh, where the rest of the Skinner family lives. Mr. Skinner's sister from Chicago, Miss Mabel Miller, accompanied them.

The E. W. Housenechts, 510 Mayfair, welcomed her cousin and family, Capt. and Mrs. Donald Hanto and their two small daughters, for a weekend visit. It was the first meeting in 13 years for the Housenechts and Hantos, who had been living abroad and lately in Wichita Falls, Texas, and are now being transferred to Lafayette, Ind., where he will teach and study for his master's degree at Purdue University. (A

LAST YEAR'S June 1 wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Schmidt, 1209 N. Dunton, was barely noted and celebrated not at all, coming as it did on the eve of their son, Wayne's, wedding day. Both Mr. and Mrs. Schmidt made up for it this year, celebrating their respective 23rd and first anniversaries together at a family party Sunday night in the junior Schmidts' Wheeling home.

Most important item on the refreshment menu was the top layer of last year's wedding cake, preserved for posterity and hungry husbands in the freezer at 1209 N. Dunton. Among those sharing the fun and the cake were the hostess' parents, the James Dwyers of Arlington Heights; the groom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Havlik of Mount Prospect, and his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Schmidt of Arlington Heights, who will celebrate their first wedding anniversary May 11, 1964.

THE THOMAS Roberts family, 506 S. Chestnut, weekended in Lafayette, Ind. and Sunday attended the graduation of Thomas Jr. from Purdue University. Tom returned here with the family for a 3-day breather, then left yesterday for California where he will work this summer. In September, he begins post-graduate work in the California Institute of Technology in Pasadena.

Valerie Plant, one of Sunday's St. James Catholic School graduates, received the congratulations of 32 suburban relatives at an afternoon party Sunday in her home, 1323 N. Dunton. Valerie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Plant.

THE L. W. Bredehofts, 201 S. Wilshire, returned from Bedford Springs, Pa. Friday, where they attended a 5-day conference for International Bankers.

Miss Rita Cinquini of New York City arrived in Arlington Heights Tuesday to spend several weeks visiting her cousin, Mrs. Stephen Jurco, 217 S. Windsor.

Mrs. A. G. Johnson, 309 S. Stratford, gave a small dinner party Friday for her two sisters and niece, Mrs. Norris Turner and Mrs. C. F. Daun and Miss Nancy Daun, who were here from Rhinelander, Wis., for a weekend visit.

Of special interest to their guests, who had lived in the Chicago area many years ago, were our new expressways which made getting about to visit old friends simple and fast.

Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Chandler of Austin, Minn, will come to Arlington Heights this week to visit her sister and family, the L. N. Hawkeys, 310 S. Windsor, and for the graduation of their niece, Barbara, from Arlington High School.

JAMES DAHL, who was graduated from St. James grammar school Sunday, was honored for his work in history, for which he received the DAR award.

Following the commencement program, James and his parents, the Walter Dahls, had a post graduation celebration at their home, 416 S. Windsor, where they were joined by their Stonegate neighbors, the Harry Dunderdales and graduate Betty Anne.

Cynthia Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Miller, 1301 Woodford, was hostess at a surprise barbecue supper party May 29 for Sandy Hassler, whose family is moving to Greece, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. George J. Betts, 516 S. Lincoln, are home from a 5-week motor trip to the West Coast. They first went to San Leandro, Calif. to visit their son and daughter-in-law, the William Bettses ,who became parents of their second son, Scott Thomas, April 1. Later they visited members of Mrs. Betts' family in California, and upon returning home, stopped to spend several days at the Grand Canyon.

The Dwight Guilfoils were hosts at a barbecue for 23 guests Saturday in honor of their son, Bill, who graduated Friday from Notre Dame High School in Niles. Bill plans to attend Marquette University in Milwaukee in the fall to study business administration.

THE JENS JOSEPHSENS are here from Bradenton, Fla., for a visit with their daughter and family, the D. L. Drumtras, 411 Mayfair, and the graduation of their two grandchildren, Deanna from Arlington High School and Donald from Northwestern University.

The Josephsens, who formerly lived in Arlington Heights, are looking forward to seeing many of their friends and former neighbors.

Miss Linda Hardison, 347 Burton, entertained 30 high school classmates at a surprise farewell swim party Wednesday for Eddie Burke, who with his family will move to Glenview, soon.

Saturday, the Hardisons and Horace Bruners were hosts at a farewell dinner party for 30 guests at the Hardison home for Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Seetch who will leave Thursday for their new home in Fullerton, Calif.

THE FRED W. Hennings, 323 Bristol, have as their houseguest for several weeks, the latter's sister, Sister Mary Callista of Mt. Mercy College in Pitsburgh, Pa.

Meeting Continued

The Arlington Heights Board of Trustees will meet at 8 p.m. Monday in the municipal building to continue the regular meeting of June 3.

An especially long agenda of business necessitated carrying the meeting over one week.

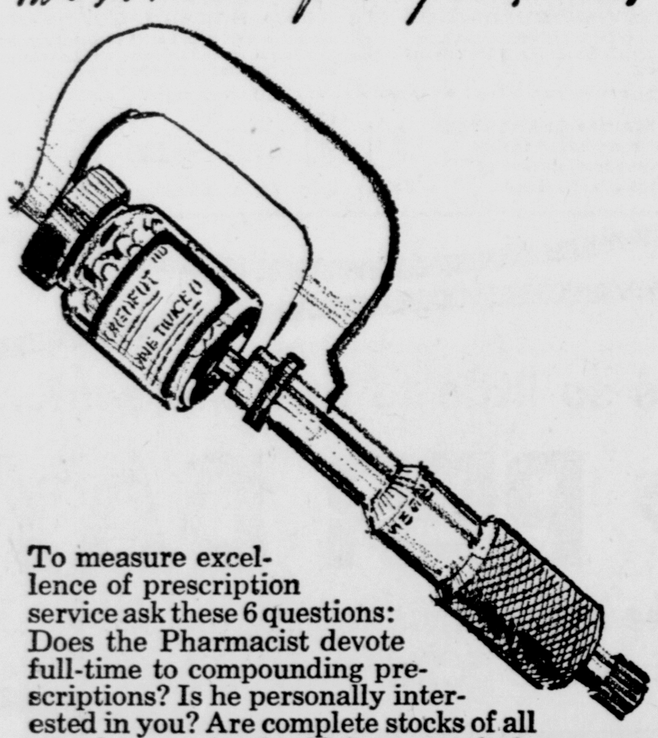
Harris Pharmacy

how to measure prescription service!



To measure excellence of prescription service ask these 6 questions: Does the Pharmacist devote full-time to compounding prescriptions? Is he personally interested in you? Are complete stocks of all new drugs maintained? Are prescriptions filled with meticulous care in hospital-clean surroundings? Is service prompt? Is 24 hour emergency service provided? Where you have your prescriptions filled does make a difference.

All Faiths Echo Sorrow

by NANCY ANDERSON

Suburban clergy of all faiths this week echoed the reaction of the world to the death of Pope John XXIII.

"Cardinal Meyer said it as well as anyone," said the Rev. Harold O'Hara of Our Lady of the Wayside Church in Arlington Heights. The Chicago prelate, who received his red hat from the Pope in 1961, declared simply, "The heart of the world mourns."

Rabbi Hillel Gamoran of Beth Tikvah Congregation expressed "great sorrow, a feeling of great loss. Pope John was not only the leader of the people of his own faith, but also one of the greatest spiritual leaders of mankind, working for world peace and friendship among people of all faiths."

"The People's Pope," who died of cancer Monday at 81 after only four and one-half years in the Vatican, will doubtless go down in history as one of the greatest, if not the greatest figure of the 20th century," said the Rev. Norman Herbert of Presbyterian Community Church in Mount Prospect.

POPE JOHN XXIII — 1881-1963

THOUGH CHOSEN as a compromise candidate in 1958, he turned out to be "the greatest Pope the Roman Church has ever had," according to Dr. Hughes B. Morris of First Methodist Church in Arlington Heights.

"I only wish he'd been 40 years younger, so he could have served for another 40 years," Dr. Morris exclaimed. "He could have done more good than any man since St. Paul."

The second Vatican Council, official commonly called the ecumenical council because Protestant observers were admitted, is generally regarded as the Pope's greatest accomplishment.

"Although I don't think union will come about for a long, long time, the council helped bring about a miraculous change in relations between the Catholic Church and others," said the Rev. Sheldon B. Foote of St. Philip's Episcopal Church in Palatine. "Pope John started a great step, something which can't be stopped."

"HE SAID something officially which millions of Catholics have been saying unofficially and millions of Protestants have been waiting to hear," explained Rev. Herbert. "He was the best friend Protestants have ever had in the Vatican."

The Rev. Daniel P. Coughlin of St. Raymond's parish in Mount Prospect suggested Catholics as well as Protestants deeply hope the council will be continued. And, as Rabbi Gamoran indicated, its effects were even more far-reaching, because the council helped promote unity not only among Christians, but among all faiths.

Recessed in December after beginning sessions last fall, the council was scheduled to resume in September. With the death of Pope John, it is automatically cancelled, and the new pope will have no obligation to continue it. However, the first session was so well received and the council "so sacred to Pope John" that it probably will be reassembled, priests agreed.

THE ROMAN Vicar of Christ was admired as much for his ways as for his works. Striving for peace in a divided world, he had the "warmth and character of a parish priest," Rev. Foote said.

"Though we didn't regard him as Holy Father, he was our brother in Christ—this was his own term, which he extended to us Protestants," Rev. Herbert said.

For, while promoting unity within both the Christian world and the physical world split by an Iron Curtain, John XXIII most exemplified the true spirit of universal love, Father Coughlin said. And Rev. Herbert concurred: "He was, above all else, a tremendous human being."

Only 3 Holiday Accidents

Arlington Heights police reported only three auto accidents in the village over the 100-hour Memorial Day holiday.

Just one of the three involved two moving cars, two consisting of collisions with parked autos.

Church Prepares Summer 'Pep-Up'

"We Belong to God" is the theme of the 1963 Summer Pep-Up at our Saviour's Lutheran Church, 1234 N. State Road, Arlington Heights. Mrs. Donald Petelle, director of the Vacation Church School program at Our Saviour's, announces this session is planned for children in the kindergarten through the fifth grade.

The Summer Pep-Up will meet June 17-28, Monday through Friday, 9:30 a. m. to noon, at the church.

The Bible study, stories and songs, will all emphasize people belonging to God. The Middle East will be the background for stories, songs and handcraft planned for the children. The new educational building of Our Saviour's will provide ample room for the varied program.

PARENTS WISHING to enroll their children in the Summer Pep-Up should call the registrar, Mrs. Kenneth Kuenstler, CL 5-3716, by June 11. All children now attending kindergarten through the fifth grade are invited to attend.

The staff of the Summer Pep-Up includes: registrar, Mrs. Kuenstler; music, Mrs. Robert Wolff; handcraft, Mrs. Kenneth Johnson; kindergarten department, Mrs. Allen Martinson, Mrs. Kenneth Freeman, Mrs. Vincent Ahnquist, Mrs. Carl Couve and Miss Barbara Salmen; primary department (Grades 1-2-3) Mrs. Henry Kastens, Mrs. Raymond Ratcheck, Mrs. John Truelsen, Mrs. Frank Knudsen and Mrs. John Lemein.

Junior Department (Grades 4-5) Mrs. Robert Zimmerman, Mrs. William Hawkins, Mrs. John Southard and Mrs. Gust Hermanson; refreshments, Mrs. George Lett, Mrs. Earl Petersen and Mrs. Lawrence Cartwright; Tenn Aids, Misses Kathy Rausch, Swenette Forsberg, Sherry Forsberg, Thalia Wallace, Bonnie Southard and Sheila Zimmerman.

And That's The Law!

Village Attorney Jack Siegel was asked Monday to define the village's authority to question bills submitted for trustee approval by the Arlington Heights Memorial Library Board of Directors.

Siegel responded to Trustee George Beacham's request by saying the village board may approve library expenditures, but may not reject them.

"AREN'T WE going around in circles then?" Beacham asked.

Approval of library expenses is not discretionary with village trustees, Siegel said.

He suggested trustees contact the library board of directors in order to question itemized expenses. (A

Goodbye Tribute Paid to Scouting's William Griffin

William L. Griffin, 1521 W. Oakton St., Arlington Heights, Blackhawk Boy Scout District executive for the last four years, was the honored guest last week at a testimonial dinner held at the Mount Prospect Country Club.

An estimated 150 local Scouting volunteers and their wives gathered to say goodbye to Griffin, a 12-year professional in the Scouting movement, who has taken a sales position with the J. B. Roerig division of the Charles Pfizer Co., pharmaceutical firm.

GRIFFIN, 37, and his wife, Mary, received numerous gifts from his fellow Scouters including, appropriately, camping equipment in recognition of his work in the Blackhawk District, largest in the Northwest Suburban Council and one of the largest in the entire country.

The Griffin family—four children, two boys and two girls—plan to remain in Arlington Heights where the former Scout executive says he will confine his activities to being an assistant cubmaster of his sons' Cub Scout pack. (B8

Modern Etiquette

Q. Is it proper to eat while carrying on a conversation with another person who is doing most of the talking, yet talking more or less to you?

A. Give-and-take there must be in dinner-table conversation—but since there must also be eating, you can only strive to combine the two in pleasantly alternating intervals.

Notes from Arlington Acres

Marie Marshall CLearbrook 5-2936

The deepest sympathy of their friends and neighbors is extended to the Wilbert Niebuhr family, 424 S. Forrest, on the death of Will's father, Mr. Henry Niebuhr of Arlington Heights on May 26.

Mrs. Joseph Koenen, 529 S. Prindle, is proudly displaying the ribbons she won over the weekend at the Northern Illinois Iris Society Annual Show at Flick Reedy in Bensenville. Both of the Koenens are iris fanciers and take justifiable pride in the second place award to their Raspberry Ribbon and third place awards given Lavanesque and Blue Shimmer.

Mr. and Mrs. James Dwyer, 516 S. Forrest, were hosts Saturday evening at a get-together for the faculty of Forest View Elementary School following an annual custom of dining out together at the end of the school year. Guests included Dr. Roger Bardwell, superintendent of Elk Grove School District 59, with Mrs. Bardwell, Alan Lawson, principal of Forest View Elementary School, and Mrs. Lawson and the teachers with their husbands and wives. Mrs. Dwyer is the secretary of the school.

AN OVERNIGHT guest at the Frank Jenko home, 440 S. Prindle, Friday was Kenneth Johnson of Minneapolis. Mr. Johnson, a long time friend of the Jenkos, was in the area on business.

Boyd Briscoe, 433 S. Forrest, is to be congratulated on his election to the board of directors of the Chicago chapter of the Jaycees.

The Briscoes spent the weekend in Peoria attending the Illinois State Convention of the Jaycees. The highlight of the Inaugural Ball Saturday evening was the appearance of Miss America. Beth Ann and Dean Briscoe enjoyed their parents' short vacation too, under the watchful eyes of Grandma and Grandpa Falk of Chicago.

Maureen Beem, 412 S. Waterman, received the congratulations of her family and friends at a buffet supper Sunday following her 4 o'clock graduation from St. Pat High School in Des Plaines. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Beem, Maureen is enrolled at St. Dominic's in St. Charles next year.

MRS. JACK Curtin, 420 S. Forrest, spent an enjoyable weekend in Dixon, where she attended the wedding of a cousin and visited with her family and old friends.

Five-year-old Mark Longrie, son of the Lyle Longries, 429 S. Forrest, has joined the ranks of professional fishermen, with an added touch. When his big one got away it took the pole with it. Mark and his brother, Chuck, home on leave from Laughlin AFB, were fishing last week with "Uncle" Jack Curtin at Fox Lake when the event took place. By the time the pole was retrieved, what was judgtd by his companions to be a 13-inch bass had gotten off the line but Mark still has a good story to tell.

Another fisherman who can prove his prowess is Charles Pipkin, 508 S. Prindle. He and a group of fishing enthusiasts took their annual trip to International Falls, Minn., last week to try their luck, which turned out to be all his. Charles returned home with a 37-inch northern and a plaque for having caught the largest fish of the season to date, a prize for having caught the greatest number of fish and another for having fallen into the water most often.

THE PIPKINS were hosts Saturday evening for cocktails and an impromptu surprise birthday party for Al May, 509 S. Prindle. After Al opened his "imaginative" gifts, the group had dinner at the Union Hotel in Wheeling. In addition to the Pipkins and Mays, other diners were Mrs. Roy Stoehr, the Frank Marshalls, and the Howard Schultzes of Park Ridge with their house guests, the Ivan Abrams of St. Louis.

Still in a party mood Sunday, the Pipkins entertained their daughter, Peney and her husband, Fred Stierle, with Vicki and Stacey, at a dinner in honor of Penney's birthday.

A happy first birthday was spent by Roberta (Bobby) Grafitti Sunday. Her parents, the Robert Grafittis, 436 S. Waterman, and brother and sisters amused her and enjoyed themselves with a warm chorus of "Happy Birthday."

The May 30 birthday of Mrs. Ray Fritz, 420 S. Phelps, was celebrated at the home of Mrs. Burton Soderberg, a close neighbor. More than a dozen fellow club members attended and were surprised and delighted with the Waldorf Astoria Red Cake served by the hostess. After the initial shock of a deep red cake wore off, seconds were in order.

MRS. R. DALE Hinchliff and her mother, Mrs. Martha Matthews, 428 S. Forrest, enjoyed a weekend visit from Mrs. Hinchliff's sister and brother-in-law, the Donald Leslys of Glenview.

Among the first of the area college students to reach home for the summer is Carl Hinchliff, who said good-bye to her sophomore year at Carroll College, Waukesha, Wis., May 29.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Cook, 525 S. Forrest, celebrated the recent holiday by hosting a cookout. The traditional fare was enjoyed by more than 45 guests among whom were famiy members from both sides, neighbors and long time friends.

A May 24 wedding anniversary for Mr. and Mrs. William Bayuk, 408 S. Forrest, was celebrated by having dinner at Pheasant Run near St. Charles. Pheasant Run is new and similar to the Wagon Wheel and the celebrants left there promising themselves a return visit for a weekend.

JOEY SPAGNOLI, 2 May 31, and his mother, Mrs. Dick Spagnoli, 1815 E. Grove, made the day special by inviting Karen, David and Mark Bayuk, with their mother, to share in a decorated birthday cake and ice cream.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Swaim, 512 S. Waterman, are enjoying a visit from her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. Segal of Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario, who arrived Saturday for about a week. The guests plan on spending most of the time with David and Shelly Swaim, their only grandchildren.

Shelly's first birthday, Memorial Day, will be remembered by her mother as the day on which, with the help of a police whistle, she took nine children under six to Kiddieland, including the birthday girl. Guests on the trip and at the cake and ice cream party and improvised parade which followed were her brother, David, Michael and Carol Todd, Ingrid and Randi Holt, Laura Post, Gary McCammon and Lisa Grafitti.

Steve Butkus, 6 June 1, received the enthusiastic congratulations of his friends at a party Saturday for Eric Smolinski, Frankie Beem, Keith Knudson, Tommy and Jimmy Busby, cousins Jay and Leslie Pinney and severa school friends. After cake, ice cream and favors, the guests spent the rest of the afternoon playing outdoor games. Steve is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Butkus, 429 S. Phelps.

AN EIGHTH grade graduation being a once-in-a-lifetime event, that of Lorraine Lorr from St. James School Sunday was appropriately celebrated. In her honor, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lorr, 2106 E. Park, hosted a buffet style dinner Sunday afternoon. Coming to wish Lorraine the best of everything were her grandmother, Mrs. Mae Skarski, and an aunt and uncle, the Andrew Maceys of St. Charles. Lorraine's brother and sisters were there with their families, including the Albert E. Lorrs from Cicero, the James Sirockys from Wheeling and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kunkle of Des Plaines.

Two Arlington Acres couples celebrating June wedding anniversaries are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bruce, 441 S. Gibbons, June 1; and the Edward B. Trueloves, 532 S. Phelps, whose anniversary is June 2. (A TIMOTHY O'GORMAN, 20, 534 S. Chestnut St., Arlington Heights was hospitalized Tuesday night with injuries resulting from a two car auto collision at the intersection of Golf Road and Busse Avenue in Mount Prospect. Leonard Pressley, also of Arlington Heights and an art teacher in the Mount Prospect Public Schools, told Mount Prospect Police he was going west on Golf Road through the intersection on a green light and that O'Gorman ran the light while going south on Busse. Pressley's car hit O'Gorman's causing it to swerve into a traffic light, left. The light was broken off at the base. O'Gorman is a former Arlington Heights High School wrestling champion. (A&E&M

Greenbrier Patch

Carole Israll Phone 392-0896

"Getting to Know You," the first Greenbrier Civic Association party, held last Friday night, was a roaring success, as indicated by the enthusiasm of the residents attending.

The party, held at The Colt Restaurant, got off to a fitting start with each person trying to meet as many new people as possible. After a long winter of hibernation, old and new acquaintances enjoyed an evening of dancing and general socializing, climaxed by a midnight buffet.

The successful affair was the result of excellent planning and execution by the social committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Beryl Hamersley. The committee acted as host for the party and provided table decorations depicting the styles of Greenbrier homes, with name tags in the same motif. More than 30 residents went home with gifts which had been donated by local merchants.

SEVERAL pre-party cocktail parties were also held Friday night. Mrs. Hamersley entertained her social committee with members and their spouses attending the get-together at the Ernest Hamersley home on Champlain St. Guests included the Fran Millers, Harvey Lockers, Hank Belzers, Dan O'Neills, Bob Birds and the Jack Karrs. Members of the committee unable to attend were the Dwayne Plackos and the George Isbells.

The Ken McCubbins and the Jim Sheahans chose the Elks Club of Arlington Heights for pre-party socializing.

Carole and Jack Israll entertained the officers of the Civic Association, board of directors and neighbors before the social event, in their home at 2121 N. Verde Drive. Other guests included Dolly and Bruce Ladd, Mr. Ladd being on the staff of Paddock Publications.

MEMORIAL Day also added to the busy weekend of residents in the area. Michael Isbell celebrated his second birthday a day early at a picnic with family and friends at the former Armour Estate in Lake Bluff. Michael enjoyed the picnic, complete with birthday cake, with his grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. Hilary J. Marcin of Evanston, and aunts, Janice and Elizabeth Marcin, his sister, Sharon, 3, and parents, George and Barbara. Also enjoying the day with Michael were the Jack Isralls and their children, Sherri and Jack.

Use of the estate grounds were made possible by a family friend, Earl Tenser of Chicago, and the setting of the 61-room brick home with swimming pool, duck pond and extensive grounds added a pleasant atmosphere for the outing.

MRS. PHYLLIS Locker enjoyed an exciting afternoon with her neighbor, Mrs. Beryl Hamersley and her daughter, Roberta, Mrs. Locker's son, Brian, and friend, Tommy Lyon, at the Rotary Club benefit show for the Clearbrook School for Mentally Retarded. The June 1 outing at Arlington High School was climaxed with ice cream for the group and a return to the Locker home at 2225 Champlain St. to relax on the patio in the back yard.

Unable to join the group was Brian's sister, Janet, who was one year old on Saturday, but will celebrate her birthday with relatives in the near future.

A MAY 28 third birthday was celebrated early by Bradley Braun, son of Carol Ann and Hamp Braun of 2115 N. Verde Drive. Friends and relatives joined Brad in a balloon bedecked recreation room on May 24 to enjoy cake, ice cream and games. Gifts for guests were tied to balloons in the backyard and a balloon "treasure hunt" was most rewarding for all of the children attending. The guest list included Bradley's grandmothers, Mrs. V. S. Braun and Mrs. G. H. Burns; great-grandmothers, Mrs. Ray Snyder of Round Lake, Mrs. Abner Cherry of Arlington Heights and Mrs. Portia B. Braun of Kansas City, Mo.

Grandmother Portia was also a houseguest of the Brauns during the week prior to the party, then went on to visit other relatives in the area, after which she returned to her home in Kansas City.

John and Georgine Gebo entertained guests during Memorial Day weekend at their hime on 2302 N. Champlain St. Sunday guests for a barbecue were the Don Eyler family of Lake Bluff and Mr. and Mrs. John Marcey and their son, John, of Evanston. The Marceys, incidentally, will be residents of Greenbrier in the near future.

Helping entertain company were the Gebo children, Susan, 3, and Paul, 1. Mr. Gebo is a CPA with the firm of Ernst and Ernst in Chicago and also holds the office of treasurer for the Greenbrier Civic Association. The Gebo family lived in Evanston for the past four years and lived in Wisconsin before their move to the Chicago area.

MARSHA SMISKO ceelbrated her 15th birthday May 24 with a day at the stock car races with her sister, Judy and a friend. The girls had dinner out, then returned home for birthday cake. Marsha is the daughter of Ann and Andy Smisko, 2325 Lafayette St.

Tricia Leddy, daughter of Al and Marilyn Leddy, celebrated her eighth birthday May 28 with her family. Helping Tricia consume the ice cream and cake were her sisters, Maureen, 11, and Terry, 3. The Leddys, who were transferred here from Minneapolis, live at 2220 N. Champlain. Mr. Leddy is with Eastern Air Lines.

Margaret Long entertained neighbors with a plastic party Monday night at her home at 1929 N. Verde Drive. Demonstrator was Babs Riecss of Palatine. Guests enjoyed refreshments after the evening of games and socializing. Mrs. Long, who is employed as a bookkeeper with the Anderson Gear Company of Chicago, and her son, Robert, 12, moved into the Greenbrier area from Chicago, coming to that area from Houston, Tex. (A

Bardwell Urges Heavier Taxes on Trailers

Testifies Before Senate Committee

Dr. Roger Bardwell, superintendent of Elk Grove schools, successfully carried the banner for many local and downstate schools in Springfield last week.

Dr. Bardwell was the lone educator to testify before the Senate Finance Committee on behalf of three bills designed to bring additional school revenue from trailer projects.

After hearing Dr. Bardwell, the committee voted the bills out to the Senate floor with a "Do Pass" recommendation.

In his testimony, Dr. Bardwell urged adoption of the Senate bills, noting that Elk Grove School District 59 had a deficit of $140,821.24 last year for the education of children from seven local trailer courts.

He noted that High School Distirct 214 had an additional $37,840.76 deficit for children in the same trailer courts—a total deficit of $178,662.

Dr. Bardwell said that this deficit must be made up by other local property taxpayers if the children living in trailer courts are to receive an adequate education.

Principal sponsor of the bills is Sen. John Graham, R., Barrington.

BILL 1019 WOULD classify trailers as real property (instead of personal property) if they were on permanent foundations. Bills 1139 and 1140 would permit school districts to license trailer courts on the basis of lots and amend the school code to permit such licensing.

A similar bill is expected to be introduced in the House of Representatives by Rep. John W. Carroll, R., Park Ridge. The house bill would classify trailers as real property if they were in the same location for 60 days.

In figuring the deficit figures, Dr. Bardwell pointed out that Elk Grove schools had 386 children enrolled from trailer courts. Total taxes paid on the trailer projects to the elementary schools was $32,878.76. The cost of educating the 386 children at a cost of $450 per year per child ran to $173,700. He stressed the $450 cost had been adjusted down from the actual cost by deducting state aids and other fees.

HIGH SCHOOL cost of education per year per child was $625 after deduction of state aid and other fees, Dr. Bardwell said. With 102 high school students from the trailer courts, it costs High School District 214 $52,500 for their education. A total of $24,659.24 was received in taxes from the trailer camps, or a deficit of $37,840.76.

Dr. Bardwell said, "An almost totally inadequate means of taxing trailer courts in the State of Illinois exists if citizens living in trailer courts are to be provided with a minimum of local governmental services.

Backing Dr. Bardwell's testimony was the presentation before the committee by Charles Hodlmair, Elk Grove Township assessor. Hodlmair verified the figures used by Dr. Bardwell and stressed the effect such fees had on other property taxpayers. Assessors cannot aid school districts with more equitable assessments unless the state laws are changed, Hodlmair noted.

WITH THE change of trailer classification to real porperty from personal property, Hodlmair estimated trailers might have an average assessment of $3,000. This would be increased to $4,500 in Elk Grove Township after the state equalizer of 1.5 is applied to Cook County assessments. This would bring a total tax of $200 to $250 per trailer. With 70 per cent of taxes going to elementary and high schools, this would be $140 per trailer on a $200 tax bill.

Counter testimony was offered by a representative of the Mobile Home Park Association.

Other local school districts which have similar problems of deficits due to enrollments from trailer camps include Park Ridge, Des Plaines, Maine Township High Schools, Bensenville, Wood Dale and Fenton High School (Bensenville-Wood Dale). (B9

Illinois Wire Tap Bill Moves Ahead

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., —(UPI) A measure to legalize wire tapping by police on court order was overwhelmingly endorsed today by the Illinois Senate Judiciary Committee.

The measure was voted out by a 10-1 margin after senators heard testimony from Chicago Police Supt. Orlando Wilson.

Wilson said, "We need this lawful tool."

The Chicago Police Department has not practiced wire-tapping, Wilson said, because "We do not intend to win a battle against crime by unlawful means. But we find we have great difficulty enforcing the law without this additional tool."

A number of senators agreed to the proposal only on condition that the bill be amended later in line with a series of recommendations by Cook County State's Atty. Daniel Ward.

WARD'S amendments would put the wire tapping law into effect for a two-year trial period.

Under provisions of the bill, police could get a court order from Circuit judges in cases where crimes are suspected.

Sen. John Meyer, R-Danville, said the "apprehension of the average criminal now is possible without this bill, but I know no other way to stop the syndicated crime that to my mind is the greatest black mark against our society."

"I assume the people who have this weapon will respect it," he said. "If they do not I will be the first to ask that it be taken away." (B8

10 Beds Added at Lutheran General

A 10-bed section has been opened on the fifth floor of Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge. With the opening of this section, all available space is now being used at the hospital, which now has 316 beds.

"By using all private rooms as doubles and by using the visiting areas on each floor as patient rooms, we can accommodate 346," said T. L. Jacobsen, executive director.

THE NEWLY opened fifth floor area will be devoted to neuro - psychiatric care. The area had formerly been quarters for house physicians and interns.

In February, Lutheran General opened a similar section on the seventh floor. This area had formerly been occupied by administrative offices.

"While we don't like to be doubling up, this in no way affects the care given patients," Jacobsen pointed out. (B8

Africa Not Home, Negro Pastor Says

ST. LOUIS, (UPI) — The Rev. Fred L. Shuttlesworth, associate of Dr. Martin Luther King, said last week he would like to tell those who want to send the Negroes back to Africa a story.

"How can you go back where you've never been? Africa is not our home," the minister said.

He said Negroes would go to Africa, if Frenchmen would go to France, Englishmen would go to England, Italians would go to Italy, "and when the white man gives America back to the Indians."

THE REV. John E. Nance, host pastor at the Washington Tabernacle Baptist Church said King's objective is to achieve "full citizenship rights, equality and integration of Negroes in all aspects of American life, including in St. Louis."

The Rev. Mr. Nance said there were "inhumanities of man not only in the south, but right here in St. Louis."

"The days of docility and appeasement are over," he said. "The Negro is marching in Birmingham, Atlanta, Greensboro, Durham, Raleigh, University of Mississippi, Alabama . . . Negroes are marching in Los Angeles, Philadelphia and St. Louis, marching against inequalities, bigotry and injustices that retard and destroy ambitions within our breast."

2 Youths Banned From Wisconsin

PORT WASHINGTON, WIS., (UPI) — Fines of $50 each were levied against two Chicago area youths who pleaded guilty to damaging a motel they stayed in while attending Memorial Day motorcycle races in nearby Cedarburg.

Robert Nelke, 20, Chicago, and Roger Pulak, 21, Oak Park, were also ordered to pay court costs and the cost of the damage to the motel.

JUDGE WARREN Grady also told the pair they would have to stay out of Wisconsin for at least a year. The two left Ozaukee County jail Saturday after paying $300 for damages.

Authorities said Nelke and Pulak tore off the back of a television set, ripped a shower curtain, broke a mirror and soiled blankets, sheets and pillowcases during a beer fight.

More proof... Ford's the only car that's changed as much as Chicagoland!

Ford offers America's biggest selection of V-8 engines!

The words "Ford" and "V-8" go together as naturally as steak and potatoes. And for good reason. Ford has built and sold more V-8's than any other manufacturer. But we're not resting on past performance. Here are new reasons why it pays to own a Ford V-8:

New wide choice... new lively power!

Now you can enjoy V-8 power in any car line we make—Fords, Fairlanes, Falcons, Thunderbirds. And we have America's biggest selection—a dozen lively V-8's. They're all built of durable cast iron—but they pack more punch than ordinary cast-iron V-8's. Precision molding (pioneered by Ford) trims unnecessary weight, lets Ford engines deliver more horsepower-per-pound.

New quality... new rugged durability!

Ford engine valves are measured to seven ten-thousandths of an inch for precise fit. Crankshafts are made of a special iron alloy for extra strength. And every single engine is electronically inspected and tuned before installation for smoothest operation.

Widest choice of transmissions, too!

Choose the transmission that's best for your kind of driving. We have three- and four-speed manuals, Fordomatics, Cruise-O-Matics, overdrives—the most complete selection in the industry. And Ford is America's only manufacturer to offer a fully synchronized 3-speed manual transmission as standard equipment. Even while your car is moving—say in slow city traffic—you can downshift to first without clashing gears.

Total performance in action!

In the Atlanta 500 . . . the Riverside 500 . . . the Daytona 500 . . . Fords have beaten all the top performing cars in the country. The reason isn't horsepower—all competing cars have pretty much the same horsepower. Fords win because engine parts hold up and don't force extra pit stops . . . because the car is sure-footed around corners . . . because it accelerates, steers, brakes with precision . . . because a Ford engine—and every single part of the car—is geared for total performance. And that means you'll have an easier, more enjoyable time behind the wheel—in city traffic . . . on the turnpike . . . in whatever kind of driving you do.

Stop! Before you buy any new car, test-drive the only car that's changed as much as Chicagoland!

Growth Causes Village Budget Rises

4 Communities Are Compared

The cost of municipal government is continually rising. Four area communities which recently completed 1963-64 fiscal budgets show increases ranging from 12 to 22 per cent.

Since local government is a non-profit-making institution, the main reason for the increase can generally be attributed to a single factor — growth.

More houses bring more people, who, in turn, demand more services. They also contribute more money to the tax coffers.

The most dramatic change in this respect can be found in Addison, a comparatively small village in DuPage County which dates back to 1852. In 1950, the village's entire population consisted of 816 people, who demanded only a few thousand dollars in services.

Today, Addison is a thriving community of some 12,000 souls. The 1963-64 budget is $557,397, a 21 per cent increase over the 1962-63 figure of $459,-565.

ACCORDING TO Richard A. Jenisch, village administrator, the current budget covers all services except garbage and rubbish collection. Residents are billed separately for pick-ups by a private firm.

The largest single increase this year, as in most other communities, is in the police department.

The police budget is up $25,-217 to a total figure of $140,230, said Jenisch.

"The increase includes two full time policemen, two crossing guards, a salary increase because of a departmental promotion, and purchase of a new patrol car," said Jenisch.

EVEN SO, the department's entire budget is paid for with taxes from vehicle stickers, sales tax rebates, and other license fees, he said.

"And the police budget also includes the $7,000 salary and expense account of the police magistrate," Jenisch pointed out.

Real estate taxes still contribute the greatest share of budget revenues, and go oward operation of other village services, including an active street department and 15,000-square-foot municipal building which costs $50,000 to operate.

"We've stayed pretty well within our budget," said Jenisch. "Our village board is pretty conservative, and we try and keep spending in line with our revenues."

HE SAID THE village was about even at the end of the 1962-63 fiscal year.

In contrast with Addison, Palatine, a village of 15,200, will spend $936,465 this year. The budget is up about 17 per cent over last year when $796,495 was needed.

Starting with a $13,652 surplus from the 1962-63 budget, Palatine's village manager, Robert E. Hollander, expressed the village's fiscal philosophy in this way:

"The budget request as a whole is based on the underlying principle that the village will continue to provide, at the most efficient level possible, the services and regulatory functions which 97 years of corporate operation has shown to be the most necessary and desirable, along with whatever new operations or methods are indicated by enlightened reason."

PALATINE'S largest single expense this year will be a new $52,000 police building, providing a badly needed improvement which is in keeping with the philosophy of the village's conservative fiscal philosophy. The present Palatine police building dates back to about 1929.

Of course, it is unfair to compare the operation of two widely diverse and separated villages without a more comprehensive explanation. A question certainly arises in looking—side by side—at a pair of budgets which show close to a $380,000 differential.

Why does it cost Palatine, a village with only 3,200 more residents, close to $400,000 more to operate?

The answer is not simple, and certainly could not be adequately perused without a long and detailed look at the history and expansion of each municipality.

HOWEVER, IT can be said with some fairness that Palatine provides more service (because it has more tax monies to work with) than does Addison.

For example, $114,800 of the 1963-64 Palatine budget goes toward garbage and rubbish pickup, a service which Addison does not assume.

Thre is also a municipal parking operation for which more than $13,000 is budgeted, and a $9,300 civil defense program.

Historically, Palatine had a better chance to develop than Addison because it is split by the Chicago and North Western Railroad, while Addison lies between two railroads and has industrial access by a spur of one.

NEVERTHELESS, THE purpose of this report is not an out-and-out comparison, but rather a spot survey. In this way, it is hoped that the reader will gain some small insight into what his or her tax dollar provides.

Take the new and bustling village of Elk Grove for example. Operating at a continual, but decreasing, annual deficit, village fathers hope to see a balanced budget within the next two or three years.

Currently short on revenues because much of the new industry in the Centex Industrial Park has not yet been officially listed on the tax rolls, village trustees are forced to borrow on anticipated revenues until income begins to meet expenditures.

THE SERVICES now provided, including police and fire protection, snow removal, and the street department, are all necessary.

This year's budget of $335,-780 is up 22 per cent from last year's figure of $273,801. Even so, a deficit of $25,000 was carried over from the 1962-63 fiscal year.

With an expanding population, now estimated at 13,000, Elk Grove put $34,000 into its police department, the largest single increase this year.

Last year, trustees set up a $100,000 working cash fund to help alleviate the burden of excess interest on annual borrowing.. The 1961-62 deficit was $40,000.

The cash fund enables the village, in effect, to borrow from itself, eliminating high interest rates.

ARLINGTON Heights, which reduced its corporate tax rate by one-tenth of a per cent this year, still had a 12 per cent increase in the operational budget, now set at a million and one-half dollars.

The largest increase was in the fire department which added new men and a new aerial ladder truck. (Total cost $67,-601).

"The dollar cost of village government is of vital concern to our citizens and we believe that this proposal as well as prior budgets and property tax levies indicate a continuous effort to provide adequate services at minimum cost," said Village Manager L. A. Hanson in his annual budget message.

HANSON, WHOSE village operated with a "slight surplus" last year, felt the budgeting procedure of villages has an important effect on "the public and business confidence."

"This I refer to as the fourth dimension," he said. "It is the degree to which economic decisions and actions create with the people of our community a desire to live, work, save, invest and accept financial and citizenship responsibility." (A-14

HAROLD FREITAG of Freitag Hardware, Westgate Park & Shop, Arlington Heights, was featured in a recent issue of American Marietta's company magazine as one of its "success stories." A year ago Freitag sold over 500 gallons of Martin Marietta Space Rated paints in a weekend truckload paint sale. This weekend Freitag will repeat the sale and hopes to better his record. (A

Staff Changes Listed By Northwest Hospital

The new list of medical staff members has been released by Northwest Community Hospital.

It shows the addition of 12 doctors and 5 dentists or oral surgeons since April 30, 1962.

The new list has eliminated 13 doctors who have resigned from the staff.

The new physicians and surgeons are Dr. Alessandro Barchiesi, psychiatry, 1060 W. Northwest Hwy., Mount Prospect; Dr. Owen H. Bloodgood, obstetrics-gynecology, 1015 S. Evergreen, Arlington Heights (associated with Dr. Richard Howell); Dr. Agapito DeRamos, pediatrics, 5 Hoffman Plaza, Hoffman Estates; Dr. Donald Dhein, general practice, 101 S. Pine, Mount Prospect (associated with Dr. Michael L. Ruane); Dr. Israel A. Fond, consultant in allergy, 1430 N. State Road, Arlington Heights; and Dr. Ramon D. Gamez, neurosurgery, 64 Old Orchard, Skokie (associated with Dr. James J. Duffy).

OTHER NEW doctors are Dr. Marvin H. Goldblatt, dermatology, 15 Park & Shop Lane, Elk Grove Village; Dr. Bernard Gordon, anesthesiology, Northwest Community Hospital; Dr. Donald J. Jessen, obstetrics-gynecology, 1430 N. State Road, Arlington Heights (associated with Dr. Edward J. Jacobs); Dr. Charles H. Kramer, psychiatry, 417 N. Kenilworth, Oak Park; Dr. Guillermo Lara, general practice, 3407 Kirchoff Road, Rolling Meadows; and Dr. Burton A. Russman, ophthalmology, 30 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago.

Two oral surgeons in associated practice are listed. They are Dr. John Giannini and Dr. John M. Sachs, both of 10 N. Ridge, Mount Prospect.

Dentists added to the staff are Dr. Rolley C. Bateman, 124 E. Chicago Ave., Palatine; Dr. Emmett L. Boyles, 521 W. Central, Mount Prospect; Dr. Harrie L. Hall, 33 S. Dunton Ave., Arlington Heights; and Dr. Marvin B. Schumer, 15 Park & Shop Lane, Elk Grove Village.

NO LONGER listed as staff members are Dr. Jerome E. Abrahams, surgery, Wheeling; Dr. Hortensia DeArmas, general practice, Palatine; Dr. Douglas R. Morton, surgery, Elgin; Dr. Edward F. Murray, pediatrics, Arlington Heights; Dr. Michael Nakutny, general practice, Arlington Heights; Dr. Rudolph G. Novick, consultant in psychiatry, Des Plaines; Dr. E. W. Passarelli, internal medicine, Chicago; Dr. Jack J. Teplinsky, psychiatry, Skokie; Dr. Ernest G. Tiritilli, internal medicine, Mount Prospect; Dr. Howard L. Wilder, consultant in ophthalmology, Chicago; and Dr. Alfred Wolfarth, general practice, Mount Prospect.

Members of the medical staff are screened by a special credentials committee composed of present staff members. Training, experience, past hospital and other medical recommendations, reputation and medical group affiliation are considered. The medical staff votes upon the staff application after a recommendation is made by the committee.

This recommendation of the medical staff goes to a joint board of trustees-medical staff committee for consideration before the application is referred to the hospital board of trustees. Final approval for appointment must be received from the board of trustees.

Because of the limited number of beds at the hospital, and the steadily overcrowded, conditions of the facilities, some local doctors have been approved by the credentials committee, but appointment withheld. These appointments will be made when the hospital completes its expansion program or resignations provide a staff vacancy. (B9

Rest Home Will Hold Open House

The Arlington Heights Rest Home, 414 N. Vail, will have an open house Sunday, June 16, from 2 to 4 p.m. in connection with "Nursing Home Day" in Illinois.

Administrator Paul N. Ellingsen has announced that the day, set aside by Governor Otto Kerner's proclamation, will feature an inspection of the rest home's facilities.

State licensed and supervised, the Arlington Heights Rest Home has a patient capacity of 40 and is protected by an automatic sprinkling system. Mrs. Lottie Kelly is manager of the home. (A

THURS., JUNE 6, 1963

The word DEVELOP means to unfold gradually, while EXPOSE means to lay open to any influence or action. "Testimony of the witnesses developed these facts." "He was reluctant to expose his secrets."

Distinguish between EARTHY (of the soil) and EARTHLY (of this world). Thus: "An earthy smell came from the cellar," and, "Don't let earthly considerations determine your choice.' '

Arlington Greens

The final games of the Arlington Greens round robin bridge group were completed in mid-May. Hosting for May were the Bob McLeans, Don Helblings, Tony Tomasos, Bob Brights, Ed Zelsmanns, George Letts and the Pat Dannas. In charge of the group for the next year are Dick and Ginny Sims, 636 E. Clarendon.

The annual banquet for the players officially ended the season and was held at Old Orchard Country Club Saturday evening. Awards were presented to the top three scorers: Ray and Jean Thorsen, 31,620; John and Martha Mundell, 25,230; Pat and Ann Danna, 24,280. Consolation went to George and Elsie Roby.

Tony Tomaso, former president of the Arlington Greens Community Association, presented trophies to the Thorsens, Mrs. John Coward and Don Helbling in behalf of the organization, for their top scores in couples, women's and men's bridge.

A MEETING of the Arlington Greens Community Association originally planned for Wednesday was postponed until Tuesday, June 11, 8:30 p.m., at 635 E. Clarendon. Residents are welcome to join the officers and directors.

A flight home on Sunday of last week ended a three-week trip to Florida for Mrs. John Van Diggelen of N. Hickory. She visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barham at Port Richey. They motored north last weekend to spend the summer months in the Chicago area. A family gathering Sunday was held in the home of Mrs. Van Diggelen's brother, the Richard Barhams of Des Plaines. A coffee hosted by Mrs. Van D. the day following her return was attended by several Hickory Avenue neighbors.

Cheryl Thake and Randy Ziemann, N. Douglas neighbors and both eighth graders at St. Peter Lutheran School, joined their class of 41 students, their teacher, Roland Kiel, and several parents for the trip to Springfield on the 28th for a two-day holiday.

Four-year-old Scott Evans of N. Hickory enjoyed a two-week visit with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Evans and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Huffine in Girard. He made the trip with the Huffines when they visited here earlier in the month. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Evans motored to Girard the weekend of the 25th for a brief visit and to pick up Scott.

BOBBY Bengal of N. Haddow Court celebrated his 10th birthday Saturday with a cookout lunch party. Joining him were Mark Kushner, Bobby Hetzel, Jack Jenkins and his brother, Joe.

Ginger Bunnelle of N. Belmont celebrated her fourth birthday with a luncheon party for Christine Swoboda, Donna Lett, Bobby Holst, Jimmy and Ricky Baker, Blair Warman, Ricky and Eddie Doherty, the Damianos, Sherri and Henry, besides her brothers and sisters. Grandfather Paul A. Bunnelle of Wadsworth, Ohio, arrived Sunday, missing the party by several days. He plans to visit with his son and family for about a month.

Another birthday celebrant last week was 6-year-old Bobby Tomaso of E. Clarendon. Fourteen neighborhood friends and classmates attended his Saturday luncheon party. A Memorial Day cookout at the Tomasos included the grandmother, Mrs. Tony Tomaso Sr. of Chicago.

Houseguests last week of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Burns, E. Clarendon, were grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Jones, and teenage niece, Miss Kay Perdue, of El Dorado, Ark. They ended their five-day visit on Friday.

Ben Lockhart and Don Helbling, Clarendon Avenue neighbors, arrived home Saturday from a week's fishing trip in the Chippewa Flowage area near Hayward, Wis. A good catch and a week of their favorite sport made it a worthwhile trip.

MR. AND MRS. Charles Anderson of N. Douglas spent the Memorial Day weekend visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Powers in Knoxville, Iowa. They attended a family reunion picnic on Memorial Day at Leon and were joined by relatives from Omaha, Nebraska and the area. Before returning home, they visited a sister and her family, the Greg Vrbens in Des Moines.

The Al Kargols of E. Clarendon hosted a get-acquainted party for their new neighbors, Ken and Jan Ullenius. Guests included the Bud Andrews and the Ben Lockharts.

Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Sell, N. Hickory, hosted a Memorial Day picnic in their yard for co-workers and their families, including the John Hills of Palatine, Richard Millars of Bloomingdale, James Ebbinghaus of Arlington and Delmar Nelson and daughter of Rolling Meadows.

The George Kellers, N. Douglas, hosted a Memorial Day cookout supper. Guests included the Bob Helfers of Palatine, George Maiers of Chicago, John Torrettos, Robert Gentiles and Miss Jean Jamieson of Arlington. Later in the day they were joined by members of their roller skating club.

Thomas Kushner, N. Haddow Court, was among the 290 students to graduate from Notre Dame High School in Niles Friday evening. After the ceremony, the Kushners joined several other graduates and their families at a party in the Albert Aspengren home. A family dinner on Sunday at the Officers Club observed the occasion for Tom.

GRADUATING from St. James Catholic School Sunday evening, Ron Zaborowski of N. Hickory observed the occasion with a dinner party on Saturday, attended by 35 relatives. Among them were his uncle,

Eastwood Events

Just about the biggest news this month is graduation—from many assorted schools, and running the gamut from kindergarten to college. Most of the local school's commencements are still in the offing, except for St. James Catholic school, where exercises were held last Sunday evening in the Church.

Rev. Joseph Zaborowski, pastor of St. Hedwig Church in Chicago, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Zaborowski.

A dinner party on Sunday observed the occasion for Geoffrey Lindsey of N. Douglas. Guests included the Jack Haggerty family of Bellwood, aunt and uncle; grandmother, Mrs. Loyola Lindsey, uncle, William Lindsey, and cousin, Mark, of Chicago.

A family dinner observed the occasion for Nancy Shannon of N. Hickory and Maureen Cooney of E. Olive.

JOINING the Coleman family of N. Beverly Lane for James' graduation dinner party was his grandmother, Mrs. Harold Yetter of Rochelle. James made the return trip with his grandmother for a visit of a week or so.

Family celebrations also observed the occasions for Kathy Waffle, Tom Brune and Carol Metzel, all of N. Dryden.

Theresa Williams of N. Dryden observed the occasion with a dinner party for the Joseph Cuccinottos of Des Plaines, an uncle and family.

The Ed Weirich family of E. Clarendon had two graduations to celebrate on Sunday. Elaine graduating from St. James and Karen from St. Patrick Academy in Des Plaines. Grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Peter Weirich of Chicago and Joseph Zbylut of Glenview were joined by numerous other relatives from Chicago and the suburbs for the buffet supper marking the occasions. The family was especially happy to have Mr. Weirich home for the occasion. A business trip to Mexico City kept him there for the past six weeks.

HICKORY MEADOWS

Graduate Jean Patterson of E. Olive celebrated the occasion with a dinner party in her home for her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. William Edelman of Northlake.

Robert Barnett of N. Hickory also celebrated the occasion of his graduation with a dinner party. Guests included the James Hansen family of Chicago and the Harry Gannon family of Carpentersville.

Hosting for the mid-May bridge games were the Wilfred Carsons and the William Pattersons. Top three scorers were Mr. and Mrs. Theron Kries, 19,260; Mr. and Mrs. Wofford Lewis, 17,770; and the Wilfred Carons, 16,870.

Canasta games on the 22nd were hosted by June Wendell of N. Hickory. Top scorers at each of the tables were the hostess and Elizabeth Pavlovics, Tella Coburn and Millie Burke.

Candlelight bowling party for Hickory Meadows residents was held the last Saturday in May. Top four couples for the evening were Lee and Bob Culver, Frances and Ted Kries, Otis and Elizabeth Pavlovics and Lorrie and Ron Miller.

Jo Rogers, Carol Cockrell and Ellen Tatge were among the graduates who celebrated at a school dance on Friday night and who entertained relatives on Sunday.

Carol Cockrell shared the day with big sister, Mary Elizabeth, who was graduated in the afternoon from Regina Dominica High School in Wilmette. Sandwiched in between the two commencements was an outdoor barbecue which was given for a few close friends of the girls, plus all their relatives.

PRECEDING the evening's ceremony the Robert Tatges honored their daughter, Ellen, at dinner at the Country Squire. Grandmother Mrs. Walter Tatge from Chicago was present for both occasions.

The James Rogers' daughter, Jo, was guest of honor at a family party which included grandparents, Mrs. Thomas Loftus of N. Dryden Avenue and Mr. and Mrs. John O'Brien.

Jo's sister, Nancy, missed out on some of the family celebrating, but she didn't mind too much as she was having a wonderful Memorial Day weekend in Minneapolis as guest of her friend, Kathy Goman. Mr. and Mrs. Jim Goman drove the girls to their former hometown for the long weekend from Wednesday to Sunday night.

Another Sunday honoree was Anna Marie Stubitz of N. Dryden Avenue who graduated on that day from St. Pat's Academy in Des Plaines.

AT COMMENCEMENT last Friday night Allen Aspengren received his diploma from Notre Dame High School in Niles. After the exercises some of his friends, along with their parents, dropped in at the Aspengren home on N. Dryden for coffee and cake. Allen plans on attending Marquette University in the fall.

Mrs. John Haslam, who recently returned from a visit with her sister's family, Attorney and Mrs. E. V. Leach in Portsmouth, Ohio, will leave again this week for Grinnell College in Iowa, from where her daughter Pamela will graduate on Friday night. Pam is going to do graduate work in physical therapy at Duke University at Durham, N. C., in September.

Last Sunday the William Kasper family of Lincoln Lane drove to Bradley University in Peoria to attend the commencement of Mrs. Kasper's 20-year-old niece.

Not only graduation, but a birthday and a wedding are all occasions to be celebrated at the George Brinke residence at 307 Lincoln Lane. Their son, George who is graduating Friday night from Arlington High School, celebrated his May 31st 19th birthday on Saturday with a barbecue for his high school friends.

BESIDES ALL this partying, preparations are going on for Joanne Brinke's marriage on June 15 to Richard Randle of Arlington Heights. Already the guest of honor at three showers, Joanne is well prepared to furnish her own home. Hostesses at showers for Joanne were her cousin Mrs. Paul Anholt of Grayslake; one of her bridesmaids, Kathy Zimmerman, and a long-time friend of her mother, Mrs. Roy Overton of Mount Prospect. After Joanne's marriage ceremony in the Palatine Presbyterian Church, a reception will be held in the Mount Prospect Country Club.

Hurry and get well wishes are sent to Turk Larson who was hospitalized in Northwest Community Hospital and who is now convalescing at the home of his son, Bud Larson.

James Drake of 411 N. Beverly Lane, who is on a fishing trip to Spooner, Wis., this week, is expecting to tell his Saturday night guests about all the big ones that didn't get away. The Drakes will host a going-away cookout party Saturday for Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mathews who are leaving Arlington for their ne whome in Geneva, Ill.

MR. AND MRS. Jack Mutti have recently returned from three weeks at their favorite Florida vacation spot, the Diplomat in Hollywood. Jack played golf every day, and even managed to get Casey on the golf course for her very first game. Beginner's luck was proven again for Casey when she came in second in a putting contest.

Sees Illinois Getting Clinics for Retarded

Federal Matching Funds Would Help

CHICAGO, (UPI) — Illinois will be one of the major recipients of federal money to build and staff clinics for the mentally retarded, a special assistant to President Kennedy said Tuesday.

Dr. Stafford L. Warren, guest speaker at a dinner for Little City, a residential community for retarded children near Palatine, said "Illinois, New York and California are the most progressive states in the field of mental health."

He said Illinois "could get 10-20 million dollars for construction over a five-year period, and probably more toward the end of that time."

THE MONEY would come from an esimated $1 billion in health bills currently before the Congress, he said, and would be available to states on a matching basis.

"The money available would amount to $4 or $5 million a year per state if divided equally," he said, "but some states, which are more progressive in this field will provide more matching money and receive more federal aid."

The funds would be used he said for the staffing and construction of major centers to treat mental retardation and mental illness, and also for smaller community centers. Warren estimated Illinois needed between 10 and 15 community or "out-patient centers.

WARREN, former vice-chancellor of UCLA, said he was hopeful the federal government's program could get under way by September.

The smaller clinics, he said, would treat patients who lived in the communities but did not require hospitalization. Warren said local governments would be eligible for aid and could provide teachers for the mentally retarded in school districts which are widely separated from community treatment centers.

According to mental health statistics, he said, half of all the hospital beds in the nation are filled by the mentally ill. Warren, who is President Kennedy's only special assistant in science, was asked why his post was restricted to mental retardation, rather than the broader category of mental illness.

"We can handle both groups with this new program," he said.

JACK KEEFER, Mount Prospect Pharmacist, received the "Bowl of Hygiea" award from the Illinois Pharmaceutical Association during the group's recent annual convention. The award was given for outstanding community service and goes to one pharmacist in the state each year that the association thinks has done the most outstanding job of community service. (B-8

Pharmacists Elect Keefer and Harris

Two local pharmacists last week were named officers of the Illinois Pharmaceutical Assn. during its annual convention at Aurora.

Jack T. Keefer, 15 N. Waverly Place, Mount Prospect, owner of Keefer's Pharmacy, was elected to the association's office of secretary.

George A. Harris, 626 W. Sigwalt St., Arlington Heights, and the owner of the three Harris pharmacies, was elected third vice president.

Keefer also received the association's "Bowl of Hygiea" award for outstanding community service.

BOTH PHARMACISTS are active in local and state pharmacy affairs, and are charter members of the Northwest Suburban Pharmaceutical Council, composed of druggists in 12 communities from Park Ridge to Barrington.

They were instrumental in the passage of several pharmacy bills in the Illinois legislature, and were key men in inspiring their profession's reorganization at the state level.

Keefer has operated his local pharmacy for 15 years, and he currently is president of the Mount Prospect Chamber of Commerce. During the early days of his association's modernization, he handled all its printing and its correspondence from his home.

KNOWN AS A hard, methodical worker, Keefer is said to amaze his colleagues by the voluminous amount of detail at his fingertips. Constantly beating the drums for what he says is "the good of pharmacy," Keefer insists that the first aim of pharmacists everywhere must be the promotion of the public interest.

Proprietor of Arlington Heights drug stores for 13 years, Harris is a member of the District 25 School Board and a past director of the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce. He and his wife, Marian, also a pharmacist, have three sons. (B8

Second Oral Polio Sunday Is June 16

10 Centers To Be Open

Everyone from six weeks through 30 years of age is being urged to obtain Sabin Type III vaccine on the northwest communities second Oral Polio Sunday, June 16.

Ten immunization centers will be open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. for distribution of the vaccine in Northwest Community Hospital and medical staff's three-part program to rid the area of polio.

On the first Oral Polio Sunday, May 5, and the make-up day the following week, 89,389 persons of all ages received Sabin Type I. The total turnout, about 76 per cent of the estimated population in Wheeling, Palatine, Elk Grove and Schaumburg Townships, was considered "very good."

Earlier, doctors had indicated a turnout of more than 60 per cent would be vital for a successful clinic.

Sabin Type II vaccine will be administered to persons of all ages in September.

TYPE III IS offered only to a limited age group on the advice of the U.S. Surgeon General's office. Some question arose about the effectiveness of this type last fall, but it has since been cleared and recommended with the other two types by the Chicago Medical Society, the Illinois Medical Society, the American Medical Association, the U.S. Surgeon General and the U.S. Public Health Service.

The Sabin vaccine comes in three different types to combat the three distinct types of polio virus causing poliomyelitis.

Persons who missed receiving Type I can start the immunization program now with Type III, get Type II in the fall and get Type I later from their own doctors, noted program chairman Donald G. Ewald, M.D.

Persons who were vaccinated against Type I last month are requested to take their immunization certificate cards with them when they obtain Type III.

THE VACCINE is painless and tasteless; a donation of 25 cents per dose is requested to cover vaccine, printing and other costs.

Dr. Ewald emphasized again that everyone eligible — whether or not he has had a Salk injection — should take the Sabin vaccine for full protection.

Clinic locations for the second Oral Polio Sunday will be Arlington High School and Park School in Arlington Heights; Elk Grove Junior High School, Prospect High School and Randhurst Shopping Center Mall in Mount Prospect, Palatine High School North and Palatine High School South, Carl Sandburg School in Rolling Meadows, Hoffman School in Roselle and Jack London Junior High School in Wheeling.

Jaycees are helping the Northwest Hospital medical staff organize the clinics and will keep things running with the assistance of area pharmacists, dentists, nurses' associations and hospital volunteer groups. The work of the volunteers was given large credit for smooth operation of the first clinic, conducted at 16 centers. (B9

Here Is Your Sabin Registration Form

A pre-registration form for the area's second Oral Polio Sunday, June 16, is printed here for the benefit of Paddock Publications readers.

Vaccine program administrators have requested that persons fill out the forms before arriving at the immunization centers to facilitate distribution. Forms must be completed and signed by parents and guardians for all unmarried persons under 21 years of age. For statistical reasons it is desirable that everyone include his own name on signed consent forms.

Additional forms are being distributed throughout public and parochial schools this week, one week early because classes are ending. (B9

Merchant Happy with 'What Comes Our Way'

Store at Same Corner 69 Years

by ROBERT SETLIK

His approach to business is a throwback to the horse and buggy days. The store doesn't make money anymore.

It's been located at the same corner for 69 years, and seems out of place in a downtown business district.

The store is Schoppe Brothers, located at the corner of Brockway and Slade Streets in Palatine.

Harry Schoppe, 89 years old Sunday, a man of spry wit and dapper attire, is the proprietor.

No advertising; no promotion, for the merchant.

"We don't try to draw them in; we just take what comes our way," he said.

The result is that the store is no longer a money-maker, particularly since the advent of advertising accounts, and promotion.

BUT REAPING in profits is no longer a concern of the 89-year-old merchant.

"I could sell the location, and make money, but we don't need it," said Shoppe.

The attitude is as curious as the store itself.

The general merchandise it offers ranges from women's apparel, to men's work clothes, to chewing tobacco. The original hardwood floor is still in. The store is divided into halves, the south end for women, the north for men's goods.

At one end of the men's half sit five chairs, reserved for the oldtimers who pass through. The men, some old farmers, some ex-firemen, come in during mornings, talk for about an hour, and leave.

"They don't get anywhere, but they talk," said Schoppe, describing the sessions.

THEY SIT facing a pot-bellied stove, inactive now, but a memento of the days when coal and wood were staple fuels, chewing tobacco was sold by the pound, and business was better.

Schoppe can remember when there were three stores like his, two grist mills, blacksmith shops, and the like in Palatine.

The business then included the sale of groceries and poultry. Before Harry's brother died 15 years ago, he advised that the grocery-poultry trade be dropped. "That's heavy work," he said to Harry, who listened.

The Schoppe's were raised on a farm located about three miles northwest of Palatine.

HIS BROTHER started in the merchandise business, and Harry soon joined him.

Harry's sister, Helen, is the sole heir, and helps operate the store.

The store still does a "nice business," according to Harry, because it offers some old time goods unavailable elsewhere, particularly in the line of work clothes.

"They should all be here Saturday," said Schoppe, looking at the five chairs in the corner of the shop.

A person gets the feeling that the chairs are his most valued pieces of merchandise.

Report Seasonal Surge in Building

Construction authorized in Elk Grove, Palatine, Schaumburg and Wheeling Townships during April helped boost the Cook County total to more than double that of March.

The 375 permits issued in April amounted to $7,439,100 valuation, contrasted to 190 totaling $3,682,300 in March.

Of April's 367 fee permits, 74 representing $1,640,300 valuation, were issued in Wheeling Township. Thirty - three for $371,400 total valuation were issued in Elk Grove Township; 22, for $523,000, in Palatine, and 6 for $119,400, in Schaumburg.

Of the eight no-fee permits—including churches, public and farm buildings—for some $456,200 worth of building, two were issued in Wheeling Township. One was for a $39,800 residence at St. Emily's Church in Mount Prospect, the other for public sewer work, for which no valuation was stated.

'Y' Opens Day Camp 'Adventure' June 25

"An important part of a child's learning experience" is the way Charles McClellan, Northwest Suburban YMCA executive secretary, reently described Northwest Suburban YMCA Day Camp. Freely translated, this means that day camp for the 6 to 13-year-old youngster is an adventure where new friends and new ideas are discovered.

"Don't get me wrong," McClellan said, "day camp is not simply some type of clinical process. Rather, it is a wonderful way for northwest suburban area youngsters to get a change of surroundings and learn more about nature." He added that the day camp experience pointed youngsters towards untapped areas of interest and stimulation.

McCLELLAN said that the 8-day camp sessions highlighted such activities as instructional swim periods every day, instruction and demonstrations by Forest Rangers in the habits of wood animals and naturalist presentations on all types of nature's wonders.

"Four camp periods will be offered this year in order to accommodate as many youngsters as possible," McClellan said. He added that a trained staff of counselors will give leadership and fill the day with a variety of different events.

Cost includes transportation by chartered United Motor Coach buses, milk daily, insurance and swim fees. Interested parents can sign up youngsters by calling Northwest Suburban YMCA for further information, CY 6-3376.

Scientist Challenges Colleagues

ARGONNE, ILL., (UPI)—An atomic scientist has challenged his colleagues to communicate their understanding of human individuality to others.

Norman Hilberry, Argonne National Laboratory director for five years until his retirement in 1961, spoke to scientists and engineers from 10 countires last week at ceremonies marking completion of the spring term at Argonne's International Institute of Nuclear science and Engineering.

Social science is too much concerned with "servicing" society than with understanding it, Hilberry said. He called for an approach to social science similar to that used in the scientific laboratory.

"Knowledge and understanding are essential to understanding and progress today," he said.

3 to 4 a.m. Closing

County Checking New Late Liquor License

The Cook County Board of Commissioners is investigating the possibility of providing 3 to 4 a.m. closing hour liquor licenses for tavern owners in the unincorporated area of the county.

Commissioner Charles F. Chaplin, R-Northbrook, proposed consideration of such licenses Monday as another possible source of revenue for the county.

HE SAID strict enforcement of closing hours by Cook County Sheriff Richard G. Oglivie has led to a situation where many establishments which formerly ignored the law by staying open later are now obliged to observe it.

Chaplin said an investigation might show a number of tavern owners and operators of motels and hotels willing to spend an additional $1,000 to permit them to stay open until 3 or 4 a.m.

George W. Dunne, D-Chicago, chairman of the finance committee, was appointed to study the situation.

A. L. HORNICK, assistant to County Board President Seymour Simon and presiding officer at liquor violation hearings, told the commissioners approximately 60 tavern operators have applied for 2 a.m. closing licenses, the maximum hour of closing now permitted under a resolution passed last month by the commissioners.

The board on that occasion also hiked liquor license fees for unincorporated area taverns from $400 to $500 annually.

At that time an additional charge of $350 was also passed for tavern owners who wished to stay open until 2 a.m. on weekdays. The weekend closing of 2 a.m. Sunday was also set. Weekday hour for regular license holders is now 1 a.m.

Chaplin said these hours are being strictly enforced by the Cook County Sheriff's office for "the first time in a long time." He added that many motels and hotels around airports would probably benefit from an early morning hour closing license since air travelers are coming in at all hours of the day and night.

"I think this is a matter of ethical revenue. Late closing hours have nothing to do with the character of a place," Chaplin commented.

BOARD PRESIDENT Simon noted that hearings are always required when complaints are received on closing and Sunday morning violations. "Each hearing is an expensive item," said Simon, who is the county's liquor control commissioner, "and cuts into the amount of the liquor fund we transfer to the treasurer of Cook County."

Hornick said there are from 10 to 12 establishments he could think of which might be interested in spending an additional $1,000 for the privilege of staying open until 3 or 4 a.m.

Commissioner Dunne was to check fees charged by surrounding municipalities on such late closings to determine a justifiable fee. (B-9

Children Visit Historic Mill

Recent visitors to the historic Old Graue Mill and Museum in Hinsdale included 56 fifth graders from Mount Prospect, accompanied by Mrs. A. E. Gunderson and Mrs. Robert Ferguson and Brownies from Troop 13, Bensenville, with their leaders, Mrs. Richard Sherwin and Mrs. Marilyn Wroble.

Students To Give Recital

Mrs. James B. Roberts, Elk Grove teacher of piano and voice, will present her students in a formal recital Tuesday night, June 11, at 8:15 o'clock in Grove Junior High School, Elk Grove Village.

Appearing on the program will be Cheryl Philbin and Lorraine Tucker, Rolling Meadows; Nelson Brett, Kathy Miller, Roberta Smith, Elizabeth Smith, Arlene Nelson, Shirlee Wangrow, Judy Olson, Greg Roberts, Debra Hansen, Donna Ahlgren, Susan Tokay, Debbie Roberts and Penny Cwik, Elk Grove Village; Mary Jane Smalenberger, Sharon Meier, and Jeanne Combs, Arlington Heights; Kathleen Kohring and Norman Hansen, Palatine, Charlyn Whetten, Prospect Heights, and Jean Schroeder, Mount Prospect.

An added feature this year will be several numbers performed on two pianos. There will be no admission charge, and the public is invited. (B8

Students Confess Coin Thefts

CRAWFORDSVILLE, IND., (UPI) — Six Wabash College students entered pleas of guilty Friday in Montgomery Circuit Court to charges of petit larceny filed in connection with coin machine thefts in a dozen towns and cities during a two-month period.

The youths, all members of Phi Kappa Psi Fraternity, told Judge Howard A. Sommer they would make restitution for damage to the machines and the amount of the coin thefts.

Sommer was told that all six withdrew from college and were expelled from the fraternity.

The thefts were reported at Lafayette, Crawfordsville, Danville, Darlington, New Richmond, Wingate, Covington, Jamestown, Roachdale, Williamsport, Lizton, Avon and Rob Roy.

Sommer withheld judgment pending an investigation. (B8

Ordinance No. 236

AN ORDINANCE AMENDING THE ZONING ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF ROLLING MEADOWS

Printed and published in pamphlet form by order of the City Council of the City of Rolling Meadows this 28th day of May, 1963.

WHEREAS, the City Council of the City of Rolling Meadows has heretofore appointed the Plan Commission as a Special Committee for the purpose of considering a proposed amendment to the Zoning Ordinance of the City of Rolling Meadows creating a new land use district, and

WHEREAS, a Public Hearing on the proposed amendment to the Zoning Ordinance of the City of Rolling Meadows was held on the 17th day of May, 1963, after appropriate public notice thereof, and

WHEREAS, the said Special Committee has submitted a report to the Mayor and City Council of the City of Rolling Meadows, which said report has been considered by the said Mayor and City Council of the City of Rolling Meadows,

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF ROLLING MEADOWS:

SECTION ONE: That the Zoning Ordinance of the City of Rolling Meadows adopted February 14, 1956, as amended, is hereby further amended by adding thereto, the following Article IV, Part III the following additional section to be designated as Part IV, B4, Hotel, Motel, Apartment-Hotel, Office and Institutional District:

Article IV, Part IV, B-4, Hotel, Motel, Apartment-Hotel Office and Institutional District;

Hotel, Motel, Apartment-Hotel, Office, and Institutional Districts shall not be classified under Zoning District Map in any location which does not abut either two (2) major highways or tollway or a business or industrial district which fronts upon a major highway or tollway.

SECTION ONE: Permitted Uses.

No building or premises, improved or unimproved, etc., shall be used and no building shall hereafter be erected or altered within any B-4 District as provided in this ordinance, except for the following uses.

1. Apartment-hotels.
2. Motels and hotels.
3. Principal offices of professional persons.
4. Offices, for administrative, executive, professional, research, or similar organizations (non-retail) provided, however, that merchandise related to the operations of manufacturers' agents may be displayed on the premises incidental to the principal use within administrative offices; and shall be limited to pilot and component development facilities without mass production for sale and public consumption.
5. Colleges, junior colleges, and Universities.
6. Indoor restaurants and cocktail lounges and bowling alleys.

SECTION TWO: Building Height and Floor Area Ratio.

The floor area ratio in the B-4 districts shall not exceed 1.0 times the lot area and no building shall exceed a height of sixty (60) feet.

SECTION THREE: Setback.

The setback requirements shall be thirty (30) feet.

SECTION FOUR: Side Yards (for Residence Uses).

The side yard requirements shall be fifteen (15) feet.

SECTION FIVE: Rear Yards.

The rear yard requirements shall be thirty (30) feet.

SECTION SIX: Floor Area per Dwelling.

The minimum floor area for dwelling units in the B-4 Hotel, Motel, Apartment-Hotel, Office, and Institutional Districts shall be as follows:

Studio or Efficiency Apartments and Apartment-hotels —400 square feet per dwelling unit.

Motels and Hotels—180 square feet per dwelling unit.

SECTION SEVEN: Lot Area and Width.

All uses permitted in the B-4 Hotel, Motel, Apartment-hotel, Office, and Institutional Districts shall be served by public water and sanitary sewers. The minimum lot area shall be twenty thousand (20,000) square feet, the minimum width at the established building line shall be one hundred (100) feet, and the minimum lot area per dwelling unit shall be as follows:

1. For studio and efficiency apartments, apartment-hotels, motels and hotels, the requirements shall be one thousand (1,000) square feet per dwelling unit.

SECTION EIGHT: Off-Street Parking.

1. Apartment-hotels. A minimum of one parking space shall be provided for each dwelling unit having two bedrooms or less. Three bedroom dwelling units shall require a minimum of one and one-half spaces, and four bedroom dwelling units shall require a minimum of two parking spaces.
2. Motels. One parking space shall be provided for each dwelling unit or lodging room.
3. Hotels, Transient. One parking space shall be provided for each alley plus such additional spaces as may be required herein for affiliated uses—bars, restaurants, and the like.
5. Estblishments Dispensing Food or Beverages for Consumption on the Premises. Three (3) square feet of parking space shall be provided for each one (1) square foot of public floor area.
6. OFFICES, Business Research, Professional, and Governmental. One parking space shall be provided for each five hundred (500) square feet of floor area.

SECTION NINE: Off Street Loading.

For buildings containing up to 100,000 square feet of gross floor area, one off street loading and unloading space plus one additional such space for each additional 100,000 square feet of gross floor area or fraction thereof in excess of 100,000 square feet, provided that such loading berths shall be at east ten (10) feet in width by thirty-five (35) feet in length, exclusive of aisles and maneuvering space and shall have a vertical clearance space of fourteen (14) feet.

SECTION TEN: Requirements for Inner Courts.

An inner court shall have a width of not less than twelve (12) feet; a length of not less than one-fifth (1/5) of the height of such court; nor shall its area be less than twice the square of its required least dimension.

SECTION ELEVEN: Provisions for Outer Courts.

The width of an outer court shall not be less than one-fifth (1/5) of the height of such court nor less than one-fifth (1/5) of the length of such court.

SECTION TWELVE. Provisions in Outer Courts.

When an outer court is partially enclosed by projections, the sum of the projections shall not exceed twenty-five (25) per cent of the greatest required width of the court.

SECTION THIRTEEN: Definitions.

For purposes of this Article, the following definitions shall govern:

1. Floor Area Ratio. (F.A.R.). The "floor area ratio" of the building or buildings on any zoning lot is the floor area of the building or buildings on that zoning lot divided by the area of such zoning lot, or, in the case of planned developments, by the net site area. The "floor area ratio" requirements—as set forth under each zoning district—shall determine the maximum floor area allowable for the building or buildings (total floor area of both principal and accessory buildings) in direct ratio to the gross area of the zoning lot.
2. Major Highway. A major highway is a numbered State or Federal Highway.
3. Apartment-hotel. An "apartment-hotel" is an establishment in which at least ninety per cent (90%) of the accommodations are occupied by permanent guests. Maid and janitor service must be provided if requested by tenants.
4. Studio or Efficiency Apartment. A "studio or efficiency apartment" is a dwelling unit consisting of one (1) principal room (combined living and bedroom) exclusive of bathroom, kitchen, hallway, closets, or dining alcove directly off the principal room, provided such dining alcove does not exceed one hundred twenty-five (125) square feet in area.
5. Hotel. A building in which lodging or board and lodging are provided and offered to the public for compensation and in which ingress and egress to and from all rooms is made through an inside lobby or office supervised by a person in charge at all hours. As such it is open to the public.
6. Motel. A "motel" is an establishment consisting of a group of attached or detached living or sleeping accommodations with bathroom and closet space, located on a single zoning lot and designed for use by transient automobile tourists. A "motel" furnishes customary hotel services such as maid service and laundering of linen, telephone and secretarial or desk service and the use and upkeep of furniture. In a "motel" less than fifty per cent (50%) of the living and sleeping accommodations are occupied or designed for occupancy by persons other than transient automobile tourists.

SECTION TWO: This Ordinance shall be and hereby is ordered to be printed and published in pamphlet form.

SECTION THREE: This Ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage, approval and publication in pamphlet form as provided by law.

Notice of Hearing

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that a hearing shall be held on a certain petition seeking the disconnection of certain territory from the Palatine Rural Fire Protection District on June 20, 1963 at 10:00 a.m. in the County Court of Cook County. Said petition was filed on May 24, 1963 and docketed as Case No. 63Co2862 in the County Court of Cook County. Said petition was filed by certain owners of property within the Palatine Rural Fire Protection District and sets forth a description of property sought to be detached and disconnected, a statement that the detachment and disconnection will not cause the territory remaining in the district to be noncontiguous; and that the loss of assessed valuation by reason of the disconnection of such territory will not impair the ability of the district to render fully adequate fire protection service to the territory remaining within the district; and alleging facts in support of such detachment and disconnection and praying that such property be detached and disconnected from such fire protection district. The property sought to be detached and disconnected from the Palatine Rural Fire Protection District is legally described as follows:

Those parts of Sections 7, 8, 17, 18, 19 and 20, Township 42 North, Range 11, East of the Third Principal Meridian described as follows:

Trustees Upgrade Project for 240 Homes

But Switch from O & R Criticized

Arlington Heights trustees were successful Monday in upgrading standards for a proposed development of 240 single-family homes mapped for an 80-acre tract of land at Buffalo Grove and Schoenbeck Roads.

They voted 4-1 to zone the area R-3 (8,750 square feet per lot) and to annex it to the village.

Voting "no" on the project was Trustee Eugene Schlickman, who reasoned the land should not be zoned for residential use because it was designated for office and research O&R development under the village's comprehensive zoning ordinance.

But Trustees Carl Mees, George Beacham and Norval Stephens said they felt it would be very difficult to tell Fideity Builders, Inc., Chicago, they must "sit and wait" for an undetermined length of time for a suitable office and research client to come along.

Village President John G. Woods agreed with the majority of the board members.

WHEN HAROLD Levine, attorney for Fidelity, first presented the subdivision's plan to the board May 20, he was told to re-work it so that a substantial number of its lots met the standards of R-2 (10,000 square feet per lot) zoning.

Levine returned Monday and reported company engineers proposed to make 42 to 47 per cent of the lots conform to R-2 standards. Trustees upped the R-2 percentage to 50 per cent. Levine did not protest.

In discussing the annexation and zoning of 20 acres immediately west of Fidelity's land, trustees heard Richard Lee, attorney for owners of the property, say he would soon be asking for permission to build one-story multiple dwellings on it.

"I'd say 'no' to that," Schlickman quickly responded.

"I agree. I'm opposed to any more multiple dwellings (apartments) in this village," Beacham said.

THE 20 ACRES were annexed and zoned at R-1, the highest possible residential classification.

Appearing at Monday's meeting was Mrs. William G. Harms Jr., 930 N. Mitchell Ave., who was recently appointed to the zoning board of appeals by Woods.

She shot a series of questions at Attorney Levine and objected vigorously to any zoning other than O&R for Fidelity's acreage.

"Doesn't action to rezone to R-3 really show that we don't support the O&R classification?" Mrs. Harms asked Woods.

"I think the O&R zoning ought to be given a chance to wo...

IN LISTING his objections to the R-3 zoning, Schlickman said:

"The property owner should be assuming the responsibility of helping Arlington Heights reach its objectives of upgraded development. I agree with Mrs. Harms tonight.

"Mr. Levine petitions for R-3 zoning with full knowledge that we intend this land to be used for office and research. We should time test the new zoning ordinance."

Mrs. Harms suggested Fidelity needed annexation to the village in order to gain municipal services which will be instrumental in selling homes.

"Yes, we are businessmen and desire to build in Arlington Heights," Levine commented.

Soldier Admits Break-Ins

A 22-year-old soldier stationed at 45th Artillery Brigade Headquarters in Arlington Heights has admitted two weekend break-ins here, police reported this week.

Charged with burglary and scheduled to appear in Police Magistrate Court is Bernard Dominguez, who told police he drank a pint of whiskey and a quantity of other alcohol Saturday night and then entered the Ark Pet Shop, 110 S. State Road, and Clip 'n Curl Beauty Salon, 108 S. State Road.

POLICE WERE led to Dominguez because he left a message at the beauty shop for a female acquaintance who works there. He recalled entering the stores, but did not remember leaving any messages, he said.

A screw driver and a wrench were missing from the stores after the break-ins.

An unknown person also entered Sauerland Florists, 417 S. State Road, and made off with $5 taken from a cash drawer. The burglary occurred Monday night.

Prospect History Student And Her Teacher Honored

A Prospect High School history instructor and one of his students shared the spotlight at the recent Illinois Student Historian Award Day.

The 15th annual award day was sponsored by the Illinois State Historical Society. Governor Otto Kerner presented the student awards to 26 top teenage historians of the state.

Named as a Student Historian of the Year was Barbara Koza, 16, a junior at Prospect High. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Koza, 406 N. Prospect Manor, Mount Prospect.

HER HISTORY teacher, Alex J. Schmidt, received the Hauberg Teacher Award as the Illinois History Teacher of the Year.

The student historians are selected each year on the basis of articles published during the school year in Illinois History Magazine.

Schmidt was selected as History Teacher of the Year for his work in promoting the study of Illinois history. The John H. Hauberg Memorial Award presented to Schmidt is given each year by the Rotary Club of Rock Island to the "teacher who has made the most significant contribution to Illinois history during the year." The award carries a $25 stipend.

GOV. OTTO KERNER presents a Student Historian of the Year Award to Barbara Koza, Prospect High School junior. Barbara was named one of 26 Illinois Student Historians on the basis of articles published in the Illinois History magazine. Barbara later shared the spotlight with her teacher, Alex J. Air - conditioned playing facilities are now being furnished to the Club at the First State Bank of Palatine.

Next fractional - master point game will be the Saturday game there.

DONOVAN C. Wachlin, Arlington Heights, will attend the Sequential Summer Institute for High School Teachers of Science and Mathematics at Kansas State Teachers College, Emporia, Kan. The institute is supported by the National Science Foundation. Wachlin, a Forest View High School faculty member, will further his graduate study in biology.

Scouts to Train At Chain o' Lakes

The annual Junior Leader Training course for Boy Scouts of the Blackhawk District starts tomorrow, Friday, at the Chain O' Lakes State Park and winds up Saturday evening after a concentrated 27 hours of training in the Scouting skills.

Again in charge of the program is Stewart M. Grant, 701 S. Mitchell, Arlington Heights, district vice chairman for training.

Grant will be assisted by a team of veteran Scout leaders including Edward J. Stein, Otis Johnson, Wayne Ehrhardt, Ted Larson, Val Namovicz, Joe Talaber, Robert Wald, David Kuh, Merrill Clark and Dennis Curry.

PURPOSE of the course, according to Grant, is to inspire and guide qualified Boy Scouts to be leaders in their respective troops. Properly trained junior leaders will mean a better troop program, he stated.

Signaling techniques, waterfront problems and a nature hike have been added to the training course for the first time this year. The tightly scheduled program will wind up with a campfire and discussion Saturday evening.

Those who complete the course will receive the coveted "JLT" patch for their uniforms.

Finalists Selected For Cotillion Ball

Eight young couples were named as finalists at the Junior Cotillion Cavalcade Ball May 19 at O'Hare Inn.

The finalists were selected from a field of 34 semi-finalist couples, all junior high school students from Arlington Heights and Palatine.

The dance competition, covering the waltz, fox trot, cha-cha, and jitterbug, was judged by five members of the Chicago Association of Dance Masters.

Winning couples were Leslie Dix and Brian Molitar, Arlington Heights; Paulette Berg and Gary Anderson, Arlington Heights; Bette Lou Otto and Harold Coughlin, Palatine; Linne Lindstrom and John Lister, grand seventh grade champions, Arlington Heights.

School Workers To Meet

Area school officials will be among more than 800 business managers, lunchroom workers, secretaries, custodians, bus drivers and bookkeepers gathering for a conference at Northern Illinois University June 19 and 20.

Members of the planning committee for the meeting, fifth annual school business management, maintenance and services conference sponsored by NIU, are J. C. Clemens, Elk Grove District 59 building and grounds superintendent; Kenneth Carroll, Palatine District 211 business manager, and James Bowen, Schaumburg District 54 business manager.

Panel participants for area conferences include transportation personnel—Lee A. Stahl, president of Illinois School Bus Co. and Cook County School Bus Co., which serves High School District 214; and bookkeepers and business managers — William Mann, Elk Grove District 59 business manager.

Church Guild Ends Successful Year

Final meeting for the year of the Women's Evening Guild of Our Redeemer Lutheran Church will be held tonight (Thursday) at 8 p. m. A guild spokesman advises that the Rolling Dollar Projects will continue through the summer even though no meetings are scheduled for July and August.

Devotions for the evening will be led by Mrs. Gerald Andrews while Pastor Herman Noll has selected as his topic "Where Will The King Find You?"

Newly elected officers to be installed by Pastor Noll include, for a two-year term, Mrs. Gerald Andrews as first vice-president, Mrs. Harvey Heyden as secretary, and Mrs. Stanley Bacon as a board member.

SECOND vice-president Mrs. Eugene Wiecek will be installed for a single year term to complete a vacated two-year tenure.

Other officers continuing on the second year of their terms include Mrs. Wilbert Thiele, president; Mrs. Arthur Herrmann, treasurer; and Mrs. Charles Stearns, board member.

Recent presidential committee appointments include the assignment of Mrs. Arthur Streccius to ways and means, Mrs. Herman Noll to be secretary of the Lutheran Women's Missionary League, Mrs. Aaron Best to the hospitality committee, Mrs. Al Griesch to the purchasing committee, and Mrs. H. Schoephoester to the committee on visitation and membership.

President Thiele, in reviewing the past year's activities, reported the group had enjoyed a successful year both in achieving its objectives through Christian endeavors and by broadening its membership.

NEW MEMBERS installed during the year included Mrs. Aaron Best, Mrs. Robert Crittendon, Mrs. Gene Fricke and Mrs. John Lucht of Wheeling; Mrs. Michael DeLuca, Mrs. Eugene Wiecek and Mrs. Harvey Heyden of Prospect Heights; Mrs. Stanley Bacon of Arlington Heights; and Mrs. H. Schoephoester of Buffalo Grove.

Program for the evening has been designated as "Fun Night" with hostesses Mrs. Charlotte Thorsen, Mrs. Wayne Zimmerman and Mrs. Henry Dietz scheduled to serve refreshments.

All guild members and other women of the congregation are invited to attend the program.

Prefer Balanced Budget to Tax Slash

Rumsfeld Poll Results Told

Voters in the 13th Congressional District would rather have Congress balance the budget than cut federal taxes this year, according to a poll taken by their representative, Republican Donald Rumsfeld.

Results of Rumsfeld's 1963 national issues poll, released today, indicate nearly 53 per cent of his 272,000 constituents are willing to wait for a tax cut.

And, 59 per cent prefer a balanced budget to a planned deficit, such as President John F. Kennedy's proposed deficit of $11.9 billion in a $99 billion budget; only 7 per cent indicated acceptance of Kennedy's proposal. However, 43 per cent would accept a smaller deficit if the budget were cut.

(Percentage figures do not total 100 because voters gave several responses on each question.)

SURVEY RESULTS were compiled from an estimated 14,500 questionnaires returned to Rumsfeld by district voters. The Congressman mailed out about 90,000 questionnaires — one for every third voter — and expects an eventual return of 19,000.

In response to other questions concerning federal fiscal policies, voters overwhelmingly supported reducing foreign aid as a means to cut the budget. Eighty-one per cent favored cutting foreign aid, 72 per cent agriculture, and 67 per cent domestic spending, while only 29 per cent approved reducing defense, military and space expnditures.

Current U.S. agricultural programs received a big "no" vote: 83 per cent said the government should not continue the present programs, scheduled to cost $6.4 billion in the 1964 fiscal year, up $.9 billion over 1963.

ON ANOTHER question, 69 per cent declared foreign aid programs for developing nations should be substantially reduced. Seventeen per cent said they should be discotinued completely, and only 10 per cent favored the President's $4.5 billion request.

The United Nations received a vote of confidence as a peacekeeping power; 65 per cent of the returns supported use of force by the U.N. in world trouble spots.

On other returns:

—77 per cent favored continued U.S. work on a test ban treaty with Russia, while 58 per cent disapproved unilatral steps to discontinue nuclear testing. Sixty-seven per cent hoped the spread of nuclear weapons to additional nations will be prevented.

—59 per cent opposed leaving Cuba Communistic if it poses no military threat to the United States; 75 per cent approved requesting multilateral economic restrictions on Cuba and 74 per cent favored denying foreign aid to nations trading with Cuba. Forty-four per cent supported a complete military blockade of Cuba, compared to 24 per cent for military action.

—73 per cent objected to U.S. diplomatic recognition of Communist China.

—74 PER CENT considered income tax deductions for higher education expenses the best means of federal aid to education; 51 per cent okayed federal scholarships for higher education. The vote went against federal aid for construction of schools: 55 per cent opposed aid for public primary and secondary construction, 73 per cent opposed aid for private primary and secondary and 53 per cent opposed college academic facilities.

—49 per cent approved some type of federal aid on medical expenses for persons over 65, but 26 per cent were undecided. The Bow Bill, permitting tax reductions up to $150 a year for private health insurance, received the most support, 42 per cent.

—34 per cent okayed permanent establishment of the Civil Rights Commission; 39 per cent were undecided.

—72 per cent favored development and improvements in urban mass transportation facilities by state and local governments and private enterprise over federal aid.

—89 PER CENT approved legislation requiring secret ballot of union members before strikes. Three-fourths of the voters turned thumbs down on a 35-hour week.

As indicated by their responses to questions, voters considered maintainence of strong military and nuclear deterrents as the number one problem facing the United States today. Balancing the budget was ranked second.

Others, according to order of importance listed by voters: Communist subversion in Latin America, unemployment, stopping the nuclear arms race, education, civil rights enforcement, and population explosion.

REP. RUMSFELD

Replies to Poll Back Tax Cut

WASHINGTON, (UPI) — Rep. Robert W. Kastenmeier, D-Wis., said Monday support for a tax cut and for a nuclear test-ban agreement was indicated among 4,000 replies to the 35,000 questionnaires he recently sent out.

The returns showed, he said:

Ninty-two per cent for a tax cut, with more than half of this group urging a corresponding cut in government spending.

Eighty-one per cent favored Senate ratification of a nuclear test-ban agreement if one is reached with Russia, and 61 per cent indicated a mutual, controlled disarmament still is a reasonable hope.

SEVENTY-SEVEN per cent believed United Nations action in the Congo givds hope that other such crises can be solved by an international police force.

Sixty-eight per cent disapproved of a federal fallout shelter program.

Fifty-five per cent objected to spending an estimated $40 billion to get a man on the moon first.

Kastenmeier said the questionnaire showed wide agreement among farmers and city dwellers in favor of "free enterprise" farming with no government support or regulation, in preference to the various support plans. (B8

Make Analysis of Area Cancer Cases

The Cancer Committee of Northwest Community Hospital has released the 1962 report of its Cancer Registery. It shows 375 patients have been registered in the past three years with 385 cancers. Niney-seven of the patients are known to have died.

The most common types of cancer were found to be breast (59), cervi (48), skin (43), uterus (28) and lung (27).

The cancer program of the hospital is registered and approved by the Committee on Cancer of the American College of Surgeons. The latter program is in cooperation with the American Cancer Society.

The Cancer Committee of the hospital consists of appointed physicians of the staff who conduct bi-monthly tumor board meetings. Individual physicians present tumor patients from the hospital to a panel which includes specialists in the various fields of medicine and surgery.

This panel then evaluates each case and makes recommendations related to the case and treatment of each patient. All of the physicians donate their time to make this service available.

Each case is then recorded in the Cancer Registry which classifies and endeavors to follow the course of each patient. These statistics are collected and published each year so that the incidence and results of therapy can be properly evaluated.

Helpful Tips Given To Rose Exhibitors

Hints from the American Rose Society may help exhibitors garner top prizes in the amateur rose growers' contest June 15 at Charles Klehm and Son Nursery.

The Society suggests that to be in best condition for judging, rose blooms should be cut the previous afternoon or before dawn the day of the show and their stems immersed in cold water until exhibiting time. The flowers should not be dampened, and most varieties should be less than half open when cut so they will reach best form for judging.

Roses which are cut several days before the show may be protected in one of two ways:

1) Cut in the evening, they should be immersed in water for 30 minutes to an hour, then removed from water, sealed in pliofilm bag and placed in refrigerator and removed just before show time.

2) Cut in early morning, they should be sealed in pliofilm after foliage is sprinkled and placed in refrigerator.

SINCE SIDE buds on tea roses, hybrid teas, and hybrid perpetuals and their climbing types will disqualify the entries, these varieties must be disbudded for exhibition. The Rose Society says the buds should be removed as soon as they are large enough to pinch out, because they leave very little scar if removed early.

Five-petalled single varieties of hybrid teas, grandifloras, floribundas, large-flowered climbers and ramblers are exhibited as naturally grown.

In grooming their roses, exhibitors may remove spray and dust residue from the foliage with a soft, dry cloth. Specks of dirt on the petals may be removed with a camel's hair brush.

EACH ENTRY should be tagged with the rose variety name. Exhibitors are requested to fill out one entry card for each specimen, group and arrangement, with name and address, variety, class number and section letter printed on both portions of the card.

Roses in the nursery's contest will be judged according to the American Rose Society System: form, 25 points; color, 25; substance, 20; stem and foliage, 20, and size, 10.

Best of show entry will receive a $100 Crimson King maple tree planted by Klehm's. Other prizes include rose program kits, a Colorado blue spruce, and rose starter kits.

The contest, open to all area rose growers, has no entry fee, and registration blanks may be obtained at Klehm's. (B8

Patio Planning

Patios can increase the family's summer fun, but analyze how to use the patio first, advises a University of Illinois landscaping specialist. Be sure it is large enough to accommodate family, friends and furniture and yet has a pleasant appearance and is in proportion to the house and lot.

2 shapes known the world over.

Nobody really notices Coke bottles or Volkswagens any more.

They're so well known, they blend in with the scenery.

It doesn't matter what the scenery is, either. You can walk in and buy a VW in any one of 136 countries.

And that takes in lots of scenery.

Deserts. Mountains. Hot places. Cold places.

Volkswagens thrive.

Hot and cold don't matter; the VW engine is air-cooled. It doesn't use water, so it can't freeze up or boil over.

And having the engine in the back makes all the difference when it comes to mud and sand and snow.

The weight is over the power wheels and so the traction is terrific.

VWs also get along so well wherever they are because the service is as good in Tasmania as it is in Toledo.

(The only reason you can't buy a VW at the North Pole is that the Volkswagen people won't sell you one. There's no VW service around the corner.)

We hear that it's possible to buy yourself a Coke at the North Pole, though.

Which makes us suspect there's only one thing that can get through ahead of a Volkswagen.

A Coke truck.

Says Most Rail Tax Disputes Are Settled

CHICAGO (UPI) — An official of the Chicago and North Western Railway said this week that more than 60 per cent of Illinois' 102 counties have settled a tax assessment dispute with the railroads.

Larry S. Provo, vice-president and comptroller for North Western, said such settlements will not result in any significant rise in real estate taxes.

"Statements to the effect that refunds to the railroads would cause a sharp boost in real estate taxes are simply not true and only result in needless confusion of the public," Provo said in a statement.

"In Cook County, for example, railroad assessments constitute only about two per cent of all assessments under present procedures, even though railroad property actually represents only about one per cent of the actual total valuation," he declared.

"It is this difference of about one per cent of the taxes which we are asking to be returned. The net effect on taxpayers in general would be minuscule."

The Illinois Supreme Court ruled in favor of the North Western last week in the railroad's suit against Macoupin County. The North Western and other railroads filed suits against several counties seeking property tax refunds on grounds railroad property was assessed at 100 per cent of full value while other property was assessed at about 50 per cent of full value.

"This is the third time in as many years that the Supreme Court has ruled in favor of the railroads on their claims," Provo said. "Since the high court first ruled on this matter, more than 60 per cent of Illinois counties have agreed to the claims of the railroads by settling identical cases." (B8

Kids Called for Summer Reading

Arlington Heights youngsters are invited to sign up for the summer reading club at Arlington Heights Memorial Library the week of June 17-22.

Registration will be at both the main library and Pioneer Park.

Designed to provide an incentive for individual reading, the program will end with souvenirs and a free movie at the Arlington Heights Theater Aug. 14 for youngsters who have read 10 or more books.

EDITH Lindsey, Arlington children's librarian, said youngsters in the reading club may select any books they wish in their age levels. After a child has finished a book, the title is recorded on his reading card.

Although reading club members are each given credit for just two books a week toward their goal, they may read as many books as they wish.

The summer reading program, started several years ago, attracts an estimated 500 grade school youngsters. They are encouraged by school officials to participate in the club as a means of maintaining their reading skills during the vacation months. (A

SUSIE SCOUT Says

Eleanor Rives — CLearbrook 5-2280

NORTHWEST ARLINGTON

A weekend camping trip May 18-19 was on the agenda for Troop 225. Apple River Canyon was the girls' destination when they left home at 6 a.m. Saturday evening they had a Council Fire-Court of Awards and skit. Sunday the entire group went to church in Galena, stayed on to sight-see and have lunch. Accompanying Troop 225 were the families of Frank Kieca, Dick Kalinski and Bob Johnson. Tired but happy, the campers arrived home Sunday at 9:30 p.m.

Mrs. R. A. Kunstman had instructed the girls in the art of coffee-can cookery at Deer Grove earlier in the month.

May 9, Troop 225 had a mother-daughter banquet in the VFW Hall, where the girls prepared and served beef stroganoff. Entertainment in the form of a play, "Cinder Riley," for which the girls made their own costumes, rounded out the evening. Citizenship badges were presented during the Court of Awards.

The last meeting of the year took place in troop leader, Mrs. Bob Johnson's, back yard as a combination wiener roast and sewing bee.

SOUTH PALATINE

In observance of May Day, second grade Brownie Troop 905 from Paddock School made May basket napkin favors for women of the Plum Grove Nursing Home. Brownies Pam Geddis, Lillis White, Kathy Gusewelle, Jan Jacobi and Cheryl Beiran delivered the pink lace basket favors May 1. The girls extended their troop's best wishes to all in the home. Mrs. Richard Lawrenz, leader, and Mrs. Robert Geddis, troop committee chairman, accompanied the girls.

May 7, this troop enjoyed an after-school outing at Deer Grove. After a hike in the woods, the girls cooked hamburgers on "buddy burners" which they had made for the occasion. These tin can stoves are each shared by two girls and the experience of making them and cooking on them was exciting for the Brownies.

Mrs. Geddis and Mrs. Robert Jacobi assisted Mrs. Kenneth Lucas and Mrs. Lawrenz. Mrs. Warren Buchanan helped with transportation.

ELK GROVE VILLAGE

May 26, Troop 860 had its Father-Daughter cookout at Busse Woods Forest Preserve. The girls built the fire, cooked the food, and served their dads. Highlight of the day was competitive games with father-daughter teamwork. Everyone agreed it was a most enjoyable day and that it would be nice to make it an annual affair.

SOUTH MOUNT PROSPECT

Using candleholders made for their Fly-up four years ago, the 14 eighth graders of Troop 464 concluded Intermediate Scouting with a party at the home of leader Mrs. Guy Courtney May 20. Proud mothers watched as Mrs. E. Gallup, district chairman, awarded the Scouts their Curved Bars. Mothers and girls presented Mrs. Courtney, who has led the troop the past five years, and Mrs. W. Broadbent, co-leader, with inscribed gold bracelets.

Special recognition was given to these nine girls who have been in Troop 464 since second grade Brownies: Barbara Broadbent, Gerry Clark, Susan Courtney, Janet Ewert, Sally Gaw, Linda Handley, Ginny Marshall, Edith Marble and Mary Beth Wendt.

Troop 703 invited parents to a Camp Pine cookout June 4. Each patrol demonstrated its cooking skill and gave a play. At the Court of Awards all girls received Second Class Rank. Melody Moldenhauer and Beth Sandberg received Needlecraft Badges; Terry Lederleitner, Adventurer and Child Care; Bridget Gallagher, Child Care; Cindy Cox, Campcraft; Roxanne Peterson and Cheryl Thomas, Interior Decorator.

Fourth graders of Troop 742, led by Mrs. S. Shaw, had a backyard cookout May 17 at co-leader Mrs. R. Peck's home. Each patrol cooked a different meat dish, helped with the rest of the menu and provided spur-of - the - moment centerpieces. These girls had their Fly-up ceremony May 28 with mothers as guests.

SOUTH ARLINGTON

May 20, Troop 355 taught knots to 12 Scouts from Troop 61. Mrs. D. Galloway and Mrs. K. Koeneke are Troop 355's leaders.

At a candlelight Fly-up ceremony May 25, 20 Brownies from Troops 108 and 95 "crossed the bridge" into Intermediate Girl Scouting. Officiating for the occasion were Mrs. I. Quackenbush and Mrs. G. Pierre of Troop 108 and Mrs. B. Maas and Mrs. R. Clarbour of Troop 95.

Troop 514 held a Court of Awards May 27 and Sports or Campcraft badges were earned by most of the Scouts. In addition, Pat Mather, Sandy Meinhardt, Lyn Whiting and Nancy Zalud received First Class Rank.

WHEELING

May 19, Senior Troop 609 helped move the Wheeling Public Library to its new quarters. Participating in this service project were Elvera Belpulsi, Jo Anne Esp, Karen Grandt, Karen Gross, Patti Hanson and Kathy Steffenson.

May 25, members of the troop met to make three banners advertising Wheeling Days. That night at Karen Grandt's home, the troop held a Mothers' Evening and showed the movies, "Follow Me, Girls" and "The Road to Button Bay." Mrs. Akio Kay, leader; Mrs. P. L. Denoyer; Mrs. Winifred Condon; and the girls' mothers attended. Homemade cake, punch and coffee were served.

NORTH MOUNT PROSPECT

Brownie Troop 370 had its Fly-up ceremony Friday at Fairview School. The following girls received wings and Girl Scout pins from their leaders, Mrs. T. Jahnke and Mrs. J. Gafford:

Judy Ardella, Kathryn Baley, Barbara Bobeng, Geralyn Bordon, Stacy Bryant, Stacey Bueschel, Barbara DeVito, Jennifer Edwards, Nancy Fleming, Sheryl Frank, Barbara Ann Gafford, Sandra Gobrecht, Cynthia Halas, Sherre Jahnke and Andrea Johnson.

Also Donna Lasse, Barbara Mann, Elizabeth McVeety, Amy Nelson, Joyce O'Brien, Renee Pignataro, Cherlyn Quanstrum, Kathryn Reimann, Denise Rinaldi, Margaret Rozhon, Susan Shea and Paula Wegner.

Troop 471 spent a windy May weekend at Happy Hollow planting evergreen seedlings which will later be transplanted to a treeless area on the site. Besides firebuilding and cooking, the Scouts worked on the Pioneer Badge. They are currently fulfilling requirements for either First Class or Curved Bar Rank.

HOFFMAN ESTATES - SCHAUMBURG

Mrs. Frank White of Schaumburg was recently named chairman for Hoffman Estates-Schaumburg neighborhood to fill an unexpired 2½-year term. For the past few years, she has been leader of Troop 649.

Troop organizers from various school areas are Mesdames R. Coffer, B. Brading, D. Spiering, C. Knapp, C. Schroeder, N. Levin, H. Roberts, D. L. Hayes and R. Miskoci. New troop consultants are the Mesdames B. Sorenson, P. Bond, R. Emberg, W. Butler, W. Molo, R. Cassidy, R. Linnell and M. Morse.

Mrs. R. Coffer assumed the job of corresponding secretary, Mrs. F. Mustari is recording secretary and Mrs. S. MacEachron serves as treasurer and publicity chairman.

Taking advantage of the holiday for an overnight at Camp Pine were Fairview Troops 800 and 661. Leaders Mrs. C. Knapp and Mrs. J. Callison accompanied fourth graders of 800; and Mrs. R. Emberg, Mrs. J. Cruikshank and Mrs. J. Zielinske, fifth graders of 661.

Troop 649 finished the season this week with a Mothers' Tea, prepared by the girls. It included awards, Cadette ceremony and investiture of a new Scout, Jean Kretz.

Postponed a week because of bad weather, fourth graders of Troop 339 held their cookout June 3 at Elk Grove Forest Preserve. (B9

Appoint Editors for 'Viewer' and 'Talon'

Two Forest View High School girls, both juniors, were named last week to head the school's student publications for the 1963-64 school year. Seventeen other juniors were appointed to top positions, also.

For "The Viewer," the school newspaper, Susan Smith will be next year's editor-in-chief. Susan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roland L. Smith, 905 S. School St., Mount Prospect. For the "Talon," the school yearbook, Joanne Freitag will be editor-in-chief next year. Joanne is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Freitag, 670 Bel Aire Lane, Mount Prospect.

In addition, Dot Gorski, a junior, has been appointed the director of the Student Information Bureau. This is a newly created position designed to provide student participation in the gathering and disseminating of news and features to the local press, radio, and television media. Dot, this year's feature editor of "The Viewer," is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Gorski, 1905 Connie Lane, Mount Prospect.

THE OTHER students, all one-year veterans of student publications work, are as follows:

"The Viewer": news co-editors — George Peknik, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Peknik, 506 Oakton Road, Elk Grove Village; Pat Tansey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Arlington Holds 54th Commencement Friday

467 Students in Graduating Class

Friday night, June 7, is graduation night at Arlington High School.

To the traditional strains of "Pomp and Circumstance" 467 students will march into the school auditorium as senior students and march out as young men and women bound for college, work, marriage or the armed services.

Speakers at the 54th annual commencement will be 1963 class members Daniel Ross Bedford, Janine Kathlyn Carlson and Jay Lawrence Lemke. The three class speakers will be introduced by Frederick E. Ball, class president.

The class will be presented to the Board of Education by Harold L. Slichenmyer, superintendent of High School District 214. The acceptance of the graduates and the response to the presentation will be given by John A. Haas, school board president.

PRINCIPAL Bruno W. Waara and Asst. Principal W. John Rowe will announce the graduates' names, with the presentation of diplomas made by Haas and Mrs. Gerald M. Chapman, school board secretary.

The invocation will be given by the Rev. W. Rowland Koch of the Congregational Church of Arlington Heights. Music for the program will feature the Senior Choir singing "No Man Is an Island" by Wickstrom and "Beautiful Savior" by Christiansen. Dr. Robert B. Wolff will act as choir director and organist.

The pre-commencement baccalaureate program was held last Sunday in the school auditorium.

The invocation and benediction were given by Rev. George W. Kincheloe, associate minister, First Presbyterian Church of Arlington Heights. The choir, directed by Dr. Wolff, sang "Eternal Life" by Duncan and "The Lord's Prayer" by Malotte.

PRINCIPAL speaker at the baccalaureate program was the Rev. Don L. Jones, of the Christian Church of Arlington Heights. His topic was "A Trilogy for Tomorrow." The Rev. Mr. Jones cited the trilogy for students to follow as Integrity, Compassion and Responsibility.

Four students share honors as class valedictorians. They are Nancy Katherine Bohac, Jan Elizabeth Ferry, Charles Harold King Jr. and Jane Ann Oldenburg. The four all maintained a straight "A" average for the four years of high school study.

Class salutatorian is Rosemary Florence Rodgers.

Other class leaders are Daniel Ross Bedford, Student Council President; Susan Ann Coliani and Laurel Lynn Grey, co-editors of the Cardinal school newspaper; and Susan Margaret Carlisle and Kathryn Hall Curtis, co-editors of The Heights, school yearbook.

Given an award for activities was Daniel Ross Bedford. Bedford acted as Student Council President in his senior year. Cited for school spirit among boys was Peter Hudson Vaughn, while Margo Mary Hauff was named as the girl with the most school spirit. (AEK

29 Seniors Earn Prospect Honors

Twenty-nine seniors who will be graduated from Prospect High School tonight were cited for outstanding work in academics and activities at an honor assembly last week.

Ellen Maeda of Arlington Heights, named as one of three valedictorians with Carol Baeder, Prospect Heights, and Susan Williams, Arlington Heights, also earned honors in English. Other English awards went to Jill Haas and Patricia Wieland, both of Prospect Heights.

A salutatorian, Ceinwen Klepper of Prospect Heights, was named for her work in forensics and language. Co-salutatorian is Richard Kulka, Mount Prospect. Other forensics honors were shared by James Hardt, Mount Prospect, and Richard Jorgensen, Arlington Heights, debate; and Jenny Joern, Mount Prospect, individual events.

DOUBLE award winners were Judy Junkunc, Mount Prospect, for her work in instrumental music and as editor of the student yearbook, and Shirley VonBergen, Prospect Heights, business education and homemaking.

Modern Etiquette

Q. Is it proper to send greeting cards, such as anniversary or birthday cards, to friends who are in mourning?

A. If the sentiment is appropriate, yes. If the words express a thought of friendly sympathy or good wishes, it would be all right, but not if the message is gay or humorous.

Curb on Sunday Sales Goes to House

Senate Passes It, 36 to 20

From UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Legislation involving retail sales on Sunday and discrimination in housing featured this week's action in Springfield.

A measure that would ban most retail sales on Sunday was passed by the Illinois Senate after debate in which Senators praised it as an act to protect the "little people" and denounced it as unconstitutional and "silly."

The vote for passage was 36-20. The bill now goes to the House where a similar Sunday closing measure is scheduled for committee hearing this week.

Many downstate merchants backed the bill because of what they termed "unfair" competition by discount stores and other outlets that stay open on Sundays in suburban areas.

Opponents of the bill pointed out that the state Supreme Court declared a Sunday closing bill for automobile dealers unconstitutional because it was discriminatory.

IN THE HOUSE, a measure that would prohibit discrimination against persons seeking to lease or rent homes was defeated. Rep. Cecil Partee, D-Chicago, postponed consideration of the bill — thus keeping it alive — when he received only 67 of the 89 votes needed for passage.

Partee said "This bill does not force anybody to accept anybody else except using the same standards and criteria with which they would judge anybody else. A lot of people think of themselves as second class citizens because of discrimination that this bill would eliminate."

Monday the Senate rejected a motion to turn down an unfavorable committee report on bills that would increase the taxes on winning bets at state thoroughbred horse and harness racing tracks.

THE SENATE also voted down a motion to discharge a committee from considering a bill that would create a commission to study public utilities regulation.

Sen. Paul Simon, D-Troy, pointed out that Illinois had one of the lowest taxes on horse racing in the nation. He said additional revenue that could be gained by the proposed two-and-a-half per cent increase would go to finance another proposal that would increase the state aid formula to public schools from $252 to $297 a year.

An attempt in the Senate to overturn an unfavorable committee action on a bill that would prohibit the hiring of strikebreakers was beaten back. The vote was 24-1 with the measure failing to get the required majority because most Republicans did not vote.

A measure to allow the state to impose a flat two per cent income tax — to alleviate present sales and property taxes — was advanced to the passage stage.

IN OTHER business this week, a group of four bills requested by Chicago Mayor Richard Daley allowing cities to raise taxes on cigarettes, alcoholic beverages and boosting the sales tax was introduced in the Illinois House.

Another measure to place a trial ban on the death penalty in Illinois failed to get enough votes for passage in the Senate.

A bill to raise the pay of all state elected officers was introduced in the House. The measure would hike the salary of the Governor from $30,000 to $40,000 a year. It would boost the salaries of all legislators from $6,000 to $9,000 a year.

Gov. Otto Kerner Tuesday signed into law a series of bills which create a department of children and family services to take over some functions now handled by other state agencies and departments.

THE LEGISLATORS set aside the June 1 deadline to enable the introduction of bills, some of which would:

—Provide penalties for violations of local vehicle weight limitations.

—Reappropriate from the universities building fund to the Chicago medical center campus. (A-14

Camp Fire Girls Begin Summer Programs

The advent of summer heralds the annual resumption of a vital phase in the program of Camp Fire Girls, Inc., that of outdoor camping. To make such an activity accessible to all Chicago area girls engaged in the Camp Fire movement, the organization sponsors a day camp program, the most extensive of which is the one undertaken by the Arlington Heights District.

Chairman of the district camping committee this year is Mrs. Bruce Graham of Arlington Heights.

Day camping for the Arlington Heights District has an 8-year-history, with present participation including girls from the neighboring suburbs of Rolling Meadows and Hoffman Estates. The anticipated enrollment of 450 girls for the week of June 18-21 reflects the growth of Camp Fire in the northwest area with an increase of more than 15 per cent over last year's totals of 175 Blue Birds and 214 Camp Fire Girls.

"AT HOME IN the Woods" is the theme for the camp which will be held in Busse Woods. The group will meet at a centrally-located school where the girls and their guardians and assisting mothers will board a chartered bus to reach the campsite.

Among the scheduled activities for the Blue Birds are outdoor games and nature study under the direction of Naturalist Charles J. McCann of the Forest Preserve District. There will be also dance instructors in costume to teach the rudiments of Indian dancing.

Junior counselors during the four damping days are the Okiciyapi group of Our Lady of the Wayside and South Junior High Schools, the Ta-cin-ca group from Miner and South Junior High Schools and the group from Schaumburg Junior High School with their guardians, Mesdames Louis M. Schomburg, Richard Platt and Robert F. Wills.

Another feature of the day camp is a baby-sitting program for the younger children of the camp helpers.

FOLLOWING the Blue Birds' camping experience will be a similar program for the Camp Fire Girls. Among their activities will be handicrafts projects, outdoor crafts and first aid instruction. In addition, award-winning artist Heddi Vlasek of Mount Prospect will offer a course in sketching.

Camp Fire staff helpers are Mrs. Edward Finneran, Mrs. Clyde Ferry, Miss Martha Burris, Mrs. E. F. Conway, Mrs. Richard Bergstrom, Mrs. John N. Pedersen, Mrs. E. J. Lorenz, Mrs. Robert Pedersen and Mrs. Robert Wills. Staff registrars are Mrs. Roy Thompson and Mrs. Howard Rudings.

A council fire marks the close of day camp activities with a program prepared by fifth grade Camp Fire Girls from Park School, the Snah-da-yo-kis, under the guardianship of Mrs. Harold Purvine. (B9

8th Grade Graduation Dropped

MARION, ILL., (UPI)—A compromise of sorts has settled a break with tradition in the Marion school system.

An announcement by the school board that graduation exercises for eighth grade students and the awarding of diplomas would be dispensed with for economy and other reasons brought a protest from some parents.

About 25 parents showed up for the meeting of the Marion Unit School Board last week. Mrs. Leland Soldner, Marion, told the board that some students cried when they learned there would be no graduation and no diplomas.

SCHOOL BOARD member Ray B. Harris said elimination of the graduation exercises would mean a savings of $400 to the school system.

However, the board agreed to present a certificate showing completion of eight grades of school work to any student whose parents request one.

There still will be no diplomas and no graduation. (A-14

Fewer Jobs Beckon High School Grads

Skills Needed To Get a Job

Job opportunities for the high school graduating senior with some vocational or business training are not very bright, a talk with high school counselors reveal. The girl graduate with shorthand and typing is eagerly sought out, however, said Ray Miller, senior guidance counselor at Palatine High School.

"We're always looking for technical people," said William Stenstrom, employment manager at the Pure Co., 200 E. Golf Road, Palatine. And lack of this technical skill seems to be the problem for the high school boy going out into the job market.

None of the area schools has any type of placement service for their graduating seniors. "Most go out and dig for jobs," said John Turnbull, guidance counselor at Arlington High School who works with vocational students. Shop and mechanical training is not enough for the high schooler; additional training is usually needed, said Turnbull.

Turnbull suggested an area-wide high school placement service for graduating seniors would be beneficial. Now most high schools simply tack notices on the bulletin board if a company notifies them of job openings.

Few companies do any kind of recruitment at the high school level. The Pure Oil Co., which sends a representative to test and interview clerical and secretarial applicants, seems to be the exception.

MOST OF THE high schools, such as Palatine, Arlington Heights, York, and Lake Park, set their college bound students figures at 60 to 65 per cent. About 30 per cent of the students then are ready to job hunt come June.

York High School in Elmhurst uses contacts with industry and companies to help its students find jobs, said John Sohne, senior boys counselor. However, the school has had few requests for jobs from the students, Sohne added.

The number of openings for high school graduates seems to be holding even with last year or be slightly better, most company personnel people said

"WE'RE ALWAYS looking for secretaries but we're not hiring as many out of high school," said Stenstrom. Pure Oil is cutting down general office employment and not replacing many who leave. About 10 high school girls will be employed this year in contrast to about 20 to 22 last year, said Stenstrom.

The girls will be started by filling in as summer replacements. "Turnover is down so we're looking for the cream of the crop," said Stenstrom, who does secretarial recruiting at Palatine, Arlington, and Lake Park high schools.

"The field is always open for qualified people," said William O'May, personnel manager of Flick Reedy Co. in Bensenville. In the Northwest Suburban Area Manufacturers Association, company representatives express need for office type personnel. For fellows out of high school the opportunity is more limited, said O'May. Flick-Reedy is hiring about 10 to 15 graduates, O'May estimated.

FLEXONICS Division in Bartlett has no openings in the office and few factory openings though a company representative said "we're always accepting applications."

A spokesman from Sola Electric of Elk Grove Village indicates the job situation this year is better but it is hiring only three to four girls to fill clerical, stenographic, or typist positions. Sola hires from Arlington, Prospect and Fenton High Schools. About six to eight will be hired in the factory section, the representative said.

Eimco of Palatine is not hiring, a spokesman said

For the high school boy, job hunting this year will entail a lot of pounding the pavements to land a job in Chicago.

Modern Etiquette

Q. Please name foods that may be eaten at the table with the fingers?

A. Corn on the cob, olives, radishes, potato chips, celery, steamed clams, shoestring potatoes, artichokes (the fork is used to eat the center or heart of this vegetable); all forms of bread except spoon bread may be picked up—it is almost impossible to eat them in any other way.

MOUNT PROSPECT

Mount Prospect District of Camp Fire Girls presented 19 national awards for memory books at their Grand Council Fire May 26 at Prospect High School.

Girls receiving the awards were Jeanne Brandeau, Pam Konstant, Kathleen Haeike, Sarah Nave, Vicki Granzin, Linda Biermann, Janis Calek, Gail Wille, Janet Hasse, Barbara Bonham, Jean Schroeder, Kathy Weight, Jane Denne, Jane Beesley, Lori Have, Kris Granzin, Patty Haedike, Charlotte Rateike and Barbara Daich.

Also presented were the two Bertha Ehard Campership Awards to Diane Schultz and Mary Newsoom for the best themes on what Camp Fire means to them. These girls were also judged for the contribution both to Camp Fire and their community. Congratulations, girls.

Three individual Torch Bearer Awards in Horsemanship were given to Kay Winkelman, Debra Colossimo and Janice Reek. These were presented by the guest speaker, Mrs. Richard McMahon, who has been active and interested in Camp Fire for many years.

THE TO LE Lo Si Camp Fire Group, under the leadership of Mrs. Ruth Perkins, did an Indian Ceremonial Dance in full costume with Billy Wiener as their captured tiger. Marsha Bjornseth, Karen Byrkardt, Pamela Carlson, Diane King, Gale Janvzik, Pat Perkins, Becky Wallies and Kathy Wiener were the performers.

At the Grand Council Fire 105 girls took the rank of Trail Seekers, 98 girls took the rank of Wood Gatherers, 42 took the rank of Fire Makers, 46 girls took group Torch Bearers and 51 girls flew up to Junior-Hi-Camp Fire.

Council Fire was conducted by Mrs. George Hansen, assisted by Mrs. Donald Jaacks and Mrs. William Eilbracht. Mrs. Roland Becker was pianist.

A mock Day Camp was held May 23 with all Camp Fire and Blue Bird leaders participating. This preview will help assure some 600 girls of a delightful three days in the woods.

The Angel Bluebirds elected Ellen Schoenberg, president; Linda Bantz, vice president; Janice Ibbotson, secretary, and Roberta Syers, treasurer

Mrs. Langpop's Camp Fire group went on a hike through the forest preserve.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

Consistent with past performances, the Camp Fire Girls organization was well represented at the Memorial Day Parade in Arlington Heights.

The next date of significance on the calendar for Blue Birds and Camp Fire Girls is June 9, the date of the Grand Council Fire.

Song rehearsals will be held May 23 and June 6 at Pioneer Park at 3:30 p.m. Rehearsal for the Council Fire will be June 8 at 9 a.m. in the Arlington High School girl's gymnasium, and the Grand Council Fire will be held in the Arlington High School girl's gymnasium at 3 p.m. Sunday, June 9. Each girl is to bring a flashlight with a rubber band around it.

The Ta Cin Ca Junior High Camp Fire Group has completed all requirements for their Torch Bearer Rank. In addition to marching in the parade on Memorial Day, the group enjoyed a progressive outdoor picnic.

The day began with breakfast in Ellen Brogden's yard at 8:15 a.m. Dinner was prepared at Ellen Olsen's home and cooked and eaten on Rosemary Saidikowski's back porch. After dessert in Diane Oldenburg's back yard, the group participated in a council fire.

Day Camp will again be in Busse Woods Forest Preserve. Dates June 18 and 19 are for the Blue Birds and June 20 and 21 for Camp Fire Girls. June 12 is the deadline date set for turning in permission slips and day camp fees.

Camping chairman, Mrs. Katie Graham, has prepared a letter of instruction, which will be distributed to each girl. Arrangements have been made to hold Day Camp at South Junior High School if the weatherman does not co-operate.

HOFFMAN ESTATES

Six Blue Birds with homemade puppets brought to life an allegorical story for children by Algonquin author, Ryerson Johnson.

The 50 fellow Blue Birds, mothers and friends who filled a meeting room in the Hoffman Estates Village Hall May 28 noted first the striking backdrop, created by the girls with some parental assistance, depicting wind blown palm trees and a black cave.

As group guardian, Mrs. Delburt Allison narrated the story, and the six animal characters made their appearances one-by-one, prompted by assistant, Mrs. Charles Orlen. First to appear was the elephant animated by Kathy Allison; then the lion, Debbie Lewandowski; the giraffe, Susan Aquino; the snake, Madonna Kempf; the crocodile, Carol Orlen and the monkey, Cindy Weinberg.

"The Monkey and the Wild, Wild Wind" tells of different animals viewing each other with suspicion because of their differences and the playful monkey who tries to break down the prejudices As the storm threatens them, the animals learn that the very qualities that caused them to hate each other were, in the end, the means of saving their lives.

Today's Agriculture

By ROBERT E. HOOD, Ass't. Farm Adviser

TOWN AND COUNTRY 4-H'ERS ENJOY GARDEN PROJECT: Since the early 1900's 4-H boys and girls have watched the miracle of growth and enjoyed the bounty of nature through their garden projects. Hundreds of young horticulturists in town and country are literally knee-deep caring for their gardens, lawns, shrubs and trees.

Tested seeds, proven methods and latest scientific information for growing health plants are at the disposal of the 4-H Club members enrolled in the garden program.

Beginners in the 10-12 year group may start right off by doing simple scientific experiments in seed germination. They also collect and identify weeds and insects.

Soil testing, plant study and experimentation with plant varieties are undertaken by older groups. The senior members, usually ranging in age from 15 to 21, continue with scientific exploration and become skilled at judging and demonstration.

Garden produce contributes one of the basic foods to family meals, while ornamental gardening beautifies the home for the enjoyment of all. Many 4-H'ers report cash profits from the sale of vegetables and flowers at roadside stands and local markets.

HAVE SWEET CORN ALL SUMMER: If there were times last year when you were swamped with corn from your home garden and yet other weeks went by with none at all, here's how you can have high-quality sweet corn all through the season. Select varieties that mature at different dates or try succession planting. By combining the two techniques, you can spread maturity time even more.

If you do not have your copy of "Illinois Garden Guide" we suggest that you write the University of Illinois Extension Office, 201 N. Dunton Ave., Arlington Heights, Illinois for your free copy.

HARRY RUSSELL CITED FOR SUPERIOR SERVICE: Harry G. Russell, University of Illinois livestock extension specialist, was honored for Superior Service by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

In an awards ceremony in the Sylvan Theatre on the Washington Monument Grounds, Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson delivered the address and Secretary of Agriculture, Orville L. Freeman, presented the awards.

Russell was cited "for distinctive contributions to progress of the Illinois and Nation's Livestock Industry through teaching and presentation of programs widely accepted by producers."

We are proud to have one of our specialists receive this high award. It is well deserved as many people in the livestock business know.

Suburban Publishers Visit L.A. and Dallas

Regional development of the Suburban Press Foundation was discussed in Los Angeles and Dallas the third week of May when officers of the Foundation visited those cities.

Making the trip with Chester K. Hayes of 605 N. Chestnut Ave., Arlington Heights, Foundation executive director, were Robert Y. Paddock of Paddock Publications Inc., Foundation president; W. E. Williams, Star Publications, Chicago Heights, Foundation vice-president; Charles M. Lambert of Harvey Tribune Publications, Harvey, Foundation treasurer; and Paul Averill, Birmingham (Mich.) Eccentric, a director of the Foundation.

Playing host in Los Angeles May 20-22 was Oran W. Asa of Northeast Los Angeles Publishing Co.

Foundation officials toured the plants of the Palos Verdes News, newspaper of Rotary International's president-elect, Carl P. Miller; Rodgers and McDonald Publications, where the West Coast edition of the New York Times is printed; Van Nuys News and Green Sheet, probably the largest suburban newspaper operation in the country, and Asa's own plant.

FUTURE DEVELOPMENT of the Foundation was the subject of a dinner session on May 21 attended by some 20 Los Angeles area suburban publishers.

A slide presentation by President Paddock summarized development of the Foundation to date and future plans.

A joint discussion covered such publishing areas as production costs, business controls, distribution and editorial operations.

ON MAY 23 in Dallas the Foundation visitors toured the plants of the Daily News at Garland and Bill Bradfield's Texas Mesquiter at Mesquite.

A luncheon meeting with 19 suburban publishers from the Dallas-Fort Worth areas, at which Foundation member Bradfield was host, followed the tour. Again purposes and goals of the Foundation were discussed.

Included on the agenda were details of the Foundation's second annual "Suburban Homemaker of the Year Award" program scheduled for next fall.

The membership roster of the Foundation now includes some 130 newspapers with a combined circulation of approximately one million. (A14

Christian Scientists Choose Mrs. Bauman

Mrs. Helen Wood Bauman this week became the new president of the Christian Science Church.

Her appointment was announced in Boston before several thousand members assembled for their annual meeting at their world headquarters in The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist.

Mrs. Bauman is editor of the denomination's religious periodicals and will continue in that position while filling the one-year term as president.

She first began her service to the church as an organist in St. Joseph, Mo., after studying music for a number of years in Boston and London. Since then, she has served in many capacities, including teacher and practitioner of Christian Science.

Sanitation, spraying and baits are the constituents of a three-step barn-fly control program, according to a University of Illinois entomologist.

17 Area Motorists Lose Driving Rights

Four area residents have had their driving privileges revoked and 13 had them suspended, according to the weekly report issued by Secretary of State Charles Carpentier.

In addition, seven others whose licenses were suspended earlier have been granted probationary driving permits.

Licenses were revoked for four men convicted of driving while intoxicated: Alfred G. Anderson, 55 W. Johnson St., and Frank I. Olsen, 950 S. Benton, Palatine; Kenneth W. Bowsher, 174 Edgemont Lane, Roselle, and Edward M. Kasper, 2802 St. James St., Rolling Meadows.

LICENSES were suspended after three violations for Richard H. Arden, 4103 Wren Lane, Rolling Meadows; William F. Betke of 1332 S. Brockway, Robert E. Dean of Box 459 and James R. Dickinson of 272 E. Kirchoff Road, Palatine; Carol M. Cabrera, 308 S. Emerson St., Mount Prospect; Edward L. Meyers, 1016 N. Salem Ave., and William R. Slonecker, 2809 St. James, Arlington Heights; Herman P. Tiritilli, 1047 Carswell Ave., Elk Grove Village; William G. Zimmer, 1714 Wood Lane, Prospect Heights; Wilbur R. Kramer, 7N388 Briarag, Medinah; James R. Nelson, Rt. 1, Addison; Jose J. Ruiz, 17W145 Irving, Wood Dale, and Richart A. Willett, 320 E. Center St. Itasca.

Probationary permits have been issued to Thomas Abinanti Jr., 2506 Park St., Rolling Meadows; Irving C. Everett, 7 McCabe Drive, and Daniel L. Sullivan of 501 Country Lane, Streamwood; Bruce W. Lowery, 318 Cheryl Lane, Palatine; Morris McBride, 2608 N. Cornell Road, Arlington Heights; Wayne N. Mundall, 166 Jamison, Roselle; and Gordon Sappenfield Jr., 512 N. Lincoln Ave., Addison. (A14

Duplicate Bridge Play at Randhurst

Duplicate bridge play began this week at Randhurst Shopping Center.

The games, held in the air conditioned meeting rooms in the center's concourse area, are open to the public.

Jack Martin, 1337 N. Chicago, Arlington Heights, and Edwin O. Ray, 357 Cheryl, Palatine, direct the Wednesday night group, which meets weekly at 8 p.m.

Claire Blackwell, 518 S. Dryden, Arlington Heights, directs the group meeting 11 a.m. each Thursday.

THE DIRECTORS encourage bridge players who have never played duplicate to "give it a try."

MARTIN SAID the groups are planning many special games, including an Open Pairs club championship trophy game in June and a novel Knockout Team of four game in July.

The directors point out that a player need not have a partner, for partnerships can be arranged at the game.

Further information can be had by calling Martin, CL 5-0264. (A-14

16 Years Attendance

FAYETTE, IOWA, (UPI)—Paul Keith Weber of Glenview, Ill., has completed 16 years of perfect attendance at school.

Upper Iowa University officials said today that Weber, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Weber, 701 Forest Road, Glenview, had a perfect attendance record in elementary and high school according to available records.

During his four years at Upper Iowa, he never missed a class either intentionally or through illness, they said.

INSIDE RANDHURST

City, Center Are Similar

By BARBARA ANN DAVIS

A shopping center is an unusual place, to say the least. Take Randhurst, for example. It's just like living in a small city.

We have a board of directors just like a village board . . . we have a council, a merchants' association, a sanitation department, engineers, a water department, an electrical power plant, gardeners, a police chief with a uniformed police department, police dogs, police car and a short wave radio station. We don't have our own fire department. The Mount Prospect Fire Department, one of the finest in the world as far as we are concerned, protects us.

If you didn't like to go outside and walk in the rain once in a while, you could spend every day in complete air-conditioned comfort. There would be no need to go out for anything. Everything you would ever need is on hand at Randhurst. Food, clothing and entertainment—all under one roof. Someone said that this is all fine, but what would you do at night? Where would you sleep? Well, up until a few weeks ago this could have been a problem. Now, however, I'd be completely comfortable in the apartment. What apartment? The one located between Claire Hats and Kresges in the Pear Lane. That's right. There is a full size apartment completely furnished right inside Randhurst! So you see, I could be comfortable year-round . . . except, I like to walk in the rain once in a while.

DAVIS

By the way, I want to mention the excellent works displayed by the Industrial Education department of district 214—Prospect, Arlington and Forest View High Schools—in our Orange Lane this past week. The exhibit located next to Lyon & Healy included a handmade guitar, a chapel model for all faiths, a lake-view and country home model, a radio telescope, two pieces of furniture to complement any room in the home plus many outstanding architectural renderings. The ribbons displayed were awards won at the district and state contests held at Northern Illinois, the Illinois Institute of Technology and Western Illinois Universities. The state awards represent some of the best work submitted by students enrolled in the Industrial Education course in the state of Illinois.

We at Randhurst are always pleased to cooperate with the local students in displaying their achievements. Who said the teenagers are going wrong?

Now that we're on the subject of teenagers, commencing June 10 in our Town Hall, young ladies from age 10 through 21 have an opportunity to sew their way to big prizes by enrolling in the Singer Young Stylemaker Contest Sewing Course. You don't need to own or buy a sewing machine to enter—you can win even though you've never sewn before. You can have fun all summer long—learn to sew and perhaps win one or more of over 4,000 prizes. There is still time to fill out an entry blank!

Try to make it to Randhurst this Saturday around 11 a. m. The Palatine Northwest Community Band, whose history goes back to 1875, will be on hand to serenade you and your family.

I missed a few of my friends at the Randhurst Bridge Club last night in our meeting room. You know, it's not necessary to bring a partner. Just come alone! Jack Martin and Edwin Ray, sponsors of this club, are more than happy to give the inexperienced players in duplicate bridge a hand. How nice it would be to join in the ladies bridge game tomorrow at 11 a. m. Unfortunately, my lunch hour can not be extended to 3 p. m.

Salvation Army to Hold 25th Tag Day Tomorrow

Doughnuts — the paper tag variety — will be plentiful throughout the Chicago area on Friday, June 7, as the city and surrounding suburbs join the Salvation Army in celebrating the silver anniversary of "Doughnut Day" as an area-wide event.

From 6 a.m. to 4 p.m. some 12,000 warm-hearted volunteer taggers from all walks of life will accept contributions from the public and reward the givers with the little doughnut-shaped tags that have become famous as symbols of kindness. . .and The Salvation Army. The goal of this year's drive is $190,000.

Sharing in the celebration marking the anniversary is Mrs. Henry D. Paschen, 345 Fullerton Pkwy., general chairman of the drive for the 25th consecutive year and the only general chairman the area-wide drive has ever known.

Serving as her principal executive assistants are Mrs. Earl O. Ehrhardt, 194 S. Hawthorne ave., Elmhurst, suburban chairman, and three area chairmen: Mrs. J. Irving Oberstad, 5636 N. Kolmar ave., north; Mrs. Edward T. Skoglund, 9648 Vanderpoel ave., south, and Mrs. George Daniel, 1523 Hollywood ave., central. In addition to this group there are nine regional chairmen for the city of Chicago proper, and a community chairman for each suburb.

SINCE 1939 when "Doughnut Day" became an area-wide tag day, some 38,500 volunteer taggers have sold 22,500,000 tags and collected $2,475,369 to help the needy and distressed. Mrs. Paschen pointed out that if the goal is reached this year, the "Doughnut Day" taggers in 25 years will have raised the equivalent of a year's budget for the Salvation Army's social service program in the Chicago area.

During the past year some 170,000 persons were helped without reference to color or religion.

This aid included a home and hospital for unmarried mothers and their babies, a fresh air vacation camp for children, mothers and golden agers, a day nursery, a homemaker service, a dental clinic, family welfare service, a settlement house, youth programs, relief and rehabilitation for physically and emotionally handicapped men, a missing persons service, emergency canteen service at major fires and other disasters, emergency food and shelter to persons temporarily distressed, visits with patients in hospitals and nursing homes, and many other services.

"DOUGHNUT DAY" is one of five tag days approved by the City Council of Chicago. All the suburban communities where "Doughnut Day" will be held also have given official approval.

In all communities where Salvation Army Service Units are organized, 20 per cent of the funds raised in the local "Doughnut Day" drives will remain with the community residents serving as local treasurers for The Salvation Army. These funds will be available for emergencies or disasters in the communities, and to finance unduplicated programs of heallth care or other service. (A-14

Suspend Drivers' Licenses

Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier last week announced the issuance of 15 drivers license suspensions and eight probationary permits to area residents.

Receiving license suspensions were Don Behrens, 7321 Plainview Drive, Des Plaines; John C. Anderson, 202 E. Highland, Mount Prospect; Clifford Block, 702 N. Vail, Arlington Heights; Allan Dow, 529 Banbury Road, Arlington Heights; William Hannon, 1431 Cora Street, Des Plaines.

Peace Corps Test Set for Saturday

The final Peace Corps placement test before this summer's many new Peace Corps projects get under way will be given Saturday, June 8.

Interested citizens who are at least 18 years old may take the test at 8:30 a.m. at the Evanston post office or the U. S. Customhouse, 610 S. Canal St., Chicago.

PEACE Corps Director Sargent Shriver has announced new projects open to Americans with any of dozens of varied skills.

Nurses and medical technologists, teachers of English, math, science or many other subjects, coaches, farmers, home economists, engineers and geologists, mechanics and construction workers are among those needed.

Those interested in applying for two years' Peace Corps service in Asia, Africa or Latin America may obtain a Peace Corps questionnaire (application) from their local post office. The completed questionnaire should be mailed to Washington in advance of the June 8 test, or turned in at the time the test is taken.

Square Dance News

Summer Dancing - Some Aren't

All regularly scheduled square dance club activity is over for the first half of the 1963 season, and your club news columnist will take a summer breather too. Since there will be some "extra-curricular" dances in the coming months, two summertime columns are tentatively planned to keep dancers from being completely newsless.

The next column will be in the Fourth of July issue, coming out the day before the holiday, and club publicity chairmen will please note that news for that issue must be in a full week before the holiday in order to meet an early deadline. A second summertime column is planned for the Aug. 1 issue. A complete schedule of summer dancing will appear in each column, and dance enthusiasts are reminded to clip them for easy reference during the newsless weeks of June, July and August.

BUCK AND DOES

Saturday night is Jamboree time for this Elk Grove club and everyone is invited to come to the calls of club regular Bob Lewis and his Jamboree coworkers, Ronnie Smith of Watseka, Earl Thompson of Racine and Russ Bone of Kankakee.

The boys will square 'em up at 8 p.m. in Higgins School, Touhy and Higgins, Elk Grove, and dancing will be until 11 o'clock. Tickets will be available at the door.

The Jamboree, eighth annual one of the Bucks and Does, is also the last night of dancing for this club until they resume the 1963 schedule in September.

ARLINGTON SQUARES

From this Arlington bunch comes the following cryptic note: "Several culprits of the Arlington Squares were apprehended May 29 in out-of-season dancing activity—nine couples stole the Banner of the Bustle Bumpers Square Dance Club of Chicago. Art Matthews, caller of the unfortunate club, demanded that justice be done."

"The Banner will be displayed and the nine couples will be permitted to wear a "thief badge" at the first dance of the Arlington Squares in September."

SQUARES FOR FUN

The easy-does-it gang from Wood Dale will dance in June, too, because dancing is too much fun to stop. Everyone whose club has quit for the summer is invited to come on out to Highland School on N. Wood Dale Road if they're hungry for a relaxed evening of comfortable-level dancing. Nice 'n easy caller, Bob Lewis, will "square 'em up" at 8 o'clock Friday night, June 14. Everybody come!

TRIANGLER

A "Trail Dance" in the mall of Randhurst Shopping Center in Mount Prospect will be held June 18 from 9 p.m. until midnight. Bob Luebbe will be m.c.-host to callers en route from the east and southeast to the National Square Dance Convention in St. Paul. Some of the nation's top callers will be stopping off and Luebbe estimates a 50-square crowd in the mall that night. Everybody is welcome.

The last of the season's indoor dancing at Randhurst is slated for Saturday, June 29, and whether it's hot or cold outside it will be a cool, danceable 72 degrees in the mall, a trio of the area's favorite callers, Bob Lewis, Bob Kim and Jim Stewart, will keep the crowd swingin' until 10:30. All area enthusiasts will want to help wind up a most successful "dancing in the mall" season.

A repeat of last summer's under-the-stars dance on the blacktop at Randhurst is scheduled for Saturday, Aug. 17. This big event will feature Wally and Maxine Schultz of Janesville, Wis., Jim Smith of Brookfield and the locally well-known Jim Stewart of Des Plaines, plus round dance leaders Carl and Marie Peterson of La Grange.

TRI-CLUB

Arlington Squares, Palatine Squares and Swingin' Squares of Arlington Heights recently met to pool their time and efforts to further interest in square dancing and mutually sponsor a program of summer dancing.

Members of all three clubs will participate in the Fourth of July parade in Arlington Heights this year, and a committee is working on a square dance float for the event.

Tri - Club - sponsored summer dancing will be in the parking lot of the Coach Lite Inn in Rolling Meadows on seven Saturday nights, beginning July 6 and ending Aug. 24. Dancing will begin at 8 o'clock and end at 11. Remember the dates: July 6-13-20-27 and August 3-10-24.

MUSIC BOX SQUARES

Maintaining a regular summer schedule are the Music Box Squares who meet the first and third Wednesday evenings of each month at 8 o'clock. "Tib" Tibbetts, who organized this newest of area clubs and is its caller, says the crowds are getting bigger every week and he invites all members of summer-danceless clubs to join the gang in the Music Box. The ballroom is on Lake Street (Route 20), 1½ miles east of Route 53, just west of Addison. "Acoustics are excellent," says Tibbetts, "and there is a fine square dancers' floor." (A-14

214 Board Recognizes Teachers' Association

While Gary schoolteachers marched in picket lines to win recognition, teachers in High School District 214 achieved the same result without a sign of friction.

School board members unanimously approved a resolution recognizing the non-union Teachers' Association of District 214 and acknowledging it as a voice of the faculty. Membership in the association stands at 84 per cent of the total staff.

The meeting between the Teachers' Association spokesmen and the Board of Education was detailed, frank and sometimes cautious, but both sides were obviously eager to cooperate and establish a working relationship which would benefit the district and the teachers.

DISTRICT 214 worked out details for recognition of a teachers association in a friendly atmosphere marked with some touches of humor and laughter, but Gary school teachers "closed shop." The teachers cut off a day's schooling for their pupils over the issue being won by teachers at Arlington, Prospect and Forest View High Schools. Main issue in the Gary controversy was refusal of the school board to recognize the teachers' union as a representative of the teachers.

District 214 board members expressed some concern over the implications of the word "recognize." Before adopting the resolution board members sought the advice of their attorney, who gave a "go ahead" on the proposed wording.

IN BRINGING their request for formal recognition to the board, the teachers followed a carefully prepared format. Ed Fisher, chairman of District 214 art departments and newly-elected president, gave board members a copy of the constitution and bylaws of the group. Four purposes are listed in the documents:

1) To engage in cooperative undertakings for the common benefit of the members;

2) To promote pleasant personal relations among the group and to foster professional and ethical relationships on a high level;

3) To promote active participation in the programs of the Illinois Education Association (IEA) and the National Education Association (NEA) and to cooperate with other groups that have educational objectives;

4) To promote and protect the interests of the faculty in those matters with which the group is vitally concerned, such as teacher welfare, salary, tenure and retirement.

THE CONSTITUTION states the District 214 association "will affiliate with the NEA and IEA." To further stress the teachers' leanings toward the professional non-union NEA, the constitution states, "We shall not affiliate with any local, state or national union organization."

The association presentation before the school board included a discussion on the orientation and legislative activities by Mrs. Marjorie Olson, secretary. Other governing board members explained the work of other association standing committees—membership, Fred Vaisvil; salary, Al Umberger, and public relations, Don Williams.

Williams pointed out the work which had been done to provide funds for the family of John McGaughey while he was hospitalized. A District 214 teacher, McGaughey was provided sufficient funds to sustain his family throughout his illness by the money-raising efforts of the association and faculty contributions.

THE ASSOCIATION'S work for teachers' educational and professional standards (TEPS) was discussed by Ron Sims. Sims told board members a code of ethics for teachers is under study by the TEPS committee. Through the governing board, the TEPS committee can handle teacher problems and in so doing help to improve the profession from within, Sims said.

Recognition of a teachers' association as a spokesman for the high school teachers may set a pattern for other local school faculties to follow.

During the NEA convention last year strong platforms were adopted urging formation of individual school-district associations to deal locally with teacher problems and to upgrade educational standards and facilities. The push for local NEA organizations gained momentum when New York City teachers rejected their NEA affiliation and joined the American Federation of Teachers.

Promotion and aid in organizing individual district teacher associations by the NEA-IEA has started a growing trend in the northwest suburban area. Mount Prospect teachers this week formed an association.

TEACHERS' associations are organized or partially organized in Arlington Heights, Elk Grove, Schaumburg, Palatine-Rolling Meadows, Des Plaines and Park Ridge schools. Some are NEA-IEA affiliated now— others are expected to affiliate with the NEA in the future.

Teachers are prohibited from striking by the NEA, which calls such action "unprofessional." To give support to teachers' associations which may have to deal with recalcitrant school boards, the NEA has pledged its support in investigating local school conditions and providing "sanctions."

Sanctions may include the publicizing of poor teaching conditions in a district among present teachers and among students at teacher-training colleges to keep new teachers away from the unsatisfactory area.

The NEA also will urge other school districts to give preference to hiring of teachers who do not renew contracts with a problem district. This has the effect of leaving the school board without a teaching staff until corrections are made.

Russell Elected President

John W. Russell, 628 Bristol Lane, Arlington Heights, was elected president of the Chicago Chapter, Society of Real Estate Appraisers at the annual meeting on May 28, for the 1963-64 term. Russell is vice president of Bell Savings & Loan Association, whose appraisal department he joined in 1941. His election to lead the more than 600 members of the professional society in the metropolitan area culminates 10 years of service on committees and the board of directors.

JOHN W. RUSSELL

The appraisal society holds educational meetings on the fourth Tuesday of each month from September through May. Committee reports on technical subjects comprise a major part of the organization's activities.

Televiso Announces Expansion

Televiso Electronics, Wheeling, a division of Doughboy Industries, pioneers in the development of ground - to - air aids to navigation, today announced plans to expand into the aerospace field.

H. D. Von Jenef, Vice President of the division, said the company is prepared to use part of its facilities for the development and manufacture of a new line of aerospace products.

At the outset, Von Jenef explained, the company would concentrate on ground support equipment for missiles and this would include display and other equipment to handle some of the control and communication requirements of both the guided and manned missiles moving through outer space.

Other units, he said, would be designed for check out and testing before the missiles are ready to fly.

Televiso, which is now a prime contractor selling equipment to the Federal Aviation Agency, the Department of Defense and to foreign governments, would serve as a subcontractor in the aerospace field. (BB

But Latest One Is Approved, 4-2

"The board of education newsletter is missing its communications purpose by a wide margin. It is my opinion that the school district's present public relations system is completely inadequate."

This statement was made in a report given May 29 at an adjourned meeting of the District 25 School Board by board member Charles Bennett.

Bennett's opinion was based on a self-conducted parent survey concerning the newsletters distributed by the school district. Of the 279 persons he contacted, Bennett said, 41 remembered receiving the last letter, 11 remembered reading the first page, and three remembered what was on the page.

NINE PERSONS emphatically denied receiving any letter at all, Bennett told the board.

He further contended that the letter currently up for board approval is "confusing, of questionable accuracy, and deals with matters the board has neither considered nor acted upon."

Bennett concluded his report with a motion to table action on the current letter and to establish a committee to look into the board's public relations system.

IN RESPONSE to Bennett's report, Supt. Ralph E. Clabaugh reminded the board that it had selected the newsletter system last fall and that he was merely carrying out the board's recommendation.

To Bennett's charge of "bad public relations," Clabaugh asserted, "We've got to inform residents of our problems as well as our virtues. We're not advertisers; we've got to tell the truth."

Further supporting the board letters, Clabaugh added, "I'm not to judge if the system is good or bad, but we haven't lost a tax referendum yet.

"THE LETTERS certainly have solved more problems than they've caused."

Board president Joseph Faner suggested that Bennett should have surveyed the board members, as well as the parents, concerning the contents of the last letter.

Clabaugh, who composed the letter, said that he, for one, did not remember what was in it.

BOARD member Harold Sortor pointed out, "If just the PTA members and other school leaders read the letters and get things rolling, that's all that counts."

Clabaugh closed the discussion on Bennett's motion by asking, "Is the board qualified to do public relations work? That would be sort of like doing our own legal work."

Bennett's motion was defeated 4-2. Voting "yes" were Bennett and George Harris. "No" votes were cast by Faner, Sortor, Victor Myer and Ralph McGee.

The board then voted to reevaluate the district's public relations system before the board's first September meeting. (A

FATHER JOHN M. LANE of St. James Roman Catholic Church presents the Msgr. Stier Trophy to Ed Keegan, sponsor of the Key Plumbing Bowling Team, during ceremonies at a recent banquet sponsored at Old Orchard Country Club by the bowling leagues of the church's Holy Name Society. The trophy is awarded in honor of the late Rt. Rev. Msgr. George J. Stier, who was pastor of the church from 1935 until his death earlier this year. Keegan will be custodian of the traveling trophy for one year. It is to be awarded annually to the winner of the society's early and late leagues. (A

Letter Suggests Higher Tax Rate

The possibility of increasing the school tax rate in Arlington Heights School District 25 will be duscussed in the board of education's June newsletter to parents.

The letter was approved at an adjourned session of the District 25 School Board, May 29.

An increase in the maximum educational rate is suggested on the grounds that the present rate, $1.25 per child, has remained constant since 1957, while teachers salaries and school costs have increased.

THE BOARD did not indicate to what extent it wanted the rate raised. The statutory limit in Illinois is $1.60.

The letter points out that many neighboring school districts have rates of $1.40, some even $1.60, the state maximum.

"District 25 is barely keeping pace with teachers' salaries, as compared with other suburban school systems," the letter indicates.

The letter, also covering enrollment growth, building plans, and new student summer registration, was approved after a verbal dispute over the efficiency of the board's public relations system. (A ARLINGTON HEIGHTS Fire Chief Harvey Carothers prepares to start the hydraulic hoist as fireman John Hayden mounts the ladder on the Arlington Heights Fire Department's new $52,000 aerial ladder-pumper truck. The equipment, purchased last month, was given its first public demonstration last Thursday in downtown Arlington Heights following the Memorial Day parade. (A

Hollander Elected By Jaycees

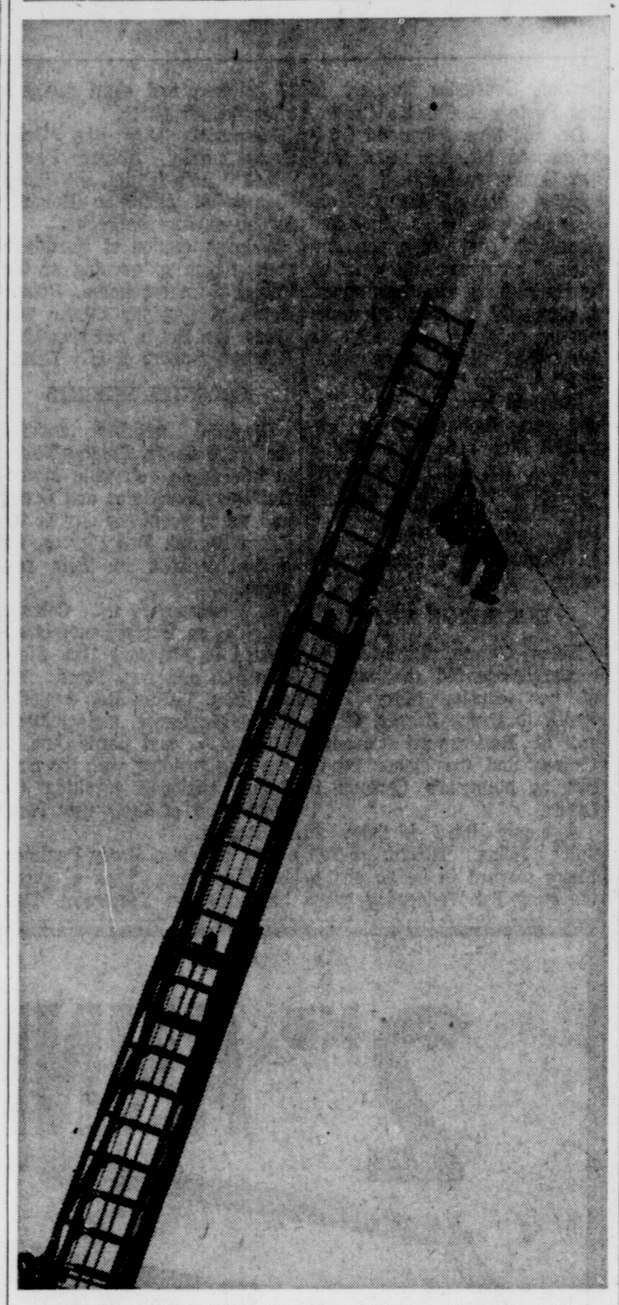
Richard L. Hollander, 1726 Linden, Des Plaines, recently was elected president of the Chicago Junior Association of Commerce and Industry. Hollander, employed by the Allstate Insurance Co., will take office July 1.

Hollander has been a member of the Chicago Jaycees since 1958. He currently is executive vice president of the organization.

P. Douglas Lattner, 602 N. Wille, Mount Prospect, was elected a director of the chapter. An Illinois Bell Telephone Co. engineer, Lattner has been in the Jaycees two years.

The Jaycees also elected 19 other directors, an executive vice president, five vice presidents, a secretary and a treasurer. The organization is made up of more than 900 young men aged 21-35 who handle some 120 youth, educational and civic improvement projects throughout the year.

Hollander hailed the work the Jaycees have done during the past year. He called for a continued emphasis on increasing the group's membership and a more positive activation program. (BB



VOUNTEER FIREMAN Ed Emery swings from the top of the ladder, 75 feet in the air, on a sky genie, rope device used for rescue work. The piece Emery hangs onto as he descends is adjusted so a rescuer's descent may be controlled by himself or by firemen on either the ladder or the ground.

GIVING THE GO-AHEAD to men at the controls, Arlington fireman oJhn Hayden is set to shoot into the air on the fire department's new aerial ladder. Fully extended, the ladder reaches 100 feet; both its angle and direction are smoothly adjusted by hydraulic controls, and it can rotate a full circle. More than 10 stories high, the aerial ladder's advantage over ground ladders is that firemen can create a "water towei" over the top of burning buildings. The truck pumps 1,000 gallons of water a minute, and both the fireman and the hose can be belted in at the top of the ladder to allow for free play of the water stream. The weight of the ladder and hose is supported on the ground by side-rigger jacks under the sides and front of the truck. An intercom between controls and top permits communication between ladder and ground forces. (A

Forest View News

With children in the house, one won't need a reminder, but school lets out for the summer vacation on June 7. Expect the children to come running home with their report cards at 10:30 a.m.

.. FOREST VIEW SECTION ..

After completing her junior year at Quincy College, Sharon Luczak is home for the summer. South Arlington Heights Road is a welcome sight to her after her exams.

Jim Larson, son of the Don Larsons, W. Algonquin Road, received his Eagle Award in scouting at a special court of honor at Main School in Franklin Park on May 27. The Court of Honor was attended by the Parents Club of Troop and Explorer Post 150, plus the board members of groups. Presenting the award, was Clifford Peterson, executive commissioner of the Leyden District, Thatcher Woods Council.

Saturday evening the Don Larsons entertained the Frank Kozlowiczs of Franklin Park and Earnest Baughman of Winston Park.

The Otto Gorgius family, Busse Road, had as Sunday night guests Mariann House and her fiance, Keith Fleckenstein of Chicago.

LAKE BRIARWOOD SECTION

Friday night it was almost like the Pied Piper of Hamlin at Lake Briarwood, as many of the ladies left for a neighboring community to play cards at a benefit card party for the Alexian Brothers Hospital. Herta Holfeld came home with an artificial flower arrangement; Dori Di Lucchio with 20 pounds of soap powder; Romaine Speigler with perfume and Lorretta Guziec with a man's barbecue apron.

Also attending were Toni Scaramella, Peg Teske, Jean Zimmerman, Lorraine Fern, Florence Johnson, Jeanne Loeschen, Rita Nallian, Terry Dendor, Georgette Dunker, Jo Des Parte and Georgia Osner.

Dr. and Mrs. Raymond Guziec invited Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Dunker to be their guests Sunday night at the Officers Club at Great Lakes. They had dinner and enjoyed a performance of a minstrel show put on by the officers and their wives. A sample of the night's humor: "If an athlete gets athlete's foot, what does an astronaut get?" Answer: "Mistletoe."

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Rice and son, Richard, spent Memorial Day with Mrs. Rice's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arvid Wahlborg of Park Ridge, at the Ridgemoor Country Club. A lavish buffet dinner was served followed by a family gathering.

ELK RIDGE VILLA

Helen Gawne, Birch Drive, recently attended the wedding of her cousin, Mary Ellen Wulff, to Bruce Frazer, Chicago, at Ravenswood Covenant Church and the dinner reception at Mangam's Chateau in Lyons.

A happy third birthday to Sally Heinz, Robert Drive. There seemed to be no end to the guest list Wednesday, when 17 children and eight mothers attended her party.

Memorial Day the John Heinz family, Robert Drive, joined John's family, the Jacob Heinzes of Arlington Heights, for an outdoor barbecue.

COLONIAL HEIGHTS

Beautiful weather assisted the Wade Gales, Estates Drive, in having an enjoyable Memorial Day. The Gales and Gregg and Terry spent the day at the Glenn Ryans', Des Plaines, for a first cookout in their new home.

A welcome to Colonial Heights, on Rusty Lane, is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Steve Gagliano and son, Frank. Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Ra, daughter of the Gaglianos, and children, Michael, 4, and Lorna Ann, 2, are also residing with the Gaglianos, anxiously awaiting the completion of their new home in Roselle.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Pagluica, Martha Lane, had a picnic barbecue on Memorial Day, entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ferraro, Chicago, the John Longs and Bob Wunars of Martha Lane and the Ken Livingstons of Mount Prospect.

THURSDAY evening Mr. and Mrs. Bob Bastian, Chicago, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. August Neitzel, Martha Lane.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cameron, Martha Lane, entertained Mr. and Mrs. E. Guertin, Westchester, with a barbecue and a strenuous game of volleyball.

It was a family get-together on Memorial Day for the Bruce Douglases, Martha Lane, with a picnic at Fox River Grove.

Denise and Jeffrey Lowe, children of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lowe, Martha Lane, spent an afternoon with the Dick Knippels, Estates Drive hovering over a backyard picnic. Thursday the Lowes had Mr. and Mrs. Tom Dyrda and children of Schiller Park over for a cookout. (AME

Road-e-o Plans Move Forward

Progress on the Jaycee-sponsored Teenage Safe Driving Road-e-o, scheduled for the end of June, continued this week as final arrangements for the project were being completed.

An announcement concerning the driving clinic was issued to Arlington High School students Tuesday, according to Road-e-o chairman Dave Augsburger.

Augsburger also announced that two new Ford automobiles have been donated for testing use.

Judges for the contest, slated to appear this week, will appear in next week's Herald.

The Road-e-o competition will consist of a written examination, June 22, at Arlington High School and a driving test, June 30, at the Westgate Park and Shop.

THE TOP 25 scorers on the written exam will compete in a behind-the-wheel competition at the shopping center June 30.

Winner of the contest will compete July 18 in the state contest in Park Ridge.

The state winner will receive a paid trip to Washington D. C. where he will compete in the national finals.

The goals of the Road-e-o are to give teenagers a chance to improve their driving ability and to promote interest in high school driver education courses, according to national Road-e-o headquarters. (A

New Youth Group To Sponsor Dance

The recently organized Arlington Heights Youth Organization will sponsor a dance Friday, June 14, to preview its planned recreation center program for high school age residents of the Arlington Heights Park District.

Plans for the teen dance, which will also celebrate the opening of the youth group's new club rooms in Recreation Park Fieldhouse, were laid at a board of directors meeting May 28.

Board members agreed to the theme "Carnival Craze" for the informal affair and decided upon Bermuda shorts as appropriate attire. The youth organization's program committee informed the directors of its plans for an evening of dancing, free refreshments, a unique floor show and other surprises.

A nominal admission charge will be made to raise funds for summer membership promotions. Dance time is 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Chuck Bobinette, who is serving as president of the organization's first board of directors, expressed the hope that a large number of high school age residents, including incoming freshmen, will attend and learn about the new recreation center facilities and program first hand.

READING OF proposed by-laws drawn up by the by-laws committee shared the agenda of the May 28 meeting. With only minor changes the by-laws were approved as prepared by the committee, which included the four officers and committee adviser Mrs. Roger Ericson, as well as adult advisors assigned to the officers.

At the suggestion of student director George Wilcox, a preamble explaining the purpose of the youth organization and its recreation program was composed by the directors.

A portion of this purpose according to secretary, Pat Musial, reads: "The good will, advantages and opportunities generated by this corporation are intended to advance the members to be future conscientious citizens in a country of advanced ideals."

Membership in the youth center organization, under the sponsorship of the Arlington Heights Park District, Junior Woman's Club and other community organzations and individuals, will go on sale in the park district offices later in the summer.

Cost of year 'round memberships and other details will be explained to teenagers attending the June 14 dance. (A

DE Students Host Employers' Dinner

A "thank you" with deeds as well as words came to a group of local merchants from the members of the distributive education (DE) program at High School District 214.

The students paid the whole tab for an employer-employee dinner at Old Orchard Country Club last week.

Highlight of the appreciation program was a discussion of the opportunities in the field of retailing by Michael Karsch, vice-president of Maurice L. Rothschild & Co.

EACH STUDENT introduced his employer and guests. Mistress of ceremonies was Jacqueline Pohlman, Arlington High senior who received the outstanding distributive education award. Another award went to Susan Horn. Student awards were presented by Harold L. Slichenmyer, superintendent of District 214.

The DE program provides high school credit for class work in merchandising and retailing and credit (and remuneration) for on-the-job training in retail stores. Counselor for the DE program is Richard Seibel.

The stores participating in the 1962-63 DE program were The Fair, Carson Pirie Scott & Company, Weiboldt's, Maurice L. Rothschild & Company, Chandler's Shoes, Kresge and the Jewel food store—all of Randhurst Shopping Center.

AT MOUNT Prospect Plaza cooperating stores included Goldblatt's, Jack's Men's Shop and Woolworth's. Other stores were the Jewel food store, Mount Prospect; Woolworth's in The Shopping Center, Rolling Meadows; National Tea Company, Westgate and Arlington Heights; North Shore Rambler, Wheeling, and the A & P food stores in Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect.

Second in State Tennis Headlines Arlington Year

Card Teams Boast State Qualifiers in 6 Sports

(This is the first in a series of articles presenting the highlights of the 1962-63 athletic year at the four area schools. In the next three weeks the athletic programs at Prospect, St. Viator, and Forest View High Schools will be reviewed.)

by BOB FRISK

Never has Arlington High been so well represented in the annual series of state tournaments as it was in the 1962-63 school year.

It's possible to send representatives to nine state tourneys in a school year. Only football is without its state champion.

Arlington landed state slots in six sports in 1962-63. Cardinal teams won two district championships. Chuck Close and Russ Walters won the state doubles title in tennis, and soph Reid Olson ruled the state gymnasts on the still rings.

IT WAS OL' reliable tennis, however, that stole the show again. The Cardinals' varsity squad posted an impressive second place finish in the state competition, just two points behind champion New Trier.

On a conference level tennis and baseball gave Arlington its top varsity slots with both units finishing in second place. The baseball team had to share the runner-up position with Downers Grove.

The Cards finished in the first division in four of the eight sports recognized by the West Suburban Conference.

ARLINGTON High launched the 1962-63 school year with sub-par campaigns in both football and cross country although the gridders ended on a solid note, blanking York 14-0, in the Dad's Day finale.

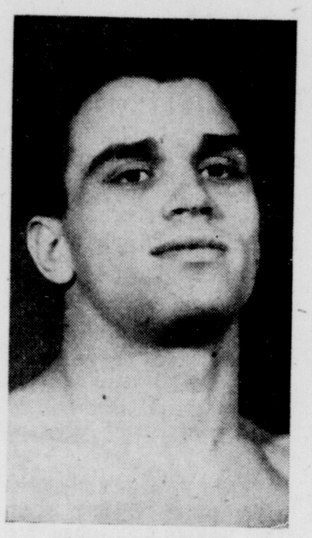
"Bus" Ormsbee's final Arlington football team registered a 2-5-1 over-all record and finished seventh in the league. The Cards opened with a victory over East Leyden, closed with the win over York, and tossed in a tie with Riverside-Brookfield in the six games inbetween.

Halfback Ken Layden put on a one-man show in the statistics department for the second straight year. He finished with 403 yards rushing, 30 yards passing, 131 yards on pass receptions, and 24 total points, all club bests.

Arlington failed to land a position on the all-conference team.

IN CROSS country the Cards were 1-8 in duals and finished eighth in the league run on a varsity level. Chuck Close, who was trying cross country for the first time as a Cardinal, paced the locals in the varsity meet with a 25th place finish.

GARY BRODNAN



HAL SELLECK

CHUCK CLOSE

DOUG RICE

Soph John Brunner was Arlington's first man across the line in the district test as he posted a 12th. The Cardinals placed ninth in this one.

Basketball had its up-and-downs to put it mildly. When Norm Patberg's Cards were on, they were rough. But they had trouble staying "on" and finished with a 12-10 standard.

HIGHLIGHTING the season were triumphs over both Riverside-Brookfield and York, co-champions in the West Suburban Conference. The Cards hammered R-B 72-46 with one of their finest showings in recent years and slipped past York 65-63 in the conference windup.

Arlington finished fifth in the league with a 7-7 standard.

Chuck Close and Gary Brodnan (who else?) paced the squad in scoring with Brodnan earning all-conference honors. Close bagged 399 points in the balanced Arlington attack, and Brodnan chipped in with 273.

Close concluded his high school basketball career with 856 points, an Arlington High record.

Arlington bowed out in the semi-finals of the regional.

HAL SELLECK'S impressive third place finish in the state finals (there will always be a feeling this rugged senior could have grabbed the top prize) highlighted a fine wrestling season.

Arlington picked up 12 points in the state finals and had three entries — Selleck, Terry Witt, and Bob Clark.

Coached by Julius Fliehler who took over when ill health forced Bob Emmons to the sidelines, the Cardinals finished third in the West Suburban and sported two all-league selections in Selleck (180) and Jim Varnado (112).

A NEW COACH guided the varsity gymnastics team with Tom Walthouse directing his Cardinals to a second in the district and tenth in the state.

Arlington's 20 points in the state competition came from sophs Reid Olson and Gary Holveck who although failing to win district crowns came through in the pressure-packed finals.

Olson topped the still rings, and Holveck finished second on the trampoline.

SENIOR Doug Rice brought home Arlington's and District 214's first point in state swimming competition when he placed sixth in the 440-yard freestyle. Rice qualified for the state finals in two events.

Ken Brown, Arlington's other state qualifier, failed to place in the 400 yard breast stroke.

Arlington was 2-6 in duals with vicstories over Elgin and West Leyden.

As far as the headliners in a banner spring campaign, everybody got into the act!

TRACK had its record-setting Robin Auld and Bill Truax; golf had its district championship and conference medalist; baseball had its second place finish and six-game winning streak; and tennis . . . well, that's a good place to start.

Coach Ken Schaller saw his varsity netmen rack up 18 victories in the 22 dual meets, finish second in both the conference and the state, and show a state doubles crown and conference singles title.

Close, capping a fine senior year, and Walters, the squad's most valuable performer, combined talents to breeze to the state doubles title, giving Arlington its first tennis championship in history.

Jim Jakubiec, a junior who has been on the varsity for three years, ruled second singles in the West Suburban Conference.

ONLY LOSSES on the Cards' dual meet ledger were to state champion New Trier twice, Evanston, and Hinsdale. Arlington did handle Evanston earlier in the season, 5-0, giving the locals their first victory in history over the Wildkits.

Arlington only put one new mark into the track record book, but that was a nifty 4:27.4 mile by senior Robin Auld. Auld took over seven seconds off the mark established just last spring by Jim Hendricks.

Bill Truax, a junior, earned All-State honors in track following a spectacular season. Truax entered 12 meets outdoors. He won eleven and set records in both the Palatine Relays and Hinsdale Relays. He finished sixth in the state finals.

RUSS ATTIS' Cards sent six trackmen to the state finals: Truax in the discus, Auld and soph Brunner in the mile run, soph John Jamison in the 220 yard dash, junior Jeff Hoy in the high jump, and senior Dan Bedford in the high hurdles.

Bob Baker's varsity baseball team boasted one skein of six straight wins, fiinshed 9-7-1 over-all, and 8-5-1 in the league for second place.

Seniors Ken Layden and Rog Lindstrom earned all-conference honors with Layden fashioning a .405 average in league play. Ken hit .385 for the season.

iLndstrom posted a .300 season mark and .313 West Suburban standard. He slapped out four home runs and drove in 18 runs in 17 games.

Juniors Paul Splittorff and Steve Martin headed the mound staff with junior Dave Christensen serving as a capable third starter. This trio combined for eight of the squad's nine wins.

COACH GARY Clendenny took his first Arlington golf team to the state tournament with the Cardinal linksmen tying Maine West for district honors.

KICKIN' IT AROUND

THE STORY GREW WITH THE years, how the tear-stained boy rushed up to Joe Jackson, one of the convicted White Sox fixers of the 1919 World Series and sobbed: "Say it ain't so Joe," while Jackson looked the other way.

Now there's a new twist to this story prompted by the recent football scandals (Saturday Evening Post style and the National Football League.)

Charlie Gillespie of the Memphis Commercial-Appeal reveals the lament of today's youngsters:

"Say it ain't so Joe, Bear, Wally, Paul, and Alex."

Charlie also adds that a Memphis manufacturer is boxing up a new pro football uniform set for the younger generation. It includes a nose guard, cleated shoes, and $5,000 in unmarked play money. The deluxe set includes a year's subscription to the morning line.

THERE'S A PREP IN Auburndale, Wis. who is drawing considerable attention from the Universities of Minnesota and Wisconsin, but major league scouts may grab him before he ever reaches a college campus.

Mickey Vandehey is only 16, but stands 6-2 and weighs 200. In football he was an all-state quarterback last fall.

In baseball the big youngster recently produced his tenth no-hitter. Last summer in American Legion play he once hurled 32 consecutive hitless innings.

He was working on an 11th no-hitter when someone cracked, "You could beat those guys left-handed." So he tried it after four innings — and lost his no-hitter when an opponent got a hit in the sixth off his left-handed delivery!

GALESBURG MAY HAVE TO go the "Alton Route" next spring if it wants to defend its newly-won state high school golf championship.

The "Alton Route" is with outside help. Alton won the state track championship this spring thanks to interested townsfolk. The track team was backed by funds raised through public subscription after the school district was caught in a budgetary squeeze.

Galesburg reportedly is curtailing athletics and golf will go from the budget. Four out of the five scorers for the Streaks in the title drive are underclassmen and Galesburg was looking forward to another banner season in 1964.

IF THEY GAVE OUT such things, the West Suburban Conference award for "athletic achievement" in the 1962-63 school year probably would go to Glenn Wirtanen of Downers Grove who made all-conference in football, basketball, and baseball.

Other leading candidates would be Bill Zillman of Hinsdale, an all-league halfback in football and conference champ in both dashes in track; Will Radell of Downers Grove, all-state in football and all-conference in wrestling; Jim Gustafson of Downers Grove, all-conference in both football and wrestling; Fred Barofsky of LaGrange, all-state in football and all-conference in baseball; Al Koranda of Hinsdale, all league in both football and baseball; Harry Bohn of LaGrange, all-conference in both basketball and baseball; and Jimmy Dawson of York, all-state in basketball and a conference singles finalist in tennis.

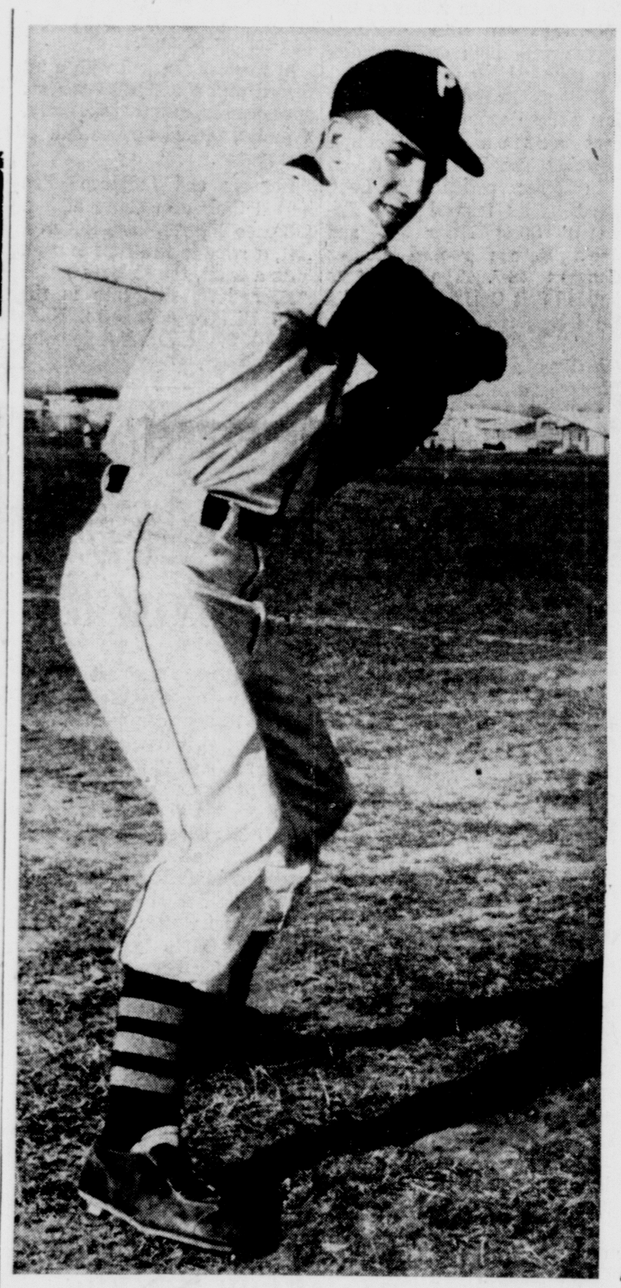
Gustafson and Koranda are juniors.

LaGrange's Barofsky actually participated in four sports during the school year. In addition to his usual work in football, basketball, and baseball, he also tried track, spending enough time in the broad jump and shot put to place in the Palatine Relays and Maine East Relays.

There would be no problem at all in the Interim League.

Lee Mungai of Morton West undoubtedly is one of the finest athletes in Illinois. Mungai was all-state in football and the state heavyweight wrestling champion. If they picked all-state teams in baseball, he would be a logical choice for catcher.

Mungai was all-conference in baseball for two straight years and was a standout this spring as Morton West fielded one of the finest clubs in the state. (Sp



DAVE LEEKLEY (left) and Bob Geller, both Prospect High seniors, were honored this week by being named to the annual Interim League All-Star Baseball Team. Both lefthanded batters, the boys finished one-two in team batting this spring as the Knights won 10 of 19 games, including the Forest View District championship in the state tournament. Leekley batted .333, and led the team in hits (23) and home runs (3). Geller drove in 17 runs and batted 323. The team was selected by league coaches. (Staff photos by Don Vickery).

Leekley, Geller Make Interim League Stars

by BILL HALLS

Dave Leekley, an outfielder with a picture swing, and Bob Geller, a slugging first baseman, were among 18 boys selected by Blue Division coaches for the annual Interim League All-Star baseball team this week.

Both boys are seniors at Prospect High, and bat left handed. Leekley, who batted .333 for the Knights in 20 games this year, had an identical average in the Interim League.

Geller batted .349 in league action and .323 for the entire season. He led the Knights in triples (4), runs batted in (17) and total bases (34).

THE TEAM is selected by coaches from league schools. Normally, each coach nominates his best boys for the team.

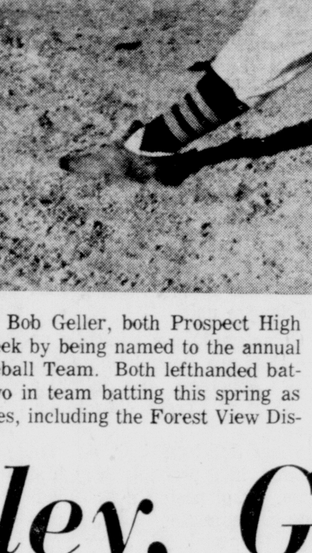
"But Leekley and Geller had already been selected by the time they got around to me," said Prospect coach Chuck Aldrich.

Aldrich said the pair's hitting caught most Interim coaches' eyes, but added that Leekley is a steady defensive outfielder with an accurate arm.

"Geller isn't a bad fielder either," said Aldrich. "He doesn't look real quick out there, but he makes the plays. He made some fine stops in the district tournament for us."

THE KNIGHTS won the Forest View District title this year, but lost out in the Waukegan Regional opener to Maine West, 4-3.

Niles West, co-division champion along with Maine West, dominated the team this year with a total of six selections, including four juniors. Maine added five more, and East Leyden had four boys named.



CHUCK ALDRICH

Prospect was next with two selections. Glenbrook North rounded out the squad with one choice. Deerfield and Forest View failed to place a boy on the squad.

The pitching staff boasted a combined record of 19 wins and six losses.

JOHN KMETY, who won five games, including a pair of no-hitters, was the only undefeated hurler on the squad. Maine's Chip Allen (8-1) and Glenbrook's Jeff Browne (6-5) make up the staff.

Browne fanned 108 batters in 11 games this season for an average of close to 10 per game.

The catchers were John Gabbert, a junior from Maine, and Earl Haffenberg, Niles' fine senior receiver.

Besides Geller, the infield included Warren Baird and Dan Humay from Maine, Rich Clot from East Leyden, and a trio of fine juniors from Niles; Don Klipowicz, Ed Bruksch and Jim Schnidt.

BOTH BAIRD and Humay hit around the .300 mark this year at Maine.

Bruksch hit a robust .432 to lead the Niles contingent. Schnidt, at .347, and Klipowicz at .319, helped the Indians share the title this year, and should present a potent wall of power next spring.

East Leyden's Dan Veller and Niles Kim Harfst were selected to the team as outfielders, but both boys are pretty fair pitchers as well.

Harfst hit about .250 this year, but had a 5-2 pitching record, including 56 strike-outs in nine games.

Veller, won five, lost four and hit about .270.

MAINE'S AL Waters is one of the few Interim athletes who has made the all-league team in three sports, including football and basketball. He was also an all-stater in football and basketball. Al hit about .350 for the conference co-champs this year.

Dom Patti and Ray Monroe round out the squad. The East Leyden outfielders combined with Veller to form one of the most powerful hitting and defensive outfields in the league.

Patti hit .321 this year and used his speed to good advantage on the bases. Monroe, a fine hitter, also doubles as a catcher. He has an exceptionally strong arm.

Legion Nine to Battle Mount Prospect Monday

Mount Prospect will furnish the opposition next Monday evening as Arlington's American Legion baseball team launches its Ninth District schedule under the direction of Lloyd Meyer.

Starting his sixth season as head man of the Arlington entry in the Legion diamond scramble, Meyer will send his outfit against the Mount Prospect nine at 6 p.m. at the Prospect High School diamond.

Cautious optimism prevails in the Arlington camp with the locals intent on improving on their third place league finish and 18-16-2 season mark of 1962.

"We've been working hard for two weeks," Meyer reported.

FOLLOWING the league liftfer with Mount Prospect, the Arlington nine will host Downers Grove Tuesday at 4:30 p.m. at the high school diamond. Park Ridge comes to town Wednesday in a key league test.

Meyer is hoping to get in a non-league affair before the Ninth District outing with Mount Prospect.

"There is a chance we may play Saturday at the high school diamond and Sunday afternoon

Gymnastics Headliner June 14-15

Two-Day Competition at Maine East High School

The United States Gymnastics Federation will conduct its first national gymnastics championship in Park Ridge on June 14-15.

The two-day competition, slated for Maine East Township High School, is expected to draw a record number of entries despite the fact that the Amateur Athletic Union has warned athletes not to participate.

The U. S. Gymnastics Federation has sponsored three events for the late spring and all three have been offiially listed as off-limits by the AAU. The "Arizona Open" in Tucson attracted over 100 entrants despite the ruling.

"IF THE AAU ruling, which received wide publicity in Arizona, had an effect at all upon the 'Arizona Open' it was to inspire more athletes to enter. The meet was very successful and will go on to be an annual affair," stated Frank L. Bare, executive director of the U.S. Gymnastics Federation who headquarters in Tucson.

Bare went on to say that the forthcoming USGF National Championship is expected to be even more successful.

"We are most fortunate in having the meet co-hosted by the Illinois State High School Gymnastics Coaches Association and the Mid-West Gymnastics Association," Bare said.

"The presidents of these organizations are co-directors of the meet, and we feel it could not be in better hands."

VIC Lesch, gymnastics coach at Willowbrook High School in Villa Park, and Bob Bohl, Department of Recreation, Evanston, are co-directors.

Entries are expected from every part of the country for the two-day meet which features men's and women's competitions in two divisions.

At least six past national champions have already filed entry blanks for the meet.

The AAU has threatened participating athletes with suspension for entering this meet.

"This is completely without reason," stated USGF President Dr. Donald Boydston. "The AAU has no legal right to determine eligibility based on Intra-American competitions."

DR. BOYDSTON continued, "General Douglas MacArthur has been quoted as saying that no international body can properly determine eligibility based on Intra-American competition, and he was designated to arbitrate the situation by the President of The United States, so that's good enough for us."

Lincoln Boy Paces Junior Track Meet

Paul Staudenmaier picked up a pair of first's and a third Saturday in powering Lincoln Junior High to victory in the first annual Forest View Junior High Relays.

The Mount Prospect boy scored his double by taking firsts in the high jump and 220 yard dash. His best leap in the broad jump was 16 - feet, eight and three-quarters inches. Paul covered the 220 in 25.5 seconds.

Staudenmaier also took a third in the 50 yard dash.

Lincoln took six firsts and scored 64 points to easily outdistance its closest rival, Jack London Junior High of Wheeling which racked up 29 points.

Grove Junior High, Elk Grove Village, was third with 24 points South Junior High, Arlington Heights scored 23 points; Carl Sandburg, another Wheeling entry, 20; West Junior High, Prospect Heights, four; and Dempster Junior High, Elk Grove, one.

The meet was sponsored by Dick Ohl, head track coach at Forest View High, in hopes of stimulating interest in high school track.

at Recreation Park," the manager said.

SPONSORED by Merle Guild Post 208 of Arlington Heights, Meyer's outfit is equipped with several of the stalwarts from a club that finished strong in 1962.

The three leading hitters are back in third baseman Rog Lindstorm (.322), outfielder Ken Layden (.316), and shortstop Mike Frase (.274).

Also returning are slab aces Gary Spencer and Paul Splittorff, with these two southpaws joined by several other promising hurlers.

STEVE MARTIN, who was a regular pitcher and turned in the lowest earned run average on the Arlington High School varsity, gives Meyer a capable right-hander. Dave Christensen, another letter winner in high school, also throws from the right side and is working with the league unit.

Other southpaws currently on the staff are Roland Oberg and Dick Anderson, the latter a standout at Forest View in the spring.

When Splittorff isn't on the mound, he'll probably play first base. Paul posted a .260 average last summer. Another possible first sacker is Jerry Fink, a soph standout in high school in 1963, although Fink, a noted glove man, may switch to the outfield.

HOWIE WINKELHAKE looks like the best bet at second base with Mike Frase at shortstop. Of course, Lindstrom, an all-league selection in high school, has first call at third base.

Working behind the plate will be Jim Ewart with possible assistance from Mark Frase, Mike's brother. Mark started on Arlington's frosh-soph nine as a freshman.

Layden, another all-star selection in his senior year, right now is the only sure starter in Meyer's outfield. Lloyd plans to pick his other starters from among Gordon Keeley, Spencer,

LLOYD MEYER

Martin, or Fink with Dick Hoppe meriting a long look.

Hoppe, a .400-plus hitter with Arlington's sophs, came out Monday and "showed us a lot with the bat" Meyer related.

Meyer still is planning a final cut.

Joining Arlington in the Ninth District will be Mount Prospect, St. Viator, Park Ridge, Des Plaines, Northlake and Holy Cross.

Five Teams Deadlocked In Softball

The Arlington Heights Park District Classic softball league became deadlocked in a five way tie for first place as a result of the third night's action.

Arlington Lanes took a close decision from the Pure Oil Firebirds 7-6, while Chesney's Democrats knocked off the Sigwalts 11-3.

Bob Scuba earned its share of the lead by trouncing Arlington Gardens 20-6.

Hoffbrau won a scoring dual from the Pioneers 17-14 to join the league leaders.

Three area athletes at the University of Illinois have been awarded freshman numerals, pending completion of scholastic requirements, Athletic Director Douglas R. Mills announced last week.

William Hartman and Foster Travis of Palatine earned numerals in track, and Kenneth Adams of Arlington Heights earned a wrestling award.

Prospect Ends Season With .500 Mark; Leekley Top Hitter

by BILL HALLS

Prospect High ended the 1963 baseball season with an even .500 record. The Knights won 10 and lost 10.

Despite the mediocre season, the team showed flashes of brilliance, whipping highly rated New Trier and Interim League Blue Division co-champion Niles West by identical 1-0 scores early in the year, and taking the Forest View District title.

In the Waukegan Regional, the Knights lost to arch rival Maine West, 4-3 on a disputed "home run" by outfielder Dave Leekley. The Warriors argued that Leekley failed to touch third base, and won.

LEEKLEY, WHO was named to the league All-Star team along with first baseman Bob Geller, led the club in hitting with a .333 average. He was also tops in hits (23) and homers (3).

Geller, like Leekley, a senior, batted .323, leading the club in runs batted in with 17.

Junior Mike Phillips gave coach Chuck Aldrich reason to look ahead to next year. The slender second baseman hit .306, batted in 11 runs, and struck out only 12 times in 62 official at bats.

Greg Kowal, a sophomore, was installed at shortstop halfway through the season, and showed continued improvement despite a .212 batting average. Gregg's homer helped beat Arlington in the first game of the district tourney.

RICK LYTLE, another sophomore, caught 12 games and appeared to be a capable receiver. Rick only hit .154 but got all five of his hits and five RBI's in the last two games.

Seniors Norm Dahlgren, Ron Aukamp, Rich Beck, Chuck Halverson and Ed Massof turned in creditable performances this year. Aukamp hit .242 and drove in 14 runs. He also cracked a pair of homers.

Halverson managed only a .185 batting average but walked 15 times and always seemed to be on base.

Jim Hogarty and Hank LaRocco shared most of the pitching burden but suffered from poor support on occasion.

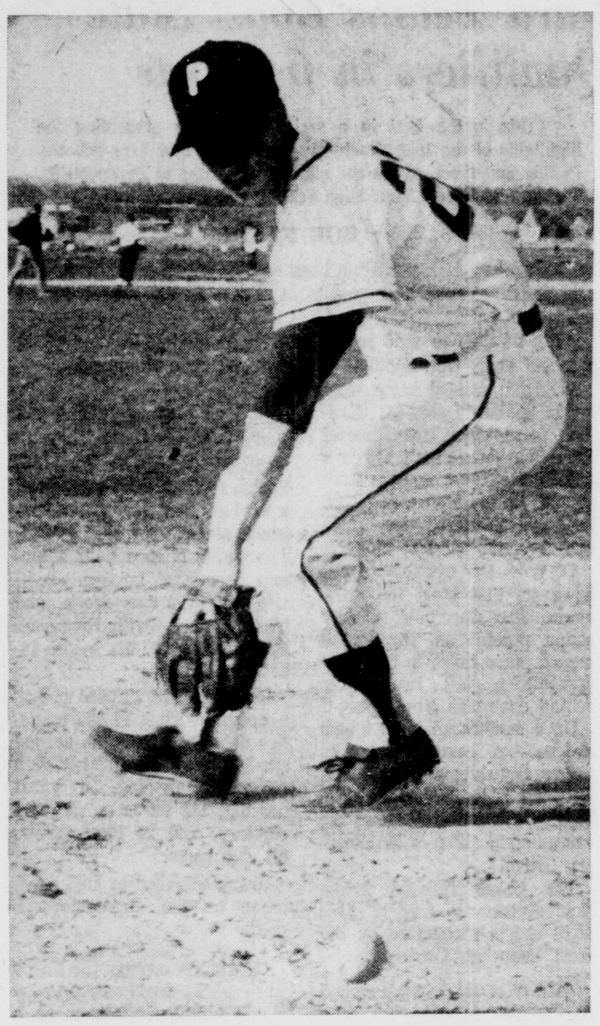
HOGARTY LED the staff with five wins and three losses. He fanned 63, but had trouble with his control on occasion, walking 33 men. His earned run average was also tops at 1.66.

LaRocco deserved better than his 2-5 record. His ERA was 2.14 for 48 innings.

Al Koehler finished with a 2-2 record and a 2.15 ERA for six appearances, and Grant Gentry, a junior, picked up one win in five games.

Hogarty and LaRocco often helped their own cause at bat. LaRocco hit .267 and Hogarty, .261, driving in five runs to boot.

As a team, the Knights batted .245, and finished fifth in the Blue Division standings. Niles shared the championship with Maine West.



RICH BECK, Prospect High third baseman, helped the Knights finish above the .500 mark this year with his hustle and leadership. Inserted into the lineup late in the year by coach Chuck Aldrich, Beck came through with timely hits and fine defensive play as the Knights won three of their final four games to finish with a 10-9 record. "We lacked a real team leader late in the year," said Aldrich. "Rich exerted his leadership qualities to help us out." Beck, a senior, hit .238 in 10 games this year.

Quinnette Takes Low Gross, Net

With the warm weather last Friday night the St. Emily's league showed some fine golf.

Larry Quinnette was winner of low gross with a nifty 35.

J & B Village Meat Market came on strong to tie Prospect Plaza Bank for the lead with Jim's Standard Service in third.

Friday is position night.

Jim Zalusky, who sports a 15 handicap, burned up the course with a 41 which gave him a tie with Quinnette for low net at 26. Those handicaps can make things tough as attested by Lee Wood, who ran into Zalusky on the latter's hot night.

Second in State Tennis Tops Year

However, the Cards failed to place among the leaders in the state finals in Champaign.

Standing 5-5 in duals, Arlington turned in an impressive effort in the conference attraction with soph Darryl Burkett leading the way. Burkett fashioned a brilliant 73 to earn medalist honors in the varsity competition as Arlington fired a 313 total, two strokes off the pace.

In heading the district Arlington was sparked by junior Fred Devin, who posted a 78 for a fourth place finish among the individuals. Devin was voted the squad's most valuable player for the second straight year.

Inter-Suburban

Association Formed After Careful Study

Four years ago the Suburban and West Suburban Conferences faced the problem of providing an orderly plan for integrating new high schools of northern and western suburbs of Chicago into desirable leagues.

The problem was complex because school districts with more than one high school could no longer place all their schools in the same league. In such event a district might not be able to have common policy for all its high schools.

This situation brought about the proposal to create an authority under which all of the existing or proposed leagues of the territory could operate. It was proposed that a common constitution and by-laws be created which would meet the needs of all the leagues.

THE NEWLY created Inter-Suburban Association, which includes the Suburban, West Suburban, Mid Suburban, and Des Plaines Valley leagues, marks the culmination of four years of study.

During this interim period an Interim League was created to take care of the independents such as Glenbrook and Leyden and the excess schools of the Suburban and West Suburban schools. This Interim League was recently divided into Mid Suburban and Des Plaines Valley leagues.

Membership of the Suburban League and West Suburban League remains the same. The schools in the Mid Suburban League are Glenbrook North, Glenbrook South, Maine West, Prospect, Forest View, and Deerfield.

THE SCHOOLS in the Des Plaines Valley league include Niles West, East Leyden, West Leyden, Willowbrook, Proviso West, and Morton West.

Membership of the Inter Suburban Association is as follows: Hinsdale, Glenbard West, York, Willowbrook, Downers Grove, Highland Park, Deerfield, Waukegan, Oak Park-River Forest, Morton East, Morton West, Evanston, New Trier, Lyons, Maine East, Maine West, Riverside-Brookfield, Proviso East, Proviso West, East Leyden, West Leyden, Arlington, Prospect, Forest View, Niles East, Niles West, Glenbrook North, and Glenbrook South.

Newly elected officers beginning July 1, 1963 are: President, LeRoy J. Knoeppel, Superintendent of the Proviso Township High Schools; Vice President, George W. Brown, Superintendent, Riverside-Brookfield High School; Secretary - Treasurer, Wade A. Steel, Superintendent, Leyden Community High Schools.

Laws insofar as they don not conflict with the Constitution and By-Laws of the Association."

For Mid-Suburban

Jenness Named League President

Lawrence S. Jenness of Forest View High School has been elected to a two-year term as president of the Mid-Suburban league, a member of the newly created Inter Suburban Association.

Herman L. Rider of Maine West High School will serve as secretary-treasurer.

Edward Stubbs of Proviso West High School will serve as president of the Des Plaines Valley League with Nicholas Mannos of Niles West secretary-treasurer.

Officers of the Mid-Suburban and the Des Plaines Valley leagues will meet to discuss the formation of a common Constitution and By-Laws, keeping in mind that these leagues are members of the Inter-Suburban Association.

The Constitution of the Inter-Suburban Association, Article 1, Section 1, under "Operation of Interim Association leagues" states . . .

Layden Claims Bat Crown; Cards' Nine Posts 9-7-1 Record

KEN LAYDEN

ROG LINDSTROM

Seniors grabbed the 1-2-3 positions in batting, but juniors ruled the pitching staff at Arlington High School in the 1963 varsity campaign.

Official statistics released this week showed Ken Layden, Rog Lindstrom, and Russ Ward, all seniors, as the top three stickmen on Bob Baker's Cardinals.

Layden, a right fielder, took the batting crown with a healthy .385 standard.

However, the third-year performers earned the headlines on the mound in a 9-7-1 season at Arlington. Paul Splittorff, Seve Martin, and Dave Christensen emerged as the club's top three hurlers with all but one victory earned by this slab trio.

MARTIN WAS the most effective with a stingy 2.26 earned run average and three victories in four games. Splittorff was the busiest pitcher, and he finished with a 3-3-1 standard and 2.34 ERA.

With juniors serving as the top pitchers Arlington's 9-7-1 over-all mark certainly was satisfactory. In addition, the Cards bounced back after a slow start in West Suburban action and rolled to an impressive 8-5-1 standard and tie for second place.

Arlington had one winning skein that reached six straight midway in the schedule.

LAYDEN, who also served as Arlington's leading ground gainer and scorer in football last fall, not only paced the Cardinals in hitting for the entire 17-game campaign, but he also sparkled in conference action.

Ken's .405 average in league warfare was accomplished with 17 hits in 42 trips to the plate.

Layden paced the Cardinal varsity in times at bat (52), runs scored (14), base hits (20), and stolen bases (9).

WARD DELIVERED 14 hits in 40 tries for a fine .350 mark, and the senior first sacker also drove home 11 runs to rank behind Lindstrom.

Lindstrom wielded the most explosive bat in 1963 with his 15 hits driving across 18 runs. Rog belted four homers and posted a .313 average.

Lindstrom also headed Arlington in doubles with three and in walks with 11.

Splittorff and Martin were the work-horses on the Cardinal staff with 84-2/3 inning. Paul appeared in 10 games and Steve in nine.

SPLITTORFF allowed 29 hits over his 50 2/3 innings, fanning 45 and walking 29. He allowed 23 runs, 17 earned.

Martin nailed 18 on strikes in 34 innings and walked only seven. He allowed 30 hits and 11 earned runs.

As the third member of the all-junior mound corps, Christensen saw service in five games and posted a 2-1 record. He worked 21 innings, allowing 16 hits while striking out 10 and walking 12. He finished with a 2.33 earned run average.

SENIOR Gary Spencer toiled in seven games as the No. 1 relief man. He was tagged with two reversals in three decisions and sported a 3.85 ERA.

Roland Oberg, a southpaw, was the only other pitcher to see any action. The senior worked two innings in one game before dropping off the squad.

Illinois Plans First Band Day

Invitations to every high school band in the state to participate in a University of Illinois "first" were sent last week as plans started to grow for the First Annual High School Band Day, November 2, at the Purdue - Illinois Big Ten Football game, in Memorial stadium.

A joint venture at the University Bands, U. of I. Athletic Association, School of Music and music section of the Division of University Extension, the new football game feature will afford uniformed high school bands from every part of Illinois not only regular seats at a major college football game, but participation in pre-game and halftime ceremonies.

Everett Kisinger, general chairman of High School Band Day, reported the event has been sanctioned by the Illinois High School Association.

Elk Grove Baseball

Cubs Claim 3 Straight Loop Wins

Elk Grove Boys Baseball, Inc. launched its 1963 season on Memorial Day with each of the six Little League teams participating in the season's only tripleheader.

In the first game the Braves routed the Yankees, 16-1. Terry Hanney went all the way, pitching a dazzling two-hitter and striking out 15. Dave Palmieri blasted a double for the Yanks and scored their only run.

In the second game the Cubs beat the Sox 9-4 with Jim Shipley hurling all six innings. Rick Lorentz paced the winners with a three-run double. He drove in seven of the winner's nine runs.

IN THE THIRD game the Dodgers beat the Indians in a close 4-3 game with a run in the final inning. Wayne Isbernen pitched a two-hitter and was assisted offensively by by Chris Gruber and Don Voight, who each slapped triples.

On Friday the Braves won their second game without a loss when they beat the Indians, 12-8, in a slugfest. Sean Hanney was the winning pitcher. The Braves had 12 hits with Jim Schlamp contributing a triple and Jim Wickman a double. Mike Losch, the losing pitcher, had a double.

On Saturday in a doubleheader the Cubs stopped the Braves 4-0, handing them their first setback in three outings. Rudy Kohnke was the winning pitcher as he flipped a three-hitter and fanned 13. Steve Scholten had three singles, Rick Lorentz two hits, and Jim Shipley two doubles.

IN THE second game the Sox bounced back from an opening day loss to swamp the Indians, 10-0. Ken Zubak was the winning pitcher and he helped his own cause with two doubles. Tom Pomey, Sox centerfielder, had three triples, a single, and scored three runs.

On Sunday the Cubs made it three in a row as they hammered the Indians, 19-3. Paul Maharis was the winning pitcher and he also cracked a home run Steve Scholten had two doubles, and Billy Eitsehoefer had one two-bagger.

In the second game the Braves bounced back to win their third game. Terry Hanney won his second and fanned 15. He also hit a home run. Sean Hanney had three singles.

Card Grad

Peterson MVP at Northern

Southpaw Fred Peterson, a graduate of Arlington High School, was voted the most valuable player on the Northern Illinois University baseball team for the 1963 season.

Peterson, an all-conference selection in the West Suburban Conference while pitching Arlington to second place, posted an 8-2 record and a 2.45 earned run average for Northern.

A 6-0, 185-pound junior who now lives in Crystal Lake, Peterson gave up only 34 runs in 91 2/3 innings. He yielded 56 hits, walked only 29, and struck out 91.

His best performances were a hitless 5 1/3 inning relief job against Tulane, an 11-inning four-hit 1-0 victory over Eastern Illinois, and 10-2 and 1-0 two-hit wins over Illinois State and Central Michigan.

Peterson ranked as one of the major surprises on the 1960 edition of the Arlington varsity with a 5-2 mound mark and earned run average barely over 2.00. The left-hander fanned 52 in 48 frames and yielded only 32 hits. He walked only 20.

Jaycees' Jamboree On June 15

The Mount Prospect competition is over in the Junior Sports Jamboree.

Now it's Arlington's turn.

Sponsored by the Arlington Heights Junior Chamber of Commerce, the next Jamboree will unfold on Saturday, June 15, at Arlington High's track.

The competition for boys and girls in three age groups serves as the preliminaries for the sectional meet sponsored by the Illinois Junior Chamber of Commerce. Sectional winners then go to the state finals.

THE MOUNT Prospect finals were held last week with complete details arriving too late for publication. A summary of the Mount Prospect meet will be presented next week.

Awards will be presented for the first four places in each event in the Arlington meet.

Events are as follows:

Midgets (10 - 11) — 50 yard dash; 75 yard dash; broad jump; hop, step, and jump; baseball throw; and 220 yard relay.

Juniors (12 - 13) — 50 yard dash; 75 yard dash; 100 yard dash; broad jump; high jump; baseball throw; 440 yard relay.

Intermediates (14 - 15) — 50 yard dash; 100 yard dash; 220 yard dash; 440 yard dash; broad jump; high jump; baseball throw; 440 yard relay.

THE ILLINOIS Youth Commission, Division of Community Services, and the Illinois Jaycees cooperate on the statewide program. Local Jaycee chapters conduct meets, provide awards, and also provide transportation to the sectional meet for local winners.

Entry blanks for the events, open to anyone in the area, are available at any high school or park district.

Dave Starnes is chairman of the Arlington Heights program.

Illinois Range, McMahon's Lead

Illinois Range and McMahon's hold the top positions in the St. Raymond's golf leagues.

Illinois Range paces League 1 by two points over Strass Ladies Apparel and improving Friedrich Funeral Home.

McMahon's has a slim half-point lead over Meeske's in League 2.

Hot team of the team was Kirchhoff Insurance with a surge of 10½ points to jump into fourth place in League 1.

Despite an excellent night for golf, scores remained cold. Hot corner for the evening: Becker 40; McGinnis 41; Ryan, Degen, Jeuck, St. Denis, and Giuntini all 42s; Broeren and Sommers at 43; and Moran, McNichols, Juergenson, Stanton, Robertson, Kilroy, and E. Giuntini at 44.

Cubs Off to Fast Start in Summer Baseball

National League Leaders Now 5-0

Four Clubs Show 4-0 Marks In Arlington's LL Program

They're not laughing at the Cubs this year in the Major Leagues.

Bob Kennedy's surprising Bruins, the league patsies for so many years, have shown some real class in the first two months of the season.

They've never laughed at the Cubs in Arlington's extensive Little League program. Through the years the Cubs of the National League always could be expected to put a classy team on the field.

Based on early returns 1963 will be no exception.

THE CUBS ARE off and running in what appears to be another outstanding summer. Unbeaten in five straight outings, the Cubs hold the top rung in the eight-team National League.

That 5-0 standard currently ranks as the top mark in the Arlington summer baseball program although four clubs show snappy 4-0 ledgers.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

The pace-setting Cubs received some first-class scares in recent league warfare. They needed four runs in the fourth inning to subdue the Twins 10-9 and two in the fifth for a 5-4 victory over the Cardinals.

"Butch" Adkins went in to relieve Bob Cowall in the top of the second inning and picked up his second win for the Cubs in the 10-9 win over the Twins. The Twins blew a 5-0 first inning lead in this one.

Quill bested Balinski as the Cubs slipped by the Cardinals 5-4 with McKay delivering a triple.

NIFTY TWO-HITTERS

Bocian flipped a two-hit shutout as the Giants blanked the Pirates 5-0, and the Pirates topped the Braves 3-0 with Ron Dolejs also chalking up a two-hitter. In the latter game Bob Dolejs had a home run for the Pirates.

In a free-swinging affair the Giants whipped the Dodgers 10-8 with Rucker the winner. Bruce Frase of the Dodgers delivered the big homer in the second inning. For the victors Rucker had a home run, Paulson a triple, and Sieger a double.

Scoring five runs in the fourth inning of a makeup game, the Cardinals clipped the Angels 6-4. The Angels played long ball with three home runs, but they couldn't deliver their four-baggers with anyone on base. Kennie Klein, Bruce Warman, and Rick Trahan hit the home runs off Blassey.

A four-run fifth inning carried the Dodgers to a 5-1 victory over the Twins as Anderson topped Randy Cordova. Dick Hetke slashed a homer for the Twins. Cordova had a no-hitter heading into the fifth.

An error sent Eddie Becker across with the winning run in the Braves' 4-3 victory over the Angels. Kanek, who came on in relief in the fifth, picked up the decision.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Dave Williamson hurled a four-hit shutout as the Senators blanked the Athletics, 3-0. Schmelzer pitched a fine game in defeat.

The White Sox punched across five runs in the third inning and stopped the Yankees, 5-2. Chalefaux contributed a double in the big third. Buttenob was the winning pitcher.

Foreman got the win as the White Sox stopped the Red Sox, 8-6. Crockett rapped a home run for the winners, and Chailfaux blasted a triple.

GRAND SLAM HOMER

A first inning grand slam homer by Renz wasn't enough as the Yankees dropped a 9-8 game to the Athletics. The A's came up with the decisive run in the seventh. Pampel had a home run for the Athletics with Anderson the winning pitcher.

A single ru6n in the seventh inning gave the Tigers a 3-2 victory over the Senators.

Steve Stratton pitched his usual fine game, giving up only one hit and striking out 12, but it remained for Todd Somers to finish up in the seventh with two strikeouts. Reserve catcher Dick Drolet drove in the winning run. Jim Kenny had two doubles for the victors.

Miller's five-hit pitching gave the Red Sox a 5-2 victory and handed the Tigers their first reversal. He fanned 10. Jim Kenny's 11 strikeouts and Stratton's homer couldn't offset the Tigers' errors.

SENIOR LEAGUE

Scoring two runs in four of the six innings, the Indians hammered the Browns 8-1 in the opening game from this division.

Jim Kroll pitched and limited the Browns to three hits while contributing a double and single. Other extra base knocks were a double by Tom LeStarge and triple by John Ewert.

The Bears dumped the Red Legs 3-1 as Tossi and Loughman pitched for the winners. Friedl went the route for the losers. Ray Dix contributed the only extra base blow, a double to left.

VARSITY I

Cole had a big day as the Phillies rocked the Rams 15-0. He not only pitched a masterful no-hitter over six innings but also slapped a double in the third and homer in the fifth. Donchess was the loser.

Tom McDonald struck out 14 as the Knights edged the Redwings, 3-2. Bob Taylor drove in two runs with a single and homer, and Steve St. John sent the decisive marker home with his second double.

Tom Walsh lashed a single to right, scoring Bruce Cerveny with the winning run in the Wildcats' 6-5 victory ovthe Orioles. Bebber was the winner. Joe Basek and Bill Yeager collected home runs.

There were no reports received from the Varsity II league.

NORTH BLUE INTERMEDIATE

The league-leading Hornets scored eight runs in the first two innings and coasted to a 10-1 victory over the Bruins. Obuchowski fanned 13 in notching the win, and Esty rapped two doubles.

Bailkowski bested Eschenbrenner as the Mohawks dumped the Colonels 7-3. Mark Kramer cracked his third home run of the season.

NORTH WHITE INTERMEDIATE

Olson was the winner as the Saints edged the Comets 4-2, and the Lancers crushed the Pioneers 15-5 with nine runs in the fifth. Lumpp was the winning pitcher, and Orade (this one was hard to read) contributed a home run.

The Triplets scored in four of the five innings and belted the Broncs 11-7. Larry Mueller was the winning pitcher. Eddie Chin's two-run single in the first, and Chuck Cofoid's three-for-three hitting put the Triplets ahead to stay.

THREE-RUN FIFTH

A three-run fifth inning gave the Lancers a 6-4 victory over he Redbirds as Lumpp bested Harris. Susterland, Helbling, and Wagner posted doubles.

Ross was the winner as the Celtics bumped the Saints, 6-2. Nelson had two doubles, and Michen cracked a homer.

The Comets and Pioneers battled to a 9-9 deadlock in the final action from the North White division.

SOUTH BLUE INTERMEDIATE

The Dons came up with two big runs in the fifth inning and edged the Ravens 8-7. Butler was the winner, and he also posted a triple. Duro and Smith had home runs.

Seven runs crossed the plate in an explosive fifth inning as the Stars beat the Chargers 10-6. Homers were plentiful in this one with Dattilo, Hernandez, Witt, Keller, and Spoerlein collected four-baggers. Hernandez was the winning pitcher.

A seven-run third was enough for the Rangers as they rocked the Seals 11-6. Lewan was the winner. Hamilton and Knorr had home runs.

SOUTH WHITE INTERMEDIATE

The Barons scored two markers in the sixth and edged the Ramblers 4-2. Gratzer bested Cole.

Johnny Lister scattered eight hits and also slapped a triple in leading the Huskies to an 8-2 victory over the Solons.

Bob Reno and Jack Guilfoil hit homers for the Huskies while Mike Shanahan clouted a double.

The Marlins erupted with nine runs in the fourth inning of a 13-8 victory over the Royals. Dawson was the winning pitcher. Dave Timson and Jim Stipp hit home runs for the Marlins and Danny Schoepke slapped a four-bagger for the Royals.

The Bearcats apparently stopped the Terriers, but there was no score reported.

NORTH BLUE JUNIORS

The Mets hit the Gulls with six runs in the first inning in an 8-3 victory over the Gulls with Lett the winner, and the Badgers rocked the Larks 8-2 with a six-run inning of their own, this one coming in the fifth. Marszahek got the victory.

The Chicks and Sox combined for 33 runs with the Sox pulling out an 18-15 victory. Ardirson hit a game-winning homer in the last inning with two men on.

Badgers Explode

Scoring in every inning, the Badgers clobbered the Millers 20-8. Munson, Gorey, and Locascio had homers with Locascio delivering his with the sacks jammed. Dolan, Gorey, and Boyle posted triples.

Although they only collected four hits, the Larks still crushed the Chicks 18-5 with Bryza besting Welnhofer.

Martino had two doubles for the victors.

Balinski fanned 12 in four innings as the Sox blasted the Mets 16-3. Wroblewski hit a home run for the Sox.

In another high-scoring outing the Blues belted the Gulls 11-2. Manchee was the winning pitcher and Turner registered a home run. Thorsen rapped a triple.

NORTH WHITE JUNIORS

Paced by Villemure's double and single, the Robins unleashed a nine-hit attack that paved the way to an 11-10 victory over the Bisons. Chase and Sunquist shared the pitching chores and fanned nine of the 12 batters they faced. Dougherty and Oster were the leading hitters for the losers

Hogan bested Piepenbrink in the Astros' 10-7 victory over the Owls. Zasek had a home run.

The Bees came up with seven runs in the third inning of a 9-8 victory over the Gophers. Koebler was the winner with Carlinger, Leonhard, and Zare blasting home runs in the game.

SOUTH BLUE JUNIORS

The Oaks topped the Colts with no details given, and the Beavers slapped the Spartans 8-5 behind Michalson's slants. Steve Soderlund was the loser. Berlin of the Beavers had the game's only extra base hit, a double.

The Wrens had no trouble rolling past the Gems, 18-4, as Taylor was supported with a 13-hit attack. Swanezy, Donchess, and Hilton had home runs for the Wrens. Swanezy also had a triple and single for a perfect day.

SOUTH WHITE JUNIORS

Keith Johnson was the winning pitcher as the Atoms bombed the Buckeyes, 17-5. Roy Brooks was the loser.

Alvin Peters pitched a masterful one-hitter as the Stags bounced the Buckeyes, 14-0. Peters fanned 16.

Michael O'Hara was the winner in the Atoms' 13-9 trouncing of the Jets, and the Padres clobbered the Jays 9-2.

In Rolling Meadows

Six Squads Tied for Top AL Position

After one week of play six teams in a six-team league are tied for first place in the American division of the Rolling Meadows Boys Baseball program.

Each of the six clubs boast identical 1-1 records.

The Indians dumped the Athletics 7-4 in a game that featured some sparkling defensive play. Brian Rooney paced the Indians by driving in three runs. Jim Gallanis was the winning pitcher while Jim Tegtmeier was tagged with the loss.

IN A GAME called because of darkness the Senators edged the Tigers 11-9. Bob Miller was a one-man gang as he drove in six runs for the Senators. Billy Huffman posted the mound triumph while Marcucci absorbed the reversal.

The Yankees battle their "cousins" of last year, the Sox, and came home with a 6-4 decision. Johnny Martin was the winner and Joe Parsetich the loser.

Billy Ross had three homers, including a grand slam, and drove in six runs to lead the Giants to a 10-9 victory over the Dodgers. Bob Brodman was the winning pitcher and Bartlett the loser.

JOHN HARRIS sparked the Cardinals to an 8-5 win over the Cubs. Harris delivered a triple with the sacks jammed. Bob Gaddini chalked up his first victory of the season with Mike McCormick charged with the loss.

The Pirates remained as the only undefeated team in both leagues as they hammered the Braves, 7-2. Greg Apland had a two-run homer, and Billy Manning slapped a run-scoring triple.

Mike Norman was the winning pitcher and John Macior suffered the loss.

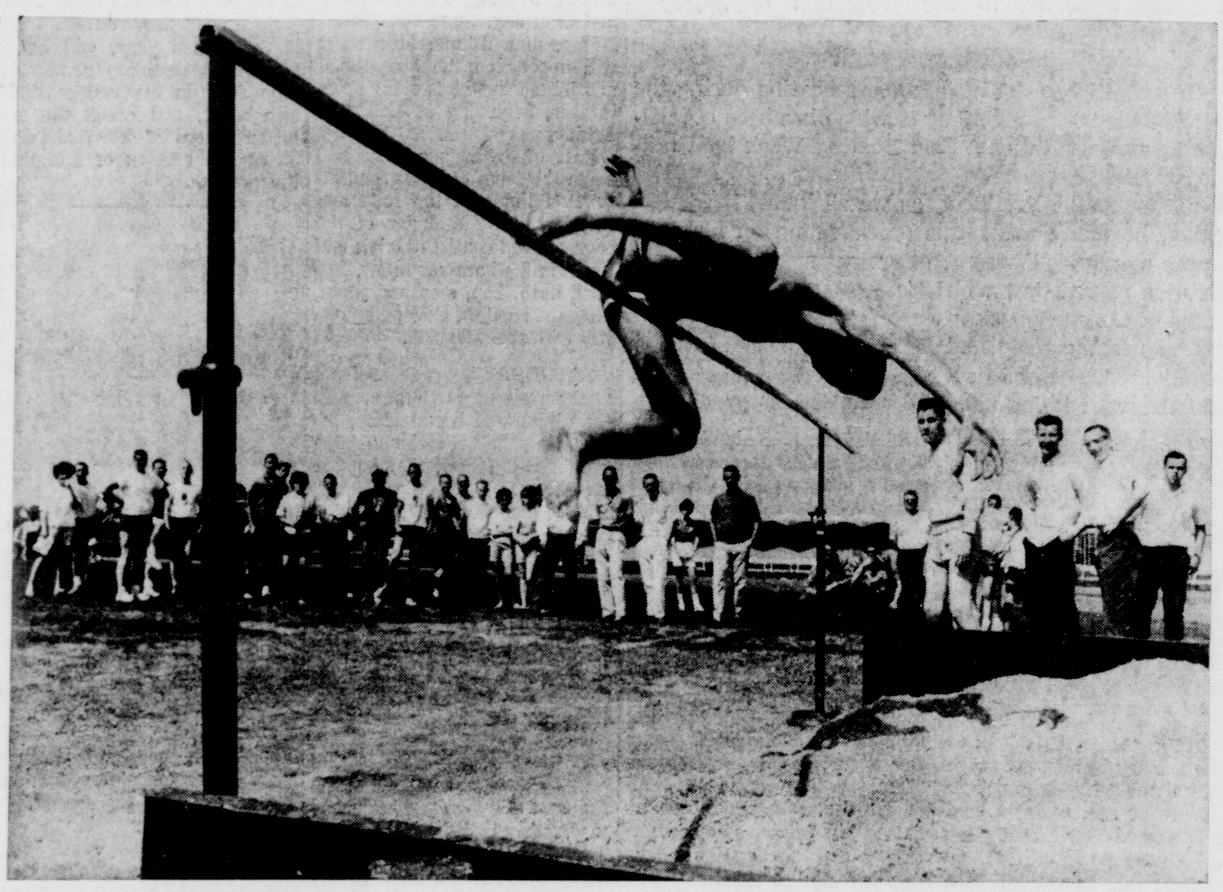
Terrific Tanker

Darryle Kifer, Michigan State freshman swimmer from Warren, was named the most outstanding newcomer on the 1962-63 Spartan team after he broke frosh school records in the 50, 100 and 200 - yard freestyle events and shared in a new 400-yard relay clocking.



PAUL STAUDENMAIER of Lincoln Junior High, Mount Prospect, displays his winning form as he leaps four feet, 10 inches to take the high jump championship Saturday at the first annual Forest View Junior High Relays. Paul also won the 220 yard dash and took a third in the 50 yard dash as Lincoln went on to win the meet, outdistancing it closest rival, Jack London Junior High of Wheeling, by 35 points. (Staff Photo by Don Vickery)

FRED BERG OF Dempster Junior High in Elk Grove Village put his school in the scoring column Saturday at the first annual Forest View Junior High Relays. Fred cleared the 16-foot mark to take a fifth in the broad jump. It was the only point registered by a Dempster student. Lincoln Junior High of Mount Prospect won the meet, scoring 64 points.

Piehl Cards Net 30 to Pace Jim's To Easy Decision

With the season only five weeks old, Captain Dick Piehl and his Jim's Standard Service team have moved well into the lead of the Friday Night Twilight Golf League at the Mount Prospect Country Club and are now the team to catch.

With every member of the team scoring in the net thirties and winning match points, Jim's over-whelmed Jim Carter and his Mount Prospect State Bankers to win nine team points and increase their lead over Erwin Kokes' Pro Sport Shop five to 7.4 points.

The outstanding performance of last Friday night's play was turned in by Dick Piehl in his team's winning cause. He carded a net 30 on Mount Prospect's front nine including an eagle three on No. 1.

THE BIGGEST jump in the standings came as Ray Felitto captained the Wille Fuel and Lumbermen from 10th to 5th position in the standings. Felitto helped his team's cause with a birdie on No. 13. He had help from team-mate Dick Haden who contributed birdies on No.'s 10 and 13 and turned in a net 33 score.

Also jumping in the standings were Stan Shaw and his Keefer Pharmacists. They moved from 9th to 4th in the race with Shaw contributing a net 35 and Bruno Pinkos adding a net 34 to gain match points. Bob Carrol of Keefer's also had a birdie on No. 18.

Other birdie performers were turned in by Ed Pool on No. 1 and Herman Falldin on No. 18.

Aerial Artistry

Bork, Northern Set 18 National Records in 1962

Ringmaster George Bork and his Northern Illinois University aerial circus set a total of 18 national collegiate passing records in 1962, according to the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau.

A special report just issued by the NCAB credits Bork with nine individual marks, including most yards passing in a single season, 2,506; most passes attempted in a single season, 356; most passes completed in a single season, 232; most passes completed in a single game, 37 (vs. Omaha Oct. 6); most total offense plays per game, 44.2; best pass completion percentage in a single season (minimum of 150 attempts), .652; most passes completed per game, 25.7; most passes attempted per game, 39.5; most yards passing per game, 278.4.

Bork also was credited with NCAA college division records for most passes completed in a single season, 304; most total offense plays in a single season, 397; lowest season pass interception average (minimum of 275 attempts), .031; and best three-season pass completion average, .619. He tied the college division single-game pass completion record of six against Illinois State Nov. 8.

Northern's leading receiver, end Hugh Rohrschneider, set a new all-school season reception record of 76.

And as a team Northern set all-school records for most pass attempts in a season, 363; most passes completed in a season, 237; most yards gained passing in a season, 2,570; best season pass completion percentage, .653; most passes attempted per game, 40.3; most passes completed per game, 26.3; most passes completed in a single game, 37 (vs. Omaha and Illinois State); and most yards passing in a single game, 578 (vs. Illinois State).

The Huskies' 285.6-yard per game passing average also was an NCAA division record.

Way Back When

Team expenditures for Michigan State's baseball team of 1887 included $10 for a dozen balls that lasted all season and $2 for umpires.

Attention Secretaries

Attention all secretaries or golf leagues eligible for the Paddock Publications Inter-League Handicap tournament.

Paddock's sports department is attempting to compile a list of secretaries in the various leagues for use in forwarding material pertinent to the golf tourney.

League secretaries are urged to advise Paddock's sports department of their name, home address, home phone, and business phone by Wednesday, June 12. Information should be directed to Bob Frisk or Tom Tully at CLearbrook 3-1520 during the business day.

It is important that each league secretary comply with this request.

Additional information on the tourney will appear on these sports pages in coming weeks.

Golf Center Holds Lead At Rob Roy

C. P. Entry Second; League in 18th Year

A full complement of 14 teams has completed five nights of hotly-contested play in the Rob Roy Golf League with Golf Rand Golf Center holding the top position.

The league is in its 18th year of operation.

The Golf Center has accumulated 24 points, an average of 4.8 points per night of a possible seven. Representing the leaders are Bob Lee, Marsh Balling, A Bradley, and Jassen. Next week they take on Rodewald Farms Dairy in defense of their lead.

C. P. FLOOR and Wall Tile is in second place with 21½ markers. Norv Funk, Ray Meyer, Reed, and sponsor Clair Peterson make up this formidable entry.

Ray Meyer and Joe Bodor are part of the original cast of 18 years ago.

The second place C. P. team is scheduled to tangle with the Barbers of Prospect Heights who feature an alignment of Adam Serbins, Bob Johnson, Campbell, and Bill Keppen. The latter group has 15 points and some ideas of their own on which team will win the big prize this year.

RANKIN Radio and TV is holding down third place with 19½ points. This team will be ready for its encounter with Borchardt's Restaurant after being "short-circuited" last week 6-1 by the Floor and Tile gang

Working for Rankin are John Strack, Fred Groh, Len Dunteman, and John Stearns.

An interesting newcomer to the league and playing as an alternate at present is Tom Brogan. The league publicitor reports that he hasn't seen anyone hit a ball as straight and far since the days of Len Arnold.

THE UNIQUE DESIGN of this Anglo-American Lotus-Ford entry raised eyebrows of veteran Indianapolis Speedway buffs last week in Indiana. When the 500-mile Memorial Day classic was over, some eyebrows were still raised in admiration. Although Parnelli Jones, driving an Agajanaian Special, typical of the Offenhauser-powered cars that have dominated the race for years, won in record time of close to 150 mph, the Lotus-Fords finished second and seventh. Scotman Jim Clark was only 33 seconds behind Jones, and Californian Dan Gurney, who took seventh, was at the helm of the other Lotus-Ford entry. The car itself, a British Lotus powered by a modified Ford Fairlane engine, clears the ground by only 3.75 inches. A gasoline burner, it has the speed usually reserved for the conventional alcohol-fueled Indy cars. The Pure Oil Company considered the Lotus-Ford's chances of unseating the Offenhausers so good that it agreed to supply the gasoline and lubricants after an absence of some nine years from the Indy track. Boating Is Coming Of Age!

(This is the first in a series of boating articles directed to the operator of a small boat. These articles have been prepared by the public relations office of the Waukegan Power Squadron, a unit of the United States Power Squadrons, a nationwide organizaation dedicated to the promotion of Safety Afloat.)

by ALFRED RICHTER

There will be a lot of talk about boating during the week of June 30 through July 6, which has been officially designated as National Safe Boating Week by President Kennedy.

Although the President, as we all know, is fond of boating, he didn't make this proclamation on his own. He was merely following a resolution passed by both Houses of Congress back in 1958 requesting the Chief Executive each year to set aside the week including July 4 as a special time to promote safe boat handling practices.

The reason for this Congressional request is well summed up in a portion of the Presidential proclamation: "Recreational boating is playing an increasingly important part in the lives of millions of Americans who look to it as a means of maintaining physical vigor and mental alertness."

ACTUALLY, BOATING as we know it today has not yet reached legal maturity—it is not yet 21 years of age. Today's boating is a war baby. It is 16 years old. It was born in 1947, the first year that annual unit sales of outboard motors surpassed 500,000 - and boating became a sport for the masses.

However, this sturdy youth has reached remarkable proportions in its relatively short life span. Today, it is estimated, there are more than 37 million people who go boating each year on a more than casual basis. They use 7,400,000 recreational craft. And they spend 2.5 billion dollars a year to buy and maintain and fuel and insure these pleasure craft.

Naturally, there are many people who are concerned that this sport remain safe - that boating be maintained as a safe and enjoyable form of recreation. National Safe Boating Week is one of the many efforts to insure this happy outcome.

BOATING HAS built a remarkable safety record because groups interested in the sport have concentrated on the natural desire of everyone to excel at what he is doing, and thus win the admiration of his fellows. This is why one of the major themes of our 1963 Safe Boating Week observance is "Boating is more fun if pou do it right."

Statistics for recent years from the National Office of Vital Statistics and the U.S. Coast Guard show no increases in serious boating accidents. Although the complete report for 1962 is not yet in, every indication is that boating set a new safety record in 1962.

The State of Illinois has reported sharp reductions in fatal boating accidents. To continue this fine record in 1963, all of us with an interest in boating and boating safety must hew to the line which has proved so successful in the past - we must avoid the hysterical approach which will alienate most boatmen, and continue soberly and calmly to remind boaters of the simple rules of common sense which lead to safe boat handling and greater enjoyment.

Suburban Aces Set Pace In Convertible Stock Car Races at O'Hare

Suburban drivers continue to blank Chicagoans in late model convertible stock car races at O'Hare Stadium, Mannheim and Irving Park rds.

The converts joined by the crowd-pleasing amateur Cadets are in high speed competition every Friday and Saturday under the lights at O'Hare. The Cadets and the super-novice Chariot division with men and women driving against each other form the excitement every Sunday. Gates open nightly at 6 p.m. with the first race at 8:30.

Three suburban stars continue to pace the charge of the convertibles - defending Champion Erik Johnson of Highland Park, Bill Lutz of Elmwood Park and Gene Marmor of River Grove. They regularly have taken the measure of such Chicago favorites as Roy Czach, Terry Parker and Harry Simonsen.

Also representing the suburbs are Jerry Vandermeir of Melrose Park, Butch Linden of Buffalo Grove, Tom Armstrong of Addison, Dieter Holz of Lombard, Jim Burke of Worth, Ron Hieber. of Elmwood Park, Jim Vandermeir of Arlington Heights, Bob Pronger of Blue Island, Elmer Musgrave of Niles and numerous others.

The next big race for the convertibles will be the "Firecracker 100 lapper" Friday night, July 5th. This big holiday weekend will also include races July 4, 6 and 7. (

College Division Track Finals Set For Stagg Field

Barring late acceptable entries 48 small colleges and universities across the United States, from Connecticut to Hawaii, will compete in the first annual NCAA College Division national track and field championships on the University of Chicago's Stagg Field, Friday and Saturday, June 7-8, 1963.

More than 180 individual stars will appear on the Stagg oval and infield for the two-day spectacular, beginning at 4:00 p.m. Friday.

Part of Friday's activity will be in the form of trials for Saturday's finals in the mile and 880, but the remainder of the program will consist of trials and finals in the hammer throw, 100-yard dash, hop, step and jump, 440-yard hurdles, shot put, javelin, and six mile run.

SATURDAY'S events will get under way at 11:30 a.m. with the discus and broad jump. Finals in the remaining nine events will follow, starting at 12:40 a.m.

Meet chairman, University of Chicago athletic director, Walter Hasse, announced that half price general admission tickets for students from any school or college are still avaialble by mail order from the Chicago Athletic Department, 5640 S. University Avenue, at a cost of 50 cents per student per day. Adult ducats may be obtained in advance at $1.00 per day.

This first national meet, which follows the various regional meets as the year's final post season event for college division competition, will draw a galaxy of regional stars, and previous regional records, as well as some Stagg Field standards, should fall in abundance before the windup of the two days of action.

Among the brightest individual standouts on hand will be Loyola University miler Tom O'Hara, who has run the mile in 3:59.2 this year, will be a strong favorite to top the 22-man mile field in the college division meet, and crack the regional record of 4:09.7 and the Stagg Field mark of 4:07.9 in the process.

Jim's Holds 2nd Slot

Jim's Service held on to second place, one point behind the leaders, by taking four points from Bugiel's Pastry Shop in the St. Colette golf league.

Wins by Schramm, Cremerius, Schwartz, and Kloske accounted for all of Jim's markers.

F. J. Die Mold continued its drive by whipping Beverly Lanes and the pace-setters now own 19 points. Metzger, Cantwell, and Medina won their matches with Medina sporting the low net.

Clark Brass moved into third place by taking five points from Lortie Plumbing. Above-average golf was exhibited by Bronke, Hickey, and Ulbrich. Hickey's 32 low individual net made up all of Clark's tallies.

Quadriga Manufacturing Co. moved from seventh place to fifth in the tight league by winning six points from Team 4.

The standings:

F. J. Die Mold	19
Jim's Service	18
Clark Brass	16½
Team 4	16
Quadriga Mfg.	15
Bugiels Pastry Shop	14½
Beverly Lanes	12½
Lortie Plumbing	8½

Plaza Routs Jupiter

Plaza Liquors routed first-place Jupiter Cleaners and climbed within six points of the top position in the Hoffman 59ers ladies golf league.

Pace-setting Jupiter now owns 44 points with Plaza boasting 38. The Record rounds out the first division with 35.

Daily Event was "Mystery Event." Winner was Berniel Thornton. Yvonne Bradtke and Joy Keese tied for second.

The standings:

Jupiter	44
Plaza Liquors	38
The Record	35
Al Griffith	34½
Clothes Basket	30
Frank's	24½

Here's Golfer Who Learned Lessons Well!

Paul Borvig decided he needed a few golf lessons.

Paul's not new to the game, but he felt he needed some polishing up on his strokes.

Borvig went to Sam Rauworth, pro at the Winston Golf Center, and Sam spent two sessions with Paul, the manager of Hal Liebers Bowlers Shop in Palatine.

Paul then went out to put his lessons to work at the challenging Old Orchard Country Club.

"How'd you do?" Sam asked his pupil when Borvig returned to the Winston layout several days later.

"Not bad," Paul replied. "I shot a 73."

Rauworth smiled. "All you did was beat my best score at Old Orchard."

Sam explained that he had a 72 before they put the traps in at Old Orchard. "I figure to add about four or five strokes to that score now," he said. (

Wille Adds To Lead in Golf Action

Dumps Kirchhoff Entry; Keefer's in 10-0 Win

Wille Lumber and Fuel, undefeated since the opening of the season, added to its string of victories last week in the Tuesday division of the Mount Prospect Twilight League as it conquered Kirchoff Insurance 7½-2½.

The victory gave the Lumbermen the league lead for the third week in a row and in fact increased their lead over their closest pursuers to 4½ points, their greatest margin thus far.

Kruses's Tavern, tied for second place the week before with Licht's Paint Store, met the Painters last week and whipped them 6½-3½ which tumbled Licht's out of second down to fifth. Kruse's, however, was still unable to claim undisputed possession of second place being forced to share it with Keefer's Pharmacy, who turned up with a very handsome 10-0 victory over Mount Prospect Electric Construction Co.

KEEFER'S "clean-sweep" victory, a rarity in this league, was the first one of the season and enabled the Pharmacists to jump from sixth to second and a mere 4½ points out of first place.

Dave Shean was the hot shooter for the Pharmacists as he toured the second nine in a 39 net 30 which was good for one point each for match and medal and a bonus point for low individual net score. His unhappy opponent was Ted Banks.

The other matches in the clean sweep went as follows: Ed Stofft took two on a forfeit when his opponent Dave Hanna picked up on the sixth. Warren Van Der Voort took two from his favorite pigeon Dick Rubner, and Ed Hendricks won two from Hal Jebens. The Pharmacist's final point came for winning low team net.

IN THE REMAINING team contests Annen and Busse were impressive in an 8½-1½ victory over Phil's Pure Oil, Golden Isle Restaurant knocked off Winkelman's Shell Service, and Mount Prospect Bowling Lanes scrambled to a 5½-4½ victory over Illinois Range, which was the Bowling Lanes' first victory of a very frustrating season.

Low scores for the evening were posted by Dave Shean and Gene Raasch, both with 39's. Birdies were reported by Walt Lyman No. 5 and Bob Krause and Len Johnson on No. 9.

Team standings May 28:

Wille Lumber and Fuel	30½
Keefer's Pharmacy	26
Kruse's Tavern	26
Annen and Busse Rltrs.	25½
Licht's Paint Store	23
M P. Elec. Constr. Co.	18
Kirchoff Insurance	17
Golden Isle Rest.	16
Phil's Pure Oil	15
Illinois Range	14½
Winkelman's Shell Serv.	14½

'Y' Girls Place 3rd In Track

The Northwest Suburban YMCA girls team finished third in the 18th Annual City-Wide track meet staged in Chicago's Hansen Stadium last Saturday.

"We are very proud of our girls," said Miss Helen Coryell, women and girls director of the Northwest Suburban YMCA. "This is only our second year in the meet and we were competing against 16 other YMCA's."

Taking two firsts were Valerie Neal in the Cadet Division's 25 yard dash and broad jump. Valerie also brought home a trophy for the individual high point winner in the Cadet Division.

Peters Holds Lead

Steverak's 34 Tops Play

Peters and Company Realtors remained on top and increased their lead in the Old Orchard Scratch League by taking 7½ points from the 444 Pressmen.

It looks like the left-handers of Beverly Lanes need practice as they allowed Pitzen Movers to take 7½ markers and move up to eighth place.

The team to watch is still Ellis, Sabo, Greene, and Co. They took 6½ points to knock Arlington Realty from second place.

Best round turned in Friday was a 34 by Steverak. Ellis and Becker had 35s with Meling, Bokelman, MayTas, and Sabo recording 36s.

In action the previous week Meling and Becker paced the league with 37s. Mike Greene had an eagle three on the par five 14th.

The standings:

Peters & Co. Realtors	27½
Black's Memorial Home	23½
Arlington Realty	21
L-Nor Cleaners	19½
Dean's Landscaping	18
Lohr's Pharmacy	17½
Nelson Realty	16½
Pitzen Movers	13½
The Colt Restaurant	12½
444 Pressmen	10½

Headliner Sunday

Parnelli Jones Heads Entries in Rex Mays Classic

Parnelli Jones, Torrance, Calif., winner of the 1963 500 mile Indianapolis race, and six other of the top 10 finishers have turned in signed entries for the 14th annual 100 mile national championship Rex Mays Classic on the Wisconsin State Fair park one mile oval, Sunday, June 9.

Jones will drive the same Agajanian-Willard Battery Special he drove to a record-smashing 500 mile win.

Others in the first 10 who will appear include Rodger Ward, Indianapolis; Don Branson, Champaign, Ill.; Jim McElreath, Arlington; Tex.; Chuck Hulse, Downey, Calif.; Dick Rathmann, Roselle, Ill., and the Sheraton - Thompson Special driven by A. J. Foyt, Houston, Tex. It is expected that Foyt will be at the wheel of the car here since he won the Mays race a year ago in a thrilling duel with Don Davis.

More than 45 entries have been received. The fastest 20 qualifiers are assured of starting positions in the 100 miler. The next fastest 16 qualifiers then compete in the 20 mile added event with the first two finishers being tacked on to the starting field for the big race.

BRANSON HOLDS the one mile mark of 34.086 seconds (105.615 miles per hour) and Ward holds the 100 mile mark of 57 minutes, 46.21 seconds (103.890 miles per hour). A year ago Jones and Jim Hurtubise, Lennox, Calif. challenged Foyt right up to the checker flag for the win.

In addition there will be a Lotus with a Coventry - Climax engine entered with Lloyd Ruby, Wichita Falls, Tex. as driver. A pair of Buick powered racers also are entered by Jim Kimberly, Chicago. Ticket holders will be admitted free to the practice session, Saturday, June 8, from noon to 5 p.m.

Grandstand reserved seats on sale at Wisconsin Auto Racing, Inc., 1200 S. First Street, Milwaukee 4, Wis. 18,500 bleacher thrill seats on sale Saturday and Sunday, at state fair park. Time trials at 12:30 p.m., 20 mile race lines up 2:30 p.m., central daylight time. (

BOB HOPE, as a leading New York drama critic, and Lucille Ball, as his wife, who entertains notions of becoming a playwright, enjoy a light-hearted interlude in this scene from "Critic's Choice," the delightful Warner Bros. comedy opening Sunday at the Catlow Theatre. Marilyn Maxwell, Rip Torn, Jessie Royce Landis, John Dehner and Jim Backus are also starred in the Frank P. Rosenberg production directed by Don Weis in Technicolor and Panavision. "Critic's Choice" was adapted from the hit Broadway play by Ira Levin.

Meeting to Hear 'Mystery Organist'

MISS ANNE McCaffrey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. McCaffrey, 156 N. Forest, Palatine, will be one of the featured singers in "Showcase of '63" on Sunday, June 9, at the Jack and Jill Theatre in Chicago. A graduate of Northwestern University where she participated in choral and opera presentations and the Waa-Mu campus variety show, Miss McCaffrey teaches in the Chicago Public School system. (Bill following the regular meeting and election of officers for the coming fiscal year, the Northwest Chapter of the Hammond Organ Society will be entertained by a mystery guest organist on the evening of June 11.

This meeting will take place at 8 p.m. at the Lyon - Healy store, Randhurst, Rt. 83 and Rand Road, Mount Prospect.

A party has been planned for the final meeting for all members and their families. Refreshments will be served by the hostess, Mrs Dorothy Evans and her assistants.

THE PURPOSE of the Northwest Chapter of the Hammond Organ Society is to bring together people who are interested in the Hammond Organ, whether or not they are owners of the instrument; to encourage their enjoyment of good organ music; to aid in their acquisition of playing techniques and skills, and to help them share the good fellowship of a common musical interest.

The officers of the society are: president, Paul W. Trava; vice president, Elaine Noll; secretary, Wilma Kups, and treasurer, Kenneth D. Molkup.

Anyone interested in joining the society prior to the coming meeting June 11 may do so by contacting Molkup. Anyone interested in further information about the organ society may contact Wilma Kups, CL 3-1599.

Happy Suburbanites Blush At Sophisticated Satirist

by FAY TOQUE

There's a happy blush hovering nightly over Elk Grove Village since northwest suburbs discovered Miss Elinore Sten—"The Sweetheart of Sigmund Freud."

Miss Sten, who needs no introduction to long-time devotees of Rush Street clubs, is best described as a female Dwight Fiske and a happy innovation for the suburban entertainment scene.

"Ellie" Sten has been in command of the Maitre d' Restaurant piano bar since May 21, maintaining a gay party mood with her original songs, readings, and verses which made her famous to thousands from New York to Las Vegas.

MISS STEN is not everybody's cup of tea. But scores of suburbanites are being delighted with her endless supply of humorously risque songs, naughty ad libs sparkling in double entendre, and sophisticated patter often aimed good-naturedly at her audience. Both times this reviewer visited the room it was filled to capacity.

Among her best specialty numbers are "Cinderella," "Pandora's Box," and "Square Peg Intellectual," all of which she wrote herself. For this reviewer, however, the highlight of her act is an inimitable impression of actress Bette Davis. It is almost frightening in its exactitude.

"Ellie" is blessed with a striking—though unintentional—physical resemblance to the star. This likeness provides additional bite to her interpretation of all the stock Davis trademarks: the exaggerated puff on a cigarette extending from the curved wrist; flaring nostrils and flashing popped eyes; a hand nervously tugging at a wisp of blond hair; petulant lips curled in a half-sneer; and the clipped speech of that unmistakable Davis voice and its strained upper register emerging from somewhere behind the sinus cavities.

THE PERFORMANCE is astounding — and devastatingly funny to Davis devotees. The routines include "Baby Jane," a stinging parody on the macabre script of Davis' most recent movie, and "Scarlet O'Davis," a naughty takeoff on "Gone with the Wind" featuring an interpretation of Davis as the heroine. The latter includes a showstopper for veteran film fans — a hilarious impersonation of character actress Butterfly McQueen, who played the servant Prissy in the Academy Award movie.

Early in the evening, Miss Sten provides piano renditions of standard and semi-classical numbers with arrangements that are pleasing and distinctive.

The intimacy of the elegant lounge is ideally suited for "Ellie" Sten's talents, and the room was recently enhanced with the enlargement and elevation of the piano bar as well as an improved sound system.

The Maitre d' Restaurant is located at Higgins and Arlington Heights (State) Roads.

Comedy at Shady Lane

"Exit the Body," a comedy by Fred Charmichael, is playing June 11 through 23 at the Shady Lane Playhouse, located on U. S. 20, three miles west of Marengo.

The play stars Eileen Hall and Dale Benson. Curtain times are Tuesday through Friday, 8:45 p.m., Wednesday, 2 p.m., Saturday, 7 and 10 p.m. and Sunday, 7:45 p.m. (Bill

Village Theatre Makes 'Auntie Mame' Sparkle

by TULLY WAGGONER

A slightly expurgated version of "Auntie Mame" was presented last week by Village Theatre, Inc. in Prospect High School Little Theater. Under the best of conditions, the comedy comprised of 22 scenes and a cast of deMille proportions, is difficult to stage. Village Theatre, however, met the challenge with its customary teamwork in a production that was both visually and theatrically sparkling.

The Lawrence and Lee comedy isn't much of a play. For that matter, the Patrick Dennis novel that inspired it wasn't, by most critical standards, much of a book. Rather, it is a series of satirical, almost stylized, vignettes highlighting eight years in the life of an incredible woman trying to raise her orphaned nephew in an impossible and uncooperative world.

The scenes are held together by a near gossamer thread of a plot that somehow seems more important at the time than it really is, while weakly offering a plea for racial tolerance and the old Polonius axiom, "to thine own self be true."

THIS IS NOT to say that "Auntie Mame" is not a fun piece of theatre. On the contrary, with its whacky and fantastic situations and host of characters as absurdly stock as any found outside of Clyde Fitch, it is just the kind of play that audiences everywhere take to their hearts, and actors, amateur and professional, scramble over each other to perform.

After all, "Auntie Mame" ran for 639 performances on Broadway and two road companies toured the country for two years.

Village Theatre attacked the play with commendable enthusiasm.

There were far more pluses than zeros in the production. Jeanette Jenkin's main set (the drawing room of Auntie Mame's Beekman Place townhouse) was a handsome and functional delight, boasting an elegantly curved staircase that would have been at home in any Bette Davis picture. Other scenes, including a suburban garden patio, Macy's toy department, the Egyptian desert, and a ledge atop the Matterhorn, quickly appeared and disappeared with clever stylized or lighted effect, a tribute to a well-organized stage crew.

The more than 50 characters in "Auntie Mame" are painted in broad strokes by the authors. Almost without exception, each is a biting caricature of a well-known stock type, from the Irish maid and ante bellum Southern aristocrat to the worldly but impractical, irrespressible Auntie Mame.

For some unknown reason, many actors feel compelled to approach such parts with herculean vigor, embellishing them with exaggerated interpretations that destroy the original statement; they hope their underlined emphasis will insure the audience's getting the point. Happily, most of the cast members refrained from unnecessary excursions into the realm of overstatement.

THE SIZE OF the cast prohibits mention of all the performers deserving praise. Outstanding, however, was Rosemary Barry as Agnes Gooch, the role created in New York and Hollywood by Peggy Cass. It is unfortunate that Miss Barry was not in the Broadway producer's office when he was casting his play; if she had been, the world might never have heard of Peggy Cass. A comedienne of daffy charm, Miss Barry gave a subtle performance in a zany part that easily can be and often has been overplayed to the point of burlesque.

Mike Moses was appealing as the young Patrick Dennis, whose rearing was placed in the somewhat inept hands of Auntie Mame. Kay Hawley and John Lobenhofer were convincingly Gaelic and Japanese as the servants. Betty Brooks and Al Wilcox seemed just right as a nouveau riche suburban couple, while Connie Beckway scored heavily with a devastating performance as the vacuous daughter.

OTHERS WHO helped enliven the goings-on during the play's four - night run were John Grayson as Auntie Mame's Southern suitor; Bob Hawley as a Byronic Irish poet; Dave Shaughnessv as the adult Patrick Dennis; and Ann Hume, delicious to watch in a variety of stunning gowns, but who never seemed quite believable as Vera Charles, the indestructible First Lady of the American theatre.

But of course it was Auntie Mame's show from her first act entrance down the grand staircase to her last act exit up the same set of stairs. She dominates every scene with what is probably one of the longest and most demanding roles this side of Nina Leeds in "Strange Interlude."

Shirley Freeman was a wise choice for the role that has demanded the attention of such important ladies of the theatre as Beatrice Lillie, Greer Garson, Sylvia Sidney and Constance Bennett.

Possessed with a strong stage personality, Mrs. Freeman nimbly shuttled between scenes of near slapstick—her ride to the hounds—to moments of genuine tenderness—her maternal concern over her nephew's future—with only occasional hints that she might have been the least bit influenced by Rosalind Russell, whom she, in a small degree, resembles.

EQUALLY AS agile as her onstage performance was Mrs. Freeman's offstage maneuverability exhibited by her dozens of breathtaking costume changes. In fact, a cheer of appreciation and admiration must be raised for the committee in charge of dressing what was undoubtedly the most handsomely and colorfully costumed cast ever assembled in the Northwest suburbs.

If the show had a weak point, it was the opening scene which never quite got off the ground. What should have been an electrically charged and very-lively cocktail party — a curtain raiser to set the pace for the entire evening—turned out to be about as gay as a Wednesday night session of the Great Books study group. Luckily, this initial disappointment was soon overcome by Richard Tyler, whose able and talented direction served again to demonstrate that his appointment as the group's first full-time director was the best thing that's happened to community theatre in the suburbs.

Despite the play's tremendous demands, Village Theatre came up a winner. "Auntie Mame" was an excellent and happy choice to ring down their 13th season. (Bill

MARLON BRANDO as U.S. Ambassador MacWhite, toasts an Asiatic reunion with former war comrade Deong, played by Japanese star Eiji Okada, in the screen's elaborate rendering of "The Ugly American." Film produced and directed by George Englund also features Sandra Church. Screen writer Stewart Stern adapted the best-selling novel about the U.S.A.'s emissaries abroad. Co-featured is Pat Boone in "The Yellow Canary" at the Des Plaines Theatre.

Star Skater Joins Polar Dome Staff

Andree Anderson Jacoby, who starred with the Ice Follies for four years after winning the World Gold Dance championship in 1959, has joined the staff at the Polar Dome, Chicagoland's newest ice skating rink which will be open all summer.

Miss Jacoby, who lives in Chicago and is a graduate of Schurz High School as well as Syracuse University, joined Follies right after winning the U. S. title. She was runner-up in the world competition the same year.

HER MAIN objective at the Polar Dome will be to help skaters improve their technique and to work especially with couples who wish to perfect their dance routines for future enjoyment on skates.

"To have a permanent place to skate instead of living out of a suit case as we do with Ice Follies will be a welcome change," Andree says. (Bill

Award Painting Prizes Monday

The next meeting of the Des Plaines Art Guild will be held Monday at the West Park Fieldhouse at 8 p.m.

Richard Hoyt and his wife of Mount Prospect will judge the annual painting critique. After giving a short comment and constructive criticism of each painting individually, Hoyt will award first, second, third and honorable mention ribbons to the paintings of his choice.

These paintings will be donated by the artists to the guild to be auctioned at the annual Summer Art Fair.

Both Hoyt and his wife, Doris, are graduates of the Cleveland Institute of Art. They are both known in the Des Plaines area for their creative efforts in the design and decoration of many sets for the Des Plaines Theatre Guild productions.

Hoyt has won awards from the Artist's Guild of Chicago and various publications and business associations. (Bill

Festival of Films Set At Theatre

The longest film festival in the 30-year history of the Clark Theatre, 11 N. Clark, Chicago, began Sunday, June 2, and will run for a 10-week period.

This year's schedule of 140 all-time favorite films will be the most extensive line-up of award winning films ever shown at any movie theatre in the country, a theatre spokesman said.

Two Spanish pictures are set for Friday, June 7. Both "Viridiana" and "Young and the Damned" were directed by Luis Bunuel.

ONE DAY IN the life of a Russian soldier is depicted in "Ballad of a Soldier" to be seen on Saturday, June 8, along with another Russian classic, "Cranes Are Flying."

Monday, June 10, two science fiction thrillers are booked for the Clark, "Village of the Damned" and "Day the Earth Caught Fire."

Orson Welles' famous 1941 classic "Citizen Kane" is paired with another Welles' film "Touch of Evil" on Wednesday, June 12. (Bill

'Everybody Loves Opal' Is Coming

As its next attraction beginning June 11 for a six-week run, the Country Club Theatre in the Old Orchard Country Club, Prospect Heights, will present the prankish comedy "Everybody Loves Opal" by John Patrick, author of "Teahouse of the August Moon."

Playing the part of Opal, a money-scorning junk collector, will be Patricia Ferris, who also plays the lead role in the Country Club theatre's presentation of "The Tender Trap," closing June 9.

Gordon Oas-Heim, the director, is also in "Everybody Loves Opal" and has appeared in the past four plays at Country Club theatre.

Also featured are Jeri Jensen, Norman Rice, Edward Albrecht, and Alan Wright. Rice and Albrecht are members of the theatre's resident company.

Performances are Tuesday through Friday at 8:30 p.m., Saturday at 7 and 10, and Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

The Old Orchard Country Club theatre, is open for dinner and cocktails before and after the show. (Bill

Army Nurses Get Pick of Hospitals

In an attempt to alleviate the acute shortage of Army Nurses the Department of the Army announced that prospective Army Nurses can now, for the first time, apply for assignment in specifically listed Army Hospitals.

Among the various hospitals in which openings exist are those in Honolulu; San Francisco; Denver; the Washington, D. C. area; Orleans, France; and Germany.

The Department of the Army said this new assignment plan is designed to help the service fill the almost 2,000 vacancies in the Army Nurse Corps. Many of these vacancies are the result of the retirement of nurses who enlisted during World War II and who have now completed their 20 years of service.

Limited vacancies have been reserved in the listed hospitals to be filled by nurses from the Midwest area, announced Fifth Army Headquarters in Chicago. Local Army recruiters have been assigned to screen applicants for these vacancies.

To qualify for these vacancies Registered Nurses must be graduates of accredited nursing programs, 18 to 32 years old, and willing to spend a minimum of two years on active duty with the Army as Officers in the Army Nurse Corps.

Nurses entering active duty under this program will also be entitled to all other benefits now open to Army Nurses and other Army officers.

Further information on openings in the Army Nurse Corps is available from local U. S. Army Recruiters or from the U. S. Army Recruiting Main Station in Chicago.

Art Center Offers Landscape Class

An adult art class has been added to the list of summer courses now being offered by the Countryside Art Center, according to education chairman Mrs. A. Bogaerts of Palatine.

The new course, a landscape class is limited to three mediums: pen and ink, pencil, and chalk. It will be taught by Shirley Erickson, stable artist in the Countryside Gallery.

The 10-week class will begin June 19 and will meet each Friday afternoon from 1 to 4:15 p.m. until Aug. 21.

Students will meet at the Countryside Gallery, 10 W. Miner St., Arlington Heights, at 1 p.m. each Friday and then proceed to a selected rural area in the vicinity.

PERSONS interested in enrolling in the landscape class should call Mrs. Bogaerts before June 16 at FL 8-5328.

In addition to the new adult class, the Countryside Art Center is also offering summer art classes for children. Children in grades seven and under have a choice of a morning or afternoon class taught by William Wimmer.

These classes will meet Tuesday and Thursdays, June 18 through July 23, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. and from 1 to 3 p.m.

Children in grades eight through 12 will be taught by Mary Bornath in classes meeting Monday and Friday mornings from June 17 to July 19.

Another class, clay modeling for children, will be taught by Aloise Zehner and will meet Monday, Wednesday, and Friday mornings from July 22 to Aug. 2. All of the children's classes will be held at the Pioneer Park Fieldhouse in Arlington Heights.

Parents may register their children for the art classes by calling Mrs. Fran Shillington, CL 3-9521. (Bill

Brando's Role Is Different

All of those who have a mental picture of Marlon Brando on the screen running around in ripped T-shirts and slapping women in the face are due for a shock.

In his latest picture, "The Ugly American," which opens Friday at the Golf Mill Theatre, Brando does a complete switch, playing a high ranking diplomatic member of the U.S. State Department.

Adapted from the best selling novel, the film shows Brando as a recently appointed American ambassador to a fictitious Far Eastern country.

AS AN added treat for the children, the Golf Mill will present a special children's show Saturday at 1 p.m. with an hour of cartoons and comedies plus the feature film, "Goliath and the Dragon."

Starting Friday, June 14, the theatre will play, "The Wonderful World of the Brothers Grimm" on an exclusive Northwest suburban showing. (Bill

Jane Morgan Stars In 'King and I'

The first musical of the 1963 summer season begins at Melody Top Theatre with Jane Morgan making a return visit this season in Rodgers and Hammerstein's famous "The King And I" for three weeks, June 10 to 30.

Featured with Miss Morgan will be Jose Duval, versatile actor - baritone, who began his stage career in the field of opera.

Miss Morgan, who was well received last summer at Melody Top when she played opposite Earl Wrightson in Cole Porter's "Kiss Me Kate," has been one of America's leading recording artists for the last 10 years.

Before that she was the toast of the European capitals having become established as a top star in theatres and supper clubs there.

MELODY Top's next attraction will star Gordon and Sheila MacRae in "Guys and Dolls" for two weeks, July 1 to July 14. Other shows to follow this season are "The Music Man," "The Unsinkable Molly Brown," "The Vagabond King," and Bye-Bye Birdie."

There are eight performances a week, each weekday evening at 8:30 p.m.; two on Saturday, 6 p.m. and 9:30 p.m.; Sunday at 7:30 p.m. The box office is now open daily in Hillside from noon to 9 p.m. For information, call AUstin 7-1234 or LInden 4-6200.

Merchants Sponsor Art Fair June 14-16

Mount Prospect Plaza Merchants Association is sponsoring an Art Fair to be held at Mount Prospect Plaza, Central Road and Rand Road, Mount Prospect, June 14, 15 and 16th.

The fair will open on Friday, June 14 at 2:30 p.m. and run to 9 p.m.; Saturday, June 15, 9:30 to 5:30 p.m.; Sunday, June 16, noon to 5 p.m.

Artists from Countryside Art Guild, Des Plaines Art Guild, Mount Prospect Art Guild, and the Park Ridge Art Guild, as well as free lance artists will participate.

THERE will be many varieties of art objects on display and for sale. Some of the types of work to be exhibited are: oil paintings, water colors, collages, Japanese brush painting, ceramics, rug hangings, carvings, sterling jewelry, vitreous enamel, and silhouettes.

These art works will be judged by James Eccles of Oak Park, Merrlin Enabinit of Chicago, and Mrs. Diana Gordon of Oak Park, all prominent in the art field. Judging will be held at 3 p.m. on Sunday, June 16.

Anyone having questions in regard to this art fair, may contact Adele Hensel at Mount Prospect Plaza Merchants Association. 255-0644. (Bill

Frankie Masters Is Set for New Resort

Frankie Msaetrs and his "big band" opens Friday, June 7, at Pheasant Run Lodge in St. Charles for "dancing under the stars."

Masters' 12-piece orchestra will provide music on the swimming pool veranda. According to owner Edward J. McArdle, "The setting under the stars with 18th century gas lights will provide the most exciting dance setting in the Chicagoland area."

The "Dancing Under the Stars" policy of the lodge will continue each Friday night through the summer.

THE NEW Pheasant Run Lodge, located on Rt. 64 just west of the DuPage County Airport, is enjoying its premiere season. The 184-room lodge is the newest resort in mid-America.

It provides three restaurants, an 18-hole championship golf course on its 174 acres of land and one of the most unusual swimming pools in this part of the country. The pool is both an indoor and outdoor facility with the water kept at a constant 80 degree temperature both summer and winter.

The "Bourbon Street" attraction of the lodge, a reproduction of the famous New Orleans street all under-roof, with its many shops and interesting cocktail lounge is quickly becoming one of the most famous places to browse and shop in the area.

Admission for the "Dancing Under the Stars" with the Masters' orchestra is two dollars a person. Reservations are now being accepted for June 7.

Pipe Organ Concert Monday

A theatre pipe organ concert will be presented by C.A.T.O.E., a theatre organ club, at the Elm Skating Club, Roosevelt and Butterfield Roads, Monday at 8:30 p.m. Featured will be guest artist Pearl White and Elm organist Tony Tahlman.

C.A.T.O.E. members, including Richard Mullin, 6N481 Cloverdale Road, Roselle, have donated many hours of their spare time working on the improvement and enlargement of the "Elm" pipe organ.

Proceeds from the concert will go towards furthering the club's purpose of keeping alive the once famous theatre pipe organ. (Bill

Palatine Band to Play At Randhurst

The Palatine-Northwest Community Band will play a 40-minute concert in the Randhurst Shopping Center concourse Saturday at 11 a.m. It will be the band's first public concert of the year.

Starting June 14, the band will present a series of 10 old-fashioned concerts in the Palatine Community Park, it was announced this week by Paul P. Siegert, president.

Played on Fridays at 8 p.m., the concerts will feature soloists and small specialty groups, in addition to a varied program of music for a full band. (Bill

MOUNT EMBLEM
"Illinois' Most Beautiful Cemetery"
Site of the
OLD DUTCH MILL
Built in 1850

The DuPage County Historical Society presented an AWARD OF HONOR to Mount Emblem in 1956 for preserving the Old Dutch Mill as an educational and historic exhibit.
Visitors to the Old Dutch Mill are always welcome.
Mount Emblem is distinctively different.
Here is the expression of an ideal — Nature's eternal loveliness transformed into a memorial of Living Beauty. Natural beauty — unmarred by artificiality or perishable structures. This is the keynote of our landscape policy. Objects of nature are REAL, their appeal is universal, continuous through time.
When you visit, you will be aware of the meticulous maintenance. You will find that our prices are moderate. It costs no more to own the best.
"It is better to have it and not need it—
Than to need it and not have it."

FROM GENESIS TO REVELATION
A Plan formed since "before the foundation of the Earth."
And you are in it
Along with the amazing scientific developments of our day, world leaders are contemplating bold programs for improving mankind's social, political, economic and religious systems. Everywhere men have plans. Is it so strange then to believe that the Mighty Creator of the heavens and earth has a Plan? Indeed He has! The Holy Bible embodies the thoughts and purposes of our God. Through the centuries Kings and Priests, scholars of every profession have sought to solve the mysteries of the Bible. But its Grand Design has continued to elude all . . . until now, when in accord with that Divine Plan, those who "have an ear to hear" may come to an accurate knowledge of the gracious character and unerring purpose of its Divine Author.
THE DIVINE PLAN OF THE AGES
This widely accepted text book on the Bible has brought to its readers a wealth of Truth and understanding. Topically arranged and handsomely bound, it discusses clearly, plainly:
• The Mystery Hid From Ages and From Generations
• Our Lord's Return
• The Permission of Evil
• The Day of Judgment
• Ransom and Restitution
• The Kingdoms of This World
• The Kingdom of God and many other vitally important Bible subjects. Library edition (shown here) bound in cloth - 50 cents. Paper bound edition - 30 cents.

Picnic Care

Food Poisoning Is Hazard of Summer

The great American institution of the summer picnic is enjoyed by almost everyone—even by the flies and ants. But a picnic sometimes can end in sorrow, even tragedy, if a few simple precautions to stave off food poisoning are ignored.

In planning a picnic, remember these simple rules from the Illinois State Medical Society:

1. Instead of making the entire lunch at home—and keeping meal on the spot, just before car until your family builds up an appetite—take along the sandwich ingredients in their original wrappers and containers and make up your picnic feal on the spot, just before mealtime.

2. If your favorite sandwich is ham, you are one of many millions. But take the ham in a sealed can, and open just before dinner time. Ham spoils quickly at warm temperatures. Since potato salad also spoils easily, why not take the boiled potatoes, hardboiled eggs and mayonnaise (in its sealed jar) and mix the salad at the last minute?

3. THE PICNIC ice box is a great food saver, if properly used. But it should be a good, well-insulated box, with a tight lid, and plenty of ice in it. Items stored in the ice box should be well chilled in the refrigerator in advance.

4. Stick to canned stuffs and sealed jars and bottles that can be opened just before using. Be careful about pies (cream-filled bakery goods spoil fast on hot days). Take fresh fruits for dessert.

If in doubt about the safety of picnic foods, just keep in mind your own kitchen practices of refrigerating those edibles that require it. Then plan your picnic accordingly, and the risk of a picnic spoiled by food poisoning will be negligible.

Why June Retains Its Bridal Lead

There'll be about 1½ million weddings in the United States year and, as usual, June is the most popular month for the altar-bound.

Why June has become the traditional month of weddings and roses probably relates to the transportation difficulties in early America — too much snow in the winter to get to a wedding celebration. Spring and fall were bad times, too, because folks were busy with planting or harvesting.

Another influencing factor may have been that June is named after the Roman goddess, Juno. The Greeks had a different name for this dame—Hera. Anyway, the point is that Juno (or Hera) was the goddess of womanhood, of marriage and of maternity. She was usually represented as a matronly type, but nonetheless beautiful. The peacock, the cuckoo and the pomegranate were sacred to her. Homer spoke of her as the "white-armed goddess" and the "ox-eyed queen," all of which adds up to the kind of deity every prospective bride ought to have on her side.

THESE AND many other interesting observations about the origins of wedding customs are culed from Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia. Here are some more:

For instance, the engagement ring represents the very old custom of a gift to a girl desired in marriage. The diamond ring originated in Italy where the diamond was believed to be a "flame of love." In ancient Egypt, the ring was a symbol of eternity. It also symbolized the "captive bride" whose hands were tied to prevent her from escaping. Anglo-Saxons wore the ring on the right hand until the wedding when it was transferred to the left.

Another custom credited to ancient Egypt is throwing old shoes or tying them to the bridal car. In the land of the pyramids, the father handed the bride's sandal to the groom, symbolizing a transfer of authority.

MOHAMMEDANS, back in the middle ages, used orange blossoms in their ceremonies, as the orange was their most prolific fruit. Today orange blossoms symbolize the hope that the wedded couple will be blessed with children. Throwing rice carries the same wish, but in ancient times it was also a way to "protect" the marriage from evil gods.

Since the sun was a god in many early societies, it was believed that if a bride-to-be gazed on the sun she would be certain to have children. This may explain the old saying, "Happy is the bride the sun shines on."

Even though her wedding day is her happiest day, the bride is "supposed" to cry, symbolizing the dismay of the bride of olden times captured by force. The capture is also reflected in the custom of the groom carrying the bride over the threshold of their new home.

CENTURIES AGO in France the bride threw her garter and the girl who caught it was believed to be the next bride. Today the bride is somewhat more subdued and throws her bouquet, but the bridesmaids still scramble to make the catch.

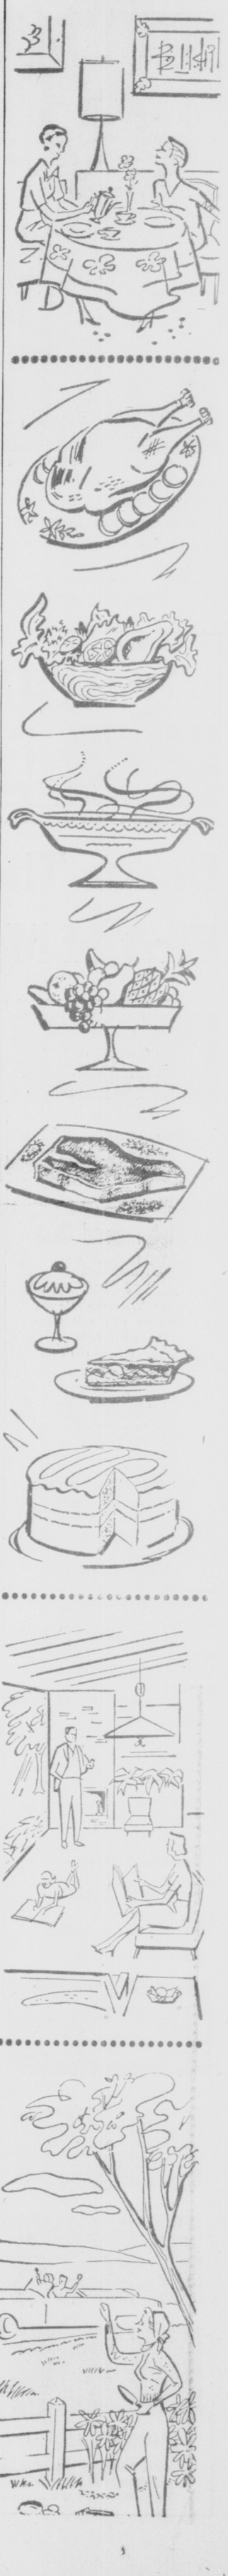
In ancient times, according to Compton's the date of the wedding was often chosen at some phase of the moon when the gods were presumed to be favorable. This practice, with the custom of eating honey at the marriage feast, may be the origin of the word honeymoon.

Sometimes the marriage ceremony involved guarantees. The veil over the bride's face may have indicated that she had been secluded from men, and her white robe was a warrant of her purity. Even now it is thought bad luck for the groom to see the bride before the ceremony on their wedding day.

ANOTHER widespread custom is for the bride to wear "something old, something new, something borrowed, and something blue." In ancient Israel, the bride's robe had a blue border signifying purity, fidelity and love.

High-caste Brahmans in India believe a girl should marry at puberty. Usually the child bride remains with her family until she is 15 or 16. Marriage celebrations in India are so elaborate, Compton's points out that "the expense of the affair and of the bride's dowry frequently drives the father to the moneylender." Many American fathers can testify that this turn of events is not exclusive with India.

Japanese tradition requires the bride to wear a veil over her elaborate hairdo called a "horn coverer." Jealousy is thought to vanish when it is removed.



TOM HOFFMANN OF Wheeling recently received Meadowbrook Woman's Club's first scholastic award for an outstanding high school senior boy. Eligible are Wheeling and Buffalo Grove graduating seniors who are furthering their education in college. Presenting the award are Mrs. Charles Mihalek and Mrs. Roger Chindberg, president of the club.

Senior Boy Awarded First Scholarship by Clubwomen

Meadowbrook Women's Club presented its first scholastic award to an outstanding high school senior boy on Tuesday, May 21. Recipient was Tom Hoffmann, 500 S. Wolf Road, Wheeling, a Prospect High School student. He will be continuing his education at the University of Illinois, majoring in agriculture.

Mrs. Roger Chindberg, president of the club, made the presentation at the honors' ceremony held in Prospect High Field House.

TED SCHROEDER and David Nikimken were also among the top candidates for this year's award.

The $100 honor is presented on the basis of outstanding scholastic ability. Wheeling and Buffalo Grove graduating seniors prepared to further their education in the college of their choice are considered, once they apply for this recognition. The club prefers that the award be used for the purchase of textbooks.

Judith Vlcek Wins Club Scholarship

Mrs. T. Skarr, education chairman of Mount Prospect Woman's Club, has announced that Judith Lynn Vlcek, 709 See Gwun, Mount Prospect, has been named winner of the club's $200 college scholarship. Miss Vlcek, a student at Prospect High School, received the check from Mrs. Walter Lyman, immediate past president, at an awards assembly May 21. She plans to attend Michigan State University.

Mrs. H. Glenn Gemmill, chairman of the club's Round Robin Bridge Tournament, last week announced the following winners:

FIRST, MRS. Joseph Johnston, 506 W. Golf Road, and Mrs. Earl Lewis, 506 S. Candota; second, Mrs. A. O. Spiers, 206 N. Wille, and Mrs. H. F. Bloss, 1109 W. Miner, Arlington Heights; third, Mrs. Paul Berg, 122 S. Wille, and Mrs. W. J. Kadlec, 300 S. Albert.

This tournament has become an annual affair and proceeds have gone into the club's philanthropies fund.

Toastmistresses Plan Installation

With the appropriate theme, "Summer Right in Your Own Back Yard," Midtown Toastmistress Club will hold its last meeting of the season Tuesday, June 4, in Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Association at 8 p. m.

New officers will be installed that evening and all women interested in becoming Toastmistress members are invited.

INVOCATION WILL be given by Mrs. Albert Peters of Arlington Heights and topicmistreses will be Mrs. Edward May of Arlington Heights. There will be a special education lesson presented by a guest. Toastmistress for the evening, Mrs. G. G. Voelz of Elk Grove, will introduce Mrs. H. A. Edwall of Mount Prospect in a reading, Mrs. R. A. Catherwood of Arlington Heights in an impromptu speech and Mrs. Albert Peters in a prepared speech.

Midtown Toastmistress Club resumes meetings the first Tuesday in September.

President of the group is Mrs. Thomas Brannan, 437-1544, who may be contacted for further information.

Affiliated Gardeners All Set to 'Go Places'

When Illinois' three delightful summer months finally arrive, it is the time to "go places and do things"! This might well be the philosophy behind the change-of-pace schedule enjoyed this summer by the many affiliated garden clubs of The Garden Club of Illinois. Monthly summer meetings for the entire membership will be held in three different areas in Illinois with the local garden clubs acting as hostesses.

June 10, Garden Club of Illinois members will wend their way to Central Illinois to be guests of the Springfield Civic Garden Club. Following a morning registration in the St. Nicholas Hotel, a carefully prepared day has been planned, including several Springfield beauty spots and highlighted by an afternoon program by Virginia Eifert, author, naturalist, photographer and editor of the "Living Museum" magazine.

MRS. EDWIN S. Hewitt, newly-elected state president from Libertyville, noting that the Springfield club has planned a day complete in every detail, exclaims "Their enthusiasm is contagious! So many Chicago area members wish to go that we are planning special chartered buses through our Chicago office for members wishing to travel together."

Mrs. Milton D. Thompson, president of the Springfield Civic Garden Club, announces that once the guests have parked their cars for the day and registered, between 8:30 a.m. and noon, their complete day, including transportation has been planned.

The plans include a tour of the rose gardens and concert at the Thomas Rees Carillon from 10-12 noon, with luncheon in the Coral Room of the St. Nicholas Hotel. In the afternoon the members will view a Little Flower Show titled "Flower Tributes to a Treasure House," which will be staged in the new Museum Galleries of the Illinois State Museum. The gallery of fascinating and colorful India paintings will be complemented by flower arrangements.

MRS. VIRGINIA Eifert will highlight the memorable day with a program at 2:15 p.m. in the Museum. With a naturalist's eye for beauty, her slides are considered among the most exquisite shown in the midwest. She has just returned from "The Clearing," Jen Jensen's Ellison Bay, Wis. retreat, and hopes to show some of her newest color pictures.

Following a 3:30 p.m. tea and reception in the Board Room of the Museum, members will be returned to the St. Nicholas Hotel so that they may visit the Lincoln Memorial Garden.

Last Spring Saintpaulia Meet June 5

Suburban Saintpaulia Society will hold its last meeting of the current season at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, June 5 in the Arlington Heights home of Mrs. Laddie Poduska, 737 N. State Road. Co-hostess for the meeting will be Mrs. Clarence Paeglow of Rolling Meadows.

Presiding at the meeting will be the new officers who were installed in a candle-lighting ceremony at the last club meeting. Mrs. Haywood Miller of Palatine is the group's new president and Mrs. Walter Hensel, also of Palatine, is the vice president. Treasurer is Mrs. Lennart Nelson of Palatine and secretary is Mrs. Raymond Schroeder of Prospect Heights.

The program will feature a color sound movie, "The Land of the Maharajah," followed by a review of the results obtained by members on the violets they received as baby plants at the Christmas meeting. Plants will be brought for examination and discussion of growing methods used by each member.

Sewing Machines For Sister City

The schools of Comas, Peru, sister city of Arlington Heights, will soon receive new treadle-type sewing machines as part of the "city to city" friendship recently established.

Funds for the purchase of this equipment, more than $300, were raised by a benefit card party sponsored by Arlington Heights Newcomers Club. The party was held May 22 with more than 200 local women in attendance.

Area DAR Aids With Reception

Mrs. A. E. Cather and Mrs. John L. Oster of Arlington Heights, members of the area DAR, are assisting with arrangements for the June 11 Flag Day reception for newly-naturalized citizens.

Sponsored by the Fourth Division, Illinois Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, in cooperation with the Citizenship Council of Metropolitan Chicago, will be held at 10 a.m. in the Chicago Lighting Institute.

Fourth Division includes 34 chapters in nine counties in the Chicago area.

Busy Builders

This country is building new houses at the rate of 1,400,000 a year. New households are being created at the rate of 900,000 annually.

Just 1 Girl Among 180 Engineer Grads

MADISON, WIS., (UPI) — Engineering may be a man's world, but Barbara Friede, a University of Wisconsin coed, decided to prove otherwise.

When six boys from her graduating class at the Reedsburg High School decided to take engineering courses, she said to herself, "If they can do it so can I."

Barbara will be the only engineer in skirts when the siplomas are handed out to 180 engineering graduates here June 10. She finished in the upper half of the chemical engineering graduating class and has already accepted a job with the Chemstrand Corp., Pensacola, Fla., after graduation to work in research and development.

Add Spice To Cookery

The American Spice Trade Association has just published a new, 21-recipe leaflet titled "Spice Recipes From Many Lands," available for a handling charge of 5 cents a copy. Pfeffernuesse cookies from Germany, Scampi from Italy, a spiced rice from Korea, kebabs from Morocco, and gazpacho soup from Spain are a few of the exotic specialties listed.

In all, recipes from 19 different countries are included.

THE ASSOCIATION also has a larger cookbooklet containing 130 recipes, available at 25 cents a copy. Titled "How to Use Spices," this one includes a spice chart and a number of tips on cooking with spices, in addition to the recipes.

There are sections on one-dish meals, meats, poultry, fish, vegetables, desserts, "special occasion dishes," barbecue cookery, holiday traditionals and camping meals.

Spicing convenience foods is one sub-title and there are others on curries, beverages, breads, hors d'oeuvres, soups and dressings with several recipes each.

Both publications are available from The American Spice Trade Association, 76 Beaver, New York 5, N. Y.

Paintings To Be Seen

Barbara P. Wessels of Wildwood, Ill., will present an exhibition of her oil paintings in the Golf Mill Theatre during the month of June.

Mrs. Wessels studied at the School of the Art Institute and privately under Mother Mary Winifred of Rome, Italy. Her showing at the theatre will favor clowns and character studies but will also include several abstracts for the fans of modern art.

The artist has exhibited her paintings in the past throughout the midwest including the Swiss Chalet Gallery. the Wing and Fin Club in McHenry, the Charcoal House in Waukegan and the Brae Loeb Country Club in Grayslake.

Spurts and Stops

Maybe I had better have my metabolism checked. I am getting sort of spurty. As I do things in fits and starts, I wonder if other females are also troubled by this affliction.

There are days when I wake up full of energy and make vast impossible plans for accomplishing simply mountains of things. Like I'm going to get the washing AND the ironing out of the way. Clean the house and scrub the floors. Clean out the closets, men and, with all the time I will have left, I may paint the kitchen.

MARY

So I bustle around knocking things galley west in my frenzy. I think I must look like one of those old time movies where they speeded up the action and people were whipping in all directions at once. Of course, I don't begin to accomplish what I have mapped out for myself. Once in a while I may just get the washing done besides the daily household chores. But not much else.

Then there is the other type of day when I drag out of bed and all my old bones shriek in protest. I dwaddle over my tea and crumpets. Eventually I get dressed. This exhausts me to the point where I sit again over another cup of coffee. I seem to think up all sorts of things that will keep me from rising and shining.

I do get lunch because the children get hungry about that time. And so do I. Then I decide that I deserve an hour off to read a book or magazine. Why I think I deserve this is a bit of mystery I refuse to delve into. I just feel I do. Then the one hour melts into another hour and on and on.

Finally it dawns on me that it is almost coming home time for the rest of the crew. Pride stings me into action. And, once again I look like an old time movie. Feel a little like an old time movie too.

Rummage Sale, Potluck Fill DAR's Agenda

A rummage sale and the annual Flag Day potluck luncheon are on the agenda of Eli Skinner Chapter of the DAR. The rummage sale, also an annual event, is scheduled for 9 a.m. Saturday, June 15, and will be held in North School, Arlington Heights. Mrs. John A. Gustitus is ways and means chairman.

The luncheon, honoring "Old Glory," will be held Thursday, June 20, in the home of Mrs. Harold L. Lussow, 420 S. Gibcording to Mrs. John W. Schaff, Flag Day chairman.

The group's last National Defense meeting was held May 23 in the Mount Prospect home of Mrs. L. W. Kester, where the topic was "Federal Aid to Education." May 16 was the date of the first meeting of new board members, and it was held in the home of Mrs. A. E. Cather with the new regent, Mrs. John L. Oster presiding.

ORIGINAL PLANS to have Miss Dorothy Stoehr, author and lecturer, and two Indian friends ride in the DAR car in the Memorial Day parade did not materialize and Mrs. Oster and past regents, Mrs. Douglas Gutzman, Mrs. Cather and Mrs. Kester, substituted. Also in the car was 5-year-old Lizbee Oster, who portrayed "Little Miss Revolution" with spinning wheel and in period costume.

Mrs. Daisy Daniels, who received the annual VFW Citizen's Citation at the Memorial Day services, is a member of Eli Skinner Chapter. (S

WELCOME WAGON

Two flower girls, both 5-year-old cousins of the bride, preceded the former Donna Jean Thompson down the aisle for her May 5 marriage to Herbert Neubaum Jr. The newlyweds are both Mount Prospect residents but were married in Grace Lutheran Church in Prospect Heights.

Rev. Albert Weidlich performed the 4 o'clock double ring rites before an altar set with large vases of calla lilies and snapdragons.

THE BRIDE is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Thompson of 412 N. Pine St., and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Neubaum of 108 S. Hi-Lusi.

Entering the sanctuary before the bride were the two flower girls, Pamela Fish of Evergreen Park and Barbara Fredericks of North Ogden, Utah. Barbara is the bride's godchild as well as her cousin. Both girls wore surf green crystaline dresses topped with white silk organza pinafores. Each carried a tiny bouquet of spring flowers in shades of orchid to deep purple.

ANOTHER cousin of the bride, Polly Fish of Evergreen Park, was maid of honor. She also wore surf green crystaline, the skirt in a bell shape, and had a tiny pillbox hat of the same material. Her spring floral bouquet was also shaded from orchid to deep purple.

The bride chose a white silk organza over peau de soie gown, styled simply with a bell skirt ending in a chapel length train. Handmade flowers of silk organza covered the gown, and the flowers were repeated in her headpiece which held a waist length French illusion veil in place. The bridal bouquet was of amazon lilies and stephanotis.

Standing at the altar with the groom was Robert Makarski of Chicago, his cousin, as best man. Ushers were the bride's brother, Ralph Thompson, and David Johnston of Mount Prospect.

DURING the ceremony Mrs. Michael Dorosh accompanied Ralph Neubaum, the bride's uncle, as he sang "Wedding Prayer" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Witness the rites, the bride's mother wore an avocado green silk organza dress with matching accessories and had a purple cymbidium corsage. Mrs. Neubaum chose aqua organza with matching accessories and a pink hat and corsage of miniature pink roses.

Buffet dinner for 180 guests was served in Old Orchard Country Club after the ceremony. Music for dancing was furnished by Bud Brickman and his orchestra.

The couple is now living at 1511 Maplewood, Hanover Park. Their new home was completed during their week's honeymoon at Lake Lawn Lodge.

The bride attended Prospect High and Augustana College and is now working as a secretary for Chilton Publishing Co. in Chicago. The groom attended Arlington High and Tarkio College before going to work for International Minerals and Chemical Corp. in Skokie. (Times Candid (S

GOP Club Plans Drive for Members

With the election year of 1964 looming on the horizon, the Wheeling Township Women's Republican Club has begun to make plans for the effective use of local womenpower in next year's campaign.

The first step in preparations will be a membership drive under the chairmanship of Mrs. Bert Jordan, 114 N. Louis, Mount Prospect, which will take place over the next few weeks.

New members enrolled now will have an opportunity to participate in the club's educational activities so that they will be better prepared when they are asked to take an active part in next year's campaign.

Under the program set up by the education chairman, Mrs. William Stockdale, 610 S. State Road, Arlington Heights, they may be asked to select a topic in some area of local, state, or national affairs in which they have a particular interest.

THEY WILL then be made responsible for following that subject and for accumulating files, doing research, and reporting to the membership at intervals.

Sample topics to be assigned are federal aid to education, public welfare, and the farm problem.

Other members may serve on the legislation committee, which follows bills now in the hoppers of the Illinois State Legislature and the U. S. Congress.

Mrs. Eugene Schlickman, 712 N. Fernandez, Arlington Heights, is the club's legislation chairman.

IN THE PAST the club has sponsored such projects as "Operation X," an election clinic for judges and election day workers, and a program of education for precinct workers.

Social events being planned include a theater party and buffet at Old Orchard Country Club on Sunday, July 14. Mrs. A. J. Baugous, 444 S. Yale, Arlington Heights, is ways and means chairman.

Ticket chairman is Mrs. William Andrew, 309 Hillside, Prospect Heights. Reservations may be ordered by calling her at CL 3-2970.

In the fall the club's annual membership tea will be held. Honored guests will be leading Republican women, including the wives of Republican office holders.

Republican women interested in information about the club may call Mrs. Jordan at CL 9-3089. (S

Illness, Aging Is Homemaker Meeting Topic

"Chronic Illness and Aging" was the subject of the major lesson given by Mrs. Claradehl Upham, Cook County Home Advosor, when she spoke recently to the Elk Grove Unit of the Cook County Homemakers Extension Association.

Their regular meeting was held in the home of Mrs. V. Pohlman, Higgins Road. Dessert servers were Mrs. T. Thibault, Mrs. B. Von Bergen and Mrs. H. Wille.

The June 26 meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. J. Oltrogge, 934 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights. Members are reminded to bring a white elephant for the sale which will take place at the meeting.

Cooperative work in agriculture and home economics is being done by the Association with the College of Agriculture of the University of Illinois and the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Anyone interested in joining the group may obtain additional information from Mrs. Ed Moder at LA 9-6062.

Just Around the Corner from Patty McArdle

A Day in City

Dear Peg:

I spent one of those rare and wonderful afternoons in the city yesterday. The occasion was the 66th Annual Chicago Artists Exhibit at the Art Institute, which Esther and I have been wanting to see ever since it started.

We had heard both good and bad comments about the show and were anxious to see how opinions could differ so greatly. After walking through the gallery and studying the many immense canvases, we could understand. With a few exceptions, the exhibit included the largest paintings I've ever seen in one collection. (I guess big pictures are the thing this year!) And after seeing the judges' choices, all we could figure out was the guy with the biggest picture got the prize—there seemed to be no other explanation. I have said it before and every time I see one of these shows I more firmly believe that the judges should be required to give some reason for each of their selections. It would surely give the exhibiting artists and the public who come to see their work a great deal more faith in the opinions of this small group of people, whose responsibility it is to choose the finest paintings.

McARDLE

Michigan Boulevard never looked prettier in the warm sunlight of the afternoon. The buildings and sidewalks looked all cleaned up for Sunday visitors and the baskets of gaily colored flowers, suspended from the lamp posts, swayed prettily in the gentle breeze. We crossed the boulevard and found a little place for a bite to eat and a cup of coffee.

Refreshed, but still unwilling to leave the sunshine for the dark underground parking lot, the car and home, we walked down the sidewalk, looking in all the bright windows — gleaming white kitchens with pastel appliances, exciting travel agency pictures of faraway places, haughty mannequins in their impeccable clothes —all part of the city street scene.

We even took the long way home, leaving the speed of the expressway for the beauty of a drive along the lake. Boats and sunbathers were all out to help summer arrive a little faster.

You know, we're all very lucky to live in the midst of so much loveliness . . .

My love,
Patty

Problem for Teens

Early Treatment Is Emphasized in Acne

Acne—that disfiguring condition which so often preys on teenagers and young adults—is a semi-chronic inflammatory disease of the oil glands and hair follicles of the skin, usually occurring between the ages of 12 and 25.

Because the condition may lead to emotional strain as well as physical scars, parents would do well to seek the advice of their physician as soon as the pimples and blackheads of acne occur, urges the Illinois State Medical Society.

Unfortunately, parents are prone to think of this skin condition as essential to the process of "growing up" and lean to the erroneous belief that the child will outgrow it. Acne is a part of "growing up" in the sense that the glands of the body working normally to maintain the child's growth now increase in activity consistent with advancing maturity.

ACNE OCCURS because of a combination of several factors, the chief of which is the skin's difficulty in regulating its glands of lubrication.

Accumulation of oil and dead cells forms blackheads and pimples in the pores or openings of ducts leading from the oil and sweat glands. This often leads to some infection. If they are neglected, they may scar the skin permanently, leaving pockmarks.

Because the condition mars one's complexion, children affected often feel shunned by their companions, a situation which could lead to an inferiority complex.

Since it is not contagious, social isolation is not necessary. However, prompt, effective management can make a big difference because the cause and treatment of the disease are known.

WHEN A person with acne fails to visit a physician before the condition is well established on face and chest. correction may take months and be too late to avoid scarring. While cleanliness is a factor in the care of the skin, acne does not mean that the afflicted person has unclean habits.

Treatment consists of extra effort in cleansing the affected parts of the body to help in removing the excess oil. Attention is also directed to improving the general health and living conditions. In severe cases, ultra-voilet and X-Rays are used, a procedure that must be performed by a competent physician. Vigorous squeezing, or the use of a stiff brush must not be resorted to. Instead, every effort must be made to avoid damage to the skin.

Diet is also important in the treatment of acne. Nuts and chocolate should be avoided. A well balanced diet should be followed. Plenty of sunshine and outdoor exercise is essential in the care of the disease.

Acne is no longer a major medical problem and the wise parent will try to help his child over this so-called tragedy of youth. Allow the physician to decide if the condition is glandular or nutritional—then follow his advice. (Soc

Tempting English Toffee is 'Husband Pleaser'

Candy Also Good For Gifts, Teas

by LOIS SEILER

A real taste teaser and husband pleaser is the tempting English toffee being featured today. The recipe has been shared with us by Mrs. Joseph J. Svoboda of Arlington Heights, who unequivocally guarantees its success.

"It's not necessary to use a candy thermometer with this recipe, and I've aways had good luck with it," personable Mrs. Svoboda exclaimed.

FILLING A CANDY DISH with elegant homemade English Toffee is Mrs. Joseph J. Svoboda of Arlington Heights. No candy thermometer is needed to make this choice sweet, which can be prepared in a matter of minutes by this good cook's easy-do recipe.

Easy to prepare, this choice toffee is made by boiling together sugar, butter and water. Vanilla is added and the candy is turned into a buttered pan. It is topped with chocolate and chopped pecans.

"This candy is wonderful for hostess gifts, and a nice sweet for tea parties," Mrs. Svoboda said. It is a favorite of her husband, who is the owner of Svoboda and Sons Men's Store in Arlington Heights.

Another recipe which Florence Svoboda has found makes a big hit for luncheons is cheese fingers. These are simply made by spreading all sides of bread fingers with a fluffy mixture of butter and Old English cheese. Baked for 15 minutes, they are delicious served with fruit and seafood salads.

Another of this good cook's luncheon specialties is an interesting and unusual vermicelli loaf.

SIMILAR TO a souffle, this appealing and economical dish consists of cooked vermicelli (thin spaghetti), eggs, cheese and bread crumbs. Pimiento, green pepper and chopped onion give it color and zest. Baked for an hour, this loaf is served with an easy-do mushroom sauce made from canned mushroom soup.

"Because it is light and fluffy, this luncheon dish is appealing to women, and it is nice served with a jello salad," said Mrs. Svoboda.

Active in several organizations, Mrs. Svoboda is a member of the board of the Northwest Community Hospital Auxiliary, literature chairman of the Arlington Heights Women's Club, program chairman and vice-president of the Rotary Anns and a member of the Women's Association of the First Presbyterian Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Svoboda and their son, Jim, live at 713 S. Walnut in Arlington Heights. They also have a married son, Joe Jr., and a married daughter, Mrs. Lloyd McCarthy of Barrington.

Mulches Help

By use of mulches in landscape planting areas, soil moisture can be conserved and lower soil temperature maintained, which in turn promote better growth and help eliminate continuous weeding.

ENGLISH TOFFEE

1 cup granulated sugar
½ pound butter or margarine
3 tablespoons water
1 teapoon vanilla
4 plain chocolate bars (5 cent size)
¾ cup chopped pecans

Place sugar, butter and waer in a saucepan and bring to a boil. Boil rapidly for 10 minutes. Stir constantly with a wooden spoon to prevent burning. Should be cooked until it turns "toffee-brown."

Remove from heat and add vanilla. Pour in a thin layer into a buttered pan, about 9 by 9 inches. Lay chocolate candy bars across the hot mass. After a few seconds, spread it evenly.

Sprinkle chopped pecans on top and press down. Cool thoroughly and break into pieces. Store in a covered container.

CHEESE FINGERS

1 sandwich loaf of bread
¼ pound butter
1 5-ounce glass Old English sharp cheese

Cut bread into eight equal sections and make three fingers out of each, 24 fingers in all.

Beat butter and cheese with an electric beater until mixture resembles fluffy frosting. Spread on all sides of bread fingers and place on a cake rack.

Place rack on a cookie sheet and lightly brown in a 350 degree oven for about 15 minutes. Serve with a fruit or seafood salad. Serves 8.

VERMICELLI LOAF

2 cups cooked vermicelli (thin spaghetti, broken)
3 egg yolks, well-beaten
1 cup half and half
1 cup grated American cheese
1 cup dry bread crumbs
3 tablespoons chopped pimiento
3 tablespoons chopped green pepper
3 egg whites, stiffly beaten
Mushroom sauce

Combine all ingredients except egg whites and mushroom sauce and mix well. Lastly fold in beaten egg whites and pour into a greased, flat loaf pan, about 8 by 11 inches, and bake at 325 degrees for one hour.

Cut in squares and serve hot with mushroom sauce. An easy mushroom sauce can be made by combining 1 can cream of mushroom soup with ½ can water.

Vermicelli loaf serves 8 to 12. (SH

A Summer Cooler— Melons 'n Gelatin

Souffle salads are particularly suitable for summer time as they can be prepared ahead of time, allowing you to get out of the kitchen early and relax with the rest of the family.

This melon souffle salad makes a refreshing light lunch, served with crackers and coffee. It also enhances more substantial meals and makes an attractive addition to a buffet table.

MELON SOUFFLE SALAD

½ honeydew melon
½ cantaloupe
½ cup boiling water
1 (3-ounce) package lime flavored gelatin
½ cup cold water
3 tablespoons lemon juice
½ cup real mayonnaise
¼ teaspoon salt

Scoop out 6 balls from each melon half, using ball cutter or small spoon; reserve for garnish. Remove remaining pulp from shells; dice and measure. (No more than 2½ cups should be used in salad.)

POUR BOILING water over gelatin in bowl; stir until gelatin is completely dissolved. Add cold water, lemon juice, mayonnaise and salt; blend with rotary beater. Pour into freezing tray or metal loaf pan. Chill in freezing unit until firm about 1-inch from edge of pan but still soft in center, about 20 to 25 minutes.

Turn mixture into bowl and whip with rotary beater until fluffy and thick. Fold in diced melon. Pour into 1-quart mold or individual molds. Chill in refrigerator (not freezing unit) until firm, about 45 to 60 minutes. Unmold. Garnish with melon balls. Serve with salad greens, if desired.

Makes 4 to 6 servings. (SH

Stylized Flower Is Dairy Month Symbol

This month a stylized flower, symbol of June Dairy Month, will blossom in newspapers, magazines and food store windows. Food stores will feature dairy products and their many uses.

It's all a part of the 27th observance of June Dairy Month by leaders in agriculture, business, education, government and scores of other enterprises related to the dairy industry. In view of the national concern about physical fitness, the calling of special attention to the values of dairy products has a particular timeliness this year.

AMERICANS on the average do not consume as much milk as do people of more than a dozen other nations. The Irish, for example, rank first in the consumption of milk and milk products. Each person consumed 1,401 pounds in 1961.

Special emphasis during June Dairy Month this year is on the freshness and convenience of dairy foods as well as on the nutritive values of those products. Suburban homemakers will be reminded of how easy it is to provide good nutrition and good tasting food, even in the informal setting of the patio or cookout, through the use of dairy products.

George D. Scott of Detroit is national chairman for June Dairy Month activities this year. He represents the Dairy Industries Supply Association, one of 13 national organizations sponsoring June Dairy Month annually. (SH

Central Australia Scenic, Unspoiled

HISTORIC HOME in Melbourne — Captain Cook's cottage in scenic Fitzroy Gardens, Melbourne, is open to visitors as a monument to Australia's Columbus, who planted the English flag almost 200 years ago on this vital South Pacific continent of infinite variety. (T

ADELAIDE, AUSTRALIA — England's Captain Cook may be credited with the beginning of well-known coastal Australia, but the traveler today who wishes to know this varied continent as that hardy explorer never did owes it to himself to venture into the vast and thrilling "outback" region so often neglected on an Australia itinerary.

To fully appreciate the uniquely unspoiled splendor of central Australia, a sturdy auto equipped with extra gas, spares and safari gear is a prime way to go, reports the Pacific Area Travel Association.

A suggested route with innumerable sidetrip possibilities would be from Adelaide on the south coast, straight up through Alice Springs to the northern gateway of Darwin, then down and across through Camooweal, Mary Kathleen and Mt. Isa to the Queensland coast and Townsville. Best time to take the trip is April to October, when the temperature stays below 75 degrees.

THIS IS THE true home of the famed Australian aborigines, who lived here as nomads long before civilization came to Europe. These tall and dark-skinned wanderers, with their black curly hair and wiry physiques searched huge areas in quest of food, their weapons and tools being limited to the boomerang, throwing stick, club, a net, pointed yam stick and even a woomera.

Individuals and groups within tribes were severely disciplined, with involved rules of kinship and complicated but successful marriage laws. Today they are still among the most primitive peoples in existence, with thousands of acres of remote and uninhabited land maintained by Government Settlements or Mission Stations to preserve the only life they know and satisfy their natural habit of going "walkabout." While actual visits to their reservations are limited, they can occasionally be seen from the road doing their daily hunting. With their superb horsemanship and tracking skills, aborigines can often be seen employed as stockmen or helping to find criminals or persons lost in the bush or desert.

Alice Springs, a center for the cattlemen of the gigantic inland ranches, miners and opal gougers, provides an excellent focal point for splendid sightseeing. The town is located midway between Darwin on the north and Adelaide on the south, 1,900 feet above sea level on a plateau dominated by the Mac-Donnell Ranges which rise another 2,000 feet and boast startling gorges and the unique whitebarked "g h o s t" gum trees.

A favorite trip from here is to spectacular Ayers Rock, a huge monolith as high as the Empire State Building and five miles around the base, with crevices 200 to 300 feet deep. The walls of the caves at the base are filled with fascinating native drawings, evidence of the sacred place the boulder holds in aboriginal mythology. Guides are available to take climbing enthusiasts to the top where there are pools of sweet, cold water; the hike takes about an hour and ten minutes. As with most scenery in the outback, the full beauty of this geological wonder comes with the shifting sun which transforms the rock from a deep rusty orange to a brilliant gold.

Palm Valley with its towering red cliffs rising on both sides of a g r e a t winding gorge is another worthwhile trip from Alice Springs. Growing here are specimens of the cycad palm, which has a 2,000 year history and is one of the most primitive forms of plant life in existence today. It is found only in central Australia. From here one can also take in beautiful Glen Helen Gorge.

Fifty miles east of Alice Springs, the Rose River District combines huge ghost gums with errie ghost towns, and cliff faces show 500 million years of earthly evolution in fossilized layers. Here you can stay at romantic Love Creek Station and see boomerang throwing by station natives, go horseback riding and visit the Valley of the Eagles.

CONTINUING up to Darwin, you can join a safari for exciting buffalo or wild geese hunting, or stay near the city for riding, swimming and boating. For a real thrill with a difference, arrangements can also be made in this city to go crocodile hunting by spotlight, truly an event to remember.

Crossing over toward the Queensland coast, you will pass through areas that produce much of Australia's wealth—the huge silver and lead industry at Mt. Isa, the giant cattle ranches of the central plains, the vast wool growing southwest and central Queensland, and the atomic age uranium fields at Mary Kathleen and Rum Jungle. By pushing south, you can include the great Darling Downs wheat belt. Every second is interesting, from the stunning red-gold scenery with roaming herds of camel, kangaroo, emu and wild donkey to the close-up view of aboriginal life. All this and more in the vast unspoiled heart of a booming young continent can be discovered anew by the adventurous traveler with an eye for the unusual.

Anglers' Tip

June Fishing Has Advantage

By JEANNE WELCH
Travel Editor

In June the muskies lurk in the stump-filled shallows of northern Wisconsin waters and the perch swarm along the lakefronts. Astute fishermen (and aren't they all) know that to the early Izaak Walton goes not only the worm but the fish as well.

June fishing in Wisconsin has several advantages. Generally speaking, the fish are hungry. They've had a long winter's rest and spawning has used up their energy reserves. They're likely to snap at anything. Then, too, speedboats and water skiers are not usually out in full force in June. There is less competition for the best spots and less crowding at launching sites. Boats and bait are readily available as are first-class accommodations at motels and resorts.

Wisconsin's fishing seasons are all open now, with the exception of bass in the northern half of the state. The bass season will open on June 8 and all indications point toward a goodly supply of both largemouth and smallmouth.

The return of motor trolling in certain counties will be of interest to many anglers. Trolling is now legal in Barron, Bayfield, Burnett, Douglas, Polk, Racine, Rusk and Washburn counties. This edict affects such favorite fishing waters as Lakes Eau Clair, Winnebago, Big Green, Chetac, the Mississippi River and the Wisconsin River from the Nekoosa Dam to the Prairie du Sac Dam.

To make it easy for fishermen and fisherwomen Wisconsin has hundreds of license outlets. Resorts, bait stations, sporting good stores. Conservation Department Field Stations and county clerks all handle licenses.

Tourist Information Centers on major highways leading into Wisconsin have licenses, regulations and the latest "how's fishing" information. Chicago area fishing enthusiasts have the convenience of the Wisconsin Official Vacation Center at 205 North Michigan Avenue, where licenses and information materials are also available.

In June and in Wisconsin you might make last winter's fireside deam about catching that big one come true.

Museum

Antique Railway Is Open

A Wisconsin railroad began its third year of regularly scheduled daily runs this week as the Wisconsin and Yesterday Railroad started operation to its steam drawn passenger train at the National Railroad Museum at Green Bay.

The train which is made up of the Brillion Pioneer, an old time steam engine, and two ornate "turn of the century" passenger cars will operate daily except Monday over the wide ranging track of the Museum. The trains will carry local passengers for the third year from the platform of the Hood Junction depot, an authentic replica of an old Southern depot at Langley, S. C. and traverse the Museum grounds. The route of the railroad extends through the Museum, over the banks of the Fox River and passes on its route the resting giants of steam railroading on exhibit on the expansive museum grounds southwest of Green Bay.

THE ENGINE which hauls the train began its railroading career over a half century ago in the busy Chicago yards, and the two brightly colored passenger cars carried passengers for many years through the northern states. The cars are authentically preserved in every detail, as are all the museum exhibits, with plush velvet seat covers, and heavy brass lighting fixtures.

The Museum, which started May 11th, is beginning its third year of operations, and this year as each year in the past, the museum has been expanded in both exhibits and in physical facilities. (T

VACATIONING IN Miami Beach, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Weber of Mount Prospect went deep sea fishing aboard the "Sea Bob" with Capt. Bob Andrews out of the Castaways Docks. Mrs. Weber landed a sailfish 7 feet 4 inches and Mr. Weber a sailfish 6 feet 3 inches. (T

NITE CLUB TOUR

Planned by Local Group

The exciting Billy Daniels, Mr. Black Magic himself, will be the featured attraction on the June 23rd nite life tour planned by "C h a m p a g n e Nite Life Tours" of Oak Park.

The tour will begin at the most famous of the Key Clubs (because it is a private club, we cannot give the name) for champagne and a delicious d i n n e r. From the . . . club, we will m o t o r to the beautiful "Pepe's" on the magnificent Mannheim Strip for a cocktail and be entertained by the debonair Mr. Billy Daniels.

From "Pepe's" join us as we capture the excitement and romance of gay old Venice as we float along on the famous gondolas at glorious Villa Venice serenaded by the dashing gondoliers. Followed by a hilarious floor show direct from L a s V e g a s in the main room, cocktail included.

The bus ride will feature group s i n g i n g, refreshments and many surprises guaranteed to keep everyone in a gay mood from beginning to end. Every nite is New Year's eve on a champagne tour. Everyone is invited . . . you do not need an escort.

Here's HAUGH to Plan a Party

Rosebud Graduation Reception For that Sweet Girl Graduate

by DOLORES HAUGH

For that sweet girl graduate. something pretty to remember is a Rosebud Graduation Reception. Since June is the month of roses you can get them from the garden or the florist and you can have them do up as much of the decor as you wish freeing you for last minute details.

INVITATIONS

Most schools offer formal graduation announcements with enclosures for reception buffets, but if you are not planning to do this have simple rosebud invitations made by a younger member of the family. Cut a 5-petal flower from pink paper. Fold each petal over to close like a rose. Paste on one green leaf and judge size for standard envelope. Inside state the occasion, time and place. If it is to be held in the garden, plan an alternate room in case of rain.

DECORATIONS

The buffet table will be the outstanding place for decorations of roses though arrangements placed throughout the home add fragrance as well as beauty. One dozen roses can go a long way when divided up; one large flower and three leaves in a crystal dish on a low table, one in a bud vase on a desk, find another place such as the guest room, or one on a bedside table the morning of graduation is a memory not soon forgotten by a girl graduate.

Use the remaining roses to surround a tall pink or white taper and combined with tiny blue forget-me-nots or shiny leaves. These will form a long, low, "see - through" arrangement for the buffet. You may group all three dishes, at one end of the buffet or table, make them into a semi-circle or a straight line.

A lovely lace tablecloth, sparkling crystal, shining sterling all make the table glow.

For an added bit of charm, add an old fashioned nosegay of sweetheart roses for the graduation girl to hold as she receives her guests. And Dad, one for Mom, too.

ROSES FROZEN in ice floating on the pink punch and tiny fresh rosebuds tucked around the trays of white and pink finger sandwiches, cookies or bedecking the white tiered cake will really make your table bloom.

It's easy also to tie the pink linen napkins with ribbon and tuck in a rose to be worn by each guest. So plan ahead for that memory making graduation reception and "everything's coming up roses" for sure. (S

How to Charcoal-Broil Chicken 'Home Style'

The secret behind juicy, w e l l - d o n e charcoal-broiled chicken is slow, even cooking. And, according to Hugh Johnson, University of Illinois extension poultry science specialist, you don't need a lot of charcoal to do the job right.

Charcoal briquets placed one deep and about one inch apart will give off plenty of even heat. Also, to prevent burning, keep the chicken as far from the fire as possible. On most home barbecue outfits, this distance is 10 to 14 inches, says Johnson.

CHOOSE whole broilers that weigh between two and one-fourth and three pounds. You can either split them yourself or have the butcher do it. But it is more convenient to charcoal-broil half a chicken, split lengthwise, than the pieces or whole bird.

Turn the chicken often to avoid overcooking th outside. Blistered skin is a warning that the chicken is getting too hot. Generally, it's necessary to turn it every five minues or so. For a handy, safe and sanitary way to handle the chicken, wear clean white canvas gloves.

WHETHER you use butter or barbecue sauce for basting depends on your taste. But, whichever substance you use, baste immediately after turning the bird to allow the substance to cook in. If you baste and then turn, you waste much of the liquid.

Make sure the chicken is thoroughly done before you take it off the fire. Normally it takes from one to one and one-half hours to complete the cooking. To test for doneness, grasp the thigh joint between your thumb and index finger. With your other hand, turn the leg bone. If it rotates easily, the chicken is done. (S

Kitchen Tools Add Humor To Hatlen Installation

Kitchen tools representing the duties of each office added a humorous note to an otherwise solemn ceremony May 2 when Hatlen Heights Women's Club, Mount Prospect, held its installation of new officers at its seventh annual banquet.

Mrs. Harold Lins, program chairman, introduced the new officers and committee chairmen. Mrs. Casey Andrews, 207 Audrey Lane, is the club's new president and Mrs. Yngve Bloomquist, 1909 Connie Lane, is vice president. Recording secretary is Mrs. Harold Lins and treasurer is Mrs. Kenneth Patt. Mrs. Leroy Hasselman will have the duties of corresponding secretary while Mrs. Norman Olsen and Mrs. Bill Limperes will share the duties of program chairman.

NEW SOCIAL chairman is Mrs. Edward Krebbs, who will have Mrs. Donald Jones as her co-chairman. Mrs. Robert King and Mrs. Ray Krasnesky will share the duties of ways and means, while Mrs. Richard Bindon has been appointed news chairman.

In charge of membership is Mrs. George Burian and sunshine is under Mrs. Charles Vojta.

Climax to the banquet was the presentation of prizes to the brige and hat winners.

Campbell Earns Award At DePauw

John Campbell of Palatine has been awarded a varsity athletic letter in golf at DePauw University, where he is a senior.

Completing its most successful season in 11 years, the golf team this year defeated eight of its 12 opponents and finished fourth and sixth, respectively, in the conference and Little State (all Indiana small colleges) competition.

John is a graduate of Palatine High School.

His mother is Mrs. Lucille Campbell, 1152 N. Blackburn Drive. (S

Mary McAniff Goes East as Navy Bride

A yellow and white color scheme brightened St. James Church in Arlington Heights for the April 27 wedding of Mary McAniff of 1329 N. Dunton and Lt. (j.g.) Robert Ternus of Omaha. The groom is now stationed at Newport, R. I., but has his engineering degree from Marquette University. His bride is also a graduate of Marquette, majoring in journalism.

The first two pews of St. James sanctuary were decorated with white carnations at the center aisle, and the altar was decked with yellow snapdragons and white calla lilies for the 10:30 a.m. ceremony.

THREE ATTENDANTS preceded the bride down the aisle, all gowned alike in pale yellow nylon sheaths with overskirts and carrying nosegays of yellow roses. The bride's sister, Moira McAniff, was her maid of honor, and the groom's sisters, Karen and Sue Ternus, were bridesmaids.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh P. McAniff, wore her sister Margo's wedding gown of white chantilly lace. The dress had a scoop neckline, wrist length sleeves and a full skirt ending in a train. A small crown of brilliants held her full illusion veil in place, and she carried a white orchid on a missal which the groom's mother had carried on her wedding day.

MR. AND MRS. E. J. Ternus came from Omaha for their son's wedding and reception, Mrs. Ternus wearing a gray sheath dress with matching jacket for the festivities. The bride's mother chose a gold silk dress with bell skirt, and both mothers wore corsages of red roses.

The groom's attendants all came from Marquette University for the wedding. His brother, Thomas, who was best man, is a student there, and the ushers, Thomas Rauterkus Jr. and Robert Diederich, are both instructors at Marquette.

The bridal pair was united by Rev. George Roth as organist Sister Amabelia accompanied Mrs. Bruce Bogue, the bride's cousin, as she sang "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother."

OLD ORCHARD Country Club was the setting for a reception immediately following the Nuptial Mass. One hundred guests were greeted by the newlyweds.

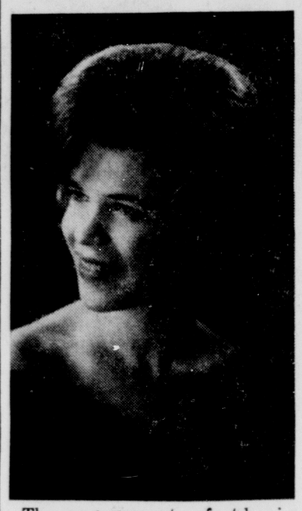
The couple honeymooned at Cape Cod before going to Newport where the groom is stationed with the U.S. Navy. The bride is a graduate of St. Patrick Academy as well as Marquette University and had been working for Irving Cloud Publishing Co. before her marriage. (Jenart (S

Toward Civilization

This will never be a civilized country until we spend more money for books than we do for chewing gum. — Elbert Hubbard.

Engagements

Karen Williams



The engagement of their daughter, Karen Elaine, to Terry Lee Moore, son of the Jack B. Moores of Park Ridge, is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George M. Williams, 424 S. Waterman, Arlington Heights.

Miss Williams, a graduate of Arlington High School, attended Valparaiso University and is employed by General Mills, Inc., Park Ridge. Mr. Moore received his Bachelor Degree in Mathematics and Psychology from Bradley University and is associated with Time Inc. as a computer programmer.

A July wedding is planned.

Jean Rogers

Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Rogers of Norfolk, Va., announce the engagement of their daughter, Jean, to Richard W. Paul, son of the T. Merle Pauls of 815 W. Oakton, Arlington Heights.

Miss Rogers attended Northern Illinois University and is presently a member of the faculty at Arrowood Academy in Norfolk. Her fiance is a student at Northern Illinois.

The wedding is planned for Aug. 24 in the First Congregational Church of DeKalb.

Nancy Boehm

Announcing the engagement of their daughter, Nancy Ellen, to Ondre F. Hasek of Cedar Rapids, are Mr. and Mrs. Herbert A. Boehm of Oak Park.

Miss Boehm has been teaching physical education at Palatine High School and Mr. Hasek is in his second year of dental school in Cedar Rapids. Both young people are graduates of the University of Iowa.

A September 7 wedding is planned, after which the couple will reside in Cedar Rapids.

Valerie Danforth

Miss Valerie Ann Danforth's engagement to Arthur Arveson, son of the Wallace L. Rylands of Antigo, Wis., is announced by her parents, the Gordon A. Danforths, 510 W. Hellen Road, Palatine.

Miss Danforth, a graduate of Palatine High School, is attending Carroll College in Waukesha, Wis. Her fiance is also attending Carroll College.

The couple is planning a December wedding. (S

Marcella Kemnetz

The engagement of a Palatine couple is being announced by Mr. and Mrs. Casimir R. Kemnetz of 1449 S. Plum Grove. Their daughter, Marcella, is betrothed to Frank L. Grzes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Grzes of 590 W. Hellen Road.

The pair, both June graduates of Palatine High School last year, are employed in the area. Miss Kemnetz works for Paulsen Insurance Co. in Park Ridge and her fiance is a Jewel Tea Co. employe in Palatine.

No wedding date has been set.

Frances Ann Grace

Mrs. Mary McQuiston Adams of Nashville is announcing the engagement of her granddaughter, Frances Ann Grace, to Pfc. William Frank Heidt, son of the Chris J. Heidts of Palatine.

The wedding is planned for Aug. 31.

The bride-to-be is a student at Middle Tennessee State College. Her fiance, a Palatine High School graduate, enlisted in the army in 1962 and is a paratrooper in the 101st Airborn Division at Fort Campbell, Ky.

Suburban Living

Especially for Women

A HONEYMOON in Hawaii climaxed recent wedding festivities for Brenda Louise Rudolph, daughter of the Walter A. Rudolphs, 421 S. Evergreen, Arlington Heights, and Warren Leslie Woods, son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren B. Woods of Salt Lake City, where the wedding took place. The bride, a former airline stewardess, attended Valparaiso University for two years after graduating from Arlington High School. Her bridegroom was graduated from the University of Utah. The couple is now residing in Salem, Ore. and in August will make their home in Salt Lake City. (S

Tomi Frasier

An August 24 wedding is planned by Miss Tomi Dee Frasier and Richard Alan White, son of the George E. Whites of Des Plaines. The couple's engagement and approaching marriage is announced by Miss Frasier's parents, the Frank W. Frasiers, 735 S. Bristol Lane, Arlington Heights.

The wedding will take place in First Methodist Church of Des Plaines.

Vacationland U.S.A.

Arlington Garden Club Show Scheduled for June 15, 16

"Vacationland U.S.A.," Arlington Heights Garden Club's Fifth Annual Flower Show, will be held at Pioneer Park Fieldhouse, Saturday, June 15, from 2 to 8 p.m. and Sunday, June 16, from 2 to 7 p.m.

Tickets may be obtained in advance from Frank Stewart, ticket chairman, CL 5-6724, and at the following Arlington Heights stores:

Ace Hardware, Bowen Hardware, Freitag Hardware in Westgate, Hollenbach's Country Garden Shop, Klehm's Nursery, Knupper's Nursery, Pesche's Flowers, Sauerland Flower Shop, and Sylvia Flowers. In Mount Prospect they are being sold at Busse Flowers, and they will also be sold at the show.

THE ARTISTIC Section will have nine classes, by invitation:

Pacific Northwest - Gardens in Grandeur; Seashore - Surf and Sand; Mountains - Towers of Tranquility; Backyard-Easy Living, a buffet barbeque; South- Romantic Rendezvous, a candlelit courtyard supper for two; Northwoods - Sportsmen's Specialty, for men only; Fair-Country Chairm, A still life of fruits and vegetables in identical baskets; Southwest - Canyons and color, with Spanish or Indian influence; and In Town- Culture and Commerce, the Theatre; Art gallery or Museum.

The Horticulture Division, which the public may enter consists of Roses; Perennials, bulbous and rhizamotus plants, including corms; annuals and plants grown from annuals; house plants; shrubs or trees; vines; vegetables; and fruits.

Both an artistic and horticulture division are open to juniors who must list their ages on entry cards. Horticulture exhibits must be grown by the junior exhibitors, although flowers in arrangements need not be grown by arrangers.

THREE CLASSES in the Artistic Division open to Juniors are Kiddyland, an arrangement of fresh flowers using an accessory and or container suggesting an amusement park for children; the desert, a dish garden with cacti and succulents, accessories permitted; and the Zoo, an arrangement of fresh flowers using an animal container. Age groups in this competition are 6 to 10 and 10 to 16.

The Horticulture Division for Juniors includes specimen flowers, vegetables and fruits, potted house plants and cacti; and seedlings in egg shells, paper cups, or similar container.

All entries are to be made between 8 and 10:30 a.m. Saturday, June 15.

MRS. C. E. Wechselberger, flower show judge, who spoke at the May meeting of the club presented suggestions for procedures for flower show entries: The judges will look for long straight stems, foliage attached, no insects or spray residue; the bloom should be in prime condition, and the bloom will be examined for perfection. Stems may be cut so that they will not damage next year's blooms.

Mrs. Wechselberger also stated that rose stems should be in good proportion to the bloom and can be 2/3 to 3/4 open. The form, foliage and stem should be of good quality and the variety true to form.

In the flowering branch section, the specimen should be 30 to 36 inches in length. Pansies may be varigated, but uniform in size.

VEGETABLE exhibits should have uniformity and be of the same color and variety and well groomed. Fruits should exhibit their natural bloom.

In explaining the hardening process for flowers to be shown, and which should be followed also for home use too, specimens should be placed in warm water up to the necks and placed in a cool dark place until the day of the show. Prize blooms threatened by rain may be protected gy placing a large plastic bag over them to ward off the elements. (S

Give Toiletries On Father's Day

Never underestimate the interest of a man, not when it comes to his appearance and the finer points of good grooming. A revolution has been in effect for some years. Ask any man.

Chances are he cares far more than his father did about the quality of the preparations he uses. His routine is considerably more sophisticated, with a greater number of aids brought into play. He is concerned with using preparations harmonized in a complete fragrance sequence.

THERE ARE many reasons. Perhaps the most important is the emphasis on personal appearance of today's corporations. The man who succeeds looks the part; he literally cannot afford negligence.

With enthusiasm for fine men's toiletries at an all time high, Father's Day gift shopping assumes a new dimension. A chief consideration might well be a kit of shaving essentials, skin and hair care aids and bathing accessories available today. (S

Eugenia Lorr Is May 4th Bride of Richard Kunkle

Four attendants in coral silk organza redingote ensembles preceded Miss Eugenia Lorr down the aisle of St. James Catholic Church May 4 for her marriage to Richard Kunkle, son of Mrs. Germaine Kunkle of Des Plaines. Rev. George R. Roth officiated at the 11 a.m. nuptial mass and Mrs. Joyce Strong was soloist.

The bride, daughter of the Albert E. Lorrs, 2106 E. Park, Arlington Heights, wore a floor-length gown of white organza designed and made by her mother. The dress was fashioned with imported alencon lace appliqued and seeded with pearls. A detachable train of silk organza was also appliqued and seeded with pearls and her chapel-length veil was held in place by a Victoria pearl crown.

A white orchid with white roses and stephanotis made up her bouquet. Mr. Lorr gave his daughter in marriage.

MRS. JAMES SIROKY of Arlington Heights, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and bridesmaids were the groom's sister-in-law, Mrs. George Kunkle of Des Plaines, Dianna Macey of St. Charles and the bride's sister, Lorraine Lorr of Arlington Heights.

Their gowns were fashioned sheath style, over which they wore matching redingotes, and their flowers were colonial bouquets of white carnations, with coral roses added to the matron of honor's. Coral silk organza picture hats completed their ensembles.

Also in the wedding party was a 4-year-old ring bearer, Keith Siroky, nephew of the bride.

The groom was attended by his three brothers, Michael Kunkle as best man, and Robert and George Kunkle Jr., and the bride's brother, Albert E. Lorr Jr. of Cicero, as ushers.

A WEDDING breakfast for the bridal party was given by the groom's mother in Brandt's Restaurant, Palatine, and a reception for 200 was held that evening in the Mount Prospect VFW Hall, given by the bride's parents. Mrs. Lorr received in a green and cream brocaded sheath with matching jacket and cream accessories. Mrs. Kunkle chose a beige silk organza sheath with matching silk organza coat with beige and pink accessories. Both mothers had white orchid corsages.

The newlyweds spent their honeymoon touring through northern Wisconsin, Michigan, Niagara Falls and Canada, after which they moved into their own home in O'Hare Park, Des Plaines.

The bride was graduated from Ela-Vernon High School in Lake Zurich. She is employed at Universal Oil in Des Plaines and the groom is with the engineering staff of Chicago Medical School. (S (Ace Candid Photo

Sees Prevention Of Birth Defects

MADISON, WIS., (UPI) — Dr. John Opitz, director of the University of Wisconsin medical school's weekly Clinic for Genetic Counseling, looks hopefully to the day when doctors will be able to prevent birth defects.

Although doctors at the clinic can frequently predict a mother's chances of having a normal baby, a definite diagnosis cannot be made for all malformed children seen at the clinic. Scientific techniques are not yet fine enough to detect the tiny genetic mistakes that may cause malformation.

DR. OPITZ says that many hereditary diseases can be identified and an accurate prognosis given. "Even if we do not know what the disease is," he says, "from the family history we can frequently tell how it is inherited and what the chances are that a given couple will be affected by it."

The geneticist tells of one woman who dug up pictures that had been buried in an attic for 50 years. "They showed us the disease in question had been carried in her family for at least three generations," he recounts. With the help of the photos, he was able to tell how the disease was inherited.

In the United States, he says, compiling pedigrees is often hampered by the high divorce and illegitimacy rates and the highly immigrant population, which makes it difficult to identified and an accurate trace the family beyond a few generations.

"IN CASES of abnormalities where the cause is unknown, we often look for similar deformities among animals and investigate how they may arise," Dr. Opitz says. The researchers also do blood and urine analyses in search of errors in body chemistry which may reflect tiny genetic mistakes.

"Hopefully," says Dr. Opitz, "through our clinical studies and laboratory research, we will learn more about the causes of birth defects, and perhaps someday be able to prevent them." (Soc

Bring Barbecue Indoors For No Fuss Picnic Fun

Barbecued spareribs are as much fun as a picnic. The succulent spareribs are a nibble treat and each taste is particularly enjoyable since the meat is glazed with a sweet and pungent barbecue sauce.

There is no fuss and bother to barbecued spareribs. Put them meat side up in a baking pan and top with lemon slices and chopped onion. The spareribs are partially baked before the barbecue sauce is added to contribute mellowness of flavor.

UNSULPHURED molasses is a natural barbecue sauce addition. Since it is the pure concentrated juice of sugar cane, this sweetener has the ability of browning and giving a delicious and tender crust to the spareribs. In flavor, it goes well with the nip of vinegar, Worcestershire and catsup used in the barbecue sauce.

Unsulphured molasses also has the rich brown color associated with barbecued meats. The molasses barbecued spareribs will come shining, savory and most inviting to the dinner feast.

INDOOR BARBECUE-CRISP, delectable barbecued spareribs can be prepared in the oven with east. The excellent sauce is composed of pantry staples: unsulphured molasses, catsup, spices and thin slices of onion and lemon.

MOLASSES BARBECUED SPARERIBS

- 3 pounds spareribs, cut into serving pieces
- 1 lemon, thinly sliced
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- ¼ cup unsulphured molasses
- 1 teaspoon chili powder
- 1 tablespoon celery seed
- ¼ cup vinegar
- ¼ cup Worcestershire sauce
- 1 cup catsup
- ½ teaspoon Tabasco
- 2 cups water

Place spareribs, meat side up, in shallow baking pan. Sprinkle with salt. Top with lemon slices and chopped onion. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 30 minutes. Combine unsulphured molasses with chili powder and celery seed; stir in remaining ingredients.

Pour over spareribs. Continue baking 1 hour longer, basting frequently. Yield: 4 servings. (SH

Tasty Meat Loaf With New 'Slant'

Meat loaves can come to the rescue so often when you're puzzling over what to serve. Whether for a buffet, potluck, picnic or everyday family meal a meat loaf becomes a most convenient, economical and tasty serving.

Meat loaf recipes offer many chances for variation, states Reba Staggs, authority on meat cookery. Here is one with a new slant that's called Southern-Style Meat Loaf.

Instead of bread, crushed sesame seed crackers are mixed with the ground beef. Other flavors from tomatoes, green pepper, onion and basil team to produce a delightful dish.

You could mix the ingredients for a meat loaf at your convenience early in the day and refrigerate until ready for baking. Then as serving time draws near, simply place the meat in the oven. No watching is necessary and no worries if serving time is delayed.

SOUTHERN-STYLE MEAT LOAF

- 2 pounds ground beef
- 1 cup crushed sesame seed crackers
- ½ cup chopped onion
- ¼ cup chopped green pepper
- 1 can (16 ounces) tomatoes
- 2 eggs, beaten
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper
- ¼ teaspoon basil

Combine ground beef, cracker crumbs, onion, green pepper and basil. Mix thoroughly. Pack mixture into a 9 by 5-inch loaf pan. Bake in a slow oven (300 degrees) 2 hours. Eight servings. (SH

Parsley Pointer

Some restaurateurs keep a bowl of parsley sprigs on the cashier's desk. Nibbling parsley is said to do away with the odor of raw onion which often accompanies beef luncheons.

Coconut Tops Single Crust Apple Pie

Here is a heavenly, single-crust apple pie. It features a glorious topping of coconut, corn flake crumbs, brown sugar and butter or margarine. For that perfect, melt-in your-mouth crust, Reba Staggs, home economist, reminds you to use lard as the shortening.

COCONUT-APPLE PIE

PASTRY

- 1 cup sifted enriched flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 4 to 6 tablespoons lard
- 2 to 4 tablespoons cold water

APPLE FILLING:

- ¾ cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon flour
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- ¼ teaspoon nutmeg
- 5 cups thinly sliced apples

TOPPING:

- ½ cup flaked coconut
- 1/3 cup cornflake crumbs
- 2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar

To make pastry: Mix flour and salt. Cut lard into flour until crumbs are about the size of small peas. Add cold water, a little at a time, mixing quickly and evenly through flour with a fork until dough just holds in a ball.

Use as little water as possible. Roll to about 1/8 inch thickness and line a 9-inch pie pan, allowing ½ inch crust to extend over edge.

To make apple filling mix sugar, flour, cinnamon, nutmeg and apples. Spoon into crust.

To make topping combine coconut, cornflake crumbs, butter or margarine and brown sugar. Sprinkle over Apple Filling. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) 45 to 50 minutes or until done. (SH

Week's Best Food Values

Inventory planning is the key to food values for the market week of June 3-8, reports the University of Illinois. Current market costs for red meats and eggs are higher, and fryers continue to be cheap.

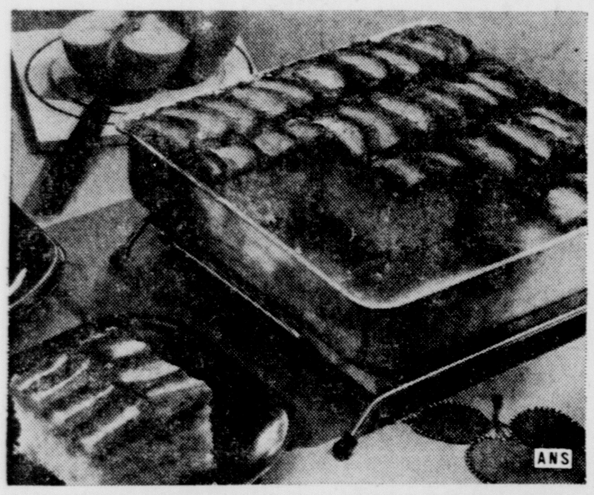
New consumer buys in fresh fruits and vegetables are recorded as southern production areas reach the season's peak.

Chicago area food values inchuck pot roasts, ground beef, rib roasts, pork chops and steaks, butt roasts, canned hams; Poultry: fryers; Produce: peaches, cantaloupe, strawberries, blueberries, potatoes, peppers, cucumbers, radishes, tomatoes, cabbage, and lettuce. (Sh

Lots of Beans

The carryover of old soybeans next fall seems likely to be 40 to 50 million bushels, compared with 58 million bushels last fall.

One Bowl Mixer–Dutch Apple Cake



LONG A FAVORITE on dessert lists is this Dutch Apple Cake. Sour cream added to the batter makes it moist and delicate, spices and tart apples provide an intriguing flavor.

If "Dutch treat" entertaining is on your schedule, you will be wise to consider the appetizing apple cake pictured here. It has so much to recommend it - one - bowl mixing and an easy baked-on topping which makes it such an accomplished traveler.

The final test is in the eating, of course, and that is where this cake really scores high. Delicately tender with a spicy apple topping, you will want to serve it for all treats, not just the "Dutch" variety.

SOUR CREAM APPLE CAKE

Measure 2 cups sifted cake flour into sifter; add 2 teaspoons doubleacting baking powder, ¾ teaspoon salt, and 1 cup plus 2 tablespoons sugar. Stir 1/3 cup butter or other shortening until softened. Sift in the dry ingredients. Add ¾ cup milk and 1 teaspoon vanilla; mix until all flour is dampened. Then beat 2 minutes at low speed of electric mixer or 300 vigorous strokes by hand.

Add 1 egg and beat 1 minute longer or an additional 150 strokes. Pour into a greased 9-inch square pan. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) 30 to 35 minutes, or until top springs back when lightly touched.

While cake is baking, peel and thinly slice 1 small tart apple. Combine with 1½ cups sour cream, ¾ cup sugar, 1½ teaspoons cinnamon, and ¼ teaspoon nutmeg. When cake is done, remove from oven (do not turn off heat).

Carefully spoon sour cream mixture over top of hot cake, right in the pan. Peel and thinly slice 1 more small tart apple and arrange over topping. Return to oven and bake 20 minutes longer. Serve warm. Makes 9 servings. (SH

Pork Butt Perked With Fruit Sauce

Cured and smoked pork suits most everyone's taste in meat. Hams, Canadian-style bacon, picnic shoulder and shoulder butt are four cuts commonly flavored this way.

A PARTICULARLY economical one of this group is the smoked shoulder butt. It's boneless and can be prepared in many different ways.

As a whole piece you could cook it in liquid or roast it. Roasting requires about 35 minutes per pound. Sliced smoked shoulder butt may be broiled, panbroiled or panfried.

For a touch of elegance, you will enjoy serving this spicy Fruit Sauce Exotica with a whole shoulder butt cooked in liquid.

SMOKED SHOULDER BUTT

- 2 to 4-pound smoked shoulder butt
- Water to cover
- 6 whole cloves
- 1 stick cinnamon
- ½ teaspoon ginger
- ¼ teaspoon garlic salt

Cover meat with water. Add cloves, cinnamon, ginger and garlic salt. Cover tightly and simmer 2 hours or until meat is done. Remove from liquid. Slice and serve with Fruit Sauce Exotica.

FRUIT SAUCE EXOTICA

- 1 can (11 ounces) mandarin oranges
- 1 can (13½ ounces) pineapple chunks
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- ½ teaspoon cinnamon
- ½ teaspoon nutmeg
- ¼ teaspoon ground cardamom, if desired

Drain oranges and pineapple, reserving liquid. Combine cornstarch, cinnamon, nutmeg and cardamom. Add orange and pineapple liquid. Cook stirring constantly, until thickened.

Fold in oranges and pineapple and heat through. Serve hot with smoked shoulder butt. Yield: 2 1/3 cups sauce. (SH

What's at Stake in Indiana Dunes Struggle

by TOM EDWARDS

Photos by DON VICKERY

"The Dunes are to the Midwest what the Grand Canyon is to Arizona and Yosemite is to California. They constitute a signature of time and eternity: Once lost the loss would be irrevocable."

— Carl Sandburg

Today giant machines are clawing away at Indiana's remaining dunes, loading the sand on barges, and finally dumping it into Lake Michigan off Northwestern University's campus in Evanston.

The educational institution wants the sand to create additional acreage to its campus and is paying $6,300,000 to have it created in the lake.

Bethlehem Steel Corp. is leveling the dunes to build a $250,000,000 steel finishing plant, it says.

There has been a battle of national scope for several years between those who wish to save about 6½ miles of the dunes remaining on Indiana's 42-mile shoreline, and those who want industrial development. Apparently the conservationists were gaining ground until the Northwestern University contract for sand exploded on the scene last year.

The dunes weren't always there. Their formation began about 11,000 years ago as a result of a great glacier moving down from the north. Since then the inexorable wind and currents of Lake Michigan have gradually and unceasingly heaved sand into Indiana's dunes.

THERE ARE other dunes. They occur from Petoskey, Mich., to the Indiana state line, with the Sleeping Bear Dunes of northern Michigan excelling in sheer grandeur.

But for quiet beauty and exotic biology, it is the Indiana Dunes that have been extolled by naturalists and botanists for nearly half a century.

It is the only duneland that lies within easy driving range of the 7½ million people in the Chicago metropolitan area (40 miles from the Loop).

Yet its potential as a recreational area has been relatively untapped.

What is classified as duneland once stretched for about 25 miles along the 42-mile Indiana shoreline. Until recent excavation work began, about 6½ miles were left, including about 11,000 acres. At the eastern end of the former 25-mile dune shoreline is the 2,182-acre Indiana Dunes State Park, a three-mile strip along the shore.

But the heart of and choicest duneland lies just to the west of the park. Much of it is now owned by Bethlehem Steel. It probably isn't fate that the choicest area still survives. It is the most rugged, and posed more development problems. But it is now practically the only portion of the Indiana shoreline that hasn't been consumed by development.

It may well have been the cheapest real estate available and suitable to Bethlehem Steel's purposes when it first bought a chunk in 1956.

Behind the controversial industrial development proposal are morally depressing revelations (February, 1963, issue of the Atlantic Monthly) of an intertwining of political and business interests. Many millions of dollars were at stake in various ways. It seems that any objective analysis by the Indiana state government as to the best use of the remaining duneland would be a practical impossibility.

There are probably few—if any—areas in the United States that fit the general priority considerations contained in the recent report of President Kennedy's Outdoor Recreation Resources Review Commission more than the Indiana Dunes.

They are in a huge population center in "critical" need of publicly owned land for recreation; they contain an incomparable fresh water shore and beach line, the widest in North America, it is reported; and they contain natural phenomena and combinations not duplicated anywhere on the continent.

"A beach is the greatest tourist attraction in the world. National Parks are runners up," the Rand McNally Vacation Guide states.

The present Indiana Dunes State Park contains about three per cent of the total park area in the state — but gets about 25 per cent of the human traffic to them, the Louisville, Ky., Courier-Journal reported, while putting to shame Indiana newspapers in exposing the total picture.

Indiana and Illinois are near the bottom of the list of states in the amount of state parks they have supplied their populations. Since 1940 the Federal government has only increased its national park acreage by about an infinitesimal .005 per cent. That is 200 times less than one per cent. (The Indiana and the Sleeping Bear Dunes are two of 29 new national parks the federal government is contemplating now.)

Biologically, the dunes contain flora and fauna ranging from desert cactus to arctic plants. It is a biological "island" which has long intrigued botanists. More than 1,000 species of plants, including 26 members of the orchid family, grow there, and 255 species of birds have been observed there. One might question if Northwestern University and the proposed steel mills are intrinsically as important.

The first director of the National Park Service, Stephen T. Mather, visited the Indiana Dunes in 1916 and proposed a 25-mile preserve there. But World War I intervened. In 1925 the state established the present 2,182-acre dunes park.

"In 1929, Midwest Steel Corporation bought 750 acres straddling Burns Ditch, an artificial channel dug three years earlier to drain the Little Calumet River," the Courier-Journal reported.

IN 1931 AND 1935 the Army Engineers recommended against the use of federal funds for a Burns Ditch harbor proposed by Midwest Steel, the article continues.

In 1944 the Army Engineers again stated that the existing harbor facilities in the area were adequate. But in 1960, Col. J. A. Smedile, the army district engineer, announced that a port at Burns Ditch could be economically justified. But according to sundry accounts and a statement by Col. Smedile, alternative sites have not been studied.

A comparative study of possible Indiana port sites was finally authorized by the U. S. House of Representatives last year.

But Bethlehem Steel wasn't interested in waiting for it. Early last year Bethlehem, a dredging firm, and Northwestern University contracted to take 2,500,000 cubic yards of sand from Bethlehem owned dunes. The dredging firm will pay Bethlehem $20,000 for the sand.

When this was announced, an offer was made to give free to the university for lake fill the material to be dredged from the Cal - Sag Canal. About 10,000,000 cubic yards were to be dredged from the canal, it was reported at that time, and will be otherwise dumped along its banks.

The university board of trustees announced May 2, 1962, that it is their normal obligation to fulfill the contract from which the dredging firm would not release them, according to reports. It has also stated that the Cal-Sag material is "not suitable" for its purpose.

Until the Northwestern University contract was made, it appeared that the Save-the-Dunes Council, a citizens' group organized in 1952, had a good chance to do just that. Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois had proposed bills in 1958 to create a national park in the dunes.

Sen. Douglas has ardently crusaded to preserve the dunes. He presently has a bill in the Subcommittee on Public Lands of the Senate Committee on the Interior for a 9,000-acre national park (in addition to the 2,100-acre state park). He got 16 senators to co-sponsor the bill. They are now waiting for a Bureau of the Budget decision on the Burns Ditch harbor before pressing the bill further, Douglas stated May 20.

Last year both Indiana senators were in favor of the Burns Ditch harbor. But Sen. Homer Capehart was defeated for reelection last November, and new Sen. Birch Bayh hasn't yet committed himself all the way.

FOR THE PROPOSED harbor, the federal government is being asked to put up $25,500,000 and the state government, $38,000,000. The federal government has so far refused, and the state government has declined to shoulder the burden alone.

It has been stated that 94 per cent of the potential tonnage that would be handled in the port would be for the sole benefit of the Midwest and Bethlehem steel mills. Further, it might very well cost the state $3,000,000 a year to maintain the port. The two steel companies would probably be given free access to the port, with other users to pay.

Another point is that employment in steel production is currently off about 30 per cent, and automation is growing.

Pollution of the entire Indiana lake shore is another likelihood in the future if present development proposals are consummated, as anyone who has witnessed ports of the Great Lakes can attest.

Indiana presently has four ports, three serving the steel producing area of Gary, Hammond, Whiting and East Chicago, and one in Michigan City. There is reliable evidence that these port facilities should be expanded rather than building a new port at Burns iDtch. Indiana ports already handle more tonnage "than any other state in the area," according to the Martinsville, Ind., newspaper.

If the steel companies decide to go it alone at Burns Ditch, there remains a question of when do public prerogatives supersede private prerogatives.

On the surface, it seems Indiana would do better to develop one fine major port and industrial complex, even if it means public condemnation of property held by real estate speculators, than to foster a string of sub major, or even second-rate ports.

"The creation of virtually every national park has been fought by local groups for one reason or another and, had their views prevailed, we would have had virtually no national parks or, indeed, state parks, either," Sen. Douglas said.

Production Line Makes Freight Cars 'Like New'

The 3,000 car repair program which the Milwaukee Road began early in the year has been expanded to include a total of 5,300 cars at a cost of about $10 million, William J. Quinn, president announced today.

The program has moved into high gear in the road's huge shops in the heart of Milwaukee, where a semi-automated production line — manufacturers — is turning old freight cars into shiny, not unlike those of the auto sturdy, and like-new units.

Quinn said that the cars are being released in Class A condition at the rate of 20 a day and that the program will be completed in March of 1964. The schedule calls for completion of 3,300 box cars and 1,000 of other types by the end of 1963. A total of 1,521 will have been repaired, repainted and returned to service by June 1.

Another program being progressed by the road at the same time involves the complete refurbishing and equipping of 30 diesel locomotives with new power plants.

QUINN SAID the program brings daily benefits through increased efficiency to shippers and the railroad. Furthermore, the like-new cars will reduce substantially the road's per diem car rental costs and will help solve the car shortage problem which has plagued the entire industry.

When the old cars are rolled into the yards, they are carefully inspected and marked up for repairs. Interior plywood walls and flooring are stripped from the cars, and doors are marked for replacement or repair.

The box cars are then moved into the long seven-track shop building where overhead cranes lift the bodies to permit removal of trucks. The bodies are lowered to rest on metal horses. While complete refurbishing of the trucks is under way, stripping of wood and steel from the bodies continues.

NEW STEEL doors are hung and welded, and rusty areas of steel siding, removed by flame cutting, are replaced with new sections welded into place. Heavy 2¾-inch wood flooring is installed over the basic steel floor structure, the air brakes are cleaned and tested, the body is replaced on the trucks, and the rebuilt unit is rolled into the paint shop.

Here the cars are sprayed with a special rust-resistant paint and the Milwaukee name, trademark and other identification marks are spray-stenciled on the sides.

A continuing program is also being carried out for the repairing and upgrading of two cabooses each week. The Milwaukee's entire fleet of 456 cabooses will be put through the shops in the course of this program. The railroad replaced its wooden cabooses with all-steel units several years ago.

TWO OTHER centers spinning with activity are the wheel and locomotive shops. Each day more than three carloads of new and used wheels - or 36,000 a year - are processed through the automated wheel shop. Axles and wheels are machined, calibrated, and assembled almost completely by automation. Milwaukee Road officials say the modern wheel shop is one of only three of its kind in the world.

The 30 diesel-electric locomotives in the reconditioning program are being equipped with new engines and their trucks, traction motors and all component parts completely cleaned and overhauled.

The shops in which these activities are taking place are in an area covering 220 acres, exclusive of extensive yards surrounding the shops. (BB NEWLY REBUILT and freshly painted, another freight car rolls from the Milwaukee Road car shop in Milwaukee, Wis. Twenty like-new cars are coming off the railroad's production lines daily in connection with the rebuilding of 5,300 freight cars of various types. The railroad serves northwest suburbs with two lines in this area — one division northwest from Des Plaines through Wheeling, and one west from Bensenville through north DuPage County. (BB

Concrete Block Fashions Sturdy Back-Yard Retreat

If your vacation budget this year precludes taking the family very far for very long, why not stay home and invest this money in a permanent vacationland of your own - an outdoor living room.

Not only does an attractively furnished back yard offer summer after summer of fun in the sun, it increases the beauty and value of your property as well.

When building a patio, for example, plan it as an integral part of the home. Positioned adjacent to a picture window or sliding glass doors, a patio adds dimension to both the exterior and interior of the home. Or place it off the kitchen to provide easy access to cooking facilities. A patio should be large enough to accommodate several persons, lounge chairs, dining furniture and any additional recreational facilities you may wish to include in your outdoor living room.

A POPULAR building material for patios is today's new concrete masonry. Slender patio block is available in a variety of sizes and colors, offering backyard decorators a myriad of unique pattern combinations. A mixture of sizes achieves a delightful flagstone effect, while different colored units create a checkerboard motif.

Block is also ideally suited for a summer stove which can transform every meal into a festive occasion. Simple design ing pastels, split block acquires its roughhewn appearance during the manufacturing process when a solid concrete masonry unit is split in two. The resulting sections are marked with a rich stone like quality and rustic beauty actually enhanced by age.

POOL, WALL, PATIO — all are accomplished easily with concrete masonry. Slender patio block appropriately proffers pool and patio, while rugged-textured split block fashions attractive background wall. (BB

PRIVACY, which is perhaps the most appreciated attribute of outdoor living space is attractively accomplished by erecting a concrete block fence, either as a patio enclosure or property divider. Fences may be any height you desire, but professional assistance is advised in construction of fences exceeding six feet.

A fence of solid concrete masonry units provides complete seclusion and keeps insects and stray pets at bay. For elegant simplicity, try the regular block unit in stacked or running bond. Different sizes, such as the 8-inch square and 4-inch high block, mixed with the standard unit offer virtually unlimited fence patterns. Or when these block are used in a predetermined inset-offset pattern, a unique dimensional effect is yours.

Still more depth and beauty are added to your world outdoors by installing garden walks. Straight or sinuous, pathways should be made wide enough for at least two persons, and can be built to border the lawn or be directed to flower beds, the garage or wherever your fancy takes them. Garden walk patterns and construction details are much the same as for patios, and when created with the same slender patio block, a pathway contributes stylish continuity to your outdoor domain. (BB applications employing the familiar 8" x 8" x 16" concrete masonry unit are quickly and easily executed. For more complex fireplaces, however, it is recommended that you share the professional phases with a reliable mason contractor.

If your home is colonial or early American and you would like a barbeque to complement its traditional design, consider rugged-textured split block. Produced in a rainbow of pleas-

Realtor Board President Explains Code of Ethics

A Realtor may not always advise the seller of a property to accept the highest offer, Charles K. Burval, president of the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors, said today.

"As a matter of fact, in some cases, it may even be a violation of the Realtor's code of ethics to urge that the best offer be taken," he added, illustrating his point by a case in "Interpretations of the Code of Ethics."

THIS BOOK, recently published by the National Association of Real Estate Boards, of which Burval and the board are members, outlines practical applications of the code by the Realtor to the public, his client, and his colleagues.

In the case Burval cited, a Realtor was showing a prospective buyer around his client's small commercial property and pointed out to the buyer that the structure would lend itself to economical reconditioning.

"That won't be necessary," said the buyer, "it's just right as it is for my little bookie operation. People who call me to place their bets won't see the cracked plaster."

THE REALTOR told his client about the offer to buy for cash at the full listed price but said that if the client accepted, he would withdraw as agent. To sell to the bookie, the Realtor told his client, would mean that an illegal undertaking would be furthered, that it would be damaging to the area, and that furthermore it would be against good public policy.

The client agreed with the Realtor, and several days later accepted a lower offer.

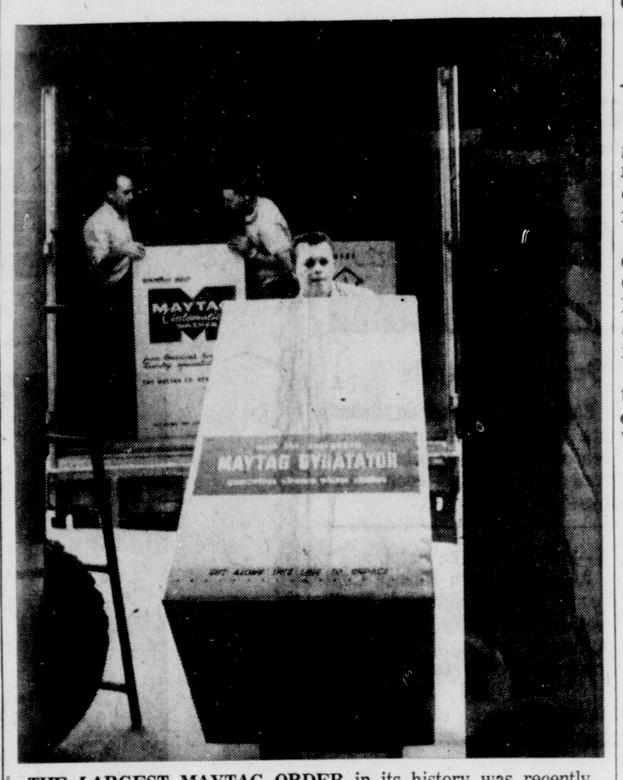
When the bookie found out about this, he made a complaint to the Board of Realtors charging the Realtor with unethical conduct in "failure to submit his written offer to the client, citing evidence that the writen offer had not been submitted and that an offer for a lower price and less attractive terms had been accepted."

THE PROFESSIONAL standards committee of the board, after hearing all the facts on the matter, decided that by verbally submitting the offer and by giving his client advice based on his information of the law, the Realtor had acted responsibly and ethically. In other words, the Realtor had performed in conformity with article 12 of the code of ethics.

This article reads, "In justice to those who place their interests in his care, the Realtor should endeavor always to be informed regarding laws, proposed legislation, governmental orders, and other essential information and public policies which affect those interests."

The complaint was dismissed, and the board commended the Realtor. (BB

Receives Record Order



THE LARGEST MAYTAG ORDER in its history was recently received (above) by Ace Washer & Dryer Co., 1615 Rand Road, Arlington Heights. A total of 430 Maytag machines were delivered from the factory at Newton, Iowa, in connection with the Maytag "Retail Rally Days" promotion. Bill and Glenn Curtis, owners of the firm, said this volume of buying power enables them to warehouse all models of Maytag equipment, eliminating delay in delivery and keeping prices down. Their modern new display showroom features a complete selection of machines, fully installed with water lines for demonstration under actual washing conditions; dryers also are installed for similar demonstration. A complete workshop, together with a fleet of service trucks, supplements their system of volume warehouse and merchandising for the purpose of better serving the wash-day needs of families in this fast-growing suburban area. Ex-Mount Prospect Resident Promoted

Robert E. Whiteley, former Mount Prospect resident, has been elected an assistant treasurer of Fairbanks Whitney Corp.

Whiteley had been assistant treasurer and general credit manager of Fairbanks, Morse & Co. Concurrently with his new duties with the parent company, he will continue to serve as president of Fairbanks Credit Corporation, which provides industrial financing for customers of the subsidiaries.

A graduate of the University of Illinois, Whiteley joined the Chicago branch of Fairbanks, Morse in 1936. In 1945, he was appointed Dallas branch credit manager and three years later St. Louis credit manager. He became general credit manager in 1950, and in September 1959, was named assistant treasurer of Fairbanks, Morse.

Whiteley has long been active in the National Association of Credit Management and is a former member of the board of directors of the Credit Research Foundation. He served for six years on the Board of Education for Mount Prospect school district 57 and was president of the board for one full term.

The family now lives in Pleasantville, N. Y. (BB

Natural Beauty Stressed In Sleepy Hollow Model

"We've always emphasized the natural beauty and attraction of Sleepy Hollow, and the really wonderful way of life people living here can enjoy. But we certainly don't neglect the home, itself — because that's the family 'action center' for our kind of relaxed living."

THE SPEAKER was Floyd Falese, mayor of Sleepy Hollow and well known outdoor enthusiast. He said, "Our home designs — all of 'em — are carefully chosen to fit in with the Sleepy Hollow concept of good living. And that applies to both exterior and interior planning."

Sales Manager Frank Parisi pointed out the "President" — a distinctive eight-room ranch home — as an example of the builders' approach to home design. He noted that "...there's no crowding anywhere in this home. Comfort and space are the key ideas. But, for today's buyer with a good eye for design, you'll find a really pleasing balance of layout and finish throughout the house."

The "President" is a ranch-colonial home in brick and rough-sawn cedar — has 2½ baths and a 2½ car garage. A large entryway and a 20' by 13' living room invite the visitor to the home. The 13' x 10' dining area has a distinctive built-in china closet.

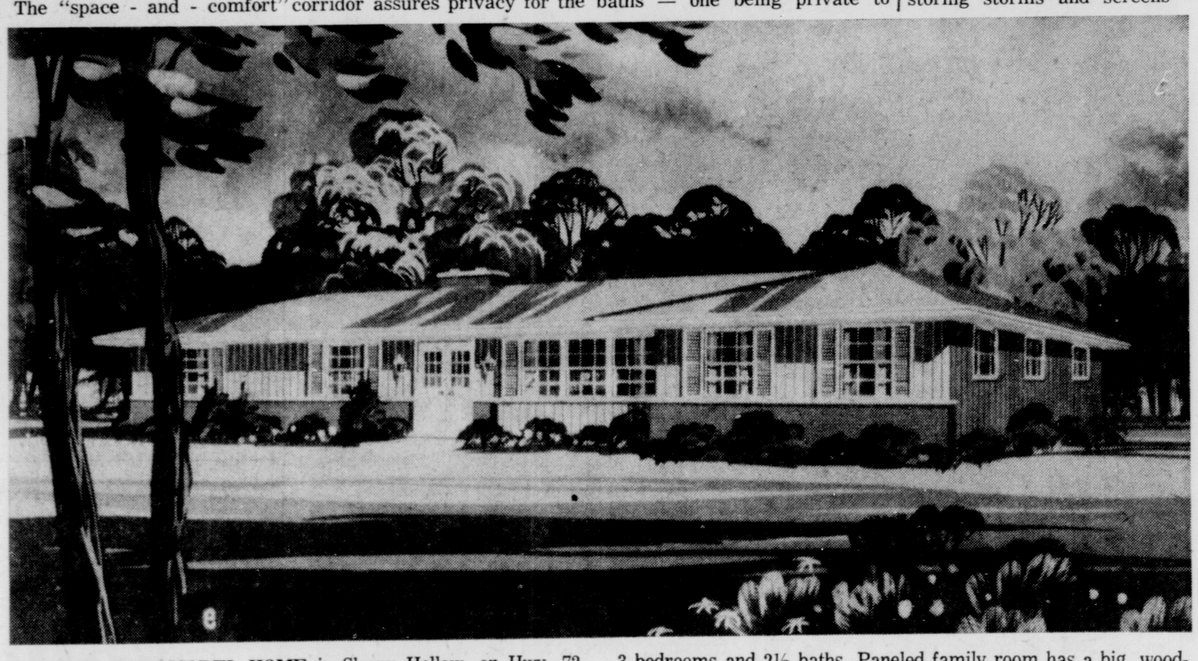
FROM THE kitchen — with its many custom oak cabinets — double thermopane sliding doors open onto the patio area. Appliances include refrigerator, range, oven, exhaust fan and hood, dishwasher and garbage disposer.

The 16' x 12' family room features pre-finished oak paneling and a big, floor-to-ceiling, wood - burning masonry fireplace. The "space - and - comfort" theme is continued in the three bedrooms. A novel L-shaped corridor assures privacy for the entire sleeping area. Custom tiling, and decor are found in both baths — one being private to the master bedroom, which also has a separate dressing room.

The "President" also offers purchaser's choice of baseboard hot air or hot water heat — complete insulation — attic storage and crawl space — self-storing storms and screens — galvanized gutters and downspouts — copper plumbing throughout — and complete custom decoration.

SLEEPY Hollow model homes are open daily from 10 a.m. till dark.

Main entrance to Sleepy Hollow is on Higgons Road just outside Dundee, one mile west of Hwy. 31 — about 45 minutes from Chicago via Northwest Tollway.



STRIKING NEW MODEL HOME in Sleepy Hollow, on Hwy. 72 one mile west of Hwy. 31, near Dundee, is the "President." Planned on a single level, it has over 2,000 sq. ft. of living area, with 3 bedrooms and 2½ baths. Paneled family room has a big, wood-burning fireplace. Exterior is of brick and rough-sawn cedar. Rose Expert Will Come to Kersting's

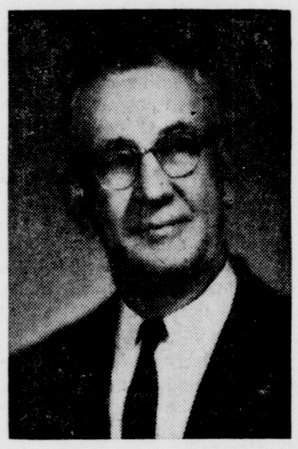
One of the nation's top rose exhibitors will conduct a clinic at Kersting's Garden Center in Mount Prospect Saturday and Sunday, June 8 and 9.

Harold H. Allen of Chillicothe, Ohio, will be on hand from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. both days to answer questions and discuss "The Complete Field of Rose Care."

Allen, who has collected 135 top awards during 12 years of exhibiting, counts the Rosedale Bowl and the J. Horace McFarland Memorial National among his honors in the American Rose Society. His roses have earned queen of the show 15 times and sweepstakes 33. In 1960 he received the American Rose Society's highest award, the Silver Honor Medal.

IN ADDITION to the exhibiting, Allen has judged and written about roses. He has been an accredited judge since 1954, and his book, "Roses — Growing for Exhibiting," was published in 1961.



HAROLD ALLEN

His lectures are supplemented with slides of his own rose gardens, which contain 450 bushes of all classes.

Joining him for the clinic this weekend will be W. H. Coffin, a representative of Nutro Lawn Products who will answer questions about lawn problems.

A truly new way of life for individuals 45 and over!

Safe, secure, economical, effortless living is assured through America's newest form of ownership — Condominium. Condominium guarantees security of individual, sole ownership for your unit plus common ownership of all other areas and grounds. The maintenance cost of your 7 acre yard, heating and lighting of your 40,000 square feet of lounges with fireplaces, hobby and recreation rooms, are less than that of the average 50' x 150' lot and home. Because of the low low cost, your lawn cutting, snow shoveling, and outside painting days are over when you are an owner at CAMEO. CAMEO'S fire-proof, sound-proof, quality construction would ordinarily be found only where cost is no object, but through careful design and planning, is offered by CAMEO for less than a low-cost house.

If your family is raised and your home is now too large, if the high taxes, the work, and expensive upkeep no longer seem worthwhile — or if you are planning to move out of state when you retire because you heard it is less expensive to live, but would really prefer to stay in the area with your family and life-long friends, CAMEO is the answer.

Miniature Circus Returns To Golf-Mill for 2 Weeks

Admission Is Free For Unique Show

For the third consecutive year, the biggest miniature circus in the world starts Monday at Golf-Mill Shopping Center and continues through Saturday, June 15.

It's Ernie's Circus that has been on 189 television shows and was a feature at the Brussels World Fair in 1958. Tickets are not needed; the circus is free.

It will be located in the covered pavilion area north of Karoll's. The 50,000 piece replica of the entire Ringling Bros. circus has 5,000 animals, 5,000 carved little figures, 30 tents, 2,000 circus performers. They're all carved of wood and built at a scale of one-half inch to the foot.

FAMOUS stars of Ringling's Circus—including the favorite clown Emmet Kelly — are the life-like performers in this fairyland of tiny figures moved by 20 motors. The circus tents, the music and the lights give this circus delightful realism.

The moving parts of the circus also include a half dozen circus wagons which move about the miniature grounds as if in a parade. Six railroad cars on a track siding and four bulldozers outside the Big Top add to the realism of the scale-model show.

All 50,000 pieces have been carved by its creator, Ernie Palmquist, and costumed by his wife, Virginia. The circus features moving acts and animals, spectators, roustabouts, cooks and animal handlers.

ERNIE, A former musician and bandleader, composed the ever-popular song, "The Music Goes Round and Round." Like all kids, Ernie was a circus fan, but he never got over it. Ginny, his wife, an ex-Ziegfeld show girl and formerly of Chicago, does the painting of the small wooden figures, fashions the costumes, makes the tents and does a great deal of the mechanical work.

"I was just going to have a few wagons in my collection," Ernie said. "But they looked so good when I got through with them that I decided to carve some horses to pull them. One thing led to another. . .I ended up devoting all my spare time for 13 years to this 50,000 piece layout!"

According to Ernie, it took him and his wife two years and $8,000 worth of materials to fashion the fabulous display that is now insured by Lloyds of London for $50,000. "I made very one of these pieces with a picket knif and two special carving knives. That is all I used," Ernie said. Now music is Ernie's hobby (he still writes songs), but whittling is his career.

VIRGINIA is an original Ziegfeld Follies girl. She has appeared in many of Earl Carroll's shows and was a member of the Eddie Cantor Company that took the first American musical, "Look Who's Laughing," to Europe. The exhibit was featured in the Brussels Fair in Belgium and is slated to go on display at the 1964 World's Fair in New York.

Ernie and his hobby have appeared on Garry Moore's Show, on "What's My Line? (He stumped the panel), and Ed Sullivan's Show. His circus was used in the plans for Cecil B. De Mille's "The Greatest Show on Earth." Some scenes were actual shots of the miniature.

THE WORLD'S LARGEST miniature circus starts Monday at the Golf-Mill Shopping Center, Golf Road and Milwaukee Avenue, Niles. Ernie's Circus has been featured on numerous TV programs and was a highlight of the 1958 Brussels Worlds Fair. Admission is free. (BB

SUBURBAN PRESS FOUNDATION — ADVANCING FAMILY COMMUNITY LIFE

THURS., JUNE 6, 1963

The Way We See It

Consumer Benefits

Residents in some of the older northwest suburban communities experiencing a face-lifting have a stake in this rejuvenation process.

The economic health of a community is often reflected in the tax burden it expects its residents to shoulder. A more attractive downtown area, with adequate provision for parking and other conveniences, keeps the economic arteries of a municipality sound and vigorous.

Renovation projects in Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect have added necessary parking facilities for hundreds of shoppers and commuters.

The more businesses prosper in a community — both downtown and in its shopping center areas — the more the community itself does. Of direct benefit is the sales tax revenue derived from such prosperity.

Another benefit not quite so readily apparent but of comparable importance was touched on by Robert Hollander, Palatine village manager, who noted: "The village wants to preserve our downtown shopping area as a unifying force. Without it, the town becomes a hodge-podge without any real focal point."

Palatine has had its troubles, however, selling downtown merchants on the idea of need for a street lighting program. The proposal was rejected in a court suit initiated by property owners of the downtown area.

Absentee landlords opposed the plan on the grounds that the special assessments they would have to pay for the program were too high. Some merchants, though, apparently favored the plan but were unable to provide the leadership needed to push the proposal through since they only rented their downtown stores.

Arlington Heights, conversely, is in stage five of its "Plaza Plan." The first four phases of the program included widening of streets in the central business district, installation of 144 new mercury vapor street lamps for improved lighting for night shoppers, and creation of commuter parking lots along the railroad. In addition, a new $450,000 municipal building was constructed and occupied.

The final stage of the Plaza plan calls for free parking for some 400 cars in the downtown district near the railroad station and installation of a landscaped parking lot and mall.

The improvement of facades and interiors of individual stores, of course, is in response to the challenge provided by competition from shopping centers.

If this competition is forcing downtown store owners to become more alert and responsive to the needs of their customers, then the consumer has nothing to do but benefit from such a competitive situation.

Fouling the Environment

President Kennedy's Scientific Advisory Panel's recent report on pesticides is largely a vindication for those who have been voicing alarm against indiscriminate use of these chemicals.

The scientists are urging research in an area which has yet to be investigated in determining the cumulative effects of pesticides on the brain, liver, fat and reproductive organs of adults and infants.

A continuing checkup on the levels of poison residues in air, water, soil, man, wildlife and fish is further suggested by the panel. A probe to determine if toxic residues are transmitted to unborn children or if they are present in a mother's milk is one form of research recommended.

The scientists also propose the goal of eliminating use of "persistent" pesticides whose presence is found in the soil for years after application. DDT is the most widely used "persistent" chemical of this sort. Its wholesale use in households, for decimating the mosquito population, and in applying it to elm trees to combat Dutch elm disease is well known.

Besides the the accumulative damage suspected of poisonous residues in food, the panel also warned against contamination of dishes and utensils by household use of pesticides. Skin contamination by contact with clothing or blankets after mothproofing or dry cleaning was another area of potential danger not adequately investigated, in the panel's view.

The report confirms that basic research in this vital area which pervades so many aspects of our lives is shabbily lacking. It demonstrates that there is no way of determining the possible damaging consequences of pesticides because no body of evidence has been amassed from which determinations can be made.

The food we eat, the water we drink and the air we breath have all possibly been fouled by the reckless application of these chemical poisons. Yet, while so much research has been done — especially by the chemical industries — on perfecting more efficient insect killers to boost food production, practically none has been undertaken to determine what adverse effects the introduction of such synthetic controls has done to upset the balance of our environment. The insects' natural enemies, for instance, the birds, have been particular victims of pesticides.

The report, while decrying lack of research, also called for tighter controls. Specific recommendations in this regard call for transferring responsibility for such chemicals from the Department of Agriculture to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, since the Agriculture Department appears to have concentrated more on matters affecting increased food production than health concerns. The scientists also want the government to modify the use of some hazardous and persistent poisons, and to aim for methods of insect control instead of eradication since insects have a remarkable capacity for building up an immunity to pesticides.

The report should act as a foundation for legislation to curb the abuses practiced in the past in regard to these dangerous poisons. Until such laws are enacted, those agencies using such chemicals have a grave responsibility. They should exercise extreme caution in applying these killers. We again urge a reading of the Cook County Forest Preserve District's policy regarding use of insecticides and herbicides. It stresses use of natural controls and the keeping of chemical controls to an absolute minimum. Northwest suburban municipalities and agencies presently using pesticides should find it required reading, especially in light of the new warnings from the President's scientific advisors.

In the Forefront

The Salvation Army was in the forefront of volunteer agencies responding to the recent relief crisis by providing needed food for Cook County public aid recipients.

In fact, wherever need and want appear so does the Salvation Army.

Friday, June 7, the Salvation Army is staging its annual Doughnut Tag Day in Chicago and suburbs to continue to meet the needs and wants of the less fortunate of every race and creed.

Eighty per cent of the money raised goes to Chicago; 20 per cent remains in the suburbs to meet emergency needs. An example is the suburban service rendered a Mexican-American family to provide shoes for the youngsters to attend school.

The Salvation Army has been providing assistance to those in need for over 78 years. It now needs continued community support to further its own good works.

Folk Music Becomes Fad

by MARTIN KLINGMAN
Staff Writer

What is this thing called folk music?

"Folk," according to Webster's dictionary means, "A group of kindred people," but when used as an adjective it means, "Of or pertaining to the folk; designating songs, dances, etc., originated or used among the common people . . ."

Music defined is, "The science or art of pleasing, expressive, or intelligible combination of tones; . . . making such combinations into compositions of definite structure and significance."

So, it would seem that folk music is a composition of intelligible tones originating with and used by the common people.

This might not be a bad definition except for what has happened to folk music in the last five years.

A group known as the Kingston Trio, who call themselves folk singers, have popularized folk tunes — in their own particular style —to make folk singing a fad.

ADULTS, teens, and children have taken up the fad, forming clubs, organizations, and spontaneous get-togethers where the strains of "Darling Cora" and "Tom Dooley" spew forth.

These groups and their enthusiasm probably won't hurt folk music, but it has created a distortion of what real folk music is like.

Judging from how long fad music has lasted in tne past. I will concede the contriouution the Kingston Trio has made in popularizing folk music with the masses.

However, I must take exception to their method of making it popular.

The Trio takes the old songs, legends, folk tunes and updates them with a background of guitar and banjo music. They call that folk music.

I am opposed!

The gross distortion which the Trio stuffs down the public throat will, I think, hurt folk music in the long run unless the public investigates further what exists in the world of folk music.

I'm not trying to insult the intelligence of the general public, but I think their ignorance is obvious.

They apparently only judge folk music by one or two commercial sources.

NOR DOES my criticism lie with the Kingston Trio's lack of talent; but I think they use their talent unwisely.

Personally I prefer purist folk music.

Purism means music repeated as it was presented when it was originally written, felt, or expressed by any people of the world.

I'm asking those who enjoy the Kingston Trio, Peter, Paul, and Mary, the Limelighters, and other commercial folksingers or, if you will, folk music interpreters, to find out more.

Take some time to listen to such people as Jean Redpath, the New Lost City Ramblers, Lester Flatt and Earl Scruggs, Hobart Smith, Robert Camp and others who attempt to sing, play, whistle, or make noise in the way folk music was actually or supposed to have been presented 10 years to 100 years ago.

Fireworks Ban

Small Perfections

by BOB CUMMINS

When I was a boy, a period of anticipation and planning began with the arrival of June.

All boys hoarded what limited funds were available to them in order to buy fireworks to celebrate the Fourth of July.

The period was as exciting as the weeks preceding Christmas.

At that time and place, the Fourth of July was the No. 2 holiday in the constellation of the year's Big Days.

Today it is one notch above Veterans Day and a notch below Valentine's Day.

CUMMINS

One reason for this decline is that the indiscriminate sale of fireworks has been outlawed.

At the time and place of my boyhood, fireworks were sold freely. All kids saved their pennies for weeks to get a well-planned assortment. Every dime store and candy store sold them. Big firecrackers and little ones. Roman candles. Sparklers. Pistols. Skyrockets. Various kinds and sizes of bombs. Some would blow a coffee can as high as a three-story building.

WHEN THE big day came, everyone was up at 6 a.m. or sooner, some to set off fireworks and the rest because of the explosions.

The din kept up for at least 15 hours.

All day long, the sulphurous smell of gunpowder permeated the city and a pall of smoke hung above its hot streets.

Dogs and cats crept furtively in the shadows of buildings, if they ventured forth at all.

From time to time, the frenzy was fanned by screaming sirens as fire engines and ambulances dashed from one end of town to the other to try to mitigate the worst consequences of the celebration.

Yes, there was a fairly heavy human toll as a result of this explosive jubilee. Countless burns. A few fingers got blown off every year. Some eyes were blinded. In cases of extreme patriotism, death resulted.

All this took place in Evansville, Indiana. Evansville, like Chicago, is the sort of place in which reform movements mature quite slowly. But I am sure that even in Evansville the old fashioned Fourth of July is dead.

Everywhere, the ban against fireworks is zealously enforced.

How ironic it is! We zealously ban firecrackers everywhere because someone might get hurt, yet cannot make an agreement to outlaw the H-bombs.

WE SPEND billions to send a man to the moon, which we know for sure is a cold, lifeless place covered with a thick layer of dust, while cancer fighters stand on street corners rattling tin cups to try to get money to finance research against the disease.

We choose our thistle commissioners in the most democratic way possible, yet permit a handful of political bosses to nominate the presidential candidates.

This is the essence of our times. Perfection in little things. Incompetence in big things.

Disclosure Defeated

Lobbyists Show Muscle

by SEN. PAUL SIMON

Illinois is one of the few states which requires no disclosure by lobbyists of what they spend. Recent action in the Senate indicates that Illinois will continue to be one of the states which does not let the public know what's going on.

Several of us in previous years have made attempts to have compulsory disclosure by lobbyists of what they spend. This was overwhelmingly defeated, due to the efforts of those same lobbyists.

AT THE BEGINNING of this session it occurred to me that if we can not have compulsory disclosure, at the very least we can have voluntary disclosure.

I introduced a bill — cosponsored by Senators Alan Dixon and Robert McCarthy —that made the proposal as watered - down as you could possibly make it. It simply said that the lobbyists "may" file statements showing what they spend to pass legislation or defeat it. That put it on a strictly voluntary basis.

This would permit those who would be willing to file returns to do so. It would give the public a little idea what was going on and who was spending the money.

Newspaper reporters then could have contacted those who did not file statements and ask the simple question: "Why didn't you file a statement?"

In any event, even this weak proposal was too strong for the lobbyists who barraged members of the committee with requests to vote the bill down.

The result was that the measure was defeated 10-1 in committee.

SIGNIFICANTLY, no lobbyist had the courage to publicly come before the committee and oppose it. They had done their work ahead of time. There were no witnesses against the measure at all; there didn't need to be. They had the votes already.

By this I do not mean to say that all lobbyists are bad.

Most are good, decent people who represent worthy causes. But if the honest lobbyists don't want to get tarred with the same reputation as the dishonest, they are going to have to speak up.

There is absolutely no reason why the people of Illinois should not be told what is being spent to pass and defeat laws.

There are hundreds of lobbyists around Springfield. They represent everything from teachers to churches to gambling interests.

These people are experts in their fields and provide a valuable service to legislators. In a few minutes legislators can contact people in almost every field of endeavor and get opinions acquired through many years of experience.

But disclosures of finances would be a healthy thing for everyone.

Right now, for example, there is a big fight between the rural electric cooperatives and the private utilities. Why shouldn't the public and the legislators know how much each side spends?

AS LONG AS you do not require public disclosure of these figures, Illinois will continue to encourage the undue influence of the dollar on legislation.

Until the public demands to know what is going on, they will be kept in the dark. And those of us in the legislature who would like to know, can only guess.

Problems Mount

WASHINGTON, (UPI) — An Illinois Democrat told the House last week that recent racial demonstrations made it "imperative" that Congress act this year on fair employment legislation.

Rep. Roman C. Pucinski said racial problems would multiply unless Congress acted quickly to bar job discrimination for reasons of color, religion, age or ethnic background.

Pucinski said it was unfair to blame southern states alone for job discrimination. He said the labor subcommittee that he heads has found that discriminatory employment practices take place in all parts of the country.

He also said that racial troubles in the United States threatened to "undo all we have accomplished in the past 15 years in our efforts to prove that free enterprise is the best of all systems."

Kerner Praises Motorists

SPRINGFIELD, (UPI) —Gov. Otto Kerner Monday praised Illinois motorists for their care during the long Memorial Day weekend, which "resulted in fewer fatalities than was expected."

In a brief statement, Kerner said "I sincerely hope that next year the toll may be further lessened." Illinois reported 18 fatalities compared to a predicted total of 29 to 35.

The toll was the lowest - with one exception - of any 102-hour weekend in the past nine years.

Crypt Rug, Chair Gone

BLOOMINGTON, ILL., (UPI) — Bloomington police Saturday were investigating the theft of an upholstered chair and a rug from a crypt in Park Hill Cemetery.

Police said the crypt was completely furnished so its occupant could "live" in it after he died.

Ron Ready To Receive Visitors

SPARTA, WIS., (UPI) — Ronald Poff, 18, a frequent visitor to the Monroe County Jail, is an inmate now.

Judge Lambert Hansen sentenced Poff to 15 days. The charge — illegal visiting.

Poff had a habit of climbing the walls of the jail to visit with the prisoners.

Shelters for Animals Told

The DuPage County Humane Society would like this fine newspapers' readers to know where to take unwanted animals. Perhaps a poor starving dog or cat has come into your yard and you already have a sufficiency of pets — or you cannot for some reason (as somebody in family being allergic to animal hair) keep a pet. Or it may be that your dog or cat has had young, and you must dispose of a litter of poor little helpless things.

If you live in Elmhurst or Bensenville, the Animal Welfare truck will come right to your door and pick the animal (or animals) up There is no charge but you must sign the animal over to our driver. We, those of us who love and pity animals like such poor strays, work around the clock to raise money — rummage sales, bake sales, card parties— to finance our shelter, and to pay the gas, the drivers. The trucks come three times a week — Tuesdays, Thursdays, Saturdays.

PLEASE hold the animal until one of these days, should it wander to your door on a day not on the truck's schedule. If you could find it in your heart to give us a dollar or even 50 cents (you can imagine the cost of all this)—the truck comes clear from 62nd and Wabash, Chicago—we would be grateful and say "thank-you!" for the dumb creatures who cannot speak for themselves. However, nobody will pressure you. We just want to rescue the animal.

If you live elsewhere in DuPage County, take these unwanted dogs and cats to the poundmaster, Dr. John McCaslin, St. Charles Road and North Ave., West Chicago. If you live in an unincorporated area, Dr. McCaslin will come get the animal. However, if you live in town, you must take the animal or animals to him in West Chicago. If for any reason you are unable to reach Dr. McCaslin on the phone—his number is 231-0404—call the sheriff. This —I repeat—is for animals abandoned or unwanted in an unincorporated area.

TO MRS. Joyce Mundelius, Bensenville, who wrote in recently asking that cats be licensed, it is impossible to fence in a cat. They climb up and over. Licensing cats would deprive many a poor child of a pet—a family that cannot afford to keep a dog (such as Mrs. Mundelius herself has) can afford a cat. But if there was a license to pay, the child's beloved pet would have to go. I'm sure Mrs. Mundelius is a nice, kind woman who wouldn't want to be the indirect cause of bringing such a thing about. Also, if there were a licensing of cats — which, as she had figured out, would at once decimate the cat population in Bensenville—the mice and rats would immediately flourish. Cats are nature's way of holding down the rodents. As she said, cats "catch their dinners" often by getting the birds, rabbits, squirrels. That too is part of the Divine plan in controlling the species; all animals, birds, etc. have their natural enemies. We'll just have to assume that God Almighty knows His business!

As to our own dinners, when Mrs. Mundelius and I, Mrs. Aschmann, want a good big thick juicy steak or some crisp brown fried chicken, somebody else — at the packing house— does our catching and killing for us. The poor hungry cat has to do its own killing.

If only people would have their female dogs or cats spayed, all these poor sad-eyed gaunt creatures wouldn't be born to misery and rejection.

Need Editorial On Use of Flag

At the shopping center at Wilke Road and Campbell St., Arlington Heights, an aerial troupe has their gear set up at the top of which two American flags are flying, evidently overnight and in the rain at 11 a.m. May 27.

An editorial criticizing this misuse of our American flag and advising the proper respect to same would be greatly appreciated.

Says Village Board 'Errors' Defeated Street Light Plans

On the question of "Downtown" lighting for Palatine, in the wake of the defeat of this proposition some interesting facts are revealed.

A petition was circulated regarding this proposal, with the following results, which our Palatine Village Board chose to ignore entirely.

Against new lights as presented at this time — all signed — 41.

For them — signed —6*

Neutral, would not sign, either for or against—6

All retailers' petition — approximately 3 to 1 against.

Includes two financial institutions that would benefit directly by buying the bonds at a discount and charging interest on gross, (face) amounts of them for years, until paid.

*Includes four-(out of the total of six) who expressed definite opinions against, but for business reasons did not want to have their opinions on record.

Cost to taxpayers to date for this idea of our village board. "About" $——. Exact figure not released: Try and get it!

Number of board members who ever operated a retail business here—none.

Number of board members who ever owned any business property here—none.

Number of board members living anywhere near the business district—none.

Number of board members who would pay one cent of the cost—none.

Number of board members who might benefit in $$$ if they spent our money. You Guess!

NOW SOME of our village board wants to start it all over again. Why? It prints its excuse that the defeat of the whole thing was due to a legal technicality. If this is true, who made the technical error or errors of which it speaks? Our present board tries to lead us who foots the bill for its "errors" so that we now have on our payroll, or willing to assist, the best legal talent existing anywhere. We cannot vouch for that, but we do know that the cost to us is the highest we ever did pay! Further, the board tells us that much of our money went to specialized legal "experts." None of any of this talent was elected by us who pay; they were all appointed. Apparently our local talent plus our city hirelings of our board, made these "technical errors." Was it hasty oversight on those supposed to be responsible and qualified men or did our money go to pay fees for incompetence?

The board's lame excuse now implies that its pet (and costly) idea had merit and would have been approved except for these errors. If this, its word, is fact, then its hirelings defeated it themselves. No, so-called, "Legal technicalities" could be found if they were not there, could they?

NOW THEY hint that they want us to foot a new bill to commence it all over again. Defeat looms certain as well as the cost of it, which is more certain. Like the lawyer of old Andy Gump, comic strip character of the late Sidney Smith, told Andy, "Mr. Gump, we'll try and win this case for you, even if it takes every nickel of yours."

Two Shallow Articles Hit

Having become accustomed to the high quality of Paddock Publications, I was taken aback to read two shallow pieces of militaristic progaganda in the most recent issue of the Arlington Heights Herald.

I was surprised, in the first place, to find that Mrs. Terrill would be allowed to be wined and dined at taxpayers' expense for five days. With such treatment it is little wonder that she came away impressed with what she observed. I hope Paddock Publications will give her five more days to do some more research—reading and talking with others who are not trying to use the press to promote their entrenched interests. I, for one, do not consider her qualified to pass judgment on national defense if her article illustrates the depth and breadth of her knowledge.

SECONDLY, the article on selective service was inaccurate in that it was incomplete. Not every young man is required to serve in the military even if he is physically fit and ignoring the inequitable administration of the military service obligation. The draft is no longer necessary, nor has it been for a long time, as a goodly number of congressmen indicated when the Selective Service Act was recently re-enacted. What the Selective Service article which you printed does not mention is that young men may choose to work for peace rather than to be trained for government-condoned murder.

The Selective Service Act includes provisions for conscientious objectors, who may serve either as noncombatant service men in military hospitals and the like or who may perform civilian public service in the areas of physical and mental health, forestry service, social work and any number of other socially useful activities. The draft boards, of course, would be the happier if these provisions were kept quiet—which they for the most part are. Your newspapers could provide a useful and constructive service in making young men aware of their opportunities to work for peace rather than war.

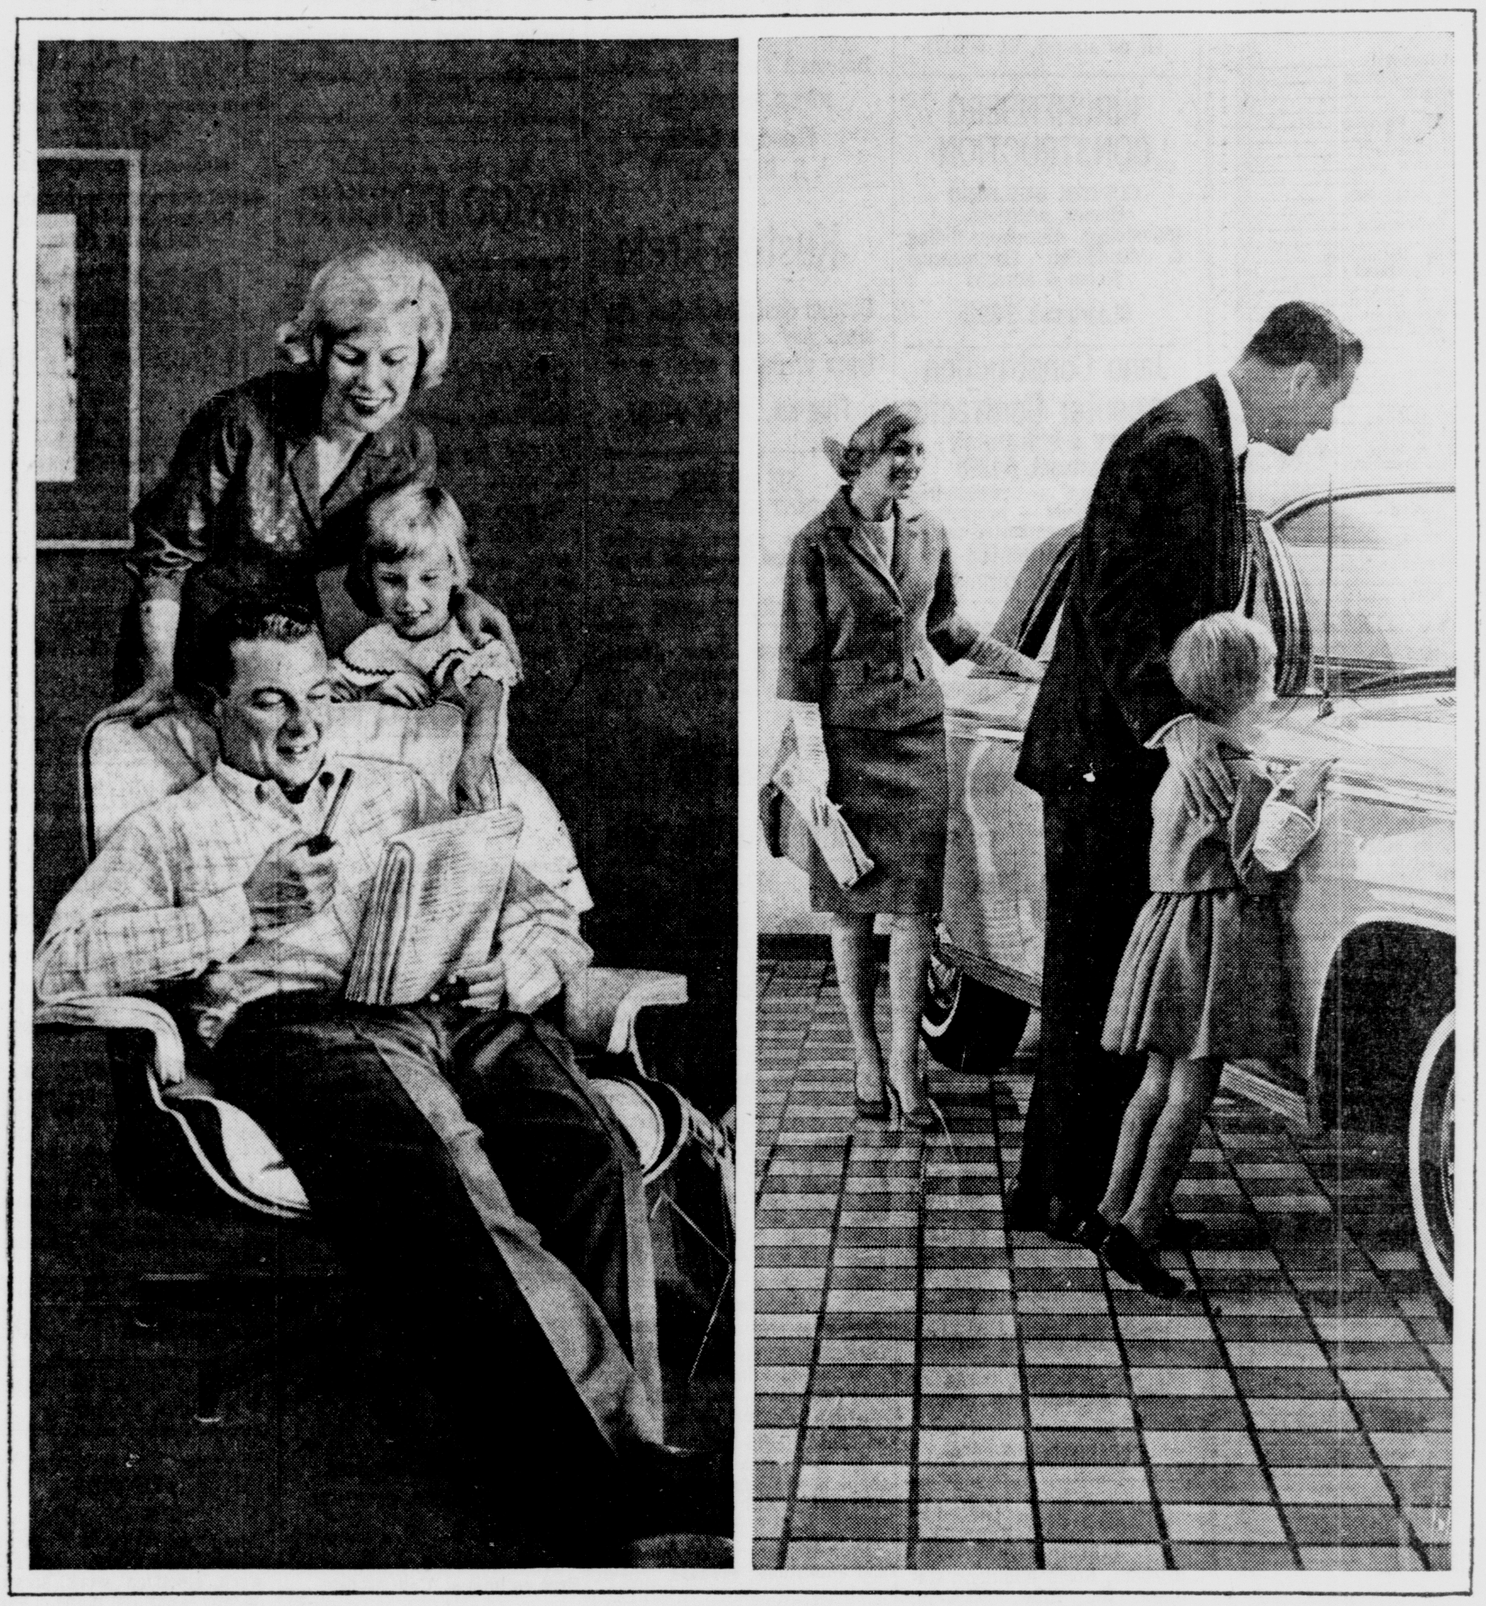
This is one of a new series of informative reports on the unique advantages of print media presented by this newspaper and the Print Advertising Association



DON'T YOU READ BEFORE YOU BUY?

Most people do.

They count on advertising in print to give them the information they want on products that interest them—information on features . . . designs . . . and prices, for example.

People not only read about products and services, they show ads to their family and friends; they clip coupons for information and samples; they tear out ads to take along when they go shopping.

People read an ad because they want to (it's never forced on them). They can even check back later; the message is still there.

When you add it all up, print advertising—the kind you read in the pages of this newspaper—makes sense. And because it measures up to the buying habits of consumers, print makes sales.

Most people read and then buy. Don't you?

TREADWELL BOATS & MOTORS

"Chris-Craft" — "Thompson"
& "Pioneer" Metal Aluminum Boats
"Trailcar" & "Gator" Trailers — "Evinrude" Motors
Complete Launching Ramp — Storage
All Makes of Inboards Serviced

The sheer pleasure of water travel is a popular way to enjoy the summer months.

We should take advantage of our many ideal waterways in this area. Many dream of owning a boat, but are under the impression boats are expensive and a sport reserved for the elite. This may have been true at one time, but today, cruiser and boat prices are reduced to a range where everyone can be a captain of his own boat.

Treadwell Boats & Motors, at 811 N. Harrison, (On the Fox River) in Algonquin, Ill., can give you an idea of the economy possible in boating. They are dealers for the nationally known "Chris-Craft," "Thompson" and "Pioneer" Metal Aluminum Boats, "Trailcar" and "Gator" Trailers.

Treadwell's offers service on all makes of inboard boats also affording boat slips, storage facilities and maintaining a complete Launching Ramp, and handling a full line of Parts, Accessories, Paints, Supplies, Marine Hardware, Etc.

"Evinrude" Outboard Motors are featured. The popular "Evinrude" can be had in a wide range of horsepower models, are noted for advanced design and dependability, and are favorites with sportsmen all over America.

The wide line of crafts handled by Treadwell have proven their efficiency on the nation's waterways, and are noted for speed and handling ease, built by America's foremost boat builders.

THERE IS PLENTY OF PARKING SPACE! So, before the summer months pass you by, stop in and talk over your boating requirements with . . .

Europe this Summer?

Positano, Italy. Wherever in the world you travel, you're better off with Pan Am—World's Most Experienced Airline!

For so many reasons—of fact and of feeling—you'll be glad you chose Pan Am

It's a fact! Only Pan Am gives you a choice of 22 European cities direct from the U.S. by Jet. See as many as 19 cities for the price of a round trip ticket to Rome. As little as $402* Jet economy Group fare.

Only Pan Am can fly you to Europe from any one of 15 U.S. cities without change of plane. Go one way, return another at no extra fare.

Only Pan Am offers you a choice of 103 Jet flights a week this summer from the U.S. to Europe. 69 a week from New York alone. Result: you can see more Europe in less time. Leave the U.S. late on a Friday, for example, and come home late on a Sunday. Enjoy 16 full days abroad on a 2-week vacation!

It's a feeling! On the ground and in the air, you'll sense know-how, courtesy and competence that can derive from only one source—experience. Pan Am has more of it than any other airline in the world.

You travel with veteran U.S. flight crews—trained to U.S. standards, highest in the world. You enjoy incomparable cuisine by Maxim's of Paris with either a first-class President Special or Jet economy Rainbow ticket.

Best of all, you'll arrive in Europe with the feeling that everything that makes for a pleasant trip has been done for you. Only then will you fully understand why the Priceless Extra of Experience is indeed priceless. *From New York.

Cerf Takes It Lying Down . . . page 9

Bennett Cerf, publisher, lecturer, humorist, author—but no gardener—admits he sometimes confuses roses with geraniums (how?), but he still has a favorite gardening pastime. As he says, Gardens Are to Nap In. The weeding and cultivating he leaves, with 40 winks, to an able Scot named Mac.

Crazy Property-Tax Laws . . . page 10

Today's property tax has been called the most unevenly administered of all taxes, but a great benefactor, just the same. Few people question the necessity of a real-estate tax—but what is behind the problems faced by assessors—and unhappy property owners? George Fielding Eliot takes a searching look at the welter of laws that cry for a solution.

Back-yard Golf . . . page 17

With June golfers hurrying onto the greens, champion Gary Player shows how to set up practice devices in your own back yard. Just get in a few strokes every day, before and after office hours, and it will do wonders, by and by, for form and score.

Fashion's New Dream Girl . . . page 36

Bill Blass, one of the country's leading designers, puts it to suburban women: do they realize, he asks, what an influence they have on fashion today? Illustrated are five wonderful ways to dress for summer. All are S-P-O-R-T-I-V-E . . . all perfect for suburban purposes so, today, perfect anywhere, for town and for country.

On the Cover

Cover artist Laura Jean Allen shows how even the best-planned June wedding can run wild. This one is about due for its moment of panic, as dear pussy escapes from the noise and confusion and finds a lovely place to settle —on the wedding veil, where else? And everyone, alas, is much too busy to notice her!

GETTING AROUND

. . . to Our Pleasant Places and People

JEAN E. LAIRD of Oak Lawn, Illinois, learned something new about study habits recently. A friend of hers who has a full schedule at a local university, in addition to her duties as a housewife and mother, was studying for an exam and having trouble remembering the material she read. Her daughter had the answer. "Read it again," she said, "and make believe it's gossip."

Twenty-five is the compulsory age for retirement in the Junior Police force of Summit, New Jersey. Meantime, the 15 members on the present squad are kept busy on assignments to relieve the regular force—directing traffic at church and special events, for instance, and doing guard duty at Overlook Hospital. Trained under Sergeant Richard Chudobo of the police department, the boys get six weeks of marching and drilling, as well as courses in first aid, criminal law, disaster procedure, and city government. They are all students at Summit High School, and most of them plan to go on to a police or FBI career.

When Herbert Ellerbrock, Jr. of Sharpsburg, Pennsylvania, was six years old, his grandfather gave him a handful of garter snakes. Since then his menagerie has grown to include a 6-foot 8-inch indigo, a 4-foot black rat, a 3-foot boa constrictor, a 3½-foot corn, and a 2½-foot bull snake. He keeps them all in the house. Now tell us, Herbert, where do you keep your mother and father?

We heard recently about a car careening into a beautiful white gate in front of a house in Great Neck, New York. No sign of the driver, of course, and the owner was about to contact his own insurance company when he pulled into his driveway one night and there was a shining new gate. Still no sign of the conscience-stricken driver!

Is your dog insecure? Does he wander from home? Does he stand when you ask him to sit? Harriet Davis of Skokie, Illinois, has built a career dealing with these problems. She is a private tutor for suburban Chicago dogs and finding that her pupils do best at home, she goes out on house calls assisted by a German shepherd.

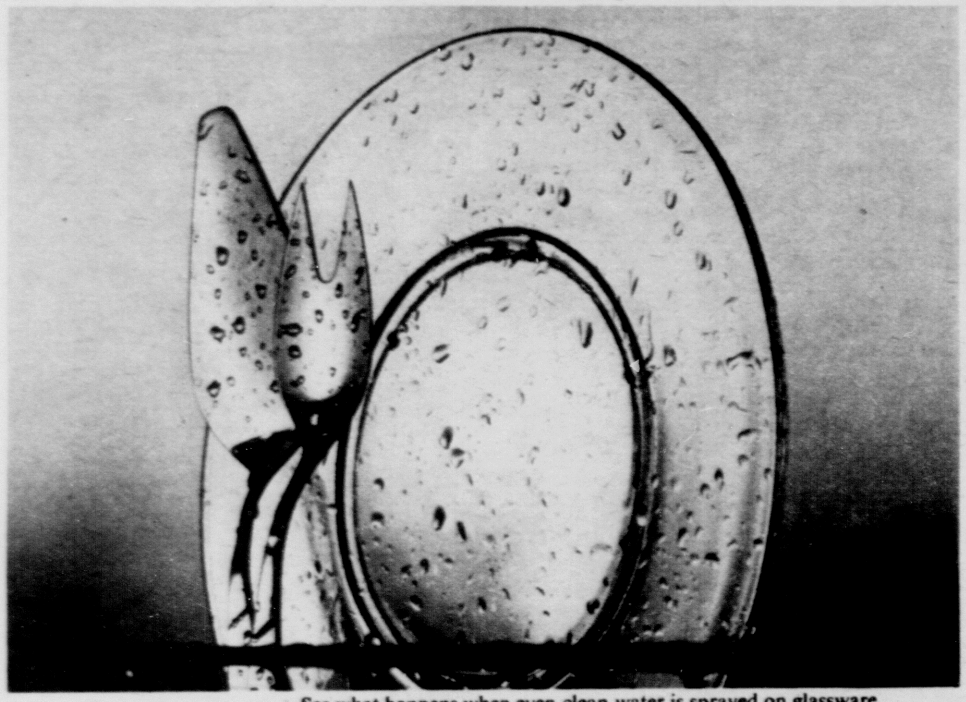
See why more dishwasher owners use Cascade than any other product...

Cascade eliminates drops that dry into spots!



WATER DROPS See what happens when even clean water is sprayed on glassware, silver. This test shows how drops form. These dry into ugly spots.

CASCADE But with Cascade drops don't form! Just as in your dishwasher, water slides off in clear-rinsing "sheets." Dishes, silver dry as spotless and sparkling as possible.

No other dishwasher detergent cleans better...

Cascade is absolutely unsurpassed at stopping spots (your toughest problem in automatic dishwashing). That's because Cascade has Chlorosheen ...an exclusive formula that eliminates the drops that cause spots. Drops aren't left to hold grease and food particles or dry into cloudy streaks or messy spots. You've never seen dishes cleaner, silver brighter! No other dishwasher detergent does a better job. Better get Cascade for your dishwasher!

...or is safer for china patterns!

Cascade is rated safe for today's loveliest china patterns by the American Fine China Guild, whose members make Castleton, Flintridge, Franciscan, Lenox and Syracuse china. Their recommendation was given Cascade after testing every leading dishwasher detergent. Look for this important seal of approval on every Cascade package.

One of the advantages of a small car is that you can park it almost anywhere. In fact, Bill Hicks of Glen Burnie, Maryland, says one rainy day he saw a driver trying to squeeze his small convertible under a large tractor-and-trailer truck. "My top's stuck," he explained, "and I've just got to get this thing under cover."

In Marietta, Georgia, 2000 quarters go a long way. So the men in a local plant found out when they set out to buy the boss a wedding present. A thinker, named Joe, offered a pack of cigarettes for every quarter donated, and ended up buying 2,000 "premium" packs. The coupons off the backs got the boss a silver service, the men had their cigarettes, and Joe—well, he has gone fishing with the rod he got with the stamps from the supermarket.

Thanks for the tip, Mrs. C. S. Hoyle of Reading, Massachusetts. When you move to a new town, she suggests, see that every member of your family carries a card giving his name, address, telephone, and closest relatives. Small children should have this information pinned onto their clothes or wear "dog tags." Suppose, for instance, your child, having learned his way around, goes off to a local playground and gets knocked out in a fall. No one knows his telephone number yet, so how can you be notified? If you had an accident yourself, would your children know where to reach their father? Certainly the new neighbors won't. The family's identifications always should include his business address, Mrs. Hoyle says. Let's hope it never will be needed—but having it available when you're new in the neighborhood could save a lot of anguish.

The Rev. L. E. Leeper had been a minister for 40 years when an operation on his vocal cords robbed him of his voice. He came out of his forced retirement, though, when he moved to California to be near his son. His new career—minister to a deaf congregation in Los Angeles County who have no trouble understanding him. He knows sign language now and preaches with his hands.

Seven-year-old Danny Kidwell of Arlington, Virginia, begged his mother to take him to school one day recently because his buddy was sick and couldn't walk with him. "But Danny," his mother protested, "where is my brave son who got so embarrassed when I used to meet him after school when he was just six and only in first grade?" "I was little then and thought I was big," Danny explained. "Now I'm little and I KNOW it."

Nine years ago Mrs. Betty Kirchmer began to teach blind children to dance, writes a reader from Kettering, Ohio. Most blind children, Mrs. Kirchmer had noticed, rubbed their eyes or rocked back and forth unsteadily, and posture was also a serious problem. The motions and rhythms of the dance, Mrs. Kirchmer reasoned, ought to counteract these tendencies, and so they did, and from those first classes has grown an organization called DANCE which has spread to 23 countries to help blind children to help themselves.

Congratulations to Mrs. Kirchmer, all the more because while she was teaching she also managed to raise a family of eight of her own!

We have the Volunteer Fire Department in Sparkill, New York, to thank for this item: On October 8, 1871, Mrs. O'Leary's cow kicked over the lantern that started the great Chicago fire. Today, on the very same spot is the world's most modern and comprehensive fire-training school.

Hammond Organ shown is our Low Priced Spinet. $995, F.O.B. factory; bench extra. Prices subject to change without notice.

Hottest 10-piece combo in the neighborhood

Ten instruments? Right. The lad sitting down plays 8 of them. On his Hammond Organ. And believe you us, this group is in demand.

When you hear a band like this one swing out, you certainly see (and hear!) some little-known sides of your young people. In the youngster who plays the Hammond Organ, especially, you find remarkable ability to soak up music quickly. And an unexpected eagerness to work, study and practice.

The Hammond Organ is so easy to learn, a beginner can make rich music in weeks. Many unmatched Hammond inventions—Harmonic Drawbars, Patented Reverberation, Touch-Response Percussion—help produce the sounds of many instruments; and put the band in business.

Prove it to yourself. Take advantage of our Guaranteed PlayTime Plan (available at most Hammond Organ dealers). You can have a Hammond Organ in your home for 30 days, and 6 lessons, all for just $25. If after 30 days you are not playing the organ to your satisfaction, your $25 will be refunded. Or, when you buy the organ, the $25 is your down payment.

A teacher in Westport, Connecticut, was showing this list of rules from 1872 to his colleagues the other day and thinks we might enjoy them, too:

1. Teachers each day will fill lamps, clean chimneys, and clean wicks.

2. Each teacher will bring a bucket of water and scuttle of coal for the day's session.
3. Make your pens carefully. You may whittle nibs for the individual tastes of the pupils.
4. Men teachers may take one evening a week for courting purposes or two evenings a week if they attend church regularly.
5. After ten hours in school, teachers should spend the remaining time reading the Bible or other good books.
6. Women teachers who marry or engage in unseemly conduct will be dismissed.
7. Each teacher who smokes, uses liquor in any form, frequents pool or public halls, or gets shaved in a barber shop, will give good reason to suspect his worth, intentions, integrity, and honesty.
8. Each teacher should lay aside from each pay a goodly sum of his earnings for his benefit during declining years so he will not become a burden on society.
9. The teacher who performs his labors faithfully and without fail for five years will be given an increase of 25 cents per week providing the Board of Education approves.

When Bill Green applied for a driver's license in Annapolis, Maryland's, crowded license bureau, an officer hastily thrust a paper across the desk. "Write your last name first and your first name last," he said hurriedly. "How's that again, sir?" asked Green, somewhat confused. "Like I said," replied the cop. "Backwards." Green shrugged. Never argue with the police, he reminded himself and carefully wrote, "lliB neerG."

From Scottsdale, Arizona, comes a report about Romeo, a pampered, much-loved hound who was trying to adjust to new surroundings. He missed his old neighborhood and especially one family who always had time to visit with him and slip him little treats. To add to his misery there was a new maid who came Wednesdays and kept routing him out of doors. One week things got too rough and Romeo set off to see his old pals. He finally reached his destination, six miles away, and after announcing his arrival with a champion howl, he was invited in, given lunch, and then driven home. Being a bright dog, he called again the next week, and we understand it's routine now: maid's day in is Romeo's day out—to lunch.

A Brownie Troop in Medford, New Jersey, put in a rush order for cowboy hats at a nearby store. As delivery date approached, and the hats still hadn't arrived, the manager made an urgent call to his New York office. New York in turn contacted its source in Texas. Texas advised the cowboy hats were made in Pennsylvania, just 18 miles from Medford. So the manager took his lunch hour, drove to the factory, and picked up the genuine articles in time to keep his promise to the Brownies.

Gardens Are to Nap In

BY BENNETT CERF

Publisher, lecturer, humorist, author—but no gardener

Neither chickweed nor his conscience has ever caused him a moment's concern

IT'S JUST 12 years since I bought a house in the country, and I confess that when we moved in I couldn't tell an oak tree from a willow. Now, of course, I can—just! A rose was a rose was a rose to Gertrude Stein, but roses aren't always roses to me. I call them as I see them. And sometimes I see them as geraniums.

I never have known anything about gardening and probably I never will—nor am I ashamed of the fact. I am just an underprivileged city boy in that respect. Lawns, trees, flowers, hedges—they're all beautiful, and I love them—so long as there's somebody else around to take care of them. For me, gardens are to nap in.

In our household, the "somebody else" is a rare Scot who is just about perfect in his job. Before he came with us, an army colonel with whom he had been associated for a decade called me on the phone.

"I want to tell you three things about Mac," said he. "First: he's the greatest gardener I ever met. Second: he's the kind of manager we dream of finding in the Army. You can go off on a two-year trip publishing and lecturing to your heart's content, and when you get home you'll find everything just the way you left it—or better. Third—and most important of all—if Mac wants to do things one way in the garden and you want to do them in another—save your breath."

It has all worked out in dreamy fashion. Not only do I never want to do things in the garden in another way than Mac's, I don't know any other way. So we agree perfectly. My only contribution came when I discovered that rabbits and squirrels were eating five out of every six ears of corn we were growing and that those we did manage to smuggle to the dinner table were averaging us about two dollars apiece.

"I've thought of a new method for getting corn," I told Mac—who registered polite disbelief. "The same way we get coffee and cinnamon."

Mac approved at once. He definitely does not like rabbits and squirrels. In the space we formerly grew corn we now play badminton. It's a big saving.

A noted columnist in his day who did cultivate a garden was Franklin P. Adams (remember his caustic wit on that classic radio program, "Information Please"?). F.P.A. concentrated on raising peonies—probably just so that he could pun:

"Take care of the peonies, and the dahlias will take care of themselves."

ANOTHER flower grower in the metropolitan area always bought her seeds at a big department store in the city. One day she came charging into that store's complaint department seething with rage. It seems that a few months previous she had buried her husband and purchased several packages of carnation seeds with which to decorate his grave. Then she flew to Paris to pull herself together.

After her return, she visited the grave. It was decorated all right—but not with carnations. It was one full bed of ripe rhubarb.

"I don't know what she was screaming so about," protested the manager of the store's complaint department later. "We were perfectly willing to refund the price of the seeds."

tions in assessment practices are the rule. A recent survey in Washington State showed that assessed valuations varied from 1.9% of fair-market value to 900%, while a survey in Florida showed variations of from 2% to 300%.

Why can't a taxpayer go to court if he thinks he is getting a raw deal? Many do, every year—sometimes with satisfactory results, sometimes not.

An aggrieved taxpayer in New Jersey confronted a court with proof that, in his municipality, assessment ratios on one-family houses varied from 4.1% to 86% of market value, with his own assessment being well up on the high side. The assessors denied knowing of any specific ratio, explained the situation as "the hit-or-miss product of years of inattention," and argued, with considerable logic, that it was "too chaotic" to permit relief to individuals! Relief, in this case, was nevertheless granted.

But a judge in Massachusetts threw out a complaint as "too late" because the tax for that year had already been collected, only to deny the same taxpayer relief early in the following year because he had as yet suffered no actual injury, since—though he had received an assessment notice—the tax bills for that year had not yet been mailed!

At another hearing, a garage owner in a large western suburb came into court armed with proof that his garage was being assessed at a much higher ratio than any of the nine other garages in town. Case dismissed because the man was unable to show that any of the other garages were precisely identical in every detail with his own.

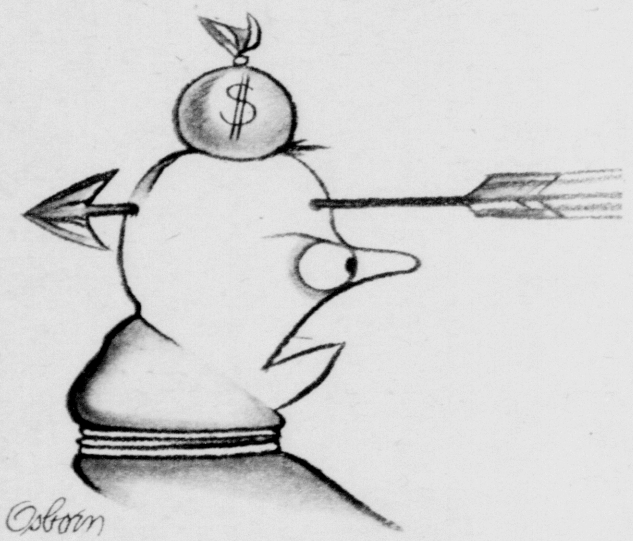
No wonder the National Tax Association has pronounced the means of protest and appeal available to the average taxpayer to be "the weakest spot in the whole property-tax structure." Only a few states have set up effective machinery to help taxpayers seek relief.

There ought to be better laws to regulate all this? There are lots of laws—50 sets of laws, one for each state. Consider the question of how property shall be valued for tax purposes. In every state, the law establishes a standard. In 35 states, actual (or full, fair, fair cash, fair market) value is the legal standard. In nine others, a fixed percentage of actual value—ranging from 30% to 60%—is the standard. But how do you determine what the actual value of a house and lot is? Even skilled professional assessors can make only a fair approximation in most cases.

ONE METHOD is to compare sales records of similar properties over a period of years in the same locality—yet this is subject to market fluctuations and changing conditions (unemployment, for example). It is, however, the favorite method of the "equalization" authorities which have now been created by all state governments in the attempt to correct the vagaries of local assessments.

The professionals who made the Washington State survey noted that sales records were not always complete and that trained judgment and considerable local knowledge were required to strike a reasonable balance. "Only sales made by a seller not compelled to sell, to a buyer under no compulsion to buy, and with no abnormal circumstances involved, should be included in striking an average," said another survey report.

No one can expect a local assessor to do a professional job for which he has not been trained, or to spend more hours on his job than he is paid for (although many of them do.) In some places, where a part-time assessor is struggling with his end of the unwieldy job of tax collection, the tax rolls are made up by copying last year's roll and adding on such new properties as the assessor happens to hear of, valuing these by guesswork based on long practice, or even by "windshield" assessment—just driving by and taking a quick look. In one extreme case, a state official in New York came upon an assessor, aged 76, who hadn't been out of his house in five years. And an Alabama assessor who couldn't read or write had the tax roll copied each year by his children!



To most taxpayers, the widespread custom of assessing property far under its value is reassuring, even though it is obvious that the rate must be adjusted—in other words, hiked—to produce the necessary revenue. Under-assessment was once practiced by canny town fathers to cheat the state of its fair share of the property tax, back in the days when this tax was the mainstay both of state and local governments. Now that almost all states have found other means of supporting themselves and leave the property tax to the local communities, under-assessment persists—either to attract new residents and/or tax-paying industries, or to obtain a bigger cut of state school aid when more of that aid is given to "poorer" communities.

Under-assessment, however, actually can cost the taxpayers of many communities more than they would have to pay with full-value assessments. Quite a few states place a legal limit on the tax rate that local authorities can charge or on the ratio of debt to assessed valuation. These limitations can sometimes be evaded by setting up special "districts" that are merely taxing and borrowing agencies though they look like genuine governmental units. However, their securities usually must pay higher interest than those which the "full faith and credit" of an established community stand behind.

What's the answer to this tangled mess?

For most places, there is just one answer: make the tax work right. There is no good substitute source of revenue.

Some state aid is necessary anyway, but if local self-rule is to keep its place of usefulness and pride, it must pay its own way as far as it possibly can.

Municipal income taxes are not for the small community. A local sales tax is useful only when customers can't shop elsewhere; otherwise it simply diverts sales to shopping centers outside the community and hurts retail merchants who by rights should be lucrative taxpayers themselves. Anyway, 37 out of 50 states have a state sales tax and piling on another one isn't going to make any suburb popular or attract new residents. Or industry, either.

A few good industrial taxpayers may help. As one tax authority observes, "Almost every community except the most exclusive wants a nice prosperous tax-paying industrial plant which looks like an art museum, sounds like a Stradivarius, and smells like Chanel No. 5. Unhappily these are in short supply." And many residents don't want industry at any price.

SO ROUND AND ROUND we go, and come back to the property tax. After all, people are used to it, and it can be made to work. Serious problems can be overcome, as they have been before, by taking two steps:

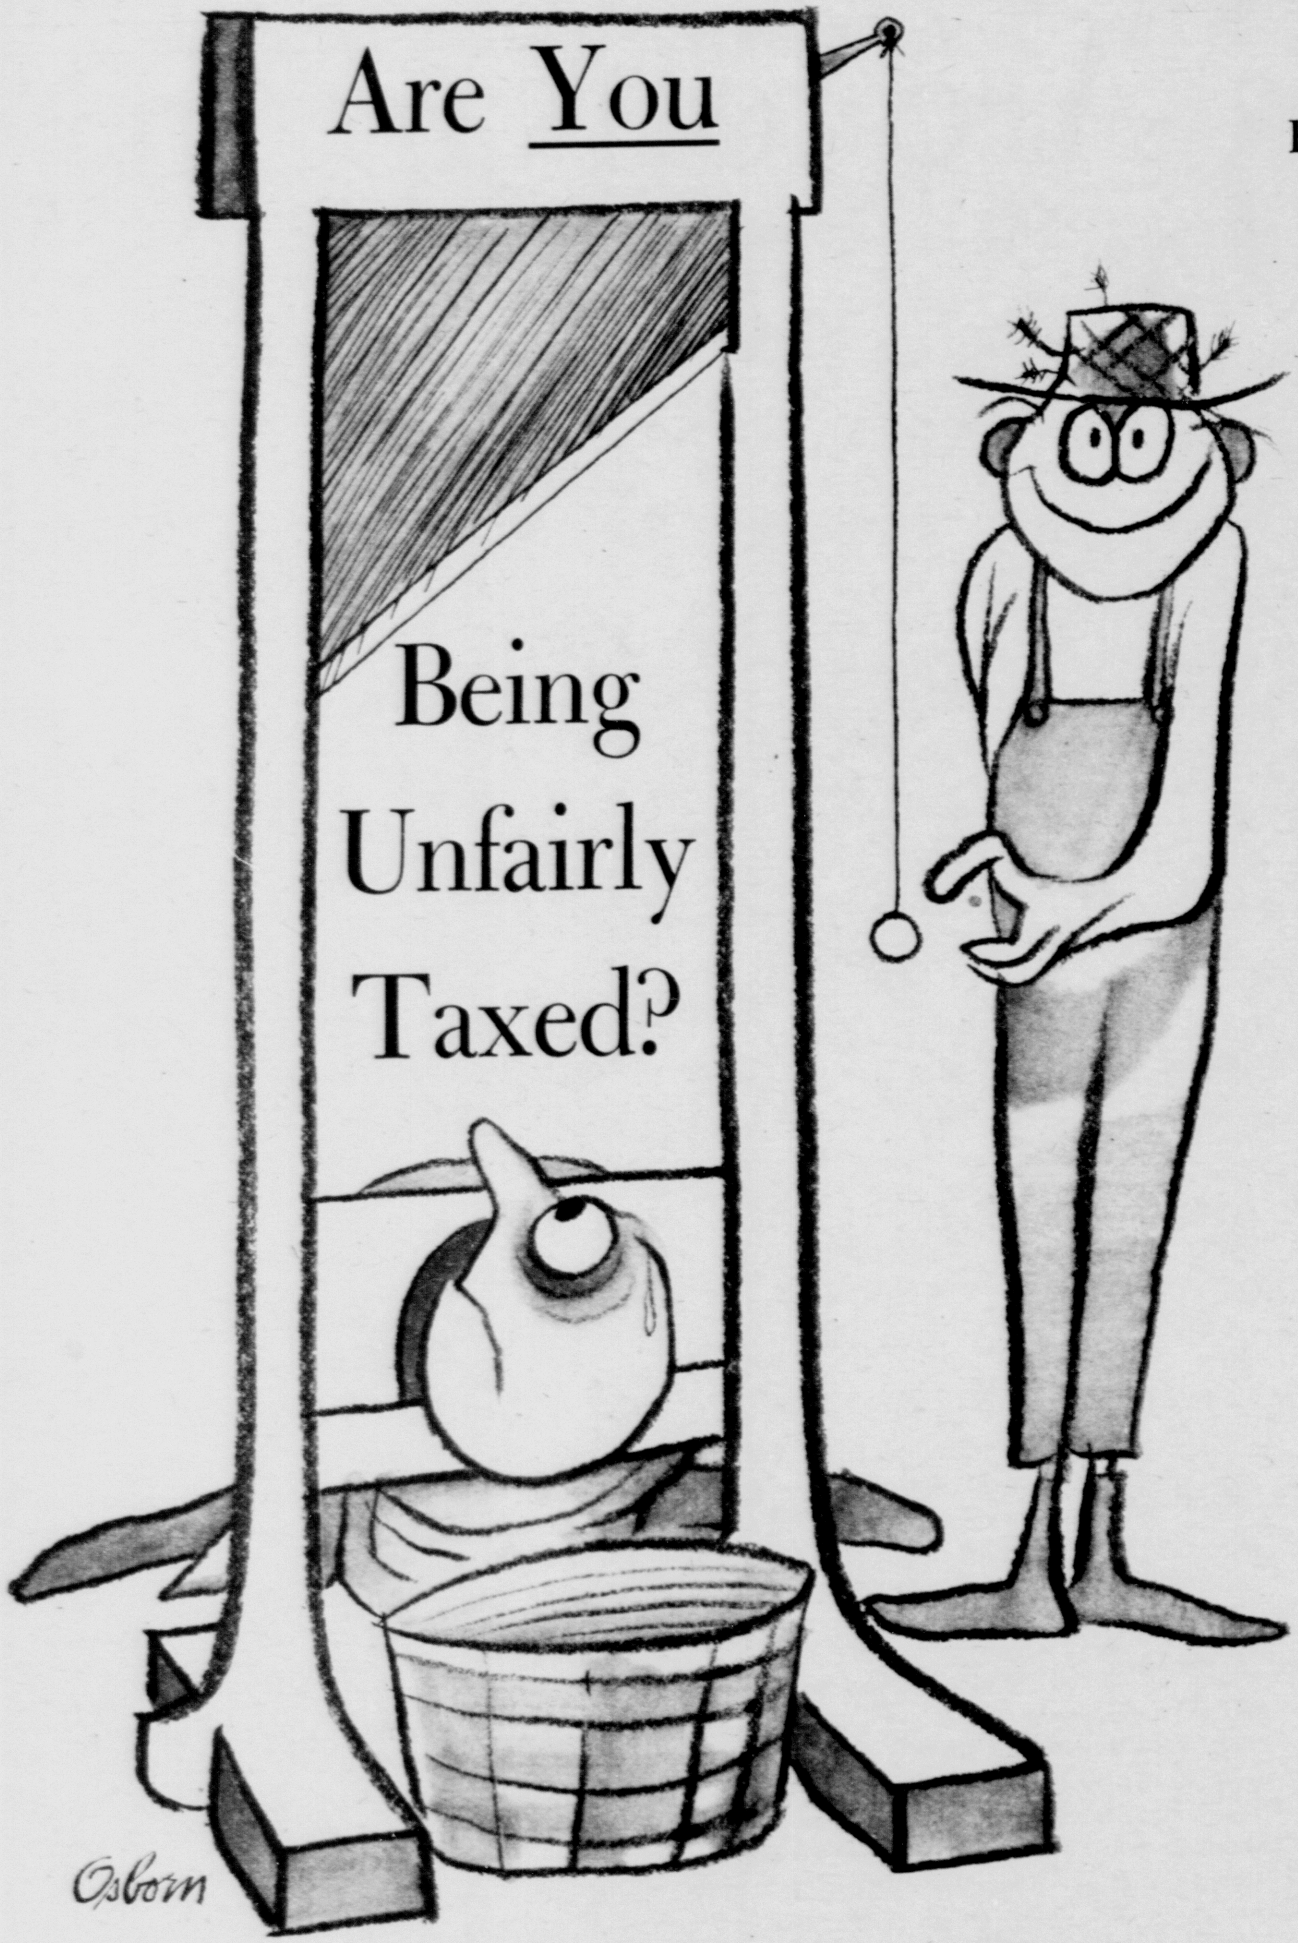
1) Increase the size of the average taxing unit so as to meet the costs of efficient administration.

2) Establish a system to maintain standards and provide a fair, simple source of appeal.

As a matter of practical politics, these two requirements need to be met by state legislation. One example is the tightly centralized Maryland system, where the State Tax Commission hires and fires the chief assessors in each county, fixes the number of assistants, and establishes assessment standards, forms, and procedures. Iowa has taken a middle-of-the-road approach. State law wiped out the 2,500 local part-time assessors and replaced them with 120 county and large-city assessors— full-time officials appointed for four-year terms by local committees, subject to qualifying examinations run by the State Tax Commission. In Kentucky, where assessing is also on a county-wide basis, a competent and energetic State Department of Revenue has sought the cooperation of the elected county assessors, using its field staff to assist them and providing an orientation course for newly elected assessors.

The brightest gleam of hope is the fact that the power of suburban towns in state affairs is increasing rapidly with the growth of suburban populations. What is needed now is growing recognition that we have a vital stake in strengthening the financial charter of our liberties—the property tax.

Are You Being Unfairly Taxed?



Few people question the necessity of real-estate taxes—but what is behind the problems faced by assessors—and unhappy property holders? A searching look at the property tax from both sides of the fence

BY GEORGE FIELDING ELIOT

IF YOU OWN a home, you won't need to be reminded that you enjoy at least two annual dates with the tax man. One, on April 15, you share with most other Americans. The other is reserved for real-estate owners. It is the day your local property tax falls due.

The property tax has been called the worst managed of all taxes. One critic says grimly that there is nothing the matter with it "except that it is wrong in theory and does not work in practice." Yet this stubborn fact remains: for all its faults, the property tax is the only substantial source of income available to the vast majority of our towns. Without it, home rule—so cherished by most of us—would be a delusion.

So never mind whether the property tax is wrong in theory. If it does not work in practice, let's see why, and see also what has been done in a few places to make it work better.

Many of the ills from which the property tax suffers today have their origin in fragmentation, with some 100,000 units of local government having the right to levy taxes on property. After identifying the parcels of property to be taxed and the owners, they must evaluate each parcel. This is the job of their assessor.

But only a tiny fraction of our taxing units are big and rich enough to hire a full-time assessor, let alone one who is professionally trained. The great majority have to depend on part-time officials, elected or appointed, who are left largely on their own to handle the complicated questions of the property tax and make it work as best they can. The results are frequently confusing to the taxpayer, as the assessor is the first to know.

THERE WAS, for example, the California housewife who decided to buy a new house as an investment. She was shocked to discover that the new house was assessed at more than twice the valuation of her own home, which was a much finer house in a better part of town. When she protested, the assessor explained:

"I always put a high valuation on new houses till I find out how many kids the family that moves into 'em has. If a family with six kids moves into a low-valued house, we lose out, school costs 'round here being what they are."

That was his way of keeping the town paid up. The assessor of a Missouri suburb had another approach, equally effective:

"The folks in these new additions are mostly just getting started raising families," he pointed out. "Over in the other end of town, we've got people with more money, better houses, and fewer worries. So we keep the valuations on the new folks down to where we figure they'd be able to get along even if hard times come back. If we need more money any year, we boost the ante on the ones that are able to pay."

These aren't just isolated instances. Wide varia-

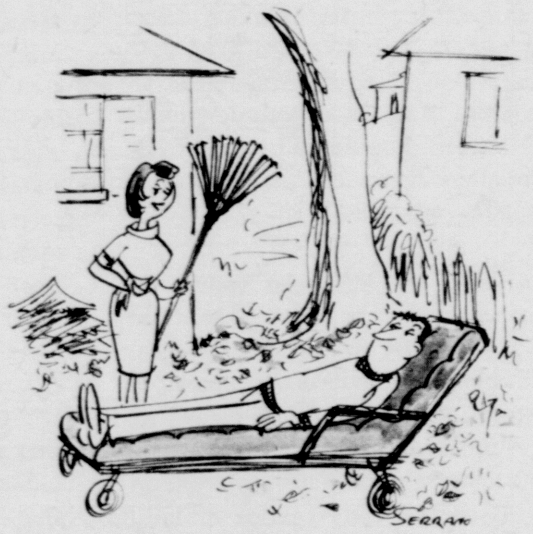
All Play and No Work

"You're going to have to wait a couple of days until it dries."

"I'm trying to recall, dear. Have you ever had a good round?"

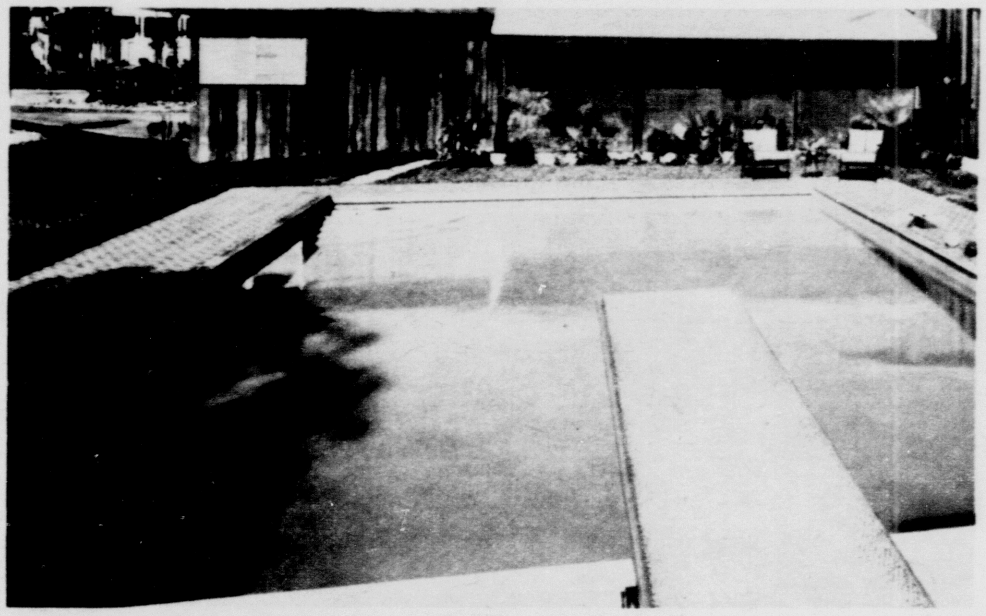


"I think I know what's wrong with your self-winding watch."

If you're shock treating your pool, you're making a dreadful mistake.

If you have to periodically shock treat (superchlorinate) your home pool, you're making a mistake. Even if you're using Olin's pool chlorine, HTH,® to do it. Because if you have to shock treat, you're not getting enough active chlorine into your pool on a day-to-day basis. Which means that for at least part of each week you and your family are swimming in water that is not free of bacteria and algae. And that's something you can't undo by shock treating.

There's a reason, of course, why people go on making this mistake. They think it's too much bother to chlorinate every day. And daily chlorination is the only way to avoid shock treating.



Bother? What bother?

Except that it doesn't have to be bother. It isn't when you use HTH, anyway. And the reason is that HTH contains 70% free, available chlorine. The 70% figure means that it's concentrated: you get a lot of chlorine in a small space. So you only have to pour a small amount into the pool each day. (The exact amount depends upon the pool size.) As soon as the HTH hits the water, its chlorine is released and the bacteria are destroyed. So are the algae; you don't have to buy a special algaecide when you use HTH. And, you can immediately swim in the water.

And because HTH is concentrated, a single 100-lb. drum (delivered to your garage) provides enough chlorine for the entire average swimming season. The total cost is about the same as (or less than) what it costs you to haul jugs of liquid bleach all summer.

Free or locked-up?

Of course you could use the long-lasting organic chlorine compounds. They also provide a summer's worth of chlorine in a relatively small space. But when these compounds are in your pool, they keep a large part of their chlorine "locked-up" chemically. Such chlorine is not always "free" and "available" to sanitize pool water. It will give a chlorine "residual" reading on your test kit, but will not necessarily provide an adequate bacteria-kill when needed. That's why you have to shock treat (the mistake) when you use organics. (For more information, write for Olin's free booklet: Home Pool Care.)

HTH granular is available in 100-lb. drums, 35-lb. pails and 3¾-lb. plastic bottles. Slow dissolving HTH tablets are also available by the drum, pail and bottle. Either granular or tablets will do an equally good job at saving you from your shocking habit.

You are hereby notified that you have ruined your last rose, ravaged your last rhododendron, blighted your last blossom. No longer will you freely fasten on young plants and suck the life juices from tender young growth. ORTHO, on behalf of gardeners everywhere, has developed a spray that gets rid of you and your kind. Its name, so you can recognize it and run, is ISOTOX Garden Spray.

GOING... GOING... GONE

ISOTOX contains not one, but four insecticides—lindane, malathion, DDT and Tedion*. All are bad news for pests like you. They'll do you in before you have a chance to do in the plants. And just in case you thrips or red spider mites or beetles are smugly thinking this applies only to aphids, you'd better wipe the smile off your face. ISOTOX wipes out over 250 different kinds of insects.

GET OUT OF TOWN

The time you can begin to worry is in early spring when new leaves unfold and tender young growth is at its tastiest. Then wily gardeners are watching for the first visit by pests like you. That's when ISOTOX will first appear. If you're planning to arrive in the second wave, when buds begin to burst, ISOTOX will be around again. And when weather turns warm and blossoms are at their peak, you bugs can expect the worst from ISOTOX. Our advice to you is to get out of town while you still have the chance.

A PRIVATE MESSAGE TO APHID-HATERS

All gardeners who have bought everything short of a shot gun to save plants from persistent pests will be delighted with this news. All you need is a garden hose and an ORTHO Spray-Ette to protect your garden with ISOTOX. Just put ISOTOX in the Spray-Ette, and the Spray-Ette does the rest—automatically dilutes the spray with water in the proper proportion. Patented metering jets always deliver just the right amount of spray. Spray-Ettes cost $3.49, $6.45 or $9.95, depending on how big a garden you have to spray. ISOTOX, a highly concentrated liquid, costs $1.19 for 4 ounces up to $4.98 for a quart. Diluted to spray, it costs less than 6¢ per gallon to rid your garden of 250 different pests! And like all ORTHO products, it's guaranteed to do the job, or your money back.

A FRIENDLY REMINDER

While you're at an authorized ORTHO dealer buying ISOTOX, pick up some ORTHO PHALTAN Rose & Garden Fungicide to control most major diseases on flowers and ornamentals. You can spray it right along with ISOTOX in the ORTHO Spray-Ette and kill two blighters with one spray. A shrewd idea! The ORTHO people are always inventing ways to make your gardening easier.

The most avid and horrifyingly articulate amateur gardener I know happens to be a near neighbor of ours. According to him, he has such a green thumb they asked him to lead the St. Patrick's Day parade this year. When he isn't snipping away at his plants, he is supervising the pruning and spraying of his trees. His favorite time for spraying seems to be when his wife is serving drinks to guests in the garden. I can testify personally that tree-spray on-the-rocks will never replace the martini.

To distract my friend one day, I told him about the unfortunate tree surgeon who fell out of his patient, but he didn't think this was funny, having fallen out of a tree himself only an hour before. He soon rallied, however, threw a copy of Rachel Carson's "Silent Spring" angrily aside, and proposed: "Let us spray."

THERE ARE three standard, made-to-order garden jokes that sprout every spring as regularly as the trees and flowers.

Number One is about the gardener who did nothing but hoe, hoe, hoe—and if you think that's funny, you've never worked in a garden yourself.

Number Two cites the man whose garden was such a success one year that his neighbor's chickens won first prize at the local poultry show.

And Number Three reports the cautionary message that a cynical seedsman has imprinted on the back of every packet he sells:

"Don't throw away this packet when it's empty and you have finished planting your garden. Probably it will be just the right size for storing your crop."

A story I like to tell concerns a lonely little widow in Los Angeles who had one pleasure left in life: every morning a gentleman brought a rose to her.

"It's from his garden," she explained to a visitor one day. "Here he comes now."

Sure enough, the gentleman handed her a beauty.

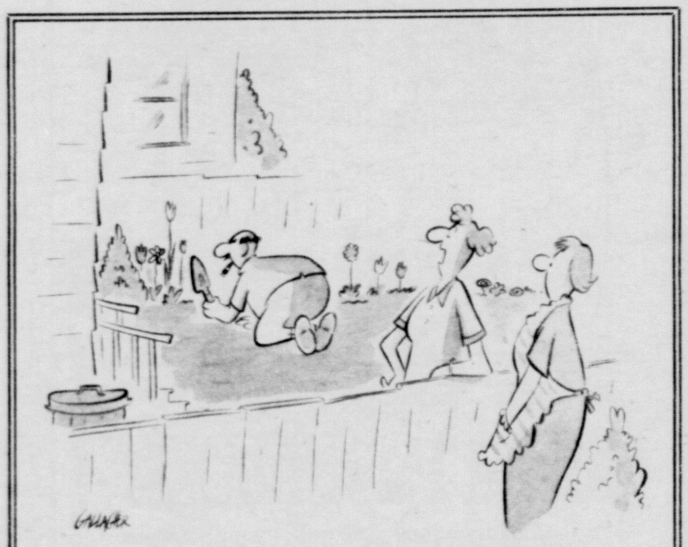
"I grew this one just for you," he said with a gallant bow.

The visitor left with the donor of the rose, who then explained sheepishly:

"I've never been in a garden in my life. I buy her a rose in the florist shop across the street every morning. It gives her such a happy look for a few moments."

And now I'm off to a garden myself.

Madison Square Garden.



"We don't get along at all, but he's an excellent gardener."

Golfers! Learn to Save Strokes at Home

You won't have to stir off your own lawn to practice these routines that will improve your game

A pitching net that represents your target on a green will help your short game.

TO THE AVERAGE weekend golfer, practice means one thing—driving a bucket or two of balls at the range or on the practice tee. While the rewards for driving long and straight are substantial, the high-handicap golfer can shave more strokes from his score by concentrating his practice on the other parts of his game. And, happily, he doesn't even have to stir off his own lawn.

Of course a stretch of ground can be converted into an elaborate practice area by installing such things as a putting green, large driving net, sand traps, and the like. But these devices consume much space—and much money. My formula for practice at home involves a minimum of training aids, postage-stamp space, and no threat of broken windows or trampled flower beds. And, best of all, it promises big dividends.

One of my favorite drills for timing, rhythm, and balance involves the use of a simple rubber mat. No ball is used in this routine, although it will be helpful to indicate the ball position on the mat with a chalk mark or some other indicator. Start with one of the fairway woods and take your normal swing for this club, just barely ticking the mat with the club head. This simulates the use of this club on the fairway, since you take little or no divot with the two, three, and four-woods. Continue your swings for five minutes.

Next, pick up your driver and follow a similar routine, except that now your club head will just miss the mat—as you would take the ball off the tee. It would be a plus to have an awareness of the checkpoints of the tee shot during this drill, although essentially we are interested here in acquiring the feel of swing more than anything else. After five minutes of this, go on to one of the irons. Now you will dig into the mat a little to simulate the taking of the divot. In making contact with the mat, remember that the divot is taken after club head meets the ball and that the swing is not as full as it is with the woods nor the arc as wide.

ONE OF THE common faults of the weekend golfer is that of hitting "fat" or heavy with the irons. This is the failure to hit down and through the ball and take the divot properly. Before trying the corrective routine for this fault, I would suggest that you find an area of the lawn where you have lost the war with crab grass since this drill will leave some scars. Take an ordinary piece of string about a yard long and position it flat on the ground at a right angle to your stance. Place the ball (a plastic practice ball for safety's sake) on top of the string. Take your proper swing and hit down and through the ball. The string will tell you very quickly whether you are executing the shot properly by its relationship to the marks of your divot. If the divot

"No...Belief in God Is NOT Enough!"

Many people are risking their eternal salvation on a "religion" of their own... which is actually no religion at all.

"Oh, I believe in God," they say, "but I don't go to church. I'm just not the religious type."

Almost everybody, of course, believes that there is a God. Common sense tells us that this is so. But if we actually believe there is a God, should not this same common sense tell us we must do something about it? And how can we give expression to our belief in God if not through religion?

Religion is simply the consequence of our realization of Who God is. It is our striving to be honest and consistent with this knowledge – to learn and fulfill our duties to our Creator.

Catholics believe that God created us for a definite purpose... that He gave us the intelligence to recognize what that purpose is—and the means to fulfill it. It is through our religion that we give evidence of our desire to honor and serve God. It is through religion that we approach God in faith, repentance, love and gratitude.

If you are living in the belief that you don't need religion... that all you have to do is to believe in God and live a moral life... we urge you to ask yourself these questions – NOW: "Why am I living? Why did God create Me?" The most elementary common sense answer is that you are living because God created you... and that God has a purpose in doing so. Catholics believe it is our duty to find out what God's plan is for our lives—and do our best to live it.

If you have been living without any deep religious convictions... it will pay you to read a specially-prepared pamphlet which we will send you without cost or obligation... and nobody will call on you. It discusses such questions as: Can the truth of Christianity be proved? Is it honest to ignore religion? Is science, ethics or education a substitute for the Church? Also other topics that should concern you deeply. For free copy write today... ask for Pamphlet No. SU-18.

mark begins in back of the string, you are hitting fat and you can make the proper adjustment.

The short game is the phase of play most neglected by the recreational golfer (and by many pros, too, for that matter). An excellent means for achieving the delicate touch for these finesse shots is by pitching or chipping into a pitching net. This is a netted hoop, not unlike a basketball goal except that it is connected, rather than open, at the bottom. The angle of the hoop can be adjusted so that one may pitch high or low, and of course it can be used at any distance.

While using the pitching net, vary your angles and distances, once you have the accuracy and right "feel" of your short irons, at any one spot. Remember that the pitching net is not the cup but represents that area on the green into which you want to place your shot. When pitching, try to imagine the flag in relation to the net and allow for the necessary roll or run.

PHYSICAL exercises are as important to the golfer as other drills. The muscles used for golf seldom are called on for strenuous duty during the everyday routine. Thus when the weekend golfer places heavy demands on them he often finds they cannot respond.

The weighted club is a very reliable drill. Take an old club and add weight to the club head—a commercial device or something of your own invention. Swing the club back and forth with a normal two-handed swing. Change to only one hand. Then to the other. Five minutes of this should be ample.

Strong hands, wrists, and forearms are a plus for the golfer. Squeezing a sponge or a rubber ball is an old trick for developing this strength. I prefer to take a bar or a wooden broom handle and attach a three-pound weight to it on a long string. Holding the bar in both hands, knuckles up, arms out straight, I proceed to lift the weight by turning the bar and rolling up the string. I then reverse the process and lower the weight to the ground with slow, steady turns of the hands.

The length of the practice or exercise session is up to the individual. Some are capable of longer periods than others. Fifteen minutes of practice a day would be a worthy investment. Another 10 minutes of physical exercise would be even better.

Golf is like so many other things in life. You get from it what you put into it. Jerry Barber, the former P.G.A. champion, underscored this point recently while he was diligently practicing bunker shots. He placed several very close to the flag. The next one went in. A fan looking on called to Jerry.

"You certainly are a lucky trapshot player."

"I guess I am," Jerry answered. "And the harder I practice, the luckier I get."

Good luck to you, too.

"That's what I had in mind. Not two tickets to Mutiny on the darn Bounty!"

Out of Neighborhood Pools— Into the Olympics in '64?

BY MAYER BRANDSCHAIN

Coach Kelly with her two champions, blonde Nina Harmar and black-haired Sue Doerr.

Coached by Mary Kelly—sister-in-law of Princess Grace—these schoolgirl champions hope to represent the U.S. for the second time, in Tokyo next summer

THEIR NAMES are Nina Harmar and Susan Doerr, and they both go to school in Montgomery County, outside Philadelphia—Nina at the Springside School and Sue at Abington Friends School. This summer, as soon as their last class is over, they will begin work in earnest, swimming three and a half hours a day under the guidance of Mrs. John Kelly, who competed in the Olympic games herself before she married the brother of Princess Grace.

She took the girls on when they were in the suburban meets—"where the championship material shows up," according to her—and coached them through a series of triumphs to the Olympics in 1960. Of her training methods she says:

"We do 50, 100, 300, and 400 yards, at first swimming slowly, with plenty of rest periods thrown in. We repeat this process over and over. Then we try to achieve faster times at these distances and to hold them in constant repetition. We develop a pattern."

Is all this a grind and no fun?

"Too much has been said of training, that it makes martyrs of us," Mrs. Kelly protests.

After her marriage, and after winning her fifth AAU title, she might well have retired from swimming, but she couldn't abandon it. With a zeal that has made her a byword, she is a familiar sight in private pools and club pools, stopwatch in hand, clocking her charges and giving them pointers.

"The training doesn't seem like a sacrifice." Sue Doerr agrees with her coach. "We like it a lot. I for one would rather do this than go to a foolish girls' slumber party."

Certainly 17-year-old Nina Harmar has not had to sacrifice anything. Hoping to go to the University of Pennsylvania, she has represented Springside School in tennis, lacrosse, field hockey, basketball, and badminton.

Of swimming practice Nina says:

"You have to work hard and have to love it, otherwise you can't get anywhere."

When she was 15 she won three national AAU backstroke championships and in addition to setting hosts of individual records she has been on four national AAU championship relays.

Sue, who is planning to go to Chatham College in Pittsburgh this fall, set a world's record of 1:08.2 in the 1961 National AAU 100-meter butterfly championship.

She laughs when she is asked if she has to diet to make her record speeds.

"You mustn't get overweight," she admits. "But I eat like a stevedore and eat fast, even when I'm working for the Olympic tryouts."

Already, swimming has rewarded the girls with purposeful, fascinating trips to many parts of the world. They have "swum" all over the United States and Canada, and after the Olympics in Rome Sue raced in Naples. The next year Nina was on an American team that toured England, Germany, and Holland. But it all began with frolicking in private pools, and to families with pools and children Sue offers this sound advice:

"Make sure your children want to swim. And, parents, don't interfere with them."

"It is good for children to splash about in a pool and be themselves," Mrs. Kelly adds. "They get the feel of the water and it becomes natural."

If this relaxed water life is to lead on to medals and titles, however, you must find the spark within yourself and fan it by hard, hard work.

"You must have the desire to keep going," says Coach Kelly with an eye on Nina and Sue—and Tokyo next summer.

Confessions of a Day-Camp Counselor

BY NORMAN MARK

For one hair-whitening season he was in sole charge of 12 nine-year-old "Cannibals"

■ 1ST DAY: All the counselors were supposed to establish themselves as leaders and friends of their groups. I was assigned to 12 nine-year-old boys. I said to the first boy I met, "Hi, I'm your friendly counselor." He answered, "Aw shucks, I wanted a girl counselor!"

The whole group came charging in after that. Everyone was screaming and shouting, "What are we going to do? What are we going to do?" Since I didn't know myself, I answered, "Make plastic bombs." This started things off on a bad note and resulted in each of the 12 showing me his various talents. One was a pickpocket, another a sneak thief, a third a telephone wire tapper, another a parking-meter vandal, another a mad bomber, etc.

Then it was time to figure out what to name our group. We rejected, after due consideration, "Rebels," "Renegades," and "The Crooks," finally deciding on "The G. P. A.s". This stands for "The Garbage Pickers of America" and along with it came a secret password—a long, but low, belch.

We boarded buses and headed for a nature park. All the trees, rocks, and trails were plainly marked. We promptly got lost three miles outside Skokie, Illinois. After my whole group almost fell into what appeared to be a bottomless bog, we played a new game, "Lead the Counselor out of the Woods."

■ 2ND DAY: This is hobby day. Each youngster can go to any one of six activities. I was in charge of archery. Although I have never shot, I carefully showed the campers the fine points of stringing, aiming, and firing an arrow. Then, on the first shot, I totally missed the target and nearly put out a gym clock.

Note: After you ask if anyone knows a joke and a nine-year-old boy with a funny gleam on his face tells you he knows one but it is slightly off-color, never, never, never let him go ahead and tell it.

■ 3RD DAY: Today we went to a forest preserve and immediately plunged into the jungle for an exploratory hike. We found a spot near the river where we can hold secret meetings. I'm sure it's malarial. Jay, one of the G. P. A.s, claimed he cleaned out most of the poison ivy. Ha, ha.

■ 4TH DAY: Jay is absent.

■ 5TH DAY: This was trip day. Because it rained we went to the museum. Every other day camp in miles also went to the museum. We didn't lose one camper, nor did we end up with anybody else's camper. An act of God!

■ 6TH DAY: Back to the forest preserves.

The first mass obnoxious songs began spontaneously on the bus trip back.

■ 7TH DAY: In an effort to stop the sick songs before they became too popular, we arranged a real surprise for today's bus program. We were going to the zoo. So we passed out construction paper, crayons, and scissors, and everyone set to work decorating the bus with pictures of animals. Of course, they all needed masking tape to put their creations on the windows. Soon someone put the tape on their faces, and we had nine-year-olds with mustaches. Then a mustache was combined with a goatee, and someone became Mitch Miller and began to lead the bus in obnoxious songs.

But we kept on passing out tape. Before long some of the mustaches began to slip over the mouths. Then they made up a game of deliberately plastering the tape over their mouths. Soon we instituted contests to see who could keep the tape on the longest. No more songs, a nice quiet bus ride.

At the zoo, our collective educational experience was that we saw a monkey with a red "tush."

■ 18TH DAY: This is the last day of camp, and all the mothers were invited to visit us to see demonstrations of their sons' progress during the six weeks.

Before the mothers came, we went into the woods for a final hike. It was kind of sad. This might be the last time anyone will take them into the woods. I guess city-bred fathers don't think much of woodsy tromps.

We got out of the woods about a half hour later than we were supposed to. (My watch stopped). A few of the mothers were a bit excited about their sons being "lost in a trackless jungle with bears and insects." But all the Cannibals assured their mothers that each camper knew how to lead me out no matter how badly I got them lost.

At the end of the day many of the mothers came over to thank me. Some were genuine about it and were expressing appreciation for teaching their sons how to swim better or how to build a fire for an outdoor barbecue. Others were simply thanking me for taking their sons off their hands for a while.

The mothers were not allowed to take their sons home because it would confuse the bus drivers who regularly dropped them off. Therefore, we had one more ride from the forest preserve to the center. We sang all the songs we learned, all the songs we made up, and our marching song for the last time.

I sighed and began feeling a bit sentimental. There will never be another group like them.

KILLER!

(OF FLIES AND MOSQUITOES, THAT IS)

There are over 275,000 insects in every back yard . . . walking, flying, leaping, swimming, boring. They're buzzing, crawling, stinging, biting, eating your barbecued hamburger, drowning in your iced tea, taking the fun out of outdoor living.

And you?

Well, you can swat, swear, suffer . . . hide indoors use a BVI INSECT FOGGER. Takes but a minute—your outdoor living area remains bug-free for hours.

Or . . .

Just fill the container of the BVI INSECT FOGGER with ordinary oil-based insecticide. When you pull the trigger, a built-in electric pump forces insecticide through the atomizing nozzle into a heated fog-producing chamber. The heat vaporizes the insecticide and a thick fog surges from the end of the barrel. As the fog spreads through the air and rolls over the ground, it kills insects on contact! You can occupy the fogged areas immediately, but the insect-killing effect lasts for many hours. The barrel is easily detachable, converting unit into an effective sprayer for applying water-base garden sprays, weed killers and similar liquids. Confessions of a Day-Camp Counselor

■ 8TH DAY: We played baseball again today. In fielding practice, I was hitting out several softballs. The pitcher tossed one in waist high and outside, just right for a long ball to center field. I started my swing. Suddenly I realized that I was about to hit a croquet ball.

After contact, the ball traveled exactly two feet. The vibrations began at my wrist, traveled up my arms to my shoulders and then all the way down to my feet. The bat was dented.

For the rest of the day I pitched to myself.

■ 9TH DAY: Went swimming. One boy claimed he couldn't kick because his legs made him nervous.

Ran out of games that require a low expenditure of energy. Got a book on quiet games that are played around the world.

Harold finally told a clean joke.

We had a staff meeting today. Everything from now on will have to be requisitioned from the supply room by written request.

■ 10TH DAY: Sent in written request for seven oxen, two elephants, and the Taj Mahal. They play funny quiet games in India.

Note: Never again ask what games the boys would like to play. Categorically reject "Spin the Bottle," "Strip Poker," and something called "Seven Minutes of Heaven."

■ 11TH DAY: Getting worried about the counselors. After seeing the same 75 kids three days a week for nearly four weeks, they are beginning to behave more like the ones they are responsible for. One of the counselors bit me in the arm. I sent the G. P. A.s after him to get even, but they wouldn't, claiming it was too childish.

■ 12TH DAY: Sent in a written request for several yards of tubing and three large heat-resistant containers of gradually diminishing sizes. In an off moment I bet one of my campers that he couldn't make whiskey out of boxes of Cracker Jack.

■ 13TH DAY: Took the group into the woods for a hike. Several of them found pets to take home. They only laughed when I said that their mothers would punish them if they brought home a seven-foot snake that rattles.

■ 14TH DAY: Note: If any camper says he feels sick on the bus, don't ignore him!!

■ 15TH DAY: We have changed our name. We were the G. P. A.s too long. We are now the "Cannibals." You can know us by our marching song, which goes, "Munch, munch, munch a bunch of people for lunch."

■ 16TH DAY: The camp newspaper, a regular hobby-day activity, finally came out. According to authoritative reports, I am in love with or married to every female counselor on the staff.

■ 17TH DAY: I forgot my lunch and all the boys gave me a bit of their food. I had a meal fit for a king. One hamburger, three hamburger rolls, two grapes, an apple with a worm (I could have had one without a worm, but I was assured that apples with worms were better), half a marshmallow, a squashed prune, and two slightly used toothpicks.

Who Says the Planting Season Is Over?

If you've missed your spring planting, you can sow now for a good crop later

BY JOHN BRIMER

DO YOU WISH now you had planted more parsley or planned on a great big picking bed of zinnias and calendulas with an eye to the August doldrums?

Then go right ahead with a second planting. But remember the trick is to use late-season methods and to choose quick-maturing plants.

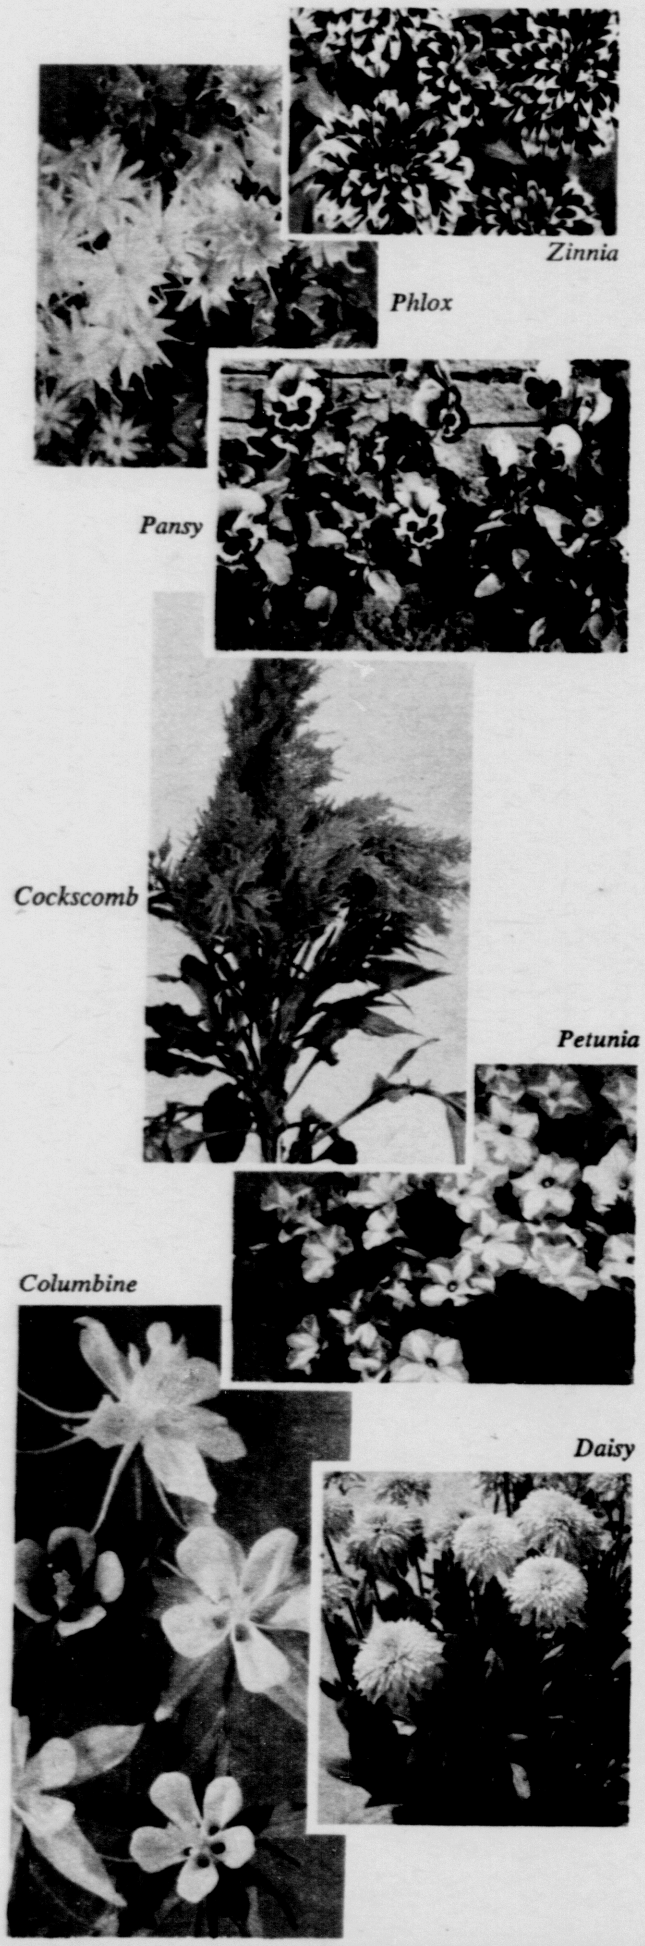
We learned about second plantings the hard way once, when the spring was so cold and wet it wasn't till early June that the soil was dry and warm enough to germinate seeds. Two earlier plantings had rotted in the ground, but the June seeding produced flowers and vegetables that were all the more precious because we had to wait for them. Another year, sailing for Europe too early to plant and returning in mid-June, we sowed annuals from then into early July and had a profusion of flowers by August which bloomed till the frost cut them down.

Don't think, though, that we are crowing because we discovered this. Italians and other Europeans have been sowing vegetables almost all summer for centuries so as to produce from two to five crops from their diminutive gardens. And in our own country, succession sowings are a standard practice among commercial growers and the more experienced home gardeners. As soon as one crop has matured, another is sown, and no part of the garden lies fallow till winter. By keeping the soil in good tilth, and renewing its fertility by rotating crops, the food grown can be kept nutritious. Replace a root vegetable with leafy, above-ground plants, or vice versa; be sure not to plant the crucifer family (cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli) in the same location every year. Planning in advance will enable the gardener to get a considerable yield from even a small area.

Hot-Weather Tricks

At the moment, though, you'll want to know what to sow now, how to take advantage of second plantings. Among the suggestions listed at the end of this article you'll find a number which should prove successful for you.

Because the soil is warmer and drier now than at spring-planting time, seeds must be covered more deeply and the soil must be kept moist. The first week or two is the crucial period. Sow seeds from two to four times the depth recommended on the packet for early planting and see that the soil is constantly moist enough so that tiny tender roots won't shrivel and die. Watering in the morning and evening with a fine mistlike spray (which prevents washing away the soil from tiny seedlings) is the way to get your seeds off to a flying start. Hard-shelled seeds such as corn, parsley, and cucumber may be soaked in water for a day or two before planting, softening the shell and hastening germination.



A lath shade or one made of snow-fencing is also beneficial to help break the fierce rays of the sun and to keep the soil moist. If your seeds are planted in rows, mulching between the rows will also cool the soil and hold back evaporation, encouraging the tiny roots to make rapid growth and penetrate deeply.

Biennials and perennials, seeded now, will grow for a full season, or you may wait till late August or September when the soil once more cools, and get in a first crop for '64.

Seeds to Be Sown from Now On

Below is a list of possibilities for sowing from now on. As you go over it, bear in mind that planting times vary around the country, just as other times do, but you will find this guide accurate within 10 days. Consult locally, if you can, about the plantings you wish to make, and adjust our suggestions accordingly. In the end, trial and error is the only way to make sure, and amateurs are always confounding the experts by bringing off plantings which succeed in the face of the "best" advice to the contrary.

ANNUALS to sow to mid-June, later in cooler regions: Ageratum, sweet alyssum, arctotis, balsam, California poppy, calliopsis, candytuft, cockscomb, cornflower, cynoglossum, dianthus, gypsophila, lupine, dwarf petunias, Shirley poppy, annual phlox, zinnia and, in cooler areas, calendula.

ANNUALS to sow from mid-June to early July: Browallia, calliopsis, cornflower, cynoglossum, Shirley poppy, and annual phlox.

BIENNIALS: (to July 1) Canterbury bells, hollyhock, foxglove, pansy, sweet william. (Pansy can be sown till mid-August.)

PERENNIALS: (to June 15) Campanulas, columbines, coralbells, dianthus, delphinium, flax, iberis, Iceland poppy, oriental poppy, blue sage (Salvia), Shasta daisy, veronica.

VEGETABLES: (to June 20) Dwarf shell beans, bush lima beans, cauliflower, late corn, parsley, rutabaga. (To July 1) Pole beans, pole lima beans, early cabbage, chinese cabbage, early corn, cucumber, kale, New Zealand spinach, summer squash. (To July 25) Beets, swiss chard. (To August 1) Lettuce, bush beans, kohlrabi, endive. (To August 15) Leaf lettuce, parsley (for next year), spinach, early turnip.

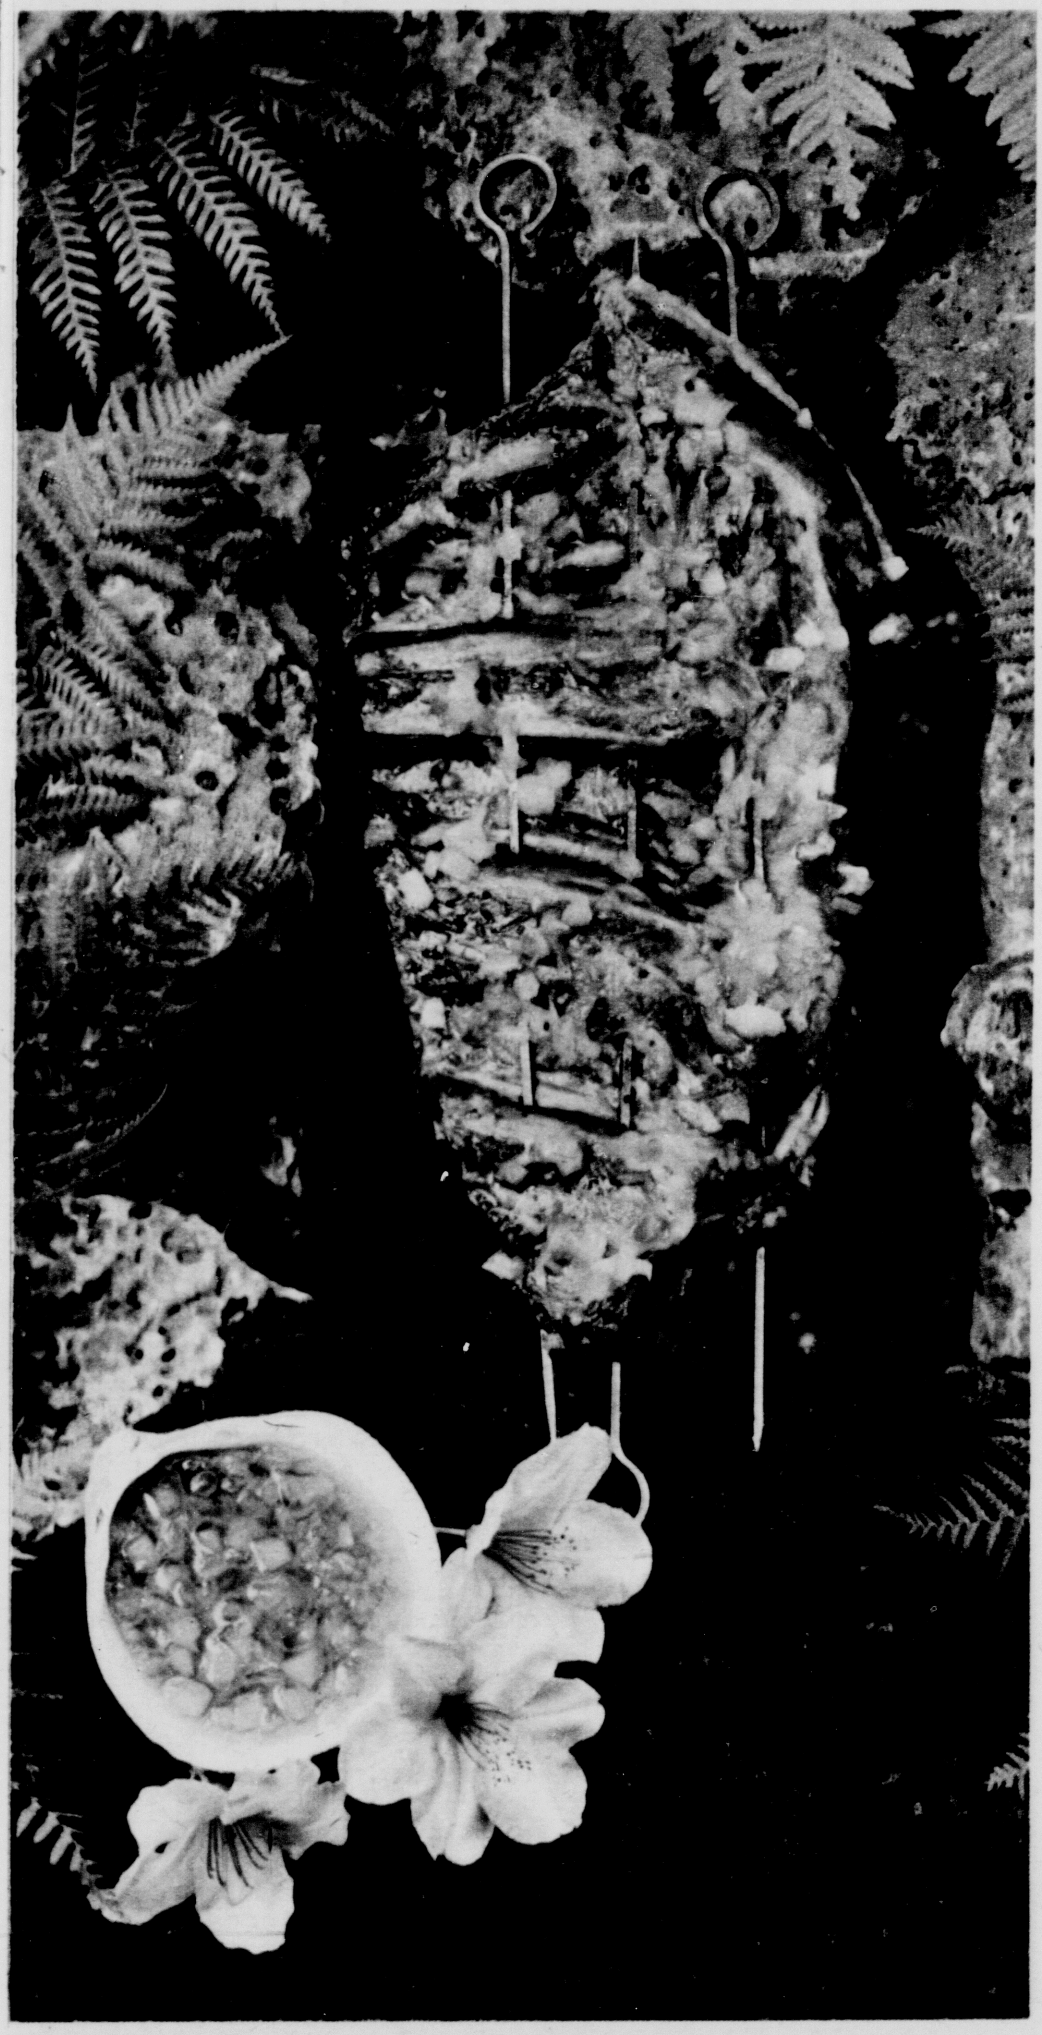
Spareribs marinated in an exotic pineapple mixture and grilled to perfection!



CHEF'S ✓S

Grilling times and distances from coals are merely guides. They will vary with type of grill and size of firebox, degree of heat, and amount and direction of wind.

Coals—Add fire starter as directed on container and ignite (or use an electric fire starter). In 35 to 45 min. briquets should be covered with gray ash; spread briquets evenly, leaving about ½ in. between each to help avoid flare-ups. Tap occasionally to remove gray ash. Keep extra briquets around edge of fire bed to preheat; add to cooking area as needed.

Chips (hickory, walnut, apple, or cherry)—Dampen and toss onto charcoal to impart added flavor.

Flare-ups—Douse flame with a small amount of water, using a baster or water pistol.

Foil drip pan—Using 18-in. heavy-duty aluminum foil, cut 2 sheets about 5 in. longer than meat or poultry to be grilled. Lay the sheets one on top of the other; fold in half lengthwise. Turn up all edges 1½ in.; miter corners securely and fold tips against sides. Make sure pan does not rest on burning briquets; place at front of fire bed. Add a small amount of water to pan before grilling.

For spit roasting, prepare fire bed at the rear of the firebox. Place drip pan in firebox parallel to and slightly forward of the spit rod.

SPIT ROASTING

Rolled roasts or poultry—Slip a spit fork on rod. Insert point of spit lengthwise through center of roast. For poultry, skewer neck skin to back; tie or skewer wings to body; insert spit through neck skin of bird parallel to backbone; bring out just above tail. Tie tail to rod; cross legs and tie to tail. Put a second fork on rod; insert forks into roast or breast and tail areas of poultry. Center roast or poultry on rod; tighten screws slightly. Test large pieces of meat and poultry for balance by rotating spit rod on palms of hands. Tighten fork screws with pliers.

VEGETABLES IN ALUMINUM FOIL OVER THE COALS

Be bold . . . choose contrasting vegetables for mixtures.
Be creative . . . accentuate flavor with exotic spices and herbs.
Be practical . . . use versatile aluminum foil for the packets!

Individual Packets—Cut 8- to 12-in. squares of heavy-duty aluminum foil. Spoon equal amounts of any or a suggested vegetable mixture* onto each square. Wrap loosely and seal securely using drugstore fold. Place on grill 5 in. from coals. Turning packets occasionally, grill 15 to 20 min., or until the vegetables are tender.

Large packets—Using 18-in. squares of foil, wrap, seal, and grill vegetables as for Individual Packets allowing 20 to 35 min. for grilling. Mix gently before serving.

Mace-flavored green beans and mushrooms—Partially thaw 2 9-oz. pkgs. frozen cut green beans; toss beans lightly with ½ lb. sliced mushrooms, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon black pepper, ¼ teaspoon ground mace, ¼ cup chopped onion, and ¼ cup butter, cut in pieces. Before serving, top with or blend in chopped salted, toasted almonds.

Fennel-flavored tomatoes and zucchini—Combine 2 tomatoes, cut in wedges, 1 onion, sliced, 2 zucchini, sliced, 1 tablespoon brown sugar, 1 beef bouillon cube, crushed, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon black pepper, ¼ teaspoon crushed fennel seed, and 3 tablespoons butter, cut in pieces; toss lightly to mix.

Spicy rice and mushrooms—Combine in a bowl 2 cups packaged precooked rice, ¼ cup butter, cut in pieces, 2 cups water, 1 8-oz. can tomato sauce, ¼ cup chili sauce, ⅛ teaspoon Tabasco, 3 tablespoons chopped onion, and a mixture of ¾ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon black pepper, and ½ teaspoon crushed marjoram; mix thoroughly and blend in 1 cup quartered mushrooms. Spoon equal amounts into six foil "pouches" (use 12-in. squares). Seal securely, allowing room for expansion of rice. Grill about 15 min. without turning. Before serving, fluff mixture.

Dilled onions—Peel and partially core one large Bermuda onion for each serving. Fill cavity with 1 teaspoon butter and ½ teaspoon dill weed; sprinkle generously with seasoned salt. Tightly wrap each onion in foil. Cook 1 to 1½ hrs. Top with dairy sour cream before serving.

HOW TO GRILL

Spareribs and back ribs—Marinate, if desired. Place on a rack in a large, shallow pan. Cover with foil; partially cook in a 350°F oven 30 min. (If done in advance and refrigerated, return to room temperature.) To grill, place 6 to 8 in. from coals and brush with marinade or sauce. Grill 40 to 50 min., or until meat is done, turning and brushing frequently. (To grill ribs without precooking: grill over a drip pan about 2 hrs., turning occasionally. Turn and brush frequently with sauce last 40 min.)

Single ribs for appetizers—Have meat dealer saw spareribs (unnecessary for back ribs) across rib bones, if desired. Precook as directed above. Cut into individual ribs. Arrange in a basket broiler and brush with marinade or sauce. Grill 6 in. from coals 40 to 50 min., turning and brushing frequently.

Porterhouse, sirloin, T-bone, or rib (1½ in. thick)—Marinate, if desired. Grill 3 in. from coals (brushing frequently with marinade, if used). When well browned, turn and season or continue brushing. Total grilling time: 12 min. for rare. For medium or well done, increase distance from coals and grilling time.

Grill chops (1½ in. thick) 4 in. from coals (brushing often with sauce, if used). When well browned, turn; season or continue brushing. Total grilling time: 16 min. for medium done.

Thread marinated meat cubes (1 to 1½ in.) onto skewers. Place rather close together for rare meat or separate slightly for well done. Grill about 3 in. from coals 15 to 20 min., or until tender and browned, turning and brushing frequently with marinade.

Grill burgers (1 in. thick) in a basket broiler or on a greased grill 4 to 5 in. from coals (brushing frequently with sauce, if used). When browned, turn and season or continue brushing. Total grilling time: 10 min. for medium done.

Score franks and grill 3 in. from coals 5 to 6 min., or until browned, turning frequently (and brushing with sauce, if used).

Halves, quarters, or large pieces—Grill 5 in. from coals. Fold wing tips back toward cut side. Brush chicken with cooking oil, melted butter, or sauce. Place, cut side down, on greased grill over drip pan. Grill for 20 min. Turn and brush with oil or butter; grill 10 to 20 min. more, or until chicken is tender, turning when necessary to prevent charring. When substituting sauce for oil or butter, turn and brush frequently during grilling.

Wing "drum" appetizers—Put wing "drums" (meatiest portion of each chicken wing), one layer deep, in a basket broiler. Brush with sauce; grill 5 in. from coals for 45 min., turning and brushing frequently with sauce.

Using 8 oz. tails, thawed, cut around under-shell and remove. Insert a skewer lengthwise through meat to keep tail flat. Grill, shell-side down, 4 in. from coals 7 min., brushing frequently with sauce. Turn and grill 5 min., or until meat is white.

Cut each raw shrimp through shell along back; remove black vein. Carefully spread shell open; rinse and drain well. Marinate several hours or overnight. Put shrimp, one layer deep, in basket broiler. Turning occasionally, grill 3 in. from coals 15 min., or until shells are slightly charred and shrimp are done.

MARINADES AND SAUCES

Pineapple marinade—Blend 1 cup honey, 1 cup unsweetened pineapple juice, 2 cups (2 8¾-oz. cans) crushed pineapple, ⅔ cup red wine vinegar, 2 tablespoons soy sauce, 6 large cloves garlic, crushed, 2 tablespoons ground ginger, 1 tablespoon ground coriander, 1 teaspoon salt, and ½ cup chopped onion in a large skillet. Cook over medium heat, stirring occasionally, about 40 min., or until thickened. Reserve 1 cup to heat and serve with ribs. Marinate ribs (4 lbs.) 24 hrs.

Piquant tomato sauce—Mix and simmer 10 min. 1 cup catsup, ¼ cup lemon juice, 1 tablespoon soy sauce, 2 tablespoons brown sugar, 1 tablespoon prepared horse-radish mustard, 1 tablespoon grated onion, 1½ teaspoons salt, ½ teaspoon black pepper, ¼ teaspoon oregano, ¼ teaspoon Tabasco, and 1 split clove garlic.

Claret marinade—Mix ¾ cup olive oil, ¾ cup claret, 3 large cloves garlic, crushed, 4 drops Tabasco, ½ teaspoon dry mustard, 1 teaspoon ground nutmeg, and ¼ cup finely chopped pimiento-stuffed olives. Marinate steaks or beef cubes for kabobs 6 hrs. or overnight, turning occasionally.

Mint sauce—Stir together ½ cup water, ¼ cup lemon juice, 12 fresh mint leaves, crushed, 2 split cloves garlic, 2 tablespoons chopped onion, and 1 teaspoon rosemary. Let stand overnight.

Caper marinade for lamb—Mix ½ cup cider vinegar, ½ cup sweet pickle liquid, ⅓ cup olive oil, 1 tablespoon dry mustard, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon pepper, and 2 tablespoons capers. Marinate lamb 6 hrs. Claret marinade for beef, see steaks.

Saucy Roquefort filling—Make a large depression in the center of each burger and fill with 2 teaspoons crumbled Roquefort cheese and ½ teaspoon olive oil. Reshape burgers to seal in filling. Or use commercial barbecue sauce for brushing.

Tomato sauce, see recipe below. Or use either pineapple marinade (see ribs) or commercial barbecue sauce.

Tomato sauce—Lightly brown ½ cup chopped onion in 1 tablespoon melted butter. Blend in 1 cup catsup, ¾ cup cider vinegar, ½ cup water, ½ cup light molasses, 1 env. garlic salad dressing mix, and 2 beef bouillon cubes; bring to boiling. Simmer 15 min. (Vary above recipe by substituting sake for vinegar, and French salad dressing mix for garlic salad dressing mix.) Or use either pineapple marinade (see ribs) or plum sauce below.

Plum sauce—Puree purple plums (1-lb. jar). Mix purée with the plum sirup, ¼ cup cider vinegar, 2 tablespoons finely chopped chutney, 2 tablespoons apricot preserve, and ½ teaspoon salt. Simmer 10 min. Or use pineapple marinade (see ribs).

Butter sauce—Heat 1 cup butter, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon paprika, ⅛ teaspoon black pepper, and ¼ cup chopped parsley until butter is melted. Serve remaining sauce hot with the lobster.

Herb marinade—Blend ⅔ cup salad oil, ¾ cup lemon juice, 1 tablespoon prepared horse-radish, 1 teaspoon seasoned salt, ⅛ teaspoon cayenne pepper, ½ teaspoon crushed savory, ½ teaspoon crushed tarragon leaves, and 1 large clove garlic, crushed. Mix well before adding shrimp.

Disaster lay ahead!

Europe by Covered Wagon

BY PAUL H. REID, Jr. and FRANCIS W. SHEDD

WE HAVE been to Europe on a camping trip—more than a baker's dozen of us, aged from two up. Let us introduce ourselves. We are the Shedd and Reid families, and when we're at home we live—not very quietly—in suburban Niagara Falls. The Shedd clan consists of Jonathan, aged 10, Jenifer, 5, Becky, 3, and Francis and his wife Bobbie. Tagging along with Paul and Lois Reid are Meredith, 11, Steven, 9, Emily, 7, Pamela, 5, Sarah, 3, and Elizabeth, 2. Add Cheryl Hartburg, a 17-year-old niece of the Shedds, who was happy to swap baby-sitting services for a chance to join, and you have the 14 members of our party.

None of us had ever camped before, but the lure of Europe pulled us along, and we were convinced that only by making it a camping trip could we take everyone along in relative comfort and not land in a debtor's prison.

"You're not really taking those little children, are you?" many people protested, launching into a detailed and heated argument against such rash plans. But their protests only stiffened our resolution. A weekend without our little ones was the most we could stand; under no circumstances would we have left them behind.

On D-Day minus one we loaded our two station wagons with a tent, sleeping bags, an assortment of drip-dry clothes, some paper diapers (just in case), and a large can of peanut butter, and headed for Idlewild International Airport. One day later, we landed in Luxembourg and were pleased to see the two small Volkswagen buses that we had rented waiting for us at the airport.

They were to be our covered wagons for the next four weeks when we visited seven countries—Luxembourg, Belgium, Holland, West Germany, Austria, Switzerland, and France—stopped at 13 camp sites, swam in three pools, two lakes, and one river, consumed 50 dozen eggs, 140 apples, and what seemed like a half ton of sausage. In plain American, we had a ball!

"Was it easy to find camp sites?" Perhaps we should hedge our answer; we traveled after the peak of the summer season. Yet, from the hundreds of camps we saw, we're sure this is no problem. Everywhere, we found official road markers directing us to camps. We had maps showing the location of camp sites, and we saw many camps that weren't even on the maps.

Camp facilities were surprisingly good. They all had flush toilets; they all had pure drinking water; most of them had showers (if they didn't, they at least had a sink and foot bath); they all had outlets for electric razors, although usually on a 220-volt circuit, requiring a converter for our 110-volt equipment; a few had hot water provided by a coin-operated gas burner; and most of them had a small camp store that sold essentials such as milk, coffee, wine, bread, eggs, fruit, and the like.

These stores were a blessing for a rather surprising reason. Shopping in town was always a chore because the supermarket is virtually unknown in the parts of Europe we visited. Bread and pastries were to be found only at the bakery, and many shops sold pastries but no bread. Another store carried fruits and vegetables. The meat shop sold only meat—perhaps 20 varieties of sausage. No place carried fresh milk. Camp stores were closer than anything else we saw to our own one-stop wonder stores, and the milkman did come to them each morning.

We soon developed the habit of ordering everything in 14s—14 apples, 14 sweet rolls, 14 large frankfurters, etc. This worked fine except that some of the shopkeepers thought we meant 14 kilograms, about 30 pounds.

"How could you travel with 10 children and still maintain your sanity?" Our children are not angels, and we won't deny our patience was exhausted more than once. But half the fun of this adventure was to follow the reactions of each child to each new experience. They certainly were not a burden. Perhaps a description of a typical evening will illustrate how we managed:

ON A SUNDAY in September, we left Holland and drove down the Autobahn in Germany to a beautiful camp at Cologne, on the banks of the Rhine. By this time, arrival at a camp site was a well-organized routine. Steve and Jonathan clambered to the top of the bus to throw down the tent and sleeping bags. Fran and Paul pitched the tent. Meredith, Cheryl, Emily, Jenifer, and Pam all helped to blow up the air mattresses, unroll the sleeping bags, and arrange them in the tent. While all this was going on, Bobbie and Lois started supper.

There was a small store next to the camp. We had numerous volunteers to shop for chocolate, milk, and bread, and those who didn't get chosen went to haul water for coffee and other purposes. Just 40 minutes after our arrival the tent was up, beds were made, shopping was done, and we were enjoying our Sunday dinner.

Afterward, the children organized a soccer game and chased butterflies, while their parents relaxed over a second pot of coffee, listened to music on a portable radio, and watched the river traffic. As dusk arrived, Fran and Paul scrubbed dishes while Bobbie and Lois gave similar treatment to the six smallest children.

This done, we parents took off for a night on the town, leaving Cheryl and the three oldest children in charge. We four had a pleasant tour through Cologne, including a brief view of the magnificent cathedral lighted at night and a sampling of two restaurants. This was our ninth night in Europe, and we had managed to go out on seven out of the nine.

Camping brought us into contact with many kindly and friendly people. In Luntern, Holland, we met Audrey, a pert Dutch girl of 21, who was minding her family's restaurant and hotel while they were vacationing. When we asked about getting milk, she insisted on hopping on summer strategies... baby style

Wonderful, wonderful season for small-fry . . . basking in the big outdoors . . . reaping the sweet rewards of smiling sun and soft-spun air. Two sensible summer suggestions:

- Backyard or beach, don't let a gadabout run too much in the heat. (Sleep has a way of evading an overtired child.)
- A busybody toddler will love to barefoot it through silken grass or sun-kissed sand. But before you let your Gulliver wander, make sure all traveling grounds are free of sharp twigs, pebbles, etc.

Summer supper strategy. A day in the big outdoors calls for an especially nice and nourishing supper. Easy, with a Gerber Strained or Junior High Meat Dinner. For these delightful dishes have 3 times as much meat as regular vegetable-meat combinations. And all this extra meat is deftly mated with garden-good vegetables. The happy result? Flavor par excellence plus the nutritional rewards of protein, vitamin-A value and other important nutrients.

Gerber Lip-Smacker
(Either Strained or Junior Foods)
Chicken High Meat Dinner • Creamed Spinach*
Fruit Dessert • Formula or Milk

*Gerber Creamed Spinach is one of several good-tasting strained and junior vegetables. Made from choice, quality-controlled produce, all Gerber vegetables are specially cooked to preserve the utmost in precious food values . . . the ultimate in flavor.

Of routine interest. Heat-lazy days . . . and eating and sandman schedules have a way of getting haphazard. But it's not a good idea to relax routines too much. Summer or winter, a well-regulated baby is usually a happier baby.

Sand pail pointers. That good old standby, the sand pail, has more than play value. At the beach it can be used as a "carry-home" for shore treasures. At home, it can be used as a catch-all for small toys, crayons, etc.

For your baby's well-being: Gerber prepares over 100 baby foods—infant formulas, cereals, strained and junior foods—to meet your baby's nutritional needs. We're proud to say:

Eight words that have changed the lives of thousands of people

FROM THE BOOK THAT HAS BROUGHT NEW HOPE, COURAGE, ENERGY, AND SPIRITUAL STRENGTH TO MEN AND WOMEN EVERYWHERE

THE EIGHT WORDS first traveled from China in a letter. It was written by a young woman to a doctor who had been especially kind to her.

"The words are on a brass plate," she wrote, "in a beautiful Chinese garden. When they were translated for me, I remembered the lines in your face. How tired you looked! The nurses told me you were in the hospital practically day and night. When you receive this letter, please sit down very quietly — and think about the eight words."

The next day the doctor went to his office and announced that he was going on his first vacation in many years. (A trip that he later said probably added years to his life.)

After his retirement, Dr. Frederic Loomis wrote an article about his personal experiences. He included the full text of the letter from China. No one was more surprised than he at the immediate response to the power of these eight simple words. Letters poured in from all over the world telling of lives redirected . . . of worries and tensions relaxed . . . of hope and courage renewed.

Words That DO Things for People

The eight words that changed the lives of so many people are now included in a book that has come to have a special magic of its own. It is called LIGHT FROM MANY LAMPS. It is a book that searches the past for the wisdom, philosophy, and inspiration needed for more confident living today, and a more hopeful future. In it you will find a treasury of thoughts and ideas that DO things for people.

For example, do you know the Longfellow poem that Henry Ford credited with inspiring him to effort and achievement all his life — and that Gandhi quoted in times of illness and despair? What is the secret of self-victory that famous novelist A. J. Cronin learned from an old Scotsman just in time to save himself from failure as a writer? What are the 14 words writer David Grayson discovered (in the ancient teachings of Marcus Aurelius) that brought him victory over pain after months of illness.

Do you know the "magic motto" an ancient monarch ordered his wise men to formulate, for guidance in his times of distress — 5 words that Robert Louis Stevenson recalled to ease his pain — and which comforted Abraham Lincoln during the darkest days of the Civil War?

A New Kind of Book

LIGHT FROM MANY LAMPS is really a new kind of book. Its editor, Lillian Eichler Watson, searched out the lives of great men and women (and of ordinary everyday people) who in a moment of crisis had uttered a phrase or sentence, written a poem or sermon, that has enriched and changed the lives of all who heard or read it. The result is a book whose first edition was quickly sold out. It has been a sell-out in fourteen succeeding editions. Over one hundred thousand copies are now in print!

LIGHT FROM MANY LAMPS will be used by you for the rest of your life. You will keep it at your bedside, or on the living room table where you can dip into it when you are depressed or worried, emotionally upset. You will read or write certain passages to friends who have had a misfortune. You will turn to it again and again whenever you need to overcome fear, anger, anxiety, bitterness, sorrow.

You May Examine It Free

We shall be glad to send you LIGHT FROM MANY LAMPS for a week's examination. If you then feel that you are willing to part with it, merely return it and pay nothing. (If you wish you may also order additional copies as gifts, as so many others have done.) Simply tell us, in the coupon, how many copies you want — and mail it to: SIMON AND SCHUSTER, Inc., Dept. 510, 630 Fifth Avenue, New York 20, New York. Send for this book today.

her bicycle and going to the milkman's house.

"It's hard to find, and the milkman couldn't possibly understand you," she said.

In Cologne, a boxer from Italy spent most of one afternoon teaching our children how to play better soccer. In Salzburg, an elderly woman picked a large bunch of flowers from her garden and presented them to us over her back fence, which bordered the camp.

One thing we didn't expect was the cosmopolitan nature of most of the camps. In 10 minutes one morning at Innsbruck, Austria, we met and talked with a mother and son from South Africa, two young men from Australia, and a honeymooning couple from Seattle.

"What did the camps cost?" We were generally charged for the tent, for each car, for each adult, and for each child between the ages of five and 15. A special discount (from 15% to 30%) was given members of the national camping associations, any one of which Americans can join for $2 to $5 a family.

ONE NIGHT, outside the charming village of Feldkirch, Austria, we stopped at a camp next to a beautiful swimming pool, which campers were allowed to use. For camp, pool, and everything else we paid about 80¢ a family. This was probably the best bargain we had; still, camp facilities averaged less than $1 a family a day.

We cooked all our own meals except on the four or five occasions when we dined out. Certain things—such as bread, milk, wine, beer, and cheese—were much less expensive than at home. A few items--notably coffee—were much more expensive. Car rental, exclusive of gas, was $310 for each covered wagon. Gas, food, camp charges, entertainment, and the cost of getting to New York and home—some 440 miles—ran about $500 for the Reid family, with a proportionate amount for the Shedds. Our only other outlays were for airplane fares, for camping equipment, which we'll be using again, and for gifts and souvenirs.

One unexpected item: we immediately started saving for another trip. All last winter we were figuring and planning on how soon we could go back, and later on this summer we'll be off again—this time to do England, Scotland, and Wales. With all the children, of course.

in Your Own Back Yard

in a back-yard game—and so does everyone else

BY SIDNEY ANDERSON

have 12 iron numerals to mark the roughest possible positions all around it. Starting at 1, the players go round the "course," always driving for the same hole from one position after another.

No mention has been made, you will notice, of badminton, croquet, bean bags, volleyball, horseshoes, or ring toss because they are all in the game box already—and that's where your back-yard fun begins!

Footnote: Those too young for games will find their own fun with a WATER WIGGLE ($2.95) in the back yard. Hitch him by his long, long tail to a hose—he's about as big as a balloon—and he springs about every which way, lightly spraying you with water as he goes.

The games listed may be found at sporting goods departments throughout the country. If you wish the name of a source, please write Games Editor, Suburbia Today, 60 East 56th Street, New York 22.

From this daisy.....comes the world's safest known insecticide

Slug-a-Bug is Non-Toxic when used as directed because it contains pyrethrins—Nature's own insecticide derived from a rare strain of Pyrethrum daisies that grow high in the hills of Africa. Slug-a-Bug's pyrethrin formulation is Non-Toxic to humans...yet is sudden death to insects and other household pests.

Slug-a-Bug leaves no toxic residue, no poisons that can build up in the body to dangerous, even fatal proportions. Used as directed, Slug-a-Bug can be sprayed near children, food and pets with safety. And Slug-a-Bug is not only safe, it's swift and sure—acts faster and more effectively than many toxic insecticides. What's more, Slug-a-Bug even kills insects that have become resistant to DDT and other toxic sprays.

So, don't take chances with your family's health. Look for the words "Non-Toxic" on the Slug-a-Bug label—they're your guarantee that Slug-a-Bug contains the world's safest known insecticide. TAKRAW

Set 'em Up

The worst athlete shines

DO YOU HAPPEN to have a raw egg and a few children spoiling for something to do (who hasn't) of a summer afternoon? Just take them out into the back yard and start a cautious game of Cock-a-Doodle-Do. The idea is to play catch barehanded with the egg, taking a step backward after each turn. It is usually not a very long-lasting game, but while the egg is in circulation it holds all players' close attention.

A less sporting game is played with an ice cube and paper cups and any number of people who love the out-of-doors. You toss the cube out of your cup and a friend catches it in his and tosses it on, and it gets harder and harder of course as the cube gets smaller. Three misses and you're out.

There's a fine collection of "store bought" back-yard games this summer, old and new, but before we get on to them, one simple point should be mentioned: People who have back yards should also have back-yard game boxes or closets, where balls and nets and wickets and darts can be kept when they're not being used. It is too easy, if you don't have a storage place, to lose a part of the game and all of the fun.

Now, with the back yard in mind, and perhaps some friends about to fall asleep after Sunday lunch, consider these possibilities:

TAKRAW (about $10*) is a lighter-than-air game from Malaya for two, three, or four players. Object is to catch a perforated plastic ball in the cane "cage" which each player wields. It looks hard, but isn't. TETHER BALL ($12.95) develops "reach, speed, and drive" as the manufacturer rightly says. An exciting game for two, it is easily set up and requires no maintenance. Object is to wind the ball, tethered by its nylon string, above the black mark on the post. For your information, there is another version of tether ball, PING BALL, ($6.95) which can be set up on a card table indoors, to take a lot of the mischief out of a rainy day. DECK TENNIS ($6.95), scored like tennis, is played by pitching quoits over a high net. People who are looking for trouble like to use short sticks instead of their hands for catching and throwing the ring. BOCCE ($30) is the game of bowls, Italian style. Lots of fun and lots of exercise and good for uneven ground, as the balls are perfectly round, intended to be thrown as straight as they'll go. JARTS ($8) consists of darts as big as pigeons, weighted and metal-tipped on one end, which you sail into the air, to swoop down on a target in the grass marked by a big, but elusive, metal ring. Golfers can put in hours of putting practice with NINETEENTH HOLE ($9.95). Feature is the wide-mouthed "hole" which returns near misses as well as accurate putts by means of an electrical device which you don't need to understand, as it works every time when plugged into AC current. CLOCK GOLF ($4.50) is another good choice for players who never want to stop working on their game. There is one hole which you sink, and you

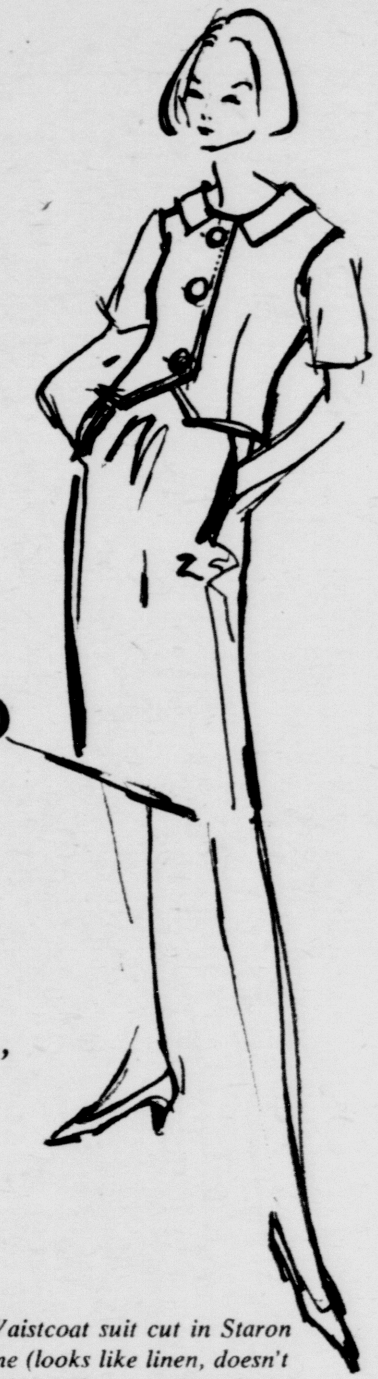
Do You Know Your Own Fashion Power?

A famous designer comments on the easy, offhand "country" look in fashion today

BY BILL BLASS



Waistcoat suit cut in Staron Barbacane (looks like linen, doesn't wrinkle). Blouse is sheer linen.

browns. This summer there will be a whirl of vivid reds, oranges, and yellows, sometimes combined in a splashy print. And there will also be quiet country greens, browns, or golds.

The materials we are using range from soft crepes and gossamer chiffons to heavy, rugged linens and rough cotton tweeds, and not one would be out of place on a patio.

Three of my own favorite and most successful designs for this summer are shown on these pages—a two-piece sleeveless suit worn with a starkly classic shirt, a breezy lemon-chiffon shirtwaist dress, and a long dinner dress with mannish shirtsleeves made in rippled and most un-mannish silk crepe. All three are expensive and "high fashion," as the saying is, and because they are today's high fashion it follows they are perfectly suited to life in Parkview as well as on the Riviera.

The country look in fashion is in keeping with a renewed interest in the charms and comforts of home. Some of the most cosmopolitan women in the world, Mrs. Loel Guinness, Mrs. Winston Guest, and Mrs. William Paley, to name three, spend more time now at their country houses than they do in the city. Their way of life demands these comfortable, simple, beautifully tailored clothes.

It's a wise woman and certainly a fashionable one today who realizes, as my suburban friends do, that it's very important to look and feel at your best where you are happiest—at home. I know several women, for instance, who put most thought and money not into evening dresses but into what they wear most—clothes to wear for dinner at home (and nothing is more flattering to a man than to have these pains taken for him alone).

I'm pleased to see, by the way, that smart casual skirts for street wear and long skirts for home evenings have replaced the fashion for pants. I can't stand trousers on women (and before anyone starts scolding, let me ask: would you like to see men—except the Scots Guards—in skirts?).

I find every phase of fashion following

Bill Blass came from Indiana and spent the war years in the Corps of Engineers. On his return to civilian life he began the rigorous apprenticeship in the field of fashion which resulted in his becoming one of the country's foremost designers and winner of the American Fashion Critics Award in 1961. He is well known for collections that carry his special signature, "a smoldering simplicity."

THE NEW WORD this summer is sportive. S-P-O-R-T-I-V-E. For the city, for travel, for anywhere, suits and dresses have the nonchalance of a cardigan sweater, and even at-home and evening clothes are free and easy as a shirtwaist dress.

The 'sportive look isn't new, to be sure, in Grosse Pointe or Santa Monica or Plymouth, Massachusetts. That's where it came from—from suburban women, uninhibited by fashion fads, dressing for the life they enjoy. But it becomes news when you can look about you in the city, as I did this spring, in the latest carpeted restaurant where everyone goes, and see the best-dressed women there in softly tailored cardigan suits with turtle-neck sweaters. Perfect for a country house, so perfect anywhere today.

Plenty of color is another sign ot country taste. Outside the city, women were never afraid of it and by midwinter this year, even in town clothes, bold pinks, sulfur yellows, and emerald greens were bursting like fireworks over the traditional black and

'Round Your Garden

CLEARS AN AREA OF 3 ACRES OF ALL FLYING INSECTS, INCLUDING HOUSE FLIES AND MOSQUITOES

NEW JET CONTROL BLACK LIGHT INSECT TRAP

Usually $34.95 Now only $19.95 plus $2.00 pp & hd.

- Powerful 1/20 H.P. EMERSON motor clears 3-acre radius.
- SYLVANIA 10" 22-Watt BLACK WATT is irresistible to moths, all flies, gnats, mosquitoes and other flying pests.
- All-weather unit offers full 360 degree range.
- Operates electrically for pennies per mo.
- No Chemicals • No work.
- No spraying or dangerous odor.
- Perfect for motels • shopping centers • restaurants • drive-ins
- dairy barns • service stations, as well as home use.

Now You Can Enjoy "Insect Free" Outdoor Living . . . All Summer Long!

The all new Jet Control BLACK LIGHT Insect Trap is the most powerful of its kind on the market today. Actually clears a 3 acre area of all harmful insects. Sylvania 10" 22 Watt Black Light draws from grass, gardens, foliage and shrubbery killing adult insect before eggs are laid (at the height of its mating season). Its Emerson 1/20 H.P. motor is 10 times as powerful as competitive models. (Most others have 1/200 H.P. Motors) and its Jet-Control principle actually pulls the insects into the bag with such force (Creating a wind Tunnel With Over 1175 Cubic Ft. of Air per minute suction) that even powerful house flies and mosquitos are powerless against it. Ruggedly constructed of Corrosion Free baked enamel metal to insure years of trouble free operation. Shipped complete with 8 Ft. of weatherproof outdoor cord, hanging bracket and reusable mesh bag. 13" Hi + 12" diam. Wt. 16 lbs. Completely UL approved. reg. $34.95. Now only. $19.95 plus $2.00 PP & HD.

Do You Know Your Own Fashion Power?

the natural look, the suburban look. Today hair coloring is subtle; the styles are simple and well-mannered. Make-up looks as fresh and wholesome as all-outdoors. In fact, freckles are in fashion!

The new footwear is unstudied and casual, too. There are low-heeled oxfords and a variety of boots. Before long you will be collecting boots to match your favorite outfits as naturally as you do shoes.

The city is no longer even the center for shopping. The department stores and boutiques have moved to the country, too, and cater to suburban tastes. I remember being taken into one of an afternoon, to find them serving tea and bread and butter —and showing clothes to suit that pleasant way of living.

Suburban taste, I am sure, will continue to influence fashion trends. The sportive look is the look of our times, and the clothes with this look are the ones I like best to design.

WHY TIRE YOURSELF OUT?

WITH YOUR TANK OR CANISTER CLEANER* AND OUR NEWLY DEVELOPED ATTACHMENT you can vacuum your floors better in half the time with half the effort. Your carpeting will be cleaner, fluffier and have that rejuvenated look — your hard floors dust free. It gives more surface suction and its floating brush gently moves the nap to capture the dirt from way down deep. You get under chairs, beds and into hard to reach corners. It picks up threads, lint and animal hairs easily. Other features too numerous to mention here. Women who have them are telling their friends. They say it makes vacuuming a joy rather than a task. Order one today without risk for your money will be cheerfully refunded if not satisfied. Price $3.50 postpaid.
